In the construction of the Lob law Supermarket on Wortley Road, London, Ont., laminated beams manufactured by Timber Structures of Canada, Ltd., of Peterborough are being used instead of steel.

The London Free Press reports: "Norman MacMurchy, London manager of Timber Structures, says for some kinds of building the pre-fabricated laminated beams his company's Peterborough plant produces have definite advantage. The beams require no maintenance, and, depending on the structure, usually are lighter than the steel counterpart. And, they are more economical. So far as strength is concerned, they are made to conform with codes for steel structures."

"The Loblaw Supermarket is the first building of its kind in London being built of wood construction. In Stratford there is another along with a brewer's warehouse using similar methods.

In London there are several other jobs where laminated wood beams have been used, like the warehouse of John Labatt Limited, Seven-Up plant, the Seneca building and new Lambeth United Church where the Tudor arches will be manufactured of pre-fabricated laminated beams."

"A London architect called the use of such timber arches architectually handsome in churches where aesthetic appearance is highly important. This professionsh praise, coupled with the utility of timber beams, according to Mr. MacMuchy, doubled the business of Canadian manufacturers over the last year."

Hen Lays 419 Eggs In 218 Days—Record?

LONDON (CP)—"Duplicate," the Sussex wonder hen, has laid 419 eggs in 218 days. This is claimed today as a world record by her owner, Wilfred J. Hutchings of Fisher Farm, North Mundham, near Chichester, Sussex.

"Duplicate" has been touring lately—a show here and a fair there. She lays her regular one or two daily. Now and then she drops three in a day just to keep her publicity alive.

The manager opened the door to speak to him and was greeted by a gun.

Sen. McMahon Dies In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Brien McMahon, 48, a Connecticut democrat with a passion for peace and a key role in the United States atomic energy program, died today of a spinal ailment.

Death came at 11:10 a.m. EDT, with members of his family at his side in hospital, where the senator went in June for an operation.

In 1945 when the first atomic bomb devastated Hiroshima, McMahon decided this new force must be leashed to save civilization and dedicated his life to that goal.

Despite his relative inexperience, he became chairman of the Senate-House of Representatives atomic energy committee—the voice of congress on all atomic affairs, the highest lay authority on the subject.

Brundage Raps Standing Publication

HELSINKI (AP)—The International Olympic Committee today unanimously passed a resolution "deploring the practice of publishing the standings of the nations in the games." The resolution was introduced by Avery Brundage of Chicago, president-elect of the I.O.C.

Olympic competition, Brundage said, is solely on an individual basis and any team scores are unofficial.

Almost since the beginning of the "modern" Olympics in 1896 newspapers have compiled unofficial team scores. The accepted system of scoring in Canada and the U.S. and that used by The Associated Press, is 10 points for each first place, five for second, and 4-3-2-1 for the next four places which are recognized by the presentation of medals or certificates. Some other nations use different scoring systems.

On a 10-5-4-3-2-1 count, Russia leads in scoring in the 1952 games with 496½ points to 376 for the United States and 164 for Hungary.

France Downs Uruguay 68-66, Riot Ends Game

HELSINKI (CP)—France defeated Uruguay 68-66 today in a rough-and-tumble Olympic basketball tournament game that ended in a riot with American referee Vincent Farrell of Newark, N.J., out cold on the floor.

The Uruguayans, playing with three men, tied the score at 66-66 with only seconds to play. Then Jacques Dessemme of France stole the ball on the throw-in, raced down the court and threw up an easy lay-in shot as the final bell sounded.

Immediately three Uruguayan players surrounded Farrell. Wilsreda Pelaez threw a punch that caught the referee flush on the jaw. He went down heavily and a stockily-built spectator rushed out from the sidelines and kicked him.

Farrell was carried unconscious from the floor. Police swarmed to the floor as the Uruguayan players and their supporters demonstrated wildly.

The France-Uruguay game was the first on the afternoon program in the semi-final round robin of the Olympic tournament.

In morning games, Brazil whipped Chile 75 to 44, and Argentina made a record score for the current tournament in beating Bulgaria, 100 to 56.

The union, the National Syndicate of Store employees, had asked for increases ranging from $5 to $10 and a 40-hour-work-week.

Throughout the strike the company kept its doors open, using employees who had not gone on strike to operate the store on a self-service basis.

Will Retain Some Control Of Steel Firms

LONDON (Reuters)—The government today disclosed plans to restore the iron and steel industry to private ownership, but at the same time to retain a measure of state control over its operations.

The industry was transferred to public ownership by the Labor government in 1951. One of the Conservatives' election pledges was that it would be denationalized.

A bill to effect this pledge will be introduced in parliament next fall. In an official preview of its proposals, the government said it will set up an iron and steel board to supervise the industry.

One of the board's most important tasks will be to supervise capital development. It could veto any projects which it thought would not benefit the industry as a whole. At the same time, the government could assist schemes for which private capital was lacking.

The bill will dissolve the state iron and steel corporation set up by the socialists and turn over the securities of nationalized companies to a holding and realization agency.

This agency will arrange for the return of state-owned companies to private ownership. The transfer of securities may take some years.

Call out the Reserves with a touch of your toe!

Most cars lead a double life.

A good part of the time they're running errands, taking children to school, taking women to stores, taking men to work, taking family and friends to clubs and social functions.

It doesn't call for a very great output of horsepower for duties like these.

But there are times when you want a car that can do vastly more, and these are the times when you'll want what this year's ROADMASTER has to offer.

Beneath its proud hood, there's a Fireball 8 Engine—a valve-in-head that can let loose 170 lively horsepower when needed.

And—alongside this engine—there's also an Airpower carburetor which thriftily feeds fuel and air through two smaller-than-usual barrels for normal driving—which means that you now use less gas at 40 than you'd formerly use at 30.

But there are two barrels in reserve—waiting for you to call them into action—and they let loose a soaring rush of power that sinks your shoulders back into the seat cushion, swoops you past a truck—out of a tight spot—up a hill—sets your speedometer needle to registering added miles more than twice as fast as your watch can tick off the seconds.

This is an experience you certainly should know firsthand.

You should also know how Buick's Power Steering* provides a helping hand in slow-motion manoeuvres—lets you keep the "feel" of the car in straight-away driving.

And—just for good measure—this 1952 ROADMASTER also has the biggest brakes of any postwar Buick—the greatest trunk space since spare tires moved off the front fenders—a warning light that glows when the parking brake is set—and to top it all, the smartest interior fabrics that Buick has ever offered.

When are you coming in to look this distinguished performer over? We urge you to make it soon.

Cleavage In U.S. Democratic Party

Last week, as the Democratic Convention was opening at Chicago, we discussed briefly the split in the Democratic Party, which separates the Solid South from the rest of the party. Now, with Governor Stevenson chosen as the Presidential candidate, the rift is as wide as ever, despite any assurances which may have been given or any lip service to unity. The convention, if anything, made things worse, although the full effect of certain developments may not be apparent for several weeks to come.

* * *

In the Democratic Party outside the Southern States there was a difference of opinion as to how the convention should handle the civil rights issue. The strong organized labour faction led a majority group which believed that, with the support of agriculture, the party could disregard the South, as it did in 1948, and still win. A minority group wanted an innocuously-worded platform clause calling for support of fair employment practices, with no more specific reference than that.

* * *

Some person or persons then thought of a compromise amendment to the temporary rules which was considered designed to eliminate all friction. It consisted of a pledge of loyalty from all delegates to whoever proved the successful candidate. To the Northern faction, that may have appeared to be a sweetly reasonable concession, but to the South it was merely a demand that its delegates pledge themselves in advance to a man who might prove to be an ardent champion of the detested program of civil rights and fair employment practices involving the Negro race. The Southern delegates protested vigorously, but the amendment was r a m m e d through.

* * *

The great weakness of the Democratic Party is that it lacks a leading spirit with the political acumen of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt recognized that the strength of the Democratic Party lay in promoting and maintaining amicable relations among separate groups which comprised the party. He realized that this could only be done by avoiding adoption of arbitrary domestic policy measures which would affront any major group within the party, and under his leadership the party's domestic policy was carefully tailored to this end. Yet it must be noted that there was considerable progress during his terms in office in reducing those abuses which the party's policy, as laid down by Mr. Truman, would now eliminate overnight by legislation.

* * *

By summer's end it should be apparent whether the South will use its votes against Mr. Stevenson or not. If it does, it may be assumed that the defection will confer a greater advantage upon the Republican Party than the rebellion of 1948.

Who Is Heartless?

A New England newspaper, speaking for many American papers, bewails the Canadian 'monopoly' on newsprint and the high price the Canadian pulp and paper industry is charging them for newsprint. We reprint its bitter remarks elsewhere on this page today.

The newspaper situation in Canada is a glaring example of what happens when there are no restrictions against combinations to control prices, as there are in the United States. Canada has no such law, says the Vermont newspaper. Two circumstances disprove the statement. Canada has a Combines Investigation Act and Commissioner to administer it—although laws against monopoly in restraint of trade may not be enforced with as much vigour as the American newspaper would like. Another circumstance is that Canadians do not control the whole of the newsprint industry in Canada. Large American papers like the New York Times own their own vast tracts of forest in Canada, to make their own newsprint.

The Canadian ego may be stimulated to learn that there are Americans who believe that Canada wields and is capable of wielding a big stick. For so long we have been accustomed to the American big stick being flourished at us that it is almost flattering to be accused of being big bad wolves. As a matter of fact, as Canadian tourists have been surprised to learn, Canada looms very large in New England. To them its populace (chiefly Montreal) is metropolitan, the centre of gaudy life and the home of rich people. Canadians are big shots in New England, compared with the cut they make in other parts of the U.S.A. This may account for the air of aggrieved indignation in the Burlington, Vermont, newspaper. (Burlington, with 33,155 people in 1950, is Vermont's chief city.)

We share the Burlington paper's grief over the high cost of newsprint, but if American newspapers did not pillage our forests to provide for their massive 50-100 page daily issues, supply would more readily meet demand, and perhaps prices would be eased. Canadians pay high prices for newsprint, too. The Vermont paper complains because the 1940 price of $38 a ton has now risen to $126 (this presumably includes the premium on the Canadian dollar). The price of newsprint to this newspaper before the war was $42 a ton; now a ton of Canadian newsprint, produced in our own country and out of our own trees, costs The Examiner $124.22, delivered to the building.

Incidentally, the Burlington Daily News sells at seven cents a copy; it is a paper somewhat smaller than The Examiner.

So "Canadians are not a bit bashful about putting the spurs to the American users"? Well, we feel the spurs too.

Bewdley, A Fine Site

When English veterans of the Napoleonic wars first settled in the area a century and a quarter ago, they named the beautiful site at the southwest end of Rice Lake 'Bewdley', for their home in Worcestershire. Bewdley in England is on the borders of Shropshire, in the Severn valley, a lovely countryside; the setting at Rice Lake with its expanse of water, fine hills and trees, may have reminded them of the old Bewdley. The name is especially appropriate to such a splendid setting as our Bewdley has. It comes from the French beau lieu, beautiful place, fine site.

Our Feature Page the week-end before last carried an article describing a quick tour by road around Rice Lake. It served to recall the beauties of this countryside and handsome lake, and other days when it was the chief summer resort north of Lake Ontario, before the Kawarthas were appreciated. Despite its fine prospect of the lake and its handiness to most motorists, Bewdley was passed over in the article. The fact is that Bewdley has not lived up to its name. It has a truly wonderful setting, but the lake front has been spoilt by careless development, the kind that disfigured Peterborough's best waterfronts, and which will now be costly to Peterborough to remedy. As the gem of Rice Lake, Bewdley's setting needs burnishing, to remove its tarnish.

It is the misfortune of many resort and fishing areas in the Rice Lake-Kawartha region to have been developed in a hit-and-miss fashion: a hot dog stand here, a gasoline pump there, a hodge-podge of garish signs, many poorly built commercial structures which are unsightly, block the view and marr the road verges; and the beauty of the waterfront is reduced to tawdriness. Bewdley has suffered more than most from this sort of blotching, perhaps because of its accessibility, its position on the highway, and its catering to trippers in days before it was admitted that even trippers are sensitive to unsightly clutter. Bewdley's man-made condition is especially disturbing because the contrasting beauty of its natural advantages is so great.

The resort of course has many amenities, which are not discovered from the road by a passing motorist. It has several neat, efficient and clean hostelries catering to tourists (and approved by the Ontario Government), a place or two for travellers to get a snack in a pleasant atmosphere, and friendly people. It is what strikes the eye immediately along the waterfront and road which is an affront to the village's name.

We learn that the people of Bewdley, jealous of its fair name, are making efforts to improve the waterfront and appearance from the road. There is a local trustee board to which the Department of Transport (which controls the banks of all navigable waters) has entrusted the Bewdley shore line. Besides trying to keep the banks neat and tidy, if the trustees can extend their work to include a major renovation of the waterfront, with a view eventually to making it park like (there is almost no grass there, and few trees), ridding it of gas pumps, shoddy signs, jetsam, shacks, unsightly little docks, Bewdley will indeed become worthy of its name and site.

We are sure that the trustee board will not use its trust merely to lease more waterfront to hot-dog stands and gas pumps. Bewdley is not incorporated as a village; it is included in Hamilton township. Perhaps if Bewdley were better organized, with its own Council, the prideful inhabitants and commercial men there would be better able to control its development and remedy the mistakes of earlier years. We hope that Bewdley can again become beau lieu, and charming.

NOTES AND COMMENT

We depend so much on instruments, says the Ottawa Journal, that cynics didn't believe they were flying saucers until they appeared on radar screens. And less credulous people will want to see them on a television screen.

T.V. Tips To Democrats

By KENNETH HARRIS (in Chicago)

LIKE THE REPUBLICANS fourteen days ago, the Democrats opened their Convention with the eyes of sixty million television-viewing Americans upon them.

The Democrats, however, had a chance to learn from the experiences which befell the Republicans. Their National Committee sent out a list of special instructions to the 1,230 delegates who attended the Convention.

"Watch the Zoomer lens," read their telepamphlet. "Eight T.V. cameras will pick up every session from four different positions. Each camera is fitted with a Zoomar lens that can take a close-up of you even though the camera is 200 feet away. You can't tell when it is focussed right smack on you.

"HOW YOU LOOK and what you do is of the utmost importance to our victory in November," warned the National Committee, bearing in mind that some of its delegates thought more about standing well with their local constituents than with the party leaders. The pamphlet continued: "If you take a little snooze your snore will be heard in every T.V. home in America. If you skip a shave, the close-up camera will show every whisker on your chin. Never show the camera smiles that are too broad or frowns that are too severe."

Party unity came before the feelings of individual delegates. "This is most important," emphasised the pamphlet. "Once a candidate has been nominated, do not wear buttons bearing the names of other candidates. Above all, attend every session—nothing looks worse on television than empty seats. And maintain a dignified manner at all times."

THIS EXCELLENT ADVICE either arrived too late or was ignored by the darkest of the dark horses running in the great nomination stakes—General Herbert C. Holdridge, running as a vegetarian and backed by an organisation called "The American Rally For Peace, Abundance and Constitution".

General Holdridge told the credentials committee that of those carnivorous delegates from the State of California who were committed to supporting Senator Estes Kefauver for the Presidential nomination, twenty held seats which by rights belonged to his vegetarians. Tempers in the committee room grew hot and the General and some of his supporters became involved in a fight which far exceeded anything which the Eisenhower-Taft clash was able to provide.

✧ ✧ ✧

CONSIDERING that one of the tenets of General Holdridge's movement was "non-violence", it showed a facility for compromising with principles in face of political necessity in the best tradition of the Democratic Party. This, however, did not increase his chances of being nominated. They were still negligible.

There were other dark horses, though, like the General, they did their very best to get into the light.

Mr. Daniel P. Allender is a 54-year-old businessman from the State of Texas, whose platform, as he said himself, is simple—"I want and America needs a real deal for businessmen. We don't need a poisonous politician or a mercenary military man — Americans need a business manager." He added, almost as an afterthought, "—And Dan's the man."

Bishop Tomlinson, of New York, described on his campaign pamphlet as "Overseer of the Church of God". He announced his candidacy last September after a 21-day fast. His church endorsed his candidacy on July Fourth after several deacons had fasted over the matter and selected Bishop Willi I. Bass as his running mate on a platform finally condensed down to the proposition "Peace on earth—beginning in 1952".

ANOTHER DARK HORSE, though something of a favourite compared with the above three gentlemen, was Mr. Oscar Ewing, a very likeable liberal Democrat now in charge of the Government's social security programme. The slogan devised for him by his gallant little band of supporters was "Swing to Ew-ing".

To boost their candidate into the centre of attention they hired a trapeze act consisting of a beautiful blonde, a muscular male and a twenty-foot-high trapeze frame whose combined exertions on the front lobby of the Conrad Hilton Hotel endangered the social security of everybody who passed that way.

"But why a trapeze act?" I asked a Ewingite.

"Don't you get it?" he asked, with disappointment in his voice. "Swing to Ewing."

The pride of the Ewingites, however, was their campaign button—a campaign button to end all campaign buttons. Outclassing the "Big Bertha" of the Republican Convention—the eight-inch diameter "Warren for President" job—the Ewing effort was a disc three feet four inches wide which was worn by a remarkably good-looking girl whose social security I would say, does not depend on the outcome of this or any other election.

TALKING OF BADGES and buttons, I must say that those worn by the Democrats were far superior to those worn by the Republicans fourteen days ago, and if badges and buttons were the election issues next November—and having seen both the party platforms I think badges and buttons might just as well be—the Democrats would almost certainly win.

Whereas the Republicans' buttons, though varied, were all rather on the lines of "I like Ike", "I like Bob Taft better", "Warren for President", and so on, I saw Democrats going around with "I like everybody", "I hate everybody", "I like room", and "I like quiet".

The most intriguing button was that worn by the Democratic veteran bearing the initials "I.A.K."

Like several other suckers, I asked him what the initials stood for.

"For 'I am confused'" he answered. "You know—fifteen candidates running and none of them looking like a winner."

"Yes," I said, "but why do you spell confused with a K?"

"That," he said, "shows how konfused I am."

✧ ✧ ✧

ON SEEING ONE particular badge, visitors, particularly visitors from India, might jump to the conclusion that some of the Democratic delegates are even more internationally-minded than they have been given credit for. Several delegates, most of them women, were walking around with large badges saying "I'm for India". The India for whom they were rooting, however, was not Nehru's sub-continent but the Democratic Party's vice-chairman—Mrs. India Edwards, whom several delegates want to see become America's first female Vice-President.

Since the main job of the Vice-President is to preside over meetings of the Senate, ninety-five of whose ninety-six members are at present men, it was unlikely that Mrs. Edwards would get the job, although America's women voters outnumber men by two million.

That this female bid for the Vice-Presidency was not just a lark was proved by the fact that within two days of the "I'm for India" badge appearing, a Judge Sarah Hughes, another prominent female Democrat, announced that she would enter the race, and "I'm for Sarah" badges were being rushed off the button-badge press as fast as the paint will dry.

Heartless and Shortsighted

(DAILY NEWS, BURLINGTON, VERMONT)

THE CANADIAN newspaper monopoly increased the price of newsprint $10 a ton on June 15. Since each newspaper uses hundreds of tons of newsprint a year, that adds to costs which cannot be absorbed by further operational economy. The increased costs will have to be paid for by readers and advertisers.

The newsprint situation in Canada is a glaring example of what happens when there are no restrictions against combinations to control prices, as there are in the United States. Canada has no such law. So every once in a while the Canadian newsprint manufacturers get together and decide that it is about time they gave the American newspapers another kick in the teeth.

In this fashion the price has risen from about $38 a ton, when the war broke out, to its present figure of $126 a ton. There is no reason why the Canadians shouldn't eventually get it up to $250 a ton.

Ninety percent of the newsprint used in American newspapers comes from Canada, and as already mentioned, the Canadians are not a bit bashful about putting the spurs to the American user. Even writing an editorial like this is dangerous because if this newspaper were short of newsprint in the future, this type of criticism of the Canadian manufacturers would be held against the paper if it tried to obtain extra tonnage.

This increase from Canada comes at a particularly unfortunate time because newspapers all over the United States are having a substantial decline in advertising revenue and in profits generally.

These times are hardly appropriate for the increase. While price-gouging is always out of line, it is especially so, by the Canadians, at this time.

So Be Patient Montreal

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

PERHAPS the expression should be : "Montreal wasn't built in a day."

This seems very suitable just at this time, for it was only last week, after it had been in existence for 2,705 years, that Rome opened its first subway—one mile long.

The news reports tells us that for years the people of Rome have dreamed of this development, for they believe that an up-to-date underground is a mark of a modern city.

The first riders gasped delightedly as the cars rumbled through the dimly-lit tube. "This is an historic moment," cried an emotional passenger.

The city fathers admitted that the opening had been delayed quite a number of years beyond the date that had been originally set. There were difficulties of one kind and another along the way. But, better late than never, the great day finally arrived.

And so it may be with Montreal. It is true that this city is only 310 years old, so that too much action should not be expected for several centuries. But sooner or later our great day may arrive too. For remember: "Montreal was not built in a day."

Cold

(Ottawa Journal)

At Snag Airport, Yukon Territory, it was 81 degrees below on February 3, 1947. In Ottawa it was 38 below on December 29, 1933. These are Canadian records.

In the National Research Council laboratories here where physicists study low temperatures, 458 degrees below can be achieved, which does not seem far—although scientists say it is further than it seems—from the theoretical absolute zero of 460 below.

At 460 below there would be complete order, no sound, no sight, no movement. All would be still. Whith heat there is movement and the edges are blurred.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price. Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labour for that which satisfieth not? hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness. Incline your ear and come unto me: hear, and your soul shall live; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David. (Isa. 55:1-3.)

Then cometh he to a city of Samaria, which is called Sychar, near to the parcel of ground that Jacob gave to his son Joseph. Now Jacob's well was there. Jesus therefore being wearied with his journey, sat thus on the well: and it was about the sixth hour. There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water: Jesus saith unto her, Give me to drink . . . Then saith the woman of Samaria unto him, How is it that thou, being a Jew, askest drink of me, which am a woman of Samaria? for the Jews have no dealings with the Samaritans.

Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water. The woman saith unto him, Sir, thou hast nothing to draw with, and the well is deep: from whence then has thou that living water? . . . .

Jesus answered and saith unto her, Whosoever drinketh of this water shall thirst again: but whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst, but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life. (John 4:5-7, 9-11, 13, 14.)

Public Relations Nonsense

(Ottawa Journal)

Word from London tells of Mr. Churchill getting rid of a "public relations" officer at 10 Downing Street. Hereafter the business of giving out news about Mr. Churchill or about the Government's policy will be entrusted to a responsible minister, Lord Swinton, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

Mr. Churchill probably felt that he had no more need for a "public relations" officer than he had need for a "ghost writer", which would be little need indeed.

Yet a good thing it might be for public life, plus a lot of other activities, if Mr. Churchill's example could be widely followed. Here in Canada we have got to the point where we have all but government by "press releases": there must be more "public relations" men in the Government's service than there are representatives of the people in Parliament.

Incidentally, worth noting that neither Mr. Churchill nor Mr. Eden nor any other of Britain's ministers have succumbed to the bad spreading habit of "press conferences." It has been left for Canadian ministers to imitate an American practice which has a justification under the American constitutional setup but little under our own.

Little, that is, except for possible propaganda purposes by the minister holding the conference.

ROSENEATH (ENS) — During the severe electric storm on Saturday afternoon, the large frame barn on the farm of Elderidge Sherwin, five miles south of Roseneath, was struck by lightning and burned. The barn stood on a height of land and the fire could be seen for many miles around.

One large mow in the barn was filled with hay while the other contained straw. A binder, a rubber-tired wagon and some other implements were stored in the barn.

The neighbors rushed to the scene of the fire, but even when the first ones arrived, any effort to fight the fire was in vain, as it seemed to burn in a matter of minutes.

The barn was partially covered by insurance.

Split Responsibility, Orders Confuse Canadian Troops

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KURE, Japan (CP)—After a three-day inspection of the final training Canadian reinforcements get in Japan before they go on to Korea, Brig. M. P. Bogert said: 'Your training is as good as we can make it."

No sooner had the 25th Canadian infantry brigade commander's troops in Korea been placed on the "temporarily unemployed" list than Bogert left to check on training in Japan, where the final polishing and hardening takes place.

It was Bogert's first visit as commander. His responsibility in Japan is for training while administration is supposed to be under the Canadian military mission in Tokyo, commanded by Brig. A. B. Connelly.

LACK CLEAR DIRECTIVE

In fact, the division of responsibility is largely inoperative There is no clear-cut directive changing former policy under which the brigade commander had over-all command except in Tokyo.

Officers in Kure are getting orders from Ottawa, Tokyo and Korea. They expect arrival of Col. W. J. Moogk of Ottawa, newly-appointed colonel in charge of administration for the brigade, to square the situation away

Bogert's inspection included base units such as the Commonwealth ordnance workshop which has some Canadian personnel, the Commonwealth general hospital where he spoke with every Canadian patient, and training establishments.

The chronic "beef" at th hospital has been the food. One result of the recent trip will be a recommendation that a Canadian dietitian be provided.

NEW BATTLE SCHOOL

Bogert spent most time reviewing the effects of closing the Canadian establishment in its place of a infantry school at Nipponbara and Canadian wing at the Commonwealth division battle school in nearby Haramura.

Haramura, it is maintained, is superior to the exclusively Canadian centre in that training is carried on with the full range of ground-support weapons, including artillery and tanks.

Plan Drastic Cut In Tobacco Purchases

LONDON (AP) — Britain will drastically cut tobacco purchases from Canada and the United States this year to less than half the normal amount, tobacco sources said today.

These sources connected with the tobacco import trade said the industry here has been warned that the government will release dollars to purchase only 9,000,000 pounds of the 1952 Canadian crop compared with 35,000,000 normally.

Imports from the U.S. will be reduced to 45,000,000 pounds from 100,000,000.

There was no official confirmation of the cuts. They may be announced in the House of Commons Tuesday.

Frost Explains Development Boom In Ontario

COLLINGWOOD (CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario said today Canada's development boom is the result of "foundations laid in generations past and infinite work and planning by countless people."

In an address prepared for delivery at the launching of the tanker B-A Peerless, owned by the British American Oil Company, he said the country's growth has been so rapid "we are beginning perhaps to look at great developments as commonplace."

The $4,500,000 ship, built by British American Transportation, Limited in the Collingwood shipyards, has a capacity of 125,000-barrels of crude oil. She will be used to carry oil from Superior, Wis., to the company's refinery at Clarkson, Ont.

Mr. Frost said nearly 40 per cent of oil used in Ontario comes from Alberta.

"Had it not been for the discovery five years ago of new oil fields southwest of Edmonton," he said, "it is improbable that this ship would have been launched today."

Motor Explodes, Girl 11, Critically Hurt

ORILLIA. — An 11-year-old Toronto girl was critically injured Saturday night when an outboard motor exploded, spraying metal like shrapnel.

A piece of it struck Margaret McDowell in the head, fracturing her skull and causing a slight brain injury. Driven to Toronto in an ambulance, she was operated on early Sunday morning at the Hospital for Sick Children. She was still unconscious Sunday night.

The child is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loftus McDowell of 25 Birch Ave.

The motor, in use about 30 minutes before it suddenly sputtered and blew up, had been rented at Cumberland Beach on Lake Couchiching, four miles north of here.

Margaret, her sister Dorothy 9, and their aunts, Mrs. Kathleen Fowle of Scarboro, and Mrs. Lillian McDowell of 152 Victor Ave., Toronto, were using the boat when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Fowle, sitting at the helm, suffered a compound fracture of the left arm. She is in hospital here. The younger child, sitting forward with Margaret, was gashed across the top of the foot by flying metal.

The boat itself was undamaged.

Other members of the family, including the girl's father, were swimming nearby when the explosion occurred. They pushed the boat 150 feet to shore and carried Margaret to their rented cottage.

The child was examined by a doctor in Orillia and then taken to Toronto.

Provincial police say they don't know what caused the motor to explode. It had given no previous trouble.

Petes Nosed Out By Reds In the Last Inning Of Fine Senior Ball Game

BELLEVILLE (Special)—Dick Fitzpatrick's ringing double to right centre field broke up a three-all stalemate and gave the Belleville Redmen a 4-3 victory over the Peterborough Petes here Saturday night. Actually Don Pagett's error in the bottom of the ninth paved the way for the Redmen victory in one of the best games played here this season. The Petes' shortstop threw badly to Bill Edger on first, giving Pat Gilmour a life. Fitzpatrick who had blasted a two-run double in his previous appearance drove the ball to the same place and Gilmour raced home with the winner. One was out when the winning run scored.

HAD THE LEAD

Over 600 fans saw a close hard-fought battle with the Petes leading 3-0 to the seventh. Lefty Bill Dadson, who has yet to defeat the Redmen here, appeared well on his way to his first victory and had stopped the Red batters cold with five hits to this point.

Then the Reds clustered three clouts, two doubles, and a single, and the ball game was tied up. Dadson allowed 10 hits over the route, giving up one walk and striking out seven. His clutch-pitching in two innings got him out of holes.

The Reds used two hurlers in their win. Bob Bunton started and wielded eight hits, good for three runs, till the seventh when Johnny Mowat took over. Mowat was touched for three hits, one a double, but held the Petes off the score sheet.

SCORED FIRST

It was a tight pitching duel between Bunton and Dadson for four innings, neither giving up a run. The Petes drew first blood in the fifth when they rapped out four consecutive singles off the bats of Edger, Garvey, Menzies and Stewart after two were gone. Two runners scored before Bunton got the third out.

Edger drew a walk and was sacrificed to second by Garvey in the seventh when Mowat took over. Menzies drove a double to left, scoring Edger for the Petes' third and last run, and Stewart came up with his third hit of the game. Mowat retired the side with no further damage.

The Reds exploded for the tying runs in their half of the seventh with Semark starting it with a single after Kelleher grounded out. Mowat drew a life on Garvey's error and went out on Gilmour's grounder. Fitzpatrick blasted out a double scoring the runners and he galloped home on Tony Pettitt's two-baser which followed.

The Redmen second baseman paced his team's attack with a double and two singles. Pettitt got a double and a single with Al Kelleher good for a triple. Gilmour, Bush, Mulholland and Semark got the rest.

Joe Stewart led the Petes with the hickory getting a double and two singles. Al Menzies hit a double and single with Edger getting a pair. Lowrey, Garvey, Dugan and Dadson contributed the remainder.

Lowrey, Petes' centre fielder, was tossed out of the game in the eighth by umpire George Whitman for excess verbiage. He was replaced by Bigford.

Favor Marciano Over Matthews In Crucial Match

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano, the Brockton, Mass., block-buster, remains a solid 2-to-1 favorite over stylish Harry Matthews of Seattle for their 10-round heavyweight elimination bout tonight at 10:00 p.m. EDT in Yankee Stadium.

The million-dollar prize is a title shot at heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott in September.

Because of the long hot spell and the headline competition from the conventions and Olympics, the gate probably will fall short of original expectations. Although there will be no radio, television or theatre television, the best guess on the house is 25,000 people and $250,000.

SLUGGER VS BOXER

The match figures to be the perfect pairing of the slugger and the boxer with Marciano pitting his crunching power and strength against the superior boxing skill of his older and more experienced opponent.

Perhaps the 29-year-old Matthews will expose Rocky as an awkward bullyboy who can be counter-punched at will. The boxing know-how of 105 pro bouts plus the keen brain of Manager Jack Hurley are Matthews' chief assets.

"COOL CONTROL"

THE FOREHAND DRIVE

1 The Backswing: Keep your eye on the approaching ball; before ball bounces, step out and to the side with right foot pointing at the sideline and draw racket back. This motion should approximately line up arm, shoulders and racket; wrist, elbow and knees slightly and comfortably bent. Body pivots on hips.

2 The Forward Swing: Eyes must be on ball. Body pivots on ball of right foot as racket moves forward, transferring body weight to left foot. Stroke is continuous, with wrist straightening firmly when ball is hit. Racket swings forward at height on which ball is taken from bounce. Experience and judgment give perfect control.

3 The Follow-Through: This motion of racket and body gives your drive control and your game quality. As racket hits ball, body continues its pivot to the left and racket begins slightly upward line. Arm and racket follow direction of ball and then continue on to cross body till racket head is above and to left of left shoulder.

Yes, it's control that counts, in tennis as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Avro Gets Win Over P.-W. In Cricket Tilt

By C. H. IRESON

Toronto Avro "A" team took a close win over the Peterborough-Whittaker Cricket Club in a low-scoring council match here Saturday, the score being Peterborough-Whittaker 55 and Avro 59 for three wickets.

The local club was below strength, due to vacations. They batted first and fared poorly. F. Booth played a fine inning of 35 before he was sixth out but he received little help and four wickets were down when he was joined by C. Boardman and a 35-run partnership was carried on until Boardman was out to 13 with the total 49. Three runs later, Booth was bowled after a fine showing defensively against good bowling. Another collapse followed and the record was 52 for six wickets and 65 for 10 after an hour and a half batting. Martingell took six wickets for 18 runs.

The opposition soon scored the necessary runs to win. L. Foster retired hurt after scoring 10, F. Peck scored 27 shortly and the winning run was counted with only three wickets down in 35 minutes. Booth had two wickets for 24 and Boardman one for 11. These two players had a big day, scoring 48 of the 53 runs between wickets that fell. Score:

Peterborough-Whittaker—Batting: F. Booth 35, R. Smith 1, E. Colton 0, W. Cridland 0, R. Rollwagen 0, C. Boardman 13, F. Dyer 1, H. Dibben 2 not out, K. Illingworth 0, P. Harding 0, G. Haigh 1; extras 2; total 55.

Fall of wickets: One for 6, two for 6, three for 6, four for 11, five for 49, six for 52, seven for 53, eight for 54, nine for 54, ten for 55.

Bowling: A. Martingell six wickets for 18 runs, R. Cathcart one for 16; F. Kelly one for 17; B. Beedon two for 2.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

We don't like to admit this — but the 1952 lawn bowling season is half over.

The program for this week, according to the schedule book, is: Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights: Schedule games. Wednesday, July 30: Mixed rinks, lady skips. Friday, August 1: Men's doubles, skip and lead, vice and second. Draw from the board — 25 cent fee. Friday, August 1: Ladies' tournament draw from the board.

The winning skip in the family hour tournament Saturday night were: H. R. Martin, L. Bearne, H. Northrop, and W. Perks.

We were standing at the Custom House corner the other evening, waiting for the Jackson Park bus. Along comes one of the town's wits, and he said: "Are you going to catch the bus?" We said "Yes." He replied: "Take my advice and wait until it stops."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Olympic summer games proceed at Helsinki and Canada's national anthem was finally heard once for a Canadian winner the other day. The country's athletes were nestling coolly, if a bit uncomfortably, in the cellar of the Olympic standing as Russia and the U. S. A. battled it out for main honors. It looked like we were going to be skunked completely, as the saying goes, but finally comes a first and "O Canada" rang on the Finnish air. We do okay in the four-year winter competitions because of hockey and figure skating but seldom turn a wheel in the summer games on an international basis. Time was when Bobby Rosenfeld, Johnny Loaring, Percy Williams and a few others brought fame to this country, but that was some Olympics back.

* * * * * *

Milt Dunnell of the Toronto Star has the cozy assignment of covering at Helsinki and he remarks: "We will continue to lose as long as track and field is something in which there is a flurry twice in every four years when there is a junket to the Olympics and the Empire games in the offing. In a way it is a matter of national emphasis. If Canadians prefer to throw a football instead of a javelin, or run 90 feet to first instead of 400 metres, that is their privilege: As long as track and field is a poor relative at home you cannot blame the kids who are doing their best here in Helsinki. They're not alone in their disappointment. Great Britain sent what is considered its best team in history, but the only time you hear 'God Save the Queen' is when it is played for Australia, Jamaica or New Zealand."

Punting That Pigskin

Peterborough Orfuns will operate again in the O.R.F.U. intermediate bracket, along with Orillia, Oshawa and Cobourg. We should soon be getting some word on the new coach and plans for drills commencing next month. Plenty of grid talk coming now from the Big Four centres where trials are being held. Bill Huntley and Lally Lalonde are trying out with Montreal Alouettes, who have a working agreement with Frank Gnup's senior O.R.F.U. Brantford squad. Jerry Fitzgerald is working out with Hamilton. We hear the local club plans to stress development of home material rather than go in for importing on a large football scale.

* * * * * *

Petes' Timbermen trek to Owen Sound tomorrow in senior lacrosse, entertain Fergus Thistles here Wednesday, and are on the road again Friday. Club president and sponsor Bob Peirson and Coach Bob Thorpe are a little worried over bench strength as the grueiling grind continues, the schedule winding up in about four weeks. A few injuries to key players could be a bad blow to the 1951 champs ere this season's playoffs commence. It's a hot old race indeed. For instance, the tail-end Fergus squad downed the fourth-place Hamilton Tigers 21-12 the other day, and might be tough onions here Wednesday. No soft touches at all in this group.

Cobourg and the Jrs.

After dropping a Lakeshore Baseball League decision in Whitby last start, the Young Petes hope to resume their winning ways at 6.30 tonight in Riverside at the expense of Howie Dalton's Cobourg Legionnaires. The Menzies-Mein juniors downed Legion in Cobourg in the last meeting of these clubs, so it should be a real scrap in the return go this Monday eve. Bob Crowe and Dalton are two former Petes' seniors wearing Legion livery this semester and they have a strong squad, but the Young Petes are winning a lot of games lately. They deserve plenty of fan support. Whitby will be here later in the week as the schedule nears a close.

* * * * * *

Petes' senior ballsters have been doing okay lately with the C.O.B.L. leading Belleville Reds. But the latter were lucky enough to jerk out a 4-3 verdict o'er Joe Stewart's squad in Bella Villa on Saturday night. Thus they gained vengeance for the locals' previous defeat of the Redmen. Bill Dadson outpitched two Quinte moundsmen but his side booted a couple more and that meant the difference in a dandy duel before some 600 customers. Joe Lowrey told Ump Whitman of Belleville what he thought of one of his calls in the eighth and he got the heave-ho. Joe Stewart led his side at bat with a double and two singles, while Al Menzies hit a double and single, Bill Edger clouting two singles. The same teams tangle here Friday in a "booster night" with a TV set being given away.

Buffalo Wins Trophy At Regatta

By CRAIGH SWAYZE

PORT DALHOUSIE (CP)—The powerful Buffalo West Sides climaxed a week-long display of rowing strength here Saturday with four important senior victories, enough to clinch the Maple Leaf Trophy, emblematic of supremacy in the 70th Royal Canadian Henley Regatta.

Buffalo collected nine firsts in four days of rowing while finishing second six times and third three. The string of successes gave the club 392 points, a record for the regatta and 203½ better than St. Catharines in the runner-up spot.

ANGYAL WINS SINGLES

The host club racked up 188½ points for second while Toronto Dons were fourth with 77½. Joe Angyal's victory in the championship singles Saturday was enough to boost the New York Athletic Club into fifth place.

Angyal earned his ninth Canadian championship with little trouble. He was five lengths in front of Gabby Beaudry of the Lachine Rowing club. Bob Platt, who had rowed in the Senior Doubles final earlier in the afternoon, trailed in third for his Toronto Dons.

Buffalo clinched its victory in the senior heavy eights by edging a young St. Catharines crew by two feet. The United States club led all the way from the gun to retain the Ned Hanlan Memorial Trophy for the sixth consecutive year.

The three other West Side victories came in the Senior 155-pound eights, the Senior 135-pound eights and the senior 155-pound fours. The St. Catharines Club gained its lone Saturday victory in the 135-pound fours on a one-foot edge over Brockville in the closest finish of the program.

RETAIN SCHOOLBOY TITLE

The St. Catharines Collegiate retained the Canadian schoolboy eights title and the Calder Cleland Memorial Trophy with an easy win over Lachine, Que., High school and Roosevelt High School of Wyandotte, Mich., in that order.

Rudy Jezek of the New York A.C. gave his club its second win of the day in the senior 145-pound singles. He finished a length up on Bill Lang of the Minnesota Boat club while Hamilton's Tom Smith was third.

The Detroit Boat Club won the 135-pound fours and the Senior Heavy fours. Ottawa was favored to win the Senior Heavy fours, but faded badly after leading for three-quarters of the course and finished a poor third.

SWEEP DOUBLES

The Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia and Dons of Toronto swept the doubles field. Bob Mahan and John Kauffman won the senior 145-pound event for Vespers while Bob Platt and Johnny Charlton of Dons took the senior doubles.

At a meeting held Friday, the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen elected Joe Wright Jr. of the Toronto Argonauts, as its president for 1952. He succeeds J.A. House of St. Catharines.

Two-ton Tony Galento shocked the boxing world by dropping the great Joe Louis with a roundhouse swing in the third round of their heavyweight battle at Yankee Stadium, New York 13 years ago today but the Brown Bomber got up to batter the New Jersey barkeep into submission in the fourth round and retain his title.

By The Canadian Press

E. P. Taylor's Acadian Saturday captured the 99th Quebec Queen's Plate by outlasting R. J. Speer's Lord Strome in the mile and a furlong race at Montreal, winning by a head in a thrilling photo finish.

It was a two-horse race as Ontario Plate winner Epigram never threatened and Doug Mark's Espanola faded after the first half-mile.

Cuban jockey Jose Vina got Acadian on top at the start and kept him there to cover the route in 1.52 4-5.

Taylor received a net of $3,700, plus the Queen's 50 guineas and the breeder's share of $200.

U.S. NET STARS WIN

The United States yesterday completed a 5-0 sweep over Japan in the American zone Davis Cup eliminations at Cincinnati but not before a favored Art Larsen had been given the hardest kind of a battle by the youngest member of the Japanese team.

The erratic American southpaw from San Leandro, Calif., finally emerged with a 6-1, 3-6, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3 triumph as 20-year-old Atsuhi Miyagi tired noticeably in the final set.

Prior to that match Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the United States' No. 1 singles player, turned in the best American performance of the three days of battling as he polished off Fumiteru Nakano in just 55 minutes by scores of 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

The Americans will meet Cuba at Havana next week-end.

WINS GEORGE CUP

The Stork, sailed by Jerry Castle of Rochester, N.Y., Saturday won the George Cup, most coveted trophy in Lake Ontario sailing competition.

The Circle, skipped by Red Dixon of Toronto, won two of the three races but placed second in the point-system tabulation.

In third place was the Meteor from Youngstown, N.Y..

TAKES PACING FEATURE

Jean Dillon, the six-year-old mare owned by J. J. Smith of Orangeville, thrilled a large crowd at Thorncliffe Saturday when she won the featured Pacing Stake in the fast time of 2.07 2-5.

The Trotting Stake was won by Celia's Counsel, owned by Hon. W. Earl Rowe. The mare went to the front as the field headed into the back stretch for the last time and won in 2:08 1-5.

ONE-WICKET TRIUMPH

The West Indian Cricket Club of Montreal yesterday defeated the Ottawa Valley Cricket Council by one wicket in a match at Rideau Hall.

The West Indians scored 129 for nine wickets and the Ottawa Club 128.

DEFEATS U.S. CHAMP

Diamond Gauthier, Montreal Municipal, yesterday beat a field which included U.S. Open champion Julius Boros, to take the Lachute Open Golf tournament with a two-under-par 70.

Boros, Mid-Pines, N.C., was second with 71, and Rudolphe Huot, Royal Quebec, third with 72.

Best amateur card was turned in by Joe Leblanc of Whitlock, Ont., who won the gross award with a par 72.

Cards Win Third Straight From Brooklyn By 4-3

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Preacher Roe, tall, lanky Brooklyn Dodgers southpaw, is the National League's leading pitcher and also the luckiest. Roe hasn't lost a game all season but his impressive-looking 7-0 doesn't take into consideration the fact that he has finished only six of his 17 starts.

Three times he has failed to last even the first inning. Eleven times he was either knocked out or pulled for a pinch-hitter. But every time he has been yanked while the Dodgers were trailing, his mates have rallied at least to tie the score, thus saving him from defeat.

LAST WIN JUNE 24

His last victory was June 24. Since then he has started five times without being involved in a final decision.

The story was the same yesterday when he was lifted in the sixth inning with Brooklyn trailing St. Louis Cardinals 3-2. The Dodgers tied the score 3-3 but the Cards scored in the ninth to win their third straight from Brooklyn 4-3. The loser? Reliefer Johnny Rutherford.

Over in the American League, little Bobby Shantz played up the contrast between his pitching feats and those of the Preacher.

Shantz, who has finished 19 of 21 games he has started for the sixth-place Philadelphia Athletics, went all the way to beat Chicago White Sox 3-1 on five hits in the first game of a doubleheader.

18TH FOR SHANTZ

It was the 18th win against three defeats for Shantz. The Athletics also won the second game 9-3.

Yesterday was quite a day for southpaws. Reliefer Harry (The Cat) Brecheen was awarded the victory over Brooklyn, his first over the Dodgers since July 29, 1948. Harry Perkowski snapped New York's five-game winning streak, pitching Cincinnati Reds to an 11-4 triumph over the Giants. The scheduled second game was postponed by rain, leaving the Giants still 4½ games behind the Dodgers.

Billy Hoeft, 20-year-old Detroit lefthander, handed New York Yankees their fifth straight loss, pitching the Tigers to an 8-3 triumph over Allie Reynolds. The Yankees snapped their losing string, longest under Manager Casey Stengel, when rookie southpaw Bill Miller shut out the Tigers in the second ga[me]

Philadelphia Phillies swept a twin bill from Chicago 12-8 and 3-0, to wrest fourth place from the Cubs.

Vern Bickford won his fifth straight as Boston Braves defeated Pittsburgh 5-2 in the first game of a doubleheader. Ralph Kiner slammed his 20th homer for the Pirates. The second game was called after 11 innings because of darkness with the teams tied 3-3.

Canada Scores 27 Points To Climb To 17th Place

HELSINKI (CP)—Canada's point famine in the Olympic Games came to an end Saturday and during the week-end Canadians scored 27 points in the unofficial standing to bounce from nowhere as an absentee nation into 17th place.

George Genereux of Saskatoon started the point parade by winning the clay pigeon shooting championship in the trapshooting division of the games.

Gerry Gratton of Verdun, Que., followed with a second place in the weightlifting middleweight class. Dave Baillie of Montreal was fifth in the heavyweight class.

FOURTH IN RELAY

Canada's paddlers scored a second and a fifth, and the men's 1,600-metre relay team placed fourth to avert a complete blackout in track and field competition.

Russia stayed in front in the standing, finishing a full week of competition with 496½ points. The United States was second with 376. Other countries were far behind, Hungary holding third place with 164 and Sweden fourth with 150.

SCORED 3 POINTS

Canada's three points for a fourth place in track and field compares miserably with 14 points scored four years ago in London—and even that accomplishment was ranked as poor.

In the 1948 Olympic Games at London Canada scored a total of 35 points, finishing in a 20th place tie in the standings.

With track and field competition ended in the current games, the United States faces what appears to be an impossible task to overhaul the Russians in the final week.

Royals Split Twin Bill With Springfield

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal Royals are starting to pull away from the field in the International League pennant race. They are five games in front today and enjoy a commanding eight-game bulge in the "lost column."

The Royals split a doubleheader with Springfield Cubs yesterday, winning the opener 13-0 but losing the second game 6-3 while the runner-up Rochester Red Wings dropped a 13-11 decision to Baltimore Orioles. In other games, Buffalo Bisons split with Syracuse Chiefs, copping the first game 6-5 but losing the second 6-1, and Toronto Maple Leafs divided with Ottawa Athletics, winning the nightcap, 4-1 after Ottawa captured the opener 11-5.

To Market Winner Of Arlington Handicap

CHICAGO (AP)—King Ranch's To Market, a sensation on Chicago race tracks as a juvenile two years ago, returned to the scene of his earlier triumphs Saturday, winning the $152,350 Arlington Handicap by 10 lengths.

Oil Capitol was second, and Ruhe, third, on the slow track.

Owner Robert Kleberg gained $107,050 by To Market's victory.

The winner, ridden by Willie Boland, covered the distance in 1:52 1-5.

EGYPTIAN ARMY PULLS COUP—Tanks rumble along the streets of Cairo, Egypt, after the Egyptian Army took control of the city and ousted Premier Naguib El Hilaly Pasha. The army also seized the city of Alexandria, where King Farouk and government leaders were staying for the summer. The coup was directed by Lt. Gen. Mohammed Naguib Bey.

Modified Strip Show Again Popular With Japanese

By FRED SAITO

TOKYO (AP)—"They're so fickle as feathers in a high wind," the strip show director sighed.

He wasn't talking about his lovely ladies, but about the unpredictable Japanese who made the strip tease a national fad after the United States occupation deserted it for a thing called "swordswoman dramas" and now are swinging back to a modified strip show.

Ken Murai, 28-year-old director of the "France Za" (Za is Japanese for theatre), says the old form of the strip tease hit its peak in 1948. It was something new in kimono-clad Japan.

Japanese flocked to the huge burlesque houses throughout Japan to watch in deadpan fascination as the gals "took them off." But, Murai said, the show lost its popularity after reaching a logical conclusion and losing its power to shock.

NEW DRAMA

Then came the rise of the swordswoman drama. This was a Japanese development that flattered Japanese martial spirit.

A beautiful feudal maiden, beset by thugs and bullies would bear incredible misfortunes with the patience of Gautama Buddha. Finally, when pushed too far, she would snatch a razor-sharp Samurai sword and cut down her tormentors like a field of ripe rye.

In the later years of the occupation, this probably flattered Jananese pride, Murai said. When Japan became independent April 28, audiences lost interest.

Four months ago five theatres in Tokyo were showing swordswomen. Now they've all gone back to the strip show—the new form, that is.

Instead of acres of sun-tanned Japanese skin, the shows now are more like farces played by girls wearing the least the law allows. The law here, while liberal, does insist the girls wear SOMETHING.

"Now a strip director has to use every ounce of resource to keep the audience," Murai declared.

He said one of his competitors tried to appeal to what he called "the peeping Tom" instinct. He ripped out clusters of seats here and there in the theatre and installed tiled Japanese bathtubs—each tub complete with a pretty, G-stringed Japanese girl already in hot water.

The customers were urged to volunteer to scrub the lady's back.

The audience soon got tired of this too and in desperation the director had the girls take off the G-strings just before they hopped into the tub.

That brought the customers, all right, but it also brought the police who promptly arrested the bathers and the director.

HARD LIFE

Despite the seemingly light work, it's a hard life for the strip-tease girl in Japan. Instead of presenting a [illegible] ment [illegible] by the dozen.

One theatre advertises a full 100 stars—an impressive sight, but a condition spreading the wages thinner than a teaser's veil. The average stripper gets 15,000 yen a month (about $40).

That isn't enough to keep a single woman in Tokyo. Many single strippers trudge off to work afterwards at extra jobs in cabarets and photo studios. Many others are married.

Backstage in a Japanese strip show theatre weary young ladies are found curled up all over the place in long, shapeless sleeping kimonos, trying to catch a nap between acts.

Not a well-turned ankle in sight.

Russians Repatriate 650 After 7 Years Imprisonment

By EDO KOENIG

BONN, Germany (Reuters)—Six hundred and fifty former German soldiers and civilians have been repatriated after seven years Russian imprisonment but West German sources see little hope for the quick return of the rest of the German prisoners held by the Russians. These are estimated at over 80,000.

The 650 were the first large shipment of Germans to be sent home from Russia since Tass, official Soviet news agency, two years ago announced that the repatriation of German war prisoners had been completed.

At that time, Tass said 13,000 others still were being held either because they had been convicted of war crimes or because they were invalids.

The 650 arrived at Bischofwerda, in the Soviet zone. About 270 of the party, half of whom were ex-soldiers captured by the Russians towards the end of the war, crossed into West Germany.

OFFER NO CLUES

None could offer any clue as to whether the Russians intend now to resume the repatriation of German war prisoners which they broke off shortly after the much-disputed Tass announcement.

Government officials in Bonn "guessed" that the unexpected return of the prisoners might perhaps be a result of the public hearings of a special United Nations commission earlier this year dealing with the fate of German prisoners of war.

The West German government gave the commission the names of about 80,000 former German soldiers who are known to be still in Soviet camps.

Bishop D. Heckel, chairman of the Evangelical Relief Organization for Internees and Prisoners-of-war, said recently that altogether more than 1,500,000 Germans are missing in the Soviet Union.

These include soldiers and civilians, 200,000 to 250,000 of whom are believed to be still alive. He said 80 Roman Catholic priests, 60 Protestant ministers about 230 physicians and 238 generals are known to be in captivity.

RECEIVING MAIL

Mail is now reaching the prisoner-of-war camps regularly and the treatment of the prisoners has improved. Almost all are employed on work projects and many receive a little pay with which they can buy additional food or tobacco in state stores.

Some months ago, the Russians allowed the prisoners to receive photographs in their mail. Censors struck the words "no more" out of letters in which prisoners had written, "please send no more photos," Bishop Heckel said.

The ex-prisoners seemed impressed by what they described as "war fever" among the Soviet people. They said that there is much talk of an impending "American aggression" against the Soviet Union and her East European satellites.

Some claimed new anti-aircraft batteries are being set up outside large cities. They noted a "be prepared to defend your country" trend in Soviet domestic propaganda.

The ex-prisoners said that they had talked to many Russian workers with whom they were employed on re-construction projects. The general feeling among them was that there would be war between the East and the West over Germany before long.

Father Shoots Wife, 4 Children

BRIDGEPORT, Wash. (AP)—A 27-year-old father who said his minister told him "God is a square shooter," killed his wife and four small children yesterday as the family was preparing to leave for church.

Police said Matthias Swearson was arrested a short time later, bleeding from a self-inflicted bullet wound and knife slashings and naked from the waist up. He was driving his station wagon and on his way to church.

Mrs. Swearson was a Sunday school teacher at the Methodist church here. Swearson attended the church for the first time last Sunday—for the Baptism of two of his children.

He told police:

"The Lord told me to take their lives and that I would join them later. I am not afraid any more."

URGE OUSTING MALAN

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (CP)—Dr. Cheddi B. Jagan, elected member for Central Demerara urged Friday an army be sent to South Africa to rid the country of "blatant Fascist tyranny." The council requested Governor Sir Charles Campbell Woodley to forward a resolution condemning South Africa's apartheid policy, to the Secretary of State for Colonies in London and to the United Nations.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

VACATION PEAK

Approximately 6,500 employees of 17 Peterborough industries are on vaction this week. This is the city's peak industrial vacation week of the summer.

SUCCEEDS PERYER

New president of the Canadian Bandmasters' Association is W. L. Manning of Woodstock, who succeeds Capt. W. H. Peryer of Peterborough. Elected as a director was E. M. Johnston of Lakefield.

BIG HOLIDAY PAY

General Motors of Oshawa distributed $2,224,635 to its 10,245 employees last Friday, beginning the plant's vacation period. Holidays vary from one to three weeks. It was the biggest "pay" in General Motors history. The company's two weeks' holiday extends to Monday, Aug. 11.

Flying Objects Reported Over City, Lake

Two reports of "flying objects" were telephoned in to the Examinto today. The witnesses were reluctant to name them as "flying saucers."

Both reports tallied, as the witnesses said there were two formations of the craft. The objects were seen by golfers at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club and cottagers in the Cedar Lake district.

Mrs. M. F. McIlwain reported the two formations flying slowly over Big Cedar Lake, nine miles north of Burleigh Falls. She said they were round and flew at a great height.

At the golf club, the golfers saw almost the same thing. Faint silver dots flying in two formations was the description they offered. They said there were nine of the objects in one formation and five in another.

The features that drew their attention, they said, were the slow speed and the short vapor trail behind, not as long as the vapor trails usually left by jet planes.

Youth Drowns In Murray Canal

BRIGHTON—John McClintock, 20, of Smithfield, drowned in the Murray canal, five miles east of Brighton Sunday afternoon.

An unidentified woman who jumped in to the canal to try and save the youth was almost drowned herself. The drowning occurred near No. 1 bridge and the woman was in difficulty when she was rescued by her husband.

McClintock, who had been trying to learn to swim for the last two summers jumped into a spot in the canal where the water is about 15 feet deep.

His body was recovered by the Trenton fire department at 6 p.m., three quarters of an hour after he disappeared.

The firemen worked over McClintock in an effort to revive him until he was pronounced dead by coroner F. M. Dure of Brighton.

O.P.P. Constable L. Bowerman of Brighton investigated.

THREE PERSONS ESCAPED INJURY Saturday night in this car when it flipped over dangerously near a tree at the Chemong turn on Highway No. 7, five miles north of the city. The driver, Emmett Donoghue, 449 Rogers St., said he was blinded by the headlights of an on-coming car, resulting in his car going out of control and turning over. Donoghue and his two companions escaped without a scratch. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Pontypool Crash Injures Two Riding Motorbike

PONTYPOOL (Special).— Two Pontypool men were injured on Sunday afternoon when a motorcycle and a panel truck collided a mile north of here on Highway 35.

Police said Roy Strong, 23, was the driver of the motorcycle which was travelling north. The accident occurred, as the truck, driven by Harry Smook of Toronto, came from the west out of a side road and attempted to make a right hand turn on to the highway.

Both Strong and his passenger, Harry Kendrick, 26, were thrown from the motorcycle and ended up several feet away on the ground.

BOTH INJURED

Strong received a broken leg, while Kendrick, the most seriously injured, is said to have chest and other internal injuries. They were brought to Civic Hospital in Peterborough by a Bowmanville ambulance. Kendrick's condition is described today as fair.

The front end of the panel truck and the motorcycle were both damaged considerably by the force of the impact which was so violent that the motorcycle remained wedged into the front end of the other vehicle.

Provincial Police from Bowmanville investigated.

Blame Glare Of Headlights For Driver Ditching Car

The glare of headlights from an oncoming car is blamed by Emmett Donoghue, 25, of 499 Rogers St., for an accident early Sunday morning in which his car went out of control and rolled over in the ditch at the Chemong turn. Neither he nor two passengers were injured.

Donoghue told O.P.P. Constable Kenneth Barber that he was driving to Pigeon Lake about 1 a.m. Sunday. He had completed the turn off Highway 7 and was going northwest on the Chemong road when an unidentified car made a right turn from the cutoff between the highway and the Chemong road.

Donoghue said the headlights of the southbound car caught him and temporarily blinded him.

"I never saw him until he was right on me," he said.

Donoghue swerved to the right and the car went out of control when it struck the east shoulder of the road. He tried to straighten it up but the car veered over to the west ditch where it toppled over on its left side.

Altogether it travelled some 150 feet out of control.

Two passengers—Mazel Carr, of Burnham St., and Norma Larrett, of Rogers St.—climbed unhurt out of the overturned car.

"The other car didn't stop, said Donoghue. "It wheeled around the corner and headed straight for Peterborough."

Tourists Cancel Accommodation

An unusual number of cancellations of tourist accommodation were reported to the Junior Chamber of Commerce information booth during the past week.

Bill Duignan, booth operator, said today that one tourist operator reported that he had received 11 cancellations during the week. The resort owners are blaming this unexpected flurry of cancellations on the recently concluded steel strike in the United States.

Approximately 407 tourists called at the booth during the past week. The biggest day was Saturday with 242 tourists asking for information.

The biggest demand continues to be housekeeping cottages.

Small Child Runs Into Path Of Car

Barry Brockley, 3, 301 Mark St., was injured Saturday noon when he ran from the west of Mark St., into the path of a car driven by Harland Greenlaw, 266 Mark St.

Constable Ted Stephen who investigated, reported that Greenlaw stopped his car instantly. The child ended up under the car, but was not seriously injured.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital and attended by Dr. Robert Young. A cut on the back of the boy's head required two stitches to close and he was also treated for a scraped heel and bruises to his right side, knee and arm.

One Accident Victim In Critical Condition

Clare Keown, 23, of Woodville, is reported critically ill by Civic Hospital authorities.

Mr. Keown suffered a fractured skull, broken left leg, facial and other head injuries in a head-on collision between two cars seven miles southwest of Peterborough on Highway 28 Friday night. Two women, Marion Clark 22, of Port Perry, and Mrs. John McDonald, 21, 1A Woodycrest Ave., Toronto, were killed.

The three others injured in the accident, Miss Gertrude Hogan, 22, of Peterborough; Ross Clarke, 19, of Woodville, and John D. McDonald, 32, of Toronto, are all reported in satisfactory condition.

Former City Residents Tell Of California Earthquake

Former Peterborough residents, now living in California, visited the scene of the recent serious earthquakes there and have written the Examiner explaining the effect the main quake had.

Walter E. Northcott, son of Mrs. Walter S. Northcott, 698 Charlotte St., with Mr. and Mrs. James Webb, a former employee of the Examiner and son of Mrs. Gordon Webb, 698 Charlotte St. toured the 'quake area. It was their first earthquake experience.

Mr. Northcott said that earthquakes are quite commonplace in California, especially in the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas.

"In this valley (Bakersfield) so far from the ocean, they have been so insignificant in the past that no record has been kept by the U.S. Weather Bureau. However, from now on I understand a permanent log will be compiled," said Mr. Northcott.

FIERCE RUMBLING

Describing the quake which struck at 4:52 a.m. last Monday and lasted for 36 seconds, Mr. Northcott said, "It was fierce, rumbling, jerking, and shook everything out of place; it made most of us violently ill for hours. The second shock came 10 minutes later but with less intensity."

Mr. Northcott said the real tragedy occurred in the little mountain town of Tehachapi, just 60 miles from Bakersfield.

"It's entire business section was completely levelled, knocking out all means of communication, and landslides closed the highway there in both directions. Eleven persons died immediately and a 12th died Wednesday; scores were hospitalized."

On Thursday the Bakersfield Californian, where Mr. Northcott is employed, announced that communications had been restored and some utilities operating again.

"Tehachapi took the brunt of the shock because of its closeness to the Santa Margarita fault which runs northeast from the coast. Other communities between Bakersfield and Tehachapi also suffered but to a lesser degree."

Mr. Northcott pointed out that some of the smaller towns were not hit by quakes until Tuesday. He explained that it is thought the main quake set off the 44 quakes that followed (the count up to Thursday afternoon).

TEHACHAPI RUINED

James Webb with his wife, Verna, drove through the area surrounding Tehachapi Thursday and described the scene there as "a complete rubble."

Mr. Northcott said that rail transportation through the mountains of the Tehachapi chain was not open Thursday. A series of tunnels through these mountains were completely collapsed in some places, cutting off the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe lines to the east from Bakersfield.

"Agriculture," wrote Mr. Northcott, "suffered its greatest loss from lack of water. In most cases this was brought about by the pumping systems knocked out or pipelines twisted and broken. In other losses were such weird things as acres of row crops (mostly cotton) moving out of line as much as six feet."

Mr. Northcott said that in Bakersfield the damage was confined to the business section where practically every store or office building was damaged, some to the extent where they were condemned.

CITY HALL CLOSED

"The city hall has been closed and all departments scattered to temporary quarters downtown. Its future as a municipal building hangs in the balance, and I hope the ultimate outcome will be the construction of a new one as grand as the one now in Peterborough. The county building is partially condemned, but seems to be made of sturdier stuff and may be rehabilitated."

Mr. Northcott said there was no loss of lives in Bakerfield but that the damage "will run into the millions when the final score is known."

"In this county, predominately Democratic, the Chicago convention was unimportant news Monday and not until Wednesday did it find its place on Page One."

C.H. Saunders 27 Years Head Of Store

Veteran Merchant Is Retiring On August 5

Charles H. Saunders is retiring from the management of Walker Stores, Limited, on Tuesday, Aug. 5, when he will be succeeded by William Steele, who is head of the Brockville store of the company.

For this occasion of hail to Mr. Steele and virtual farewell to Mr. Saunders, principals of the company are coming to Peterborough tomorrow night at the Empress Hotel at which three members of the local Walker store staff are being received into the Quarter Century Club of Walker Stores, Limited.

They are Mr. Saunders, Roy Davidson of the house furnishing department and Miss Nora Killen.

After a holiday rest of a month or two, Mr. Saunders will retain an optional and part time connection with the Walker Store in Peterborough with freedom of action chiefly to be of assistance to Mr. Steele in the transfer of the responsibility of management. That association will continue probably to the end of the year.

Mr. Saunders has been in charge of the company's Peterborough store for 27 years. As a retail drygoods business, Walker Stores, Limited, has had a long established place in this city since 1830, back to the days of Robert Nicholls.

The visiting Toronto executives will be David Woods, vice-president of Gordon Mackay & Stores Limited; and Blakeney Woods, assistant general manager of the Walker Stores group.

45 RETAIL OUTLETS

Walker Stores, Limited now comprise 45 retail drygoods stores throughout Ontario, from Windsor to Pembroke, and up to North Bay.

Mr. Steele has been manager of the Walker Store branches in Brockville, Port Colborne, Bowmanville, and previously assistant manager in St. Thomas during the last 15 years since leaving Gordon Mackay & Co.

PROMINENT IN CITY

In changing identity, it was known as Nicholls & Hall, Hall & Innes, and Richard Hall & Son, Ltd., on the north side of Simcoe St., between the Bank of Montreal and the Hamilton grocery store. Mr. Nicholls was the first manager of the Bank of Montreal here. His name has remained prominent for more than a century in Peterborough, and lives on in the city park, Nicholls Oval. It was one of the gifts to the community by his wife, Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls, who also built and endowed Nicholls Hospital, which has been incorporated into Peterborough's new Civic Hospital.

Chairman of the Nicholls Hospital board for many years was Richard Hall of the one time partnership of Hall & Innes, and subsequently head of the drygoods firm of Richard Hall & Son, when the business was removed from Simcoe St. to the most of the premises of Walker Stores, Limited, on George St.

Mr. Hall was confined to bed with illness and old age when his son Herbert Hall of Toronto decided to engage a manager to assume charge of the family's interest in the store. The retail firm of Hahn and Saunders of Preston had just disposed of their business, and Mr. Saunders was queried by Gordon Mackay & Co., Toronto, whether he would be interested in the management of a large drygoods store, the name and place of which were not disclosed to him immediately.

Finally, it came about that he was introduced to Mr. Herbert Hall, and was engaged to come to Peterborough.

By that time the Richard Hall & Son store was located on the west side of George St., south of Simcoe St. The results of that appointment have been visible to the people of Peterborough during the 27 years of Mr. Saunders' direction of the business.

When the S. S. Kresge Co. bought the Kingan Hardware corner at the George and Simcoe Streets, they also took a slice of LOUIS RODREQUE who is given credit for preventing a disastrous fire in a downtown hotel early Sunday morning when he, while on patrol, noticed smoke coming from one of the bedrooms. Constable Rodreque was Havelock police chief before joining the Peterborough force.

P. C. Rodreque Discovers Fire In Hotel Room

Constable Louis Rodreque was praised by Police Chief John Thompson today for his alertness in preventing what could have been a disastrous fire in a downtown hotel early Sunday morning.

While patrolling his beat at 2:30 a.m. Constable Rodreque smelled smoke and on looking around, saw wisps of smoke coming from a third floor window of the Queens Hotel.

He hurried up the fire escape and found the sheets and mattress of a bed in a room occupied by Robert Edwards afire.

Edwards, a desk clerk at the hotel was smoking in bed when he dozed off and the cigarette ignited the bed clothes. The fire was extinguished before firemen arrived.

Thrown By Horse Lad Breaks Leg

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Twelve-year-old Charlie Quinn of Seymour township was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, on Saturday night after an accident at his home five miles north of Campbellford.

Charlie, together with some of his playmates, had been riding a horse in the barnyard of his sister's farm. The horse slipped in the muddy yard, and the youngster was thrown off.

The horse stepped on the lad's right leg, breaking it above the knee. He was carried to the house by his playmates and taken to Campbellford hospital, where X-rays revealed the fracture.

After being examined at Campbellford, the lad was taken to Peterborough to have the fracture set.

His condition was reported as good today by hospital officials.

Crash Near Bancroft Injures Two People

BANCROFT — (ENS). — Two people suffered minor injuries on Saturday night in a two-car collision south of Bancroft on Highway 62.

Hurt are: Stanley Marois of Bancroft, face and head injuries; Joan Spence, Bancroft, head and shoulder injuries.

Both Thomas Tripp and Levi Marois, Bancroft, were driving north on Highway 62, about 6:30 p.m. Saturday. Marois, father of Stanley Marois, passed Tripp's car and his engine stalled. Tripp's auto rammed the rear of the Marois car and both vehicles went into the ditch.

Tripp will be charged with driving without a licence. Dr. Oswald Anderson gave first-aid at the scene of the crash. O.P.P. Constables John Hutchinson and John Hawkins investigated.

Attendance 8,662

Attendance at the eight city playgrounds during the past week totalled 8,622. Inverlea Park had the largest attendance with 2,674.

Attendance at the other playgrounds was: King Edward, 1,163; Turner, 1,154; Riverside, 1,076; All Saints, 383; Braidwood, 401; Fleming, 726; Hamilton, 1,045.

Hot Weather Takes Up Slack Steel Strike Caused In District Tourist Trade

Resort Operators Say Tourists Satisfied With Fishing, Exchange Rate; U.S. Visitors Not Spending As Freely

A spot check of tourist resorts in the Kawartha Lake district today indicates that business has picked up since the first two weeks of July. Hot weather and the end of the steel strike in the United States are the two reasons for the improvement, most of them agree. The catch of fish averages out to about normal and the resort operators find that United States' tourists are not disputing the exchange rate on the Canadian dollar. However Gilbert Watson of Gil-Mar Lodge on Sturgeon Lake has this comment:

"Our federal government has fallen down badly in explaining the dollar situation to United States' tourists," says Mr. Watson. "They could have done a much better job if they had wanted to. As it is, they've left it to the hotel people and the merchants to offer the explanations—and that's not our business."

He says that business is "very good" now and has been so since July 4. Barring something unexpected, he sees no decline until the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto begins to bid as a competitor.

Along with a number of other resort operators, he finds that United States tourists are "unsettled," and they are not as free spending as formerly.

STEEL STRIKE BLAMED

The Pittsburgh steel strike, just ended, caused many of them to cancel reservations and some of the potential tourists just haven't the money to spend. The downward trend of the United States' dollar has some Americans keeping the purse strings a little tighter.

South Beach Hotel on Clear Lake reports that business was down at the beginning of the season, except for weekends; but since the hot weather began trade has been booming.

A number of Americans cancelled reservations because of the uncertainty of their plans as a result of the steel strike. But South Beach reports that the last two weeks of unusually hot weather have made up for this.

They have received no complaints from Americans about the exchange.

NO EXCHANGE PROBLEM

Viamede Hotel on Stony Lake has been filled to capacity almost all the time since the July 4th holiday. Fishing is about the same as usual there.

As the hotel gives guests par for their United States dollars, they have no exchange problem.

Kawartha Lodge on Katchawanooka Lake reports that the pickerel fishing has been quite good this year, though the muskies have been undersized. To date, the big ones seem to have eluded the fishermen. All in all, fishing is "about the same."

There were some cancellations but now business is so good that last weekend people had to be turned away.

Mrs. C. D. Stokes, of Buckhorn Lodge on Buckhorn Lake, reports that fishing is good—on the whole better than last year. She also found that the steel strike tied up a lot of potential customers who had to cancel their reservations.

The hot spell slowed down the catch in Pigeon Lake, Mrs. Frank Laurie, of Camp Cleveland, reports. It was good at the beginning of July and is now starting to pick up again.

They also had to face the difficulties of cancellations because of the steel strike. As a favor to their patrons they absorb the discount on the American money.

At Bensfort Lodge on the Otonabee River, the story is pretty much the same. Business is now better than it was when the steel strike was on and people are wanting accommodation to beat the hot weather.

An average catch of fish is reported.

Fishing is a little better than last year, Mr. B. Chadwick, of Deer Head Lodge, Rice Lake, says. He finds that the tourists this year are happy staying in the Kawarthas, and there is about the same number of them.

Mr. Chadwick also charges no discount on American money.

A far-sighted proprietor, Mr. Chadwick is already looking forward to next year. He wants to see the opening of the muskie and bass season shoved back from July 1 to June 28.

He points out that July 1 comes on Wednesday, i.e., in the middle of the week, and fishermen will not bother coming up from the United States until the following weekend. Unless there is a change in the opening date he anticipates the loss of a week's business for those in the tourist trade.

Never Make Man Of Jailed Youth S.A. Major Says

Put a youth behind bars and you will never make a man out of him, a veteran Salvation Army prison and court officer declared today in urging Magistrate E. A. Gee to place a 19-year-old youth on suspended sentence.

Major Harry Everitt who has spent 30 years of his life helping prisoners in jails and reformatorjes to get a fresh start said: "Once a boy goes to jail, he comes out worse than he goes in."

The major said his years of experience with men committed to reform institutions had convinced him that jails, reformatories and prisons in Ontario turn first offenders into hardened criminals rather than reforming them.

A mild mannered man, Major Everitt only speaks in defence of prisoners when he is convinced the circumstances deserve special consideration. He has attended police court regularly since retiring from active Salvation Army work two years ago and made his remarks in urging suspended sentence for Jake Lindy, no fixed address, who pleaded guilty to joy riding.

ASKS JAIL TERM

When crown attorney John A. Bradshaw asked for a two month jail term because, "suspended sentence would not teach the accused any lesson," the major stood up before Magistrate Gee could pass sentence.

"The boy has no lawyer or father or mother here to speak for him," Major Everitt said, "and he has never been convicted. There is no guiding hand in jail; place him on suspended sentence for a year under my probation and I can keep in touch with him."

Major Everitt countered Mr. Bradshaw's comment that since Lindy was Roman Catholic he might object to such an arrangement with the remark that: "the Salvation Army knows no distinction, Roman Catholic or Protestant."

Declare "Boss" Kettering Will Never Grow Old

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP)—If there is a "grand old man" of the auto industry he's Charles F. Kettering, noted engineer-scientist, whose 75th birthday was observed last year with one of the biggest parties ever held.

Younger in spirit and physical capacity than many persons 20 years younger by the calendar, "Boss Ket," as his friends call him, deserves that "grand old man" designation on several counts.

One of the best liked persons associated with the auto industry, no other living man has contributed as much to the industry's development.

Kettering developed the self-starter that did away with hand cranking and many broken arms and jaws; he perfected the process of painting a car in a few hours instead of weeks; he gave the industry ethyl gasoline and high compression engines; he developed the two-cycle diesel engine that led to diesel electric locomotives, and he blazed the way for many refinements in other fields of scientific research.

MANY ADVANCES

There were, for instance, his artificial fever therapy for the treatment of certain blood diseases; his participation in the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research; his development of a new type of refrigerants and many other advances.

Long head of General Motors research laboratories, Kettering "retired" in 1947 to continue as consultant with G.M., but he operates pretty much the same today as he did before.

He maintains an office in the G.M. research building but spends considerable time in New York, Miami, Dayton, Ohio, his home town, and in Detroit. He travels mostly in his personal plane, which he is licensed to pilot himself.

He is deeply interested in "time and the sun" as two of "our chief resources." The "wonderful age," he says, "will come when man learns to draw directly upon the sun for power." The use of solar energy as automobile fuel, he adds, still is a distinct possibility.

"Boss Ket" feels there "isn't any mystery in the world; everything is simple provided you have the proper understanding."

Science, he says, "is merely finding out how nature does things—it's just as simple as that."

"The world has nothing to fear but stupidity and nothing but stupidity can cause trouble. As long as the sun shines we'll be all right."

SAVE BILLION

A high compression engine he is working on is well on its way. Kettering has said it will some day save American motorists $1,000,000,000 a year in fuel costs.

At least once each year Kettering gets a new degree in science, engineering or philosophy. He already holds some 30 of these, and about as many more citations, awards and honorary and life memberships in scientific and humanitarian organizations.

"We'll believe 'Boss Ket' has retired when the last mystery of the universe has been solved," say his friends. "Even then Ket would be off to find a new universe."

2 Men Drown As Boat Upsets

OCEAN FALLS, B.C. (CP)—Two millworkers were drowned Saturday when they were swept from the side of their overturned boat into the choppy waters of fisher channel, five miles south of this coastal paper town. The victims were Kasti Ayani and Francis Smith.

A women and two girls who were with the men clung to the capsized craft for 2½ hours before they were picked up by a passing fishboat.

There were only three life preservers in the boat. The men gave them to Mrs. Stenislava Dayni, her 11-year-old daughter, Olga, and Michellena Boillat, Olga's young friend. Ayani and Smith became tired and slipped off before help arrived.

LIGHTNING SETS 4 FIRES

SHAWVILLE, Que. (CP)—Four fires were set by lightning during a two-hour storm here Saturday. Three farm buildings and a farm home nearby were gutted by fire. Two homes were damaged. Shawville is about 40 miles northwest of Ottawa.

French Actress Says US Women Not Too Honest

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Corrine Calvert and Zsa Zsa Gabor have long been tossing mild insults back and fourth at each other, but they are getting less mild.

Miss Calvert said in an interview she is consulting her lawyer about some of her adversary's recent remarks.

That brought up the question: "How do you get along with other women?".

"Not too well," the French actress remarked. "I like men better, and they seem to like me."

She qualified: "I get along well with European women, because we understand each other. European women are honest with other women; there is no sham about them.

NO THIEF

"But I do not fare so well with American women. They believe all the legends about French girls, and they think I am going to try to take their men away from them. How ridiculous!

"I think American women are not as open and above-board as Europeans and that is why divorce is such a problem in this country. The women do not let their future husbands know what they are getting. Perhaps a girl finds a man she wants to marry, but she is not his type. So she changes her type to please him. Not until after the marriage does he find out that she isn't really what he expected. No wonder marriages fail!"

"My father gave me some good advice," she added. "He told me that when I found a man I liked, I should let him take me out to dinner, have a few drinks with him and stay out late. Then I should invite him to come to breakfast the next morning at 9.

"On the next morning, my father told me, I should sleep until the doorbell rings. Then I should answer the door myself, with my hair uncombed, no make-up and a slight hangover. My father said: 'If he wants to marry you then, I'll give you my blessing.'"

Torrential Rains Cancel RCASC Sports Day In Korea

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, (Delayed)—(AP)—Torrential rains—the first in many weeks—Sunday washed out the first sports day to be held in Korea by the 23rd Transport Company, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps.

But the downpour failed to dampen the holiday spirit of all ranks of the company commanded by Maj. Joseph Dolan of Stratford, Ont.

As he explained it, it was the first time since the company was formed in 1946 that its entire complement could be together for a complete day of rest and relaxation. In Canada the unit had detachments stationed in such out-of-the-way places as Fort Churchill, Man., and Whtiehorse in the Yukon Territory.

For the day, Lt.-Col. J. M. Grant, O.B.E., commander R.A.S.C., First Commonwealth Division, had relieved the Canadian unit of all but essential duties. Most members were free to enjoy themselves.

The day's activities started with a buffet luncheon in the officers mess attended by Brigade Commander Brig. M.P. (Pat) Bogert, Lt.-Col. Grant and other senior officers.

BAND PLAYS

The band of the Royal 22nd Regiment, under direction of Capt. Edwin Belanger, Quebec City, played throughout the luncheon.

An ambitious sports program planned for the afternoon by CSM. J. L. (Dusty) Rhodes, Galt, Ont., which was to include a truck "rodeo" or driving competition, was cancelled. Winner of the "rodeo" was to have been awarded five days special leave in Japan had the competition come off. Sgt. Maj. Rhodes said it was likely the "rodeo" and sports events would be held within the week.

Special buffet-style luncheons prepared under direction of Capt. R. S. Minter, Vancouver and Sgt. Frank McCabe, Barrie, Ont., were served in sergeants' and men's messes and all ranks enjoyed an extra ration of free beer. Mixed fresh flowers, specially flown from Japan, decorated the tables.

In the sergeants' mess a five piece orchestra made up of members of the Royal 22nd Regiment's band and headed by Sgt. George Sawyer of Quebec City entertained mess members and guests from almost all units in the brigade.

Horse Starts Car Down Enmbankment

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — It may be true that the automobile has replaced the horse as a mode of transportation, but a horse displaced an automobile in Campbellford on Friday.

A horse drawing a dairy wagon on Booth St. ambled down the street without the driver Friday morning and turned out to pass a parked auto. The horse misjudged the distance however, and hooked part of the wagon onto the bumper of the car. The car was towed along behind the wagon for about 50 feet before it came free and careened down an embankment, across the sidewalk, over a lawn and into a hedge. The horse travelled some distance down the street before it stopped. The driver of the wagon, Harry Simpson, who had been delivering milk, emerged from a house in time to see the car stop in the hedge.

The car was owned by P. G. O'Sullivan. It suffered [illegible] ly no damage, o[illegible] scratches, and Mr. O'Sullivan was able to drive it out of the hedge.

No charges have been laid against the horse.

Poultry Raising Big Business For Farmers Across Canada

By H.L. Jones
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The egg business is big business in Canada.

More than 20,000,000 Canadian hens are laying to the tune of some 400,000,000-dozen—or close to 5,000,000,000—eggs a year.

That adds up to around $100,000,000 annual take for the egg side of the poultry industry.

The federal Bureau of Statistics has just come out with figures to show the hens weren't laying as well in June as they were in the previous month but still better than they did in June, 1951. Average production per hen in June this year was 15.5 eggs compared with 17.4 eggs in May and 15.1 eggs in June last year.

The bureau didn't give the reason but the drop probably was due to increasing summer heat. Hens don't lay so well when its hot.

That probably explains too, why [illegible] ions in the more moderate climates of British Columbia and the Maritime provinces have better production averages on the whole than in more extreme central Canada and the Prairies.

When temperatures go up and egg production goes down it hits the egg consumer in the pocket book. For instance, egg prices took a sharp drop around May, mainly because of a market glut, and sold at around 50 cents a dozen or less for grade a large in Eastern Canada.

With the onset of summer heat and consequent declining production, prices have climbed. Grade A large in most eastern centres now are retailing at about 75 cents a dozen.

Canadian hens on farms and in the little back-yard hen runs produced an estimated 29,300,000 dozen in June this year, almost 7,000,000 less than the estimated May output of 36,200,000 dozen. The June, 1951, production figure was 26,400,000 dozen.

This brought total estimated egg production in Canada to 214,300,000 dozen for the first six months of this year, more than 36,000,000 dozen above the output of 178,000,000 dozen in the first half of last year.

During June producers sold for market 23,200,000 dozen, valued at $8,700,000, compared with 28,500,000 dozen valued at $9,400,000 in May.

Ontario is Canada's largest egg producer. In June Ontario had 7,610,000 hens which laid an estimated 10,564,000 dozen eggs during the month, compared with 6,722,000 hens and 8,675,000 dozen eggs in June 1951. Next biggest egg producer is Quebec which had 3,951,000 hens in June, laying a total of 5,231,000 dozen eggs.

But Nova Scotia got the best June production out of its 893,000 hens which laid 1,523,000 dozen eggs, an average of 1,719 eggs per 100 hens.

British Columbia was next with 1,466,000 hens laying 2,491,000 dozen eggs and averaging 1,712 eggs per 100 hens.

Egg men will tell you its the climate.

Expect Sailors' Strike Practically Ended

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The two-month west coast sailors' strike, which has cost the industry an estimated $20,000,000 is expected to end this afternoon when the strikers vote on a settlement approved by their negotiators and ship-owners.

The agreement, reached shortly before midnight Saturday night, provides wages increases and overtime pay and is considered almost certain of approval by the rank and file.

Only a few ships have been allowed to operate out of west coast ports since the strike started. The sailors allowed vessels carrying military cargoes to sail.

Slumping Army Recruiting May Open Door For Women

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Slumping army recruiting has increased the pressures in the top ranks for opening the way for women to join the regular force.

The gross intake in June fell to 481 men, worst in months and substantially below what the army needs monthly to meet its commitments at home, in Korea, and Germany.

And thousands of special force veterans conceivably may decide in the next month or so to go back to civilian life rather than join the regular army. They now are on 60-days' leave.

BELOW 50,000 MARK

As it is, the army hit the 50,000-mark in manpower some months ago and has been hanging around there ever since. At the end of June it was about 150 men short of that.

A large-scale exodus of special force men would be a heavy blow at this stage.

Summer is traditionally a bad time for recruiting which may be the main explanation for the current slump. But even so the situation has increased pressures at headquarters for the army to follow the air force in putting women on a full-time basis.

The regular air force now has about 2,500 women, half its target total. The army and navy only have them in reserve units.

Whether developments in the weeks ahead lead Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of the general staff, to recommend to Defence Minister Claxton that a few thousand women be recruited remains to be seen. The pace of recruiting and the decisions of the special force men will be key factors.

Proponents say women could relieve male soldiers of a lot of jobs and allow them to go to field units in Canada, Germany or Korea.

"Give Us A Change" Government Gals Cry

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON (NEA) —There is at least one big group of government workers here who are eager for a change of administration in November.

It's the female army of stenographers, secretaries and clerks who slave for Uncle Sam five days a week in the District of Columbia.

In a nutshell, this is their attitude:

They think that all of the eligible men in the Federal service have already been picked off. And they think that the bachelors who are left are too fat and too bald, either to date or to marry.

They also resent what they call "the federal male spread." That's sort of too much horizontal seating capacity caused by too much sitting.

They are convinced that the only way that their aspect of their manpower problem can be licked is by a complete turnover of male personnel—which of course means election of the Republicans in November.

The sentiment of the government girls was first revealed in a recent letter to the Washington Daily News. It said in part:

"Frankly, we're sick of the present crop of males who are our bosses. The attractive ones have been around so long they're all married. The rest have been around so long they're either too fat or too bald or too both. And they've got more federal spread than the gals, which is the worst you can say.

"As a matter of fact, all of the men in government have gotten so blase or lazy they don't even bother to pinch you or give you a friendly pat now and then. Even government secretaries need that kind of attention once in a while. It keeps up morale.

"If General Eisenhower or Senator Lodge are samples of what the GOP would bring to town, brother, bring 'em on."

A sampling of opinion among scores of government gals in all of the agencies confirms this opinion in only slightly varying detail.

A stenographer at the Department of Commerce says:

"They talk about corruption in government. What gets me is corpulence in government. By the looks of the men in our office you'd think there were no Democrats with waistlines under 42 inches."

A pretty but pouty clerk at the Atomic Energy Commission says about the men in her office:

"The men around here take for granted what is only rumored about atomic radiation. They could at least try to find out if it was true or not. Gee whiz, it's as bad as though we had really been bombed."

A young gal just recruited from Michigan for a job in the Department of Justice says:

"When the Civil Service Commission told me all about the great opportunities in Washington, I had no idea all they meant was a chance to earn more money. But what good is money? You buy new clothes and none of the men notice you anyway."

WASHINGTON GOVERNMENT GIRLS—"Frankly, we're sick of the present crop of males who are our bosses. . ."

Dorine Wigley-Desmond Cranley Wed

A very pretty wedding took place in the Immaculate Conception Church Saturday morning. The bride was Dorine Jessica, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John William Wigley, and the groom was Desmond Joseph Cranley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cranley, all of Peterborough.

It was a double ring ceremony and the Rev. Joseph O'Sullivan officiated in the exchange of rings and vows and said the nuptial mass. Bouquets of yellow gladioli were on the altar table.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. C. O'Donnell, organist, and Mrs. D. Campanaro sang during the service "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she was attended by Miss Joan White as maid of honor, Miss Shirley Cranley, Mrs. Norman Cranley and Miss Cecile Gravelle as bridesmaids and little Carol Anne Emery was flower girl. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Norman Cranley. Ushers were Messrs. Reg. Young, Clarence Wilson and Robert Crowley.

The bridal gown was of traditional white satin trimmed with Chantilly lace, to form a bertha collar, joining the sheer youlk. The fitted bodice had double lace panels down front and back extending into the softly draped skirt and flowing train which had an edge of rippling lace. A braided satin coronet held her veil and she carried a cascade of orchids with light and dark colored carnations.

The maid of honor was frocked in green nylon net over taffeta and her hat was sweetheart shaped in matching shade as were her mittens. The bridesmaids were dressed alike in summer tints of pink, yellow and blue taffeta made on youthful lines with full skirts and set-in yolks of net edged with lace. They also wore sweetheart hats and mittens of matching shades. Each attendant had a cascade bouquet of gladioli in a color to contrast with her gown. The flower girl wore a pale yellow floor length frock and headdress to match and she carried a basket of sweetheart roses and sweet peas.

The bride's mother chose a dress of miracle crepe and Alencon lace in mauve and she wore navy accessories and a corsage of yellow Johanna Hill roses. The groom's mother was gowned in grey french lace and crepe and she wore black accessories and a corsage of pink Briarcliffe roses.

Reception of the guests took place at Club Aragon and afterward the bride and groom left for a honeymoon at Lake Placid. The bride's going-away dress was of pale pink nylon net over taffeta trimmed with daisies down the redingote front. She wore a wide brimmed white nylon hat with daisy trim and white nylon gloves and purse completed her ensemble. Her corsage was a mauve orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Cranley will live on River Road South when they return.

KITCHEN TRICK

There is a little trick in frying the ham-like type of luncheon meat that is so familiar to everyone in recent years. Sprinkle the meat slices very lightly with brown sugar, doing the second side when the meat is turned. Keep the amount of sugar very low so that it will give its delightful glaze and bring up the ham-like flavor without encouraging scorching. It is well to do this frying over quite low heat, and if possible in a rather heavy pan.

REPLACING 'JEANS'—Leisure time favorite of teen-age coeds is a pair of rolled-up blue jeans worn with loose fitting shirt. The same idea with a tidier look is shown here. Checkered corduroy shortie slacks and full artist's smock of vermillion velvet are featured for the junior miss.

MR. AND MRS. LIONEL NEARY, the bride formerly Miss Alma LaPlante, were married Saturday morning in the Church of the Sacred Heart.—(W. H. Staffen Photo).

Alma LaPlante Is Bride

The Rev. J. E. Gaughan officiating, the Sacred Heart Church, decorated with pink and white gladioli, was the scene Saturday morning of a pretty wedding as Alma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armand LaPlante, became the bride of Lionel Neary, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Neary, all of Peterborough.

The wedding music was played by Mr. Herbert Michel. Mrs. A. Conlin sang several hymns during mass and "O Sacred Heart—O Love Divine" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a gown of white brocaded satin, fashioned with a slim bodice and a very full skirt falling to a slight train. The collar fitting high rolled down to slender points and tiny self buttons finished the front of the bodice and the wrists of the long tight sleeves. Her veil of nylon net was caught to a crown of brocaded satin and small white flowers. She carried a cascade of rubrum lilies and stephanotis.

Misses Ann and Noreen LaPlante, sisters of the bride, and Miss Nancy Neary, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. Their matching frocks of mauve, yellow and pink dotted organza were pretty with tight bodices, rolled collars and cap sleeves. The skirts were very full with a deep fold above the hemline. They wore caps of velvet flowers, wrist length gloves and velvet ties around the waist in matching colors. Their nosegays were of summer flowers with long streamers to match their ensembles.

The groom's attendant was Mr. Frank McDonald and Gordon Lacey and Harry O'Rourke were ushers.

The wedding breakfast was served at the Club Aragon where the bride's mother received, choosing a dress of orchid silk faconne crepe, a black mohair picture hat and black accessories. Her corsage was of variegated mauve and white sweetpeas. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a dress of dusty rose silk crepe—a navy lace straw hat and navy accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white sweetpeas.

After the breakfast the couple's new home was visited by the guests, where they saw their lovely gifts.

A reception was held later at the home of the bride's parents from where the couple left by car for a trip to the United States.

For travelling the bride wore a two piece white linen ensemble with hat and accessories of red and white check taffeta and a corsage of rubrum lilies.

On return they will live at 59 Ephgave Boulevard.

Out-of-town guests were from Detriot, Hull, Orillia, Buffalo, Toronto and Kingston.

TO DISTINGUISH GLASS

To tell cut glass from pressed glass, examine them closely. Cut glass has sharp edges and in heavier pieces, has a slight iridescence and sparkle when the sun shines on it. Pressed glass, made in a mold, has smooth, almost rounded edges, even when the designs are deep. If you look at both cut and pressed glass together, you can immediately tell the difference.

LOTS OF ROSES

Twenty-five thousand pounds of roses are needed to produce one litre — which is 2.2 pounds — of oil.

Hatless Women Blow To U.K. Chapeau Industry

By MURIEL NARRAWAY.

LONDON — (CP).— The number of distinguished women daily joining the "hatless parade" is one more headache for Britain's hat designers.

With the hat trade "a shadow of its pre-war self," manufacturers claim it is bad for trade when such women- in- the- news as Sarah Churchill, the Prime Minister's daughter, arrive in London —hatless.

Add to that such a prominent personality as Queen Mary attending a private showing of "Here's to the Memory"—a film scrapbook of the last 50 years — without one of her well-known toques, and film star Ann Todd shopping in London's west-end in black suit, pearls and no hat, and it may be admitted manufacturers have something to worry about.

Women who once would not dream of going without a hat, now are constantly seen without one.

Many society women, actresses and mannequins lend conviction to growing belief that a smart hair-do is best seen without a hat.

'Teen-agers follow the lead of such fashion setters as film stars Jean Simmons and Elizabeth Taylor, both of whom like short cuts and no hats. This type of hairstyle is perhaps the greatest enemy of hat salesmen. With hairdressing prices rising and short cuts requiring constant attention, there is little money left for hat-buying, on most 'teen-age budgets.

The smooth line of such precision-cut coiffures as the Economy Cut, one of the latest styles by west-end hairdresser Raymond, almost makes a hat unnecessary.

Latest figures show that the hat trade has dwindled to half its pre-war strength. The output of summer straws has fallen to 69,000 dozen from 788,000 dozen in 1935.

How do you read character?

Down through the centuries, people have tried to gain insight into character by many different methods.

But, whether or not you believe in any system of "character analysis", you can always tell something about the character of a man simply from the fact that he owns life insurance.

This fact alone tells you, for instance, that he is a good provider. For here is proof that he feels genuine concern for the future welfare of his family — a concern that usually reflects a considerate nature.

It's pretty reliable evidence, too, that he is thrifty, foresighted, realistic — and a good credit risk.

To his employer, his ownership of life insurance suggests readiness to assume responsibility — an attitude that will carry him toward success in any job.

And, if he is using his life insurance to build income for his later years, you can be quite sure that he's the self-reliant type. No relatives or public welfare organization will ever have to support him!

All in all, you'll find that most of the solid citizens in any community own life insurance!

Joan Leslie Wed Saturday To John Reinhardt, Toronto

In a charming decolette gown of white imported Swiss ivy leaf organdy Joan Rand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Leslie of Peterborough, on Saturday afternoon became the bride of Mr. John Campbell Reinhardt of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leopold Reinhardt of Hanover, Ontario.

Setting for the wedding ceremony was the Trinity United Church where the altar was banked with standards of white and yellow gladioli with trailing ivy, and palms and ferns. The Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon officiated and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Coronation Influencing Autumn Styles In Britain

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON (Reuters)—Next summer's Coronation is already influencing the dictates of dame fashion.

With an eye to the slim evening sheaths which will be worn under gorgeous Coronation robes in June, soft brocades are making a comeback.

But the high cost of these luxurious fabrics will probably lead some women at least to ... to what is known as the ... As worn at the last Coronation, the kirtle consisted of a straight apron or slip with a wide band of luxurious brocade down the centre-front.

Some of the manufacturers' latest brocade fabrics are expected to figure in the winter collections of London's top dress designers, seen for the first time at the end of this month.

STILL SECRET

Although what they will show is still secret, indications now are that skirts will be a little longer—... with no drastic change—and waists will continue to be well defined.

Less petticoats will be the order of the day for the winter, although day and cocktail dresses will remain full. The full look will persist with the assistance of linings and stiffened hems for cocktail and dinner wear.

A new permanently-stiff taffeta lining perfected in France will give full skirts the exaggerated weighty look without the actual bulk that was necessary with canvas as a lining.

The suit silhouette will still be narrow, with jackets buttoned slightly higher and basques not quite so exxagerated, especially at the back.

Coats can be either fitted to the back or loose.

Fitted town coats for the fall are nearly all trimmed with fur since this year fur-trimmed garments are taxable at the same rate as an ordinary wool coat.

Loose town coats, on the other hand, have cuffs in long-haired fox, either black or dyed to match the color of the fabric.

These hang straight from the shoulder for daytime and are stiffened slightly to bell out for cocktails and supper.

The short evening dress is here to stay. But in London society next season, it will be frowned upon for all the grander occasions.

Popular opinion demands that short strapless formal dresses are to be almost entirely double-duty frocks, topped mostly by boleros or complete button up jackets, waist length and neck high.

DOROTHY DIX

Husband's Absence Leaves Social Gap – Wife Restless

DEAR MISS DIX: For the five years of our marriage, my husband has worked out of town every summer. I have a two-year-old son but, instead of being company for me, he makes me more dissatisfied as he is hard to handle.

Last summer I met a man who is also married with a child, and I was very much attracted to him. He has been on my mind constantly ever since, and I have lost weight thinking of him. I haven't seen him very much, but will have an opportunity to be in his company quite a bit during the next month or two. Should I continue to see him, hoping that I'll get tired of him and have some peace of mind? FRANNIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I can assure you, the course you propose will have exactly the opposite effect. You are playing with fire—a pursuit that is most dangerous since it is constantly fed with the spreading flames of conspiracy and secrecy.

LIVING DREAM LIFE

You are creating a dream life for yourself, and your married friend just happens to be a convenient prototype for your romantic hero. All you need is a good bounce back to reality. One of the reasons why your two-year-old is hard to handle is the fact that you don't spend the necessary time in training him. Instead of concentrating on his upbringing—which is a thorough, full-time job for any woman—you are giving way to childish visions of a make-believe world in which there is no drudgery, no routine, no demanding baby.

Either you are very young, or have simply failed to mature to the point where you can accept the responsibilities that life has given you.

Your husband's absence each summer naturally will leave a gap in your life, but have you considered the consequences if you try to fill it with the wrong companionship? Wouldn't you simply have a fit if you learned that your husband dated other girls? You bet you would!

If you expect fair treatment, be prepared to render it. As a wife and mother you have obligations that cannot be shirked. Be a woman and live up to your responsibilities. If it is at all possible for you to accompany your husband on his summer chores, make every effort to do so. You don't seem very trustworthy and had better stay clear of all temptation.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My friend is in the service and he thinks I shouldn't go out with anyone else while he is away. I like him very much, but am not too crazy over the idea of sitting home every night waiting for him. GLORIA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since you are not engaged to the young man, you are not obligated to go dateless during his period of service. In fact, it would be most unwise to do so. Let him know, however, exactly what the state of affairs is.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 15 years old, a freshman in high school. My mother objects to my going in cars with boys. Some of the boys in school have cars and after lunch they go riding. Is there anything wrong in that? HELENE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: While there is nothing intrinsically wrong in riding in a car, there are many hazards involved. Boys in your age group are not inclined to be the most careful drivers in the world, and when a gang of youngsters piles into a car for a joyride, the results can sometimes be tragic. Your mother's concern is only for your own physical and moral welfare, and you have no choice but to obey her in this serious matter.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Two years ago I became an unmarried mother, moved to another town and began life again under an assumed name, "Mrs." of course. Now I have married a wonderful man who is anxious to adopt my baby. However, we are in doubt as to the legal procedure. How can we go about it? B. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The simplest and most direct means is to consult a lawyer who can give you immediate and, I am sure, satisfactory assistance.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Can Own Vegetable Soup While Ingredients Plentiful

From a completely reliable authority I have the assurance that Canadian housewives do not need to panic because of the U.S. steel strike causing a shortage of tinplate for canned goods. Canadian supply of tinplate for tin cans is independent of American production. Steel plants in Hamilton, fabricate tinplate for Canadian manufacturers of canned goods.

This does not mean that hundreds of you are not or will not be busy as bees canning, jamming, jellying and freezing your surplus supplies of vegetables and fruits. Just as it should be in our beloved land of plenty too.

I have made a promise to Mrs. U. S. to print in this space of ours a method for making a good homemade vegetable soup for canning and today's the day.

CANNED HOMEMADE VEGETABLE SOUP (with meat)

Six lbs. of beef soupbone with some meat—about 2 lbs., 5 quarts water, 2 tablespoons salt, 12 peppercorns, 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate (MSG or Ac-Cent), 1 cup each chopped onions and celery. Roughly cut the meat from the bones and cut small and brown in 4 tablespoons beef drippings or other fat. Add the bones, and the water, cover and bring to boil and simmer 3 hours. Add all remaining ingredients, bring to boil, cover and reduce heat and simmer 1 hour longer. Strain. Return pieces of meat to the broth. Chill, then remove fat.

There should be 16 cups of this stock. To it add 2 cups each peeled chopped tomatoes, finely chopped celery, cut up green beans, fresh peas, chopped onion, finely diced carrot, 1 cup finely diced turnip, 1 cup macaroni alphabets, 2 tablespoons each chopped parsley and chives, and if desired, ½ cup raw rice. Cover and bring to boil and simmer 20 minutes. If rice is used boil it ½ hour. If desired to keep their green color the parsley and chives may be added during the last 2 or 3 minutes. Pour into sterile jars and seal to within ¼-turn of tight. Process in hot water bath for 3 hours. Since this soup contains so many non-acid vegetables this long processing time is absolutely essential. Pressure canner 55 minutes at 10 lbs. for quarts.

CANNED HOMEMADE VEGETABLE SOUP (without meat)

These quantities make about 10 quarts.

One peck tomatoes, 10 medium onions, 2 quarts corn cut from cobs, 2 quarts shelled-out lima beans, 2 medium bunches of celery, 5 quarts water, 1 large head cabbage very finely shredded, 2 cups diced or ground carrots, 3 sweet red peppers, chopped, 2 sweet green peppers, chopped, ½ to 1 cup salt (depending on your taste), 1 teaspoon pepper. Peel and pare and wash all of the vegetables. Add the beans to the boiling water first and the tomatoes last with the salt and pepper. Cook slowly covered until all vegetables are tender. If desired add 1 or 2 teaspoons MSG to give the soup a flavor reminiscent of chicken. Pour into sterile quart jars and seal. Process for 3 hours in hot water bath as above.

Mrs. Gertrude W. wants method for

CANED SWISS CHARD

(Use this method for spinach or beet tops or kale.)

Use only sound tender leaves,—it is preferable to cut off stems. Wash in 5 or 6 waters until no traces of sand are left. Cook, covered, in water which clings to leaves, until thoroughly wilted—about 5 to 8 minutes, turning several times during cooking. Pack loosely, very hot, in sterile jars. With long sterile knife cut greens crosswise to bottom of container. Add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart. Cover with boiling water, leaving ½ inch headspace. Process in boiling water bath 3 hours for quarts; pressure canner at 10 lbs. 60 minutes.

Find Edinburgh Grows Faster Than Scotland

EDINBURGH, Scotland (CP)—The city of Edinburgh has grown faster than Scotland as a whole during the last 20 years, says a report, issued recently, on the 15th census of Scotland made in 1951.

During the same two decades, Edinburgh has not yet reached the 500,000 mark but the average age of citizens is 35.9 years compared to 33 years as deduced from the findings of the last census made in 1931.

The same period has also seen a move from the centre of the city to the suburbs. The outer fringe population has increased by 80,000 while there has been a drop of 53,000 in the central districts.

"SURPLUS FEMALES"

The report notes that there are 39,063 "surplus" females and a remarkable number of widows. One woman has the distinction of special, anonymous mention because she is the only citizen who speaks Gaelic only.

Since 1801 Edinburgh's population has increased more than seven times compared with an increase for Scotland during the same period of three times. The birth rate was lower and the death rate higher than in other parts of Scotland.

It was estimated that on the balance of migration movements, Scotland had lost about 220,000 of its population in the 20 years to 1951 but more people had come to live in Edinburgh than had left the city.

The report observed ... females than males speak Gaelic in the city.

New Toni
WITH PRICELESS PINK LOTION
Holds the set longer than any other permanent!

Which Twin's Toni was set a week ago—and which was set today?

Yes, both twins have Toni's. Julia Lacy, on the left, had hers set just before this picture was taken—Cynthia, on the right, had her Toni set one whole week before and never re-set it! You can't tell the difference. Here's proof that Priceless Pink Lotion gives a wave that stays lovely without re-setting!

You'll forget all other ideas about permanents the first time you use New Toni with Priceless Pink Lotion. For the new Toni process is faster, gives a wave with the vibrant spring and silky-softness of a natural wave. Yes, and it holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had!

Never a lotion so wonderful! You've never used anything like Toni's new Priceless Pink Lotion! It curls more completely—yet is kinder to your hair! And that means a lovelier, livelier wave for you. Less re-setting. New freedom from the nightly chore of pin curls.

Never a neutralizer so fast! You save 20 minutes with the new Permafix method of neutralizing. And because Permafix neutralizes more thoroughly, it "locks in" your Toni wave so it can't come out. New Toni means all day—every day beauty for you month after month.

Never a guarantee so complete! If you don't say your new Toni looks lovelier and holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had, the Toni Company will cheerfully refund your money. So try New Toni—and you be the judge.

Drunk Driving Case Remanded To August

Joseph Hill, R.R. 3, Havelock, was remanded until August 12 when he appeared before Magistrate E. A. Gee on a drunk driving charge today.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked for $1,000 bail as he said Hill was liable to be charged with drunk driving as a second offence and that he was also charged with driving while his licence was under suspension.

Never Make Man

However, Mr. Bradshaw was adamant in demanding a jail sentence for Lindy, because he said "the ingenuity of the theft shows he needs a check to show him there are teeth in the law."

Magistrate Gee concurred, "Too often these lads laugh behind the back of the crown attorney and the Magistrate. I feel you should be taught a lesson," he told Lindy and although the major's fighting speech did not win Lindy suspended sentence, the Magistrate sentenced him to one month in jail instead of two as urged by the crown attorney.

ADDS WARNING

"You'll get 12 months the next time, if I'm on the bench," the Magistrate warned Lindy after reminding him the maximum penalty for taking a car without the owner's consent was 12 months in jail and a $500 fine.

O.P.P. Constable Russell Pollard said Lindy was picked up in Renfrew after he had driven there with a car he took from the barn of William J. Brealey. Lindy had been employed on Mr. Brealey's farm in Otonabee township for a few days before.

After taking the car Thursday night, he phoned from Renfrew to say his wife was sick in hospital and that he would be back the next day. When he failed to return by noon Friday, Mr. Brealey contacted police, Constable Pollard said.

Lindy admitted being mixed up in a similar charge in Renfrew some time ago which was not pressed and said he was given suspended sentence in December 1951 on a charge of assisting in a theft.

Prior to his retirement in 1950, Major Everitt served as chaplain at Burwash Reformatory from 1944 to 1946 and from 1948 to 1950. From 1946 to 1948, he was chaplain at Guelph Reformatory.

STRIKE'S END CHEERS WORKERS—Jubilant steelworkers meet in front of the U.S. Steel plant in Gary, Ind., to cheer the news that the long steel strike was ended. The settlement came at a face-to-face meeting of CIO President Philip Murray and U.S. Steel President Benjamin Fairless at the White House, where they had been summoned by President Truman.

Fined $10 As Drunk Fishing Was Bad, Too

"It's adding insult to injury, paying a fine and not getting any fish," Magistrate E. A. Gee told Raymond Nobes of Belmont township when he pleaded guilty to a drunk charge today.

Nobes explained he had been fishing shortly before being arrested on the Blairton Road. "You must have been paying more attention to drink than fishing," commented Magistrate Gee, "$10 and costs, or, if you prefer the cooler these hot days, 10 days in the county jail."

Cornwall Man Sees Strange Sky Object

CORNWALL (CP)—Robert Armour reported he saw a bright blue-and-white object streaking across the sky over Cornwall last night. It travelled from north to south then veered sharply to the east.

"It was quite round and left no smoke trail," said Mr. Armour, a member of the office staff of a rayon plant. "At first I thought it was a plane, but it was travelling so fast and turned so fast it could not have been."

Youth 21, Paralyzed When Struck By Train

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Max Landiak, 21, of Fort William suffered the loss of both feet and paralysis of the lower part of his body when struck by a train Sunday. His condition is critical.

A Canadian National Railways employee, he was checking cars when struck from behind by a switching engine.

Eight Autos Wrecked

SUDBURY (CP)—A string of nine runaway railway boxcars Saturday night wrecked eight automobiles and overturned a truck before they were halted by two railway employees. L. Kirkbride and Eric Young, off duty when the freight cars rumbled down 400 yards of track, jumped aboard the first car and braked it to a stop. The damaged autos were parked beside the railway line and were smashed as the box cars brushed past.

Air Ambulances

BARRA, The Hebrides (CP)—An air ambulance service is caring for the needs of folk in the lonely outer Hebrides, where tough islanders often suffered in the past without medical aid. The Scottish ambulance service of British European Airways handled 300 cases from the islands last year.

Unusual Exhibits

TORONTO (CP)—Sand painting and growing of miniature trees will be among unusual hobbies at the Canadian international hobby and homecraft show here next Feb. 6-14. Many hobbies introduced to Canada by immigrants will be included.

C. H. Saunders

the Hall store. That invasion required a partial shift and enlargement of the Hall store premises.

Later improvements and expansion became necessary as the business grew. The last change was the comparatively recent nominal alteration when the name Walker Store was adopted. That is a brief sketch of the history of the present company's establishment in Peterborough.

Peterborough has known Mr. Saunders as an enterprising merchant, innately a gentleman and from the same resource of character a business man of fine ethical ideals.

One of his impressions out of the past, by repute, was to the effect that Richard Hall gave to his store a pleasant atmosphere that was a real asset in holding and developing the appreciation and confidence of customers. Times have changed many phases of business, but the spirit of the Richard Hall store lost none of its palpable friendly, considerate aspect under Mr. Saunders' management.

He has always [illegible] to the public and [illegible] sense of humor has [illegible] a tangible part of the business.

One of the changes which Mr. Saunders mentions from his own experience with the public, and that means its femininity, was in women's approach to purchases.

"If a woman came in to buy a dress or hat, it was the usual thing for her to settle down and be shown a wide range of material for her choice," Mr. Saunders said.

WOMEN ARE SHOPPERS

Women, today, are shoppers. They are more likely to say: "Let's look around and see what we can get." That is the shopping interest of this generation.

"In other days we sold them dress goods, for instance, and their garments were made in our dressmaking rooms. It was much the same with hats and the millinery section.

"I believe it is a fact that we sell more hats than ever, but women wear them less. That is a paradox of business that baffles me. The ready-to-wear has increased sales of garments many times over the old volume that moved through the capable hands of our almost-forgotten dressmakers.

"Women's hose was once made of wool, cotton or a mixture. Then came silk and nylon. You know the story."

Mr. Saunders remarked that he would always be interested in the business, to which he contributed so much of effort and intelligence and goodwill in its re-establishment. His arrangement with Mr. Steele was mutually acceptable.

"Just to help him wherever I can in taking over the management," Mr. Saunders said.

A member of the Men's Sketch Club, Mr. Saunders will have more time in retirement to pursue his artistic hobby of painting, in the manner of relaxation of Churchill, the Earl of Tunis, Eisenhower and so many others blessed with a gift of art.

Peterborough's main streeters and his associates of the Kiwanis Club of which he has been a member 27 years, will wish Charlie Saunders all the satisfactions of the leisure that begins Tuesday, July 5.

English Bisley Star To Be At Long Branch

In addition to the team that has just competed at Bisley, England, more than 500 men and women from Canada and the United States will compete.

Man Dies 3 Hours After Shot By Police

Win Three Firsts

HELSINKI (AP)—The U. S. won all the first three places in the Olympic men's springboard-diving championship today. David (Skippy) Browning of Dallas, Tex., gave a remarkable exhibition of near-perfect diving to win the title.

Zatopek Day At Olympics As Czech Wins Marathon

By JACK SULLIVAN

HELSINKI (CP)—The 1952 Olympic Games came to the half-way mark Sunday in another roaring blaze of track and field records, brought under control only because there was nothing left for the flames to feed on.

In the full schedule of 32 track and field events run off since last Sunday, 27 Olympic and nine world records were broken.

The climax was reached yesterday when Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's sensational long-distance runner, ran his field of 66 ragged and won the Olympic marathon, completing an Olympic triple within a week.

ZATOPEK DAY

Zatopek already had the 5,000-metre and 10,000-metre gold medals when he set out on Sunday's marathon, a race in which he had never competed before. It was Zatopek's race practically all the way and so far as the crowd of 70,000 in Olympic stadium was concerned, it was Zatopek Day.

But while Zatopek was pounding the paved highways outside Helsinki and then trotting fresh-looking into the stadium for the finish in Olympic record time, here's what happened:

Jamaica's quartette of runners won the 1,600-metre relay and set world and Olympic records. Canada's team placed fourth—the only point-scoring place won by Canada in track and field competition.

John Mikaelsson of Sweden won the 10,000-metre walk, setting a record and giving Sweden its first gold medal in these games.

U.S. WINS RELAYS

The United States men's team won the 400-metre relay and American girls won the women's 400-metre relay. A poor exchange of the baton cost Australia's girls the victory.

Ester Brand of South Africa won the women's high jumping championship.

The Sunday record-breaking was only a continuation of what happened Saturday and, for that matter, what had been going on all week.

The Saturday show in the stadium came up with these performances:

Joseph Barthel won the 1,500-metre run in record time, giving Luxembourg its first Olympic championship in history. Bob McMillen of the United States almost caught Barthel in a sensational finish.

Blonde Galina Zybina of Russia won the women's shot put, setting world and Olympic records with her toss of 50 feet, 2.58 inches.

Bob Mathias of the United States retained his decathlon championship and erased a world record.

Marjorie Jackson of Australia won the women's 200-metre sprint to complete a double. She already had the 100-metre championship.

CANADA SCORES

Canada came into the point-scoring for the first time during the weekend.

George Genereux of Saskatoon started things with his brilliant victory Saturday in the clay pigeon section of the trapshooting tournament.

Gerry Gratton and Dave Baillie of Montreal placed second and fifth respectively, in weightlifting competitions.

Ken Lane and Doug Hawgood of Toronto scored a second in the canoeing race for Canadian-type pairs. Norm Lane of Ottawa was fifth in the singles.

Along with the fourth-place finish for the 1,600-metre relay team, all this added up to 27 points for Canada.

Pointless before the weekend in the unofficial standings, Canada went into 17th place.

RUSSIA IN LEAD

Despite success at track and field, the United States still trailed Russia with little hope of catching up in the final week of various sports.

Russia, bolstered by heavy scoring in gymnastics and wrestling, led with 496½ points, on the 10-5-4-3-2-1 basis for first six places in any final. The United States had 387 points. Hungary was the next closest with 164.

Except for Canada's fourth in the 1,600-metre relay, Canadians had no point-score placings in the final two days of track and field competition.

Paul Collins of Wolfville, N.S., was 39th in the marathon, in which a field of 66 started and 53 finished.

Alice Whitty of Vancouver placed 10th in the women's high jump and Bob Adams of Saskatoon placed 19th in the gruelling decathlon.

CAGERS ELIMINATED

Canada's basketball team was eliminated Saturday after successive defeats at the hands of Brazil and Argentina. Both South American teams showed surprising strength. The Canadians were defeated by the narrowest of margins—57-55 by Brazil and 82-82 by Argentina.

The final game in the bracket Sunday was only a consolation match and Canada lost to the Philippines, 81-65. Both teams were out of the round-robin tournament because of two successive defeats. The bracket leaders, Brazil and Argentina, moved on to semi-final play.

The United States, Urugay, Russia, France, Chile and Bulgaria remained in the championship tournament, along with Brazil and Argentina.

SWIMMERS BEATEN

The first gold medal in the swimming championships went to Clark Scholes of the United States, winner in the 100-metre free-style race. Canadian entrants were eliminated Saturday.

Italy won the team epee championship Saturday in the fencing competition. In the individual section, Ed Brooke of Montreal was eliminated in the first round.

In the yachting competition, European entries appeared to be certain winners in most classes. In the series of races now near an end, Norway was leading in the six-metre class. Canada was sixth. Italy was leading in the Star class, with Canada 11th, and in the Dragon class Argentina was in front and Canada in ninth place. In the Finn dinghy class Canada was far back in 15th place behind the leading Denmark entry.

Arthur Johnson and Tom Hodgson, both of Toronto, were third in their heat of the men's 1,000-metre Canadian doubles. Their time was 4:44.9 compared with the winning time by Denmark's team of 4:32.9. There were six teams in the heat, the first four qualifying.

George Cordner and Bob Ward, both of Toronto, finished sixth and last in their heat of the men's 1,000-metre pairs and failed to qualify.

George Bossy of Montreal finished fifth in the men's 1,000-metre Canadian singles. Only the first four in the heat qualified.

Japanese Swimmers Set Olympic Record

HELSINKI (CP)—Japanese swimmers set an Olympic record today in winning their trial heat of the 800-metre relay. The record time was 8:42.1—3 9-10 seconds faster than the record set by the United States in 1948.

The Canadian relay team finished fourth among the six teams in the same heat. Time for the Canadian squad of Peter Salmon, Vancouver; Lucien Beaumont, Quebec; Leo Portelance, Ocean Falls, B. C., and Allen Gilchrist, Ocean Falls, was 9:10.9.

The time wasn't fast enough to place Canada among the eight qualifying teams.

France won the first of the three trial heats with Britain second, Australia third and Russia fourth. The United States won the second.

Ungava Iron Came From Sediment Left By Old Seas

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Writer

You don't need to be a geologist to know there's iron ore in Labrador-Ungava. The rain puddles there are red with it.

For that matter, you don't need to be a geologist to know there's iron in your own backyard. Iron is the fourth most common thing in the earth's crust, making up about five per cent of it and ranking oxygen, silica and aluminum.

But where is is in the right blend so people will buy it? To find out that, you need a geologist.

Take the iron ore now being developed in Labrador-Ungava. We can say it is 55-per-cent iron in natural state, and 60-per-cent iron when dried.

But that doesn't mean much, from the point of view of selling it, unless we can also says that it is low in silica—about seven or eight per cent—and almost free of other undesirable impurities such as phosphorus and sulphur. The rest of the ore's make-up is oxygen.

SIMILAR TO MESABI

This make-up, it happens, is similar to that of the Mesabi ores which most North American steel plants were built to handle.

If you wish to know how the iron ore got into Labrador-Ungava, you might recall the words on Canada's Parliament Buildings at Ottawa:

"The wholesome sea is at her gates, her gates both east and west."

Well, that sea not only used to be at her gates, but inside her gates, and it left a legacy of wealth millions of years ago before it retired as the land rose.

The sea that once rolled over the western plains supplied the sediments from which came oil. The sea that rolled through Labrador-Ungava — through what is known as the Labrador Trough—supplied the sediments from which came iron ore.

Yes, oil and iron, in different ways, were built up from the deposits of old seas. Oil is from the bodies of tiny once-living organisms. Iron ore, as we know it is from the iron content perhaps of old hills rich in iron from when the world was built which weathered and were carried in bits to the sea-bottom.

Those old bits were pounded and packed and generally kicked around by the convulsions of nature, by rising land and folding land, by crush[illegible] until they are what they are today.

What they are today is sometimes darkish gravel, sometimes rock of various hues — but, apparently, gravel or rock, they are the same thing when analyzed.

The old sediments would not qualify for cookstove or crowbar if local water action at some period had not washed out most of their silica.

Some of the sediments which settled nearby didn't have this fortune. They still have too much silica and no one will buy them—not yet.

But Dr. A. E. Moss, native of Strasbourg, Sask., and geologist for Iron Ore Company of Canada, says that, with less special treatment than is given to some United States ores, further great bodies of iron ore in Labrador-Ungava would become salable. He thinks that may come about in 25 years or so.

Geologists are like writers o "whodunits" in reverse. Instead of asking "whodunit?" they ask "what happened?" and they follow clue after clue, and that leads them to ore bodies.

In Labrador-Ungava, long after the ore bodies were formed, the Ice Age moved about 2,000 feet of ice over them, and lopped off the ore tops, so that what is found today are their roots. As the ice retreated it left behind the gravel and boulders it had collected in its advance.

The ore found so far is under a relatively light overburden of this material. Dr. Moss says that other ore bodies may lie deeper; and that maybe the real centre of the iron deposits has not yet been found.

DEEP POCKETS

The deposits found are in pockets which go down about 450 feet from the surface, with 3,000,000 to 50,000,000 tons of ore in a pocket. These are spaced from a quarter-mile to five or six miles apart and run in a series. It is possible that they are tied together farther down.

Drillers are drilling and geologists are out tracing rocks for further answers to "what happened?" So far, enough answers have been found to justify the expenditure of $200,000,000.-

WINTER CAMP—Temperatures fall as low as 60 below zero in Labrador-Ungava but construction of the 360-mile railway to Seven Islands, Que., goes on. Some members of a day shift leave the warm shelter of their huts in the winter railway camp for work.

BRIDGE BUILDERS—Workers cross the Moisie River in a car of the 800-foot cableway used during construction of a steel railway bridge across the river. The bridge will be one of 24 on the 360-mile rail line that will run from Seven Islands, Que., to Knob Lake in central Labrador-Ungava.

Division Has 1st Anniversary In Front Lines

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The Commonwealth Division observed the first anniversary of its formation today in positions on the Korean battlefront.

Men of the multi-country division, first of its kind and made up of some of the Commonwealth's famed fighting units, have been continuously on the line since the division was organized a year ago.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, United States Eighth Army commander, lauded the Commonwealth unit as a "great and gallant division." In an anniversary tribute, Van Fleet said the division has demonstrated "high courage, unwavering determination and all-encompassing combat excellence in defeating the Communist aggressor."

Countries represented in the division are Britain, Canada, Australia, India, New Zealand and South Africa.

The division was organized July 28 last year from three infantry brigades already fighting in Korea. These were the 28th and 29th British brigades and the 25th Canadian Brigade.

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—A new wrinkle in radar called reflection plotting rode with the super-liner United States on its record-breaking Atlantic crossings.

The device, built into a regular ship radar, enabled the navigator to keep constant check on all other ships in his area and, without leaving the radar, to determine any that might come within danger range.

It eliminates frequent, time-consuming trips to the chart room to make plots of the courses of other ships during fog, rain or night when visibility is poor and radar's X-ray eye is needed.

PLOTTING PROCESS

All the navigator has to do is to take a soft crayon and make a dot on a glass surface above the radarscope or viewing screen when another vessel shows up on the map-like circular image. A few minutes later he makes another dot over the position of the ship at that time. He draws a straight line that passes through the two dots and projects it across the face of the glass. If it passes below or above the centre of the radar image—representing his own ship—he knows the other ship will pass well ahead or behind his own.

But if the projected line passes through the centre of the radar image, the navigator is warned to the possibility of a collision unless one ship or the other changes its course or speed. He proceeds to keep close check on that ship to be ready to take whatever steps are necessary to avoid collision.

Meanwhile he doesn't have to worry about the pips or dots representing other ships unless one of them moves away from the line—marked in crayon—along which it has been moving. If it does move away, it means that ship has changed its course or speed and has to be watched until its new course is determined.

The line drawn through two successive positions of a ship on the radar scope actually doesn't represent the other ship's course, but rather the relative course of that ship and your own.

Prime Ministers To Meet For Parley In November

Ask All Americans Ousted From Iran's Soil

TEHRAN (AP)—Bitter attacks on the United States highlighted a debate today in which the Iranian parliament overwhelmingly approved Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's program for economic and social reforms to head off national bankruptcy. The seriousness of the anti-U.S. demonstration was underscored when deputy Shams Ghanat-Abadi demanded the ouster of all Americans from the country. Ghanat-Abadi is the right-hand man of Ayatullah Seyed Kashani, Iran's leading religious figure and a close supporter of Mossadegh.

FEAR FOR FUTURE

Anti-U.S. feeling has been rife here since the July 21 riots which ousted ex-premier Ahmed Qavam but this was the first such outburst in parliament.

Contracts for the U.S. military missions expire in October and U.S. officials are worried that they will not be extended if the current anti-American feeling continues.

This feeling is based on the belief—denied by U.S. ambassador Loy Henderson — that Americans supported Qavam against Mossadegh. The belief arose principally from a visit paid Qavam by Henderson July 19, two days after the former had become premier.

APPROVE PROGRAM

Today's demonstration was short-lived, however. Debate was resumed and the program approved 68-0, with one abstention.

The program includes plans to re-open Iran's rich oil production which has dwindled to a trickle following the long and bitter dispute with Britain over nationalization of the $1,000,000,000 Anglo-Iranian Oil Company properties here.

New Earthquake Jolts Bakersfield

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Two sharp earthquake jolts hit Bakersfield early today, starting two fires and sending frightened residents into the streets as windows broke and bricks fell from previously damaged buildings. The new tremors, at 12.05 a.m. PDT (3.05 EDT) and 102 a.m., were felt throughout Southern California, but were strongest in Bakersfield.

A number of patients were evacuated from the county hospital here. One house was badly damaged when a gas line was broken. Sheriff Carl Weber said he believed the shock was as intense but didn't last as long as the July 21 earthquake that left 13 dead.

Short-circuits caused many transformers to blaze up and there were numerous fire calls.

Accuse Reds Of "Stalling"

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The United Nations command today accused the Communists of stalling in the staff-officer talks on a proposed Korean armistice agreement.

The charge came from the U.N. command spokesman, Lieut.-Col. Joseph Borchert, after U.N. and Communist staff officers met for an hour and 44 minutes at Panmunjom on wording of the truce agreement draft.

The staff officers are talking over the meaning of words and phases in the draft while the full-dress conference—deadlocked over the prisoner-exchange issue—is in recess until Sunday.

Col. Duncan Somerville, U.N. staff officer, said he told the top Red staff officer, Col. Chang Chun San: "We are here today to try to resolve important matters which require good faith by both sides. We are not here to establish simultaneously a technicality in an obscure paragraph for bargaining purposes or to delay and confuse the valid issues."

Man Run Down By Own Boat

MERRITT, B.C. (CP)—Allan Gould, 29, was run down by his own power boat in Nicola Lake near here Sunday and was drowned.

Police said Gould was driving his boat at a high rate of speed when his two-year-old son was thrown out on a turn.

Gould immediately leaped into the water to save the boy while his boat continued in a tight circle. He kept the child's head above water but twice the craft passed over them.

Two men sped to the scene in another boat and rescued the boy but Gould had disappeared. The boy was later found to have a severe cut on his head.

Bunker Roof Falls Captain Buried

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP)—Three days of heavy rains on the Korean battlefront loosened the earthen roof of a bunker occupied by soldiers of the 1st Commonwealth Division.

The roof caved in, trapping a Captain. His comrades grabbed shovels and began digging frantically.

"Take it easy," they heard the captain shout. "I have a bottle of scotch in here."

Inquest Ordered Into Traffic Death

SAULT STE. MARIE (CP)—An inquest has been ordered into the traffic death here Sunday of Stephen Cane, 33, of Buffalo, N.Y., but the date will not be set until others injured in the car-truck crash have been released from hospital.

Cane died several hours after his car collided with a truck at the intersection of a street and highway No. 17. The condition of Stephen Allen, 19, of Niagara Falls, injured in the accident, is unchanged.

50 Ringleaders Leave Guelph

GUELPH (CP)—Fifty ringleaders of the July 5 riot at the Ontario reformatory here were moved during the week-end under heavy guard to North Bay jail, it was learned today.

Shackled and heavily-guarded by 10 provincial police officers and under the supervision of two police inspectors, the prisoners were moved in two bus loads. They arrived early Monday.

Hedley Basher, deputy Minister of Reform Institutions, said the prisoners will finish their sentence in the Northern Ontario jail.

2 Helicopters Attempt Trans-Atlantic Trip

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—Two air rescue service helicopters, attempting the first such trans-Atlantic crossing, arrived at Greenland at 4:15 p.m. EDT Sunday, this base was informed yesterday.

The 770-mile flight from Goose Bay, Labrador, was made in 8 hours 50 minutes.

The helicopters are being flown to Germany in an effort to demonstrate it is the most economical manner in which to deliver such aircraft.

Most Renowned Mountie Supt. Leopold To Retire

OTTAWA (CP)—Superintendent John Leopold, a key figure in the famous 1931 Communist trials and in the 1946 spy probe, is retiring from the R.C.M.P. at the age limit of 62.

The stocky native of Bohemia, who has spent most of his life in secret anti-Communist work, is probably the force's most renowned member. He is going on his final leave Aug. 1, R.C.M.P. headquarters said today.

As Sgt. Leopold his name became virtually a household word in 1931 when he capped years of working underground in the Communist movement as an undercover police agent by becoming the star Crown witness in the trials of eight Red leaders, including Tim Buck, still Canada's No. 1 Communist.

FABULOUS CAREER

In that period and in the 1945-46 spy probe, Leopold probably reached the high points of a colorful career. There undoubtedly were others but they are part of the secrecy which cloaks 90 per cent of what he did from the time he joined the force in the First World War.

He ends his career as a superintendent in the Special Branch, the anti-subversive section.

About five-feet-five, stocky and swarthy, Leopold came to Canada from Europe early in life and was homesteading in the Peace River country of Alberta when he joined the Mounties in the hope of going overseas.

His knowledge of the Bohemian, German, Polish and English languages kept him in Canada and launched what has become a fabulous career of sleuthing.

UNDERCOVER MAN

In 1918, when authorities were anxious to check on the spread in Canada of influences stemming from the Bolshevik revolution in Russia, Leopold became "J.W. Esselwein."

Disguised as an odd-job house painter, he was invited to join the Communist party then being formed in Winnipeg. Later he became a party secretary, but even police had no idea who he was when they arrested him for taking part in a demonstration in Toronto in 1927.

He became a member of the Communist party in 1921 and worked as an agent within its ranks for seven years before they caught up with him and expelled him in 1928. He became an intimate of most of Canada's Red leaders.

Between 1928 and 1931 he was in the north and in 1931 he was called to Ottawa to assist in preparation of charges against eight leading Reds who were sentenced to five years in prison on charges of belonging to an unlawful organization and being parties to a seditious conspiracy.

Again in 1933 he appeared as Dr. Fritz Siegel of Detroit to break up a narcotics gang in Welland.

When the espionage probe was at its height in 1946 top R.C.M.P. officials admitted Leopold was "all tied up in it." The Royal Commission on Espionage lauded his "partially valuable service."

UK Diplomat Delivers Note In Cairo

Will Not Intervene Unless Britons Must Be Protected

CAIRO (AP)—Britain's ambassador to Egypt, Sir Ralph Stevenson, today called on Premier Aly Maher Pasha of Egypt with a message from Foreign Secretary Eden of Britain.

Contents of the message were not disclosed, but Eden told the House of Commons in London yesterday that the British government hopes to see a "stable and orderly administration" emerge from last week's upheaval, which unseated King Farouk and put Gen. Mohammed Naguib Bey and Maher Pasha in control.

Eden also said Britain has "no wish to intervene" in Egypt's internal affairs, but that current British transfers of warships, troops and planes to the Suez Canal zone "are related solely to the possibility of danger to British lives."

Stevenson interrupted a European vacation to confer in London on the Egyptian events and then rush here with the British messages.

His return opened the way for a reopening of talks on Egyptian demands for the removal of British troops from the Canal Zone and British recognition of Egyptian sovereignty over the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, now ruled jointly by the two countries.

The premier, like his predecessors, has pledged his government would realize both these aims.

3 Trainmen Hurt In Rail Accident

BOLTON (CP)—Three trainmen were injured today when a Canadian Pacific Railway freight drawn by two locomotives sideswiped an engine on a passing track at Bolton station, 20 miles north of Toronto. The three engines and nine cars of the freight were derailed.

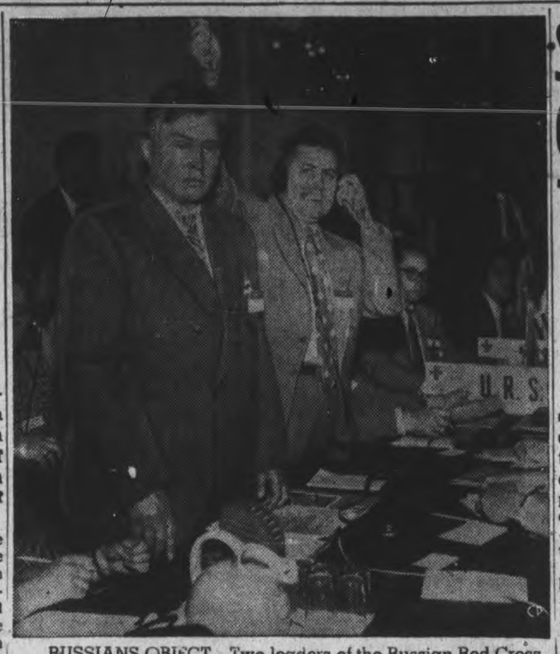
C.P.R. officials said damage was "considerable."

The three men were taken to hospital at Brampton with minor injuries.

They were W.G. Buchanan, Thomas Kinnear and Joseph Ryan, all of Toronto.

Buchanan and Kinnear were firemen on the freight. Ryan was a trainman.

C.P.R. trains travelling between Parry Sound and Toronto were rerouted via Canadian National Railways tracks while the track at Bolton was being cleared.



RUSSIANS OBJECT—Two leaders of the Russian Red Cross delegation demand a hearing during a turbulent session at the International Red Cross conference in Toronto. General Nikolai Slavin, left, head of the delegation, stands to support B. M. Zonov trying to attract the attention of chairman John A. MacAulay of Winnipeg. They were supporting the demands of the Chinese Red delegate Su Ching kuan that the Chinese Nationalist delegates not be seated at the conference.

Youth Shoots Girl Feared Evidence

VANCOUVER (CP)—A frenzied gunman, afraid his former sweetheart might "sing" in court, kidnapped and murdered the pretty 19-year-old girl yesterday, then fired a bullet into his own brain. Frank Steele, 23, suspected burglar and drug addict, shot Betty Weber through the eye in the locked bathroom of a small apartment and then triggered a bullet into his ear as police closed in, desperately trying to save the girl. Steele died shortly after in the emergency ward of the Vancouver General hospital. In the next cot, listening to his dying gasps, lay Harry Weber, 52, the girl's father, shot in the leg by Steele an hour before.

Weber, released after treatment, knew Steele was in the cot beside him. But he did not know at that time Steele had killed his daughter.

DRUG BOLSTERED COURAGE

Police said they found a drug addict's paraphernalia in the apartment. A detective said he believed Steele took a shot of heroin to bolster his courage as a police cordon closed in on him.

Steele, Betty Weber and three other persons had been scheduled to appear in court yesterday to face trial on charges of stealing $2,800 worth of clothes from a sportswear factory. Steele was out on $3,000 bail, the girl on $1,000.

About an hour before court opened, Steele entered the Weber's second-storey apartment by a ladder.

TRIED TO STOP ABDUCTION

The girl's father, working in the cafe downstairs, came up to the apartment and tried to prevent Steele from abducting his daughter. Steele shot him in the leg, put the gun in the girl's ribs and forced her out the door and into a waiting car.

Police chased Steele's car but lost sight of it. Later, they received a tip on Steele's hideout.

Police had reached a bedroom in the apartment house next door to Steele's apartment when they heard two muffled shots.

Steele could have abandoned his life of crime and lived in comparative comfort.

Just two months ago Steele came into a legacy of $300 to $400 a month through the death of a relative.

Heat Wave Over Officials Say

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's heat wave is over, weather bureau officials said today. "Very cool" air from the Arctic has moved into central North America.

The temperature dropped 21 degrees here in 24 hours—from a high of 79 yesterday to a low of 58 early today. In northern Ontario last night temperatures dipped to a 40-degree low.

Coldest spot recorded in Canada last night was White River, 150 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, with a low of 30 which brought a heavy frost.

People's Grief Delays Funeral

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The flooding grief of the people has postponed funeral services for Eva Peron, Argentina's first lady, at least until tomorrow.

President Juan Peron announced last night that his wife's body will continue to lie in state in an improvised chapel in the labor ministry until waiting throngs can pay their last respects.

After the mourning ranks thin, the body will lie in state for a day in the National Congress building. Then it will be moved for burial in the hall of the General Labor confederation, whose 6,000,000 members were Mrs. Peron's most devoted supporters.

A ceaseless line of mourners flowed past the flower-strewn casket. Some waited as long as 18 hours in sporadic rain.

The procession moved quietly, in contrast to the crush Sunday night and Monday morning in which four persons were known to have died and four others were reported killed.

Small Tornado Near Chatham

PORT ALMA (CP)—A small tornado tore maple and pine trees up by the roots as it ripped a path two miles wide and a mile long across Romney township last night.

Traffic on No. 3 highway was blocked about three hours while provincial police got farmers with power saws to cut up trees toppled across the road.

Some trees knocked over telephone and hydro poles, cutting off telephones and power in the area. One section was without gas service as well when a tree hit a natural gas line. A barn was destroyed. No reports of injuries were received.

Port Alma is about 100 miles southwest of Chatham.

Seven Assemblymen Freed By Court

PUNSAN, Korea (AP)—A Republic of Korea military court today dismissed for lack of evidence charges against seven national assemblymen arrested last May during a period of martial law declared by President Syngman Rhee.

The seven were among 15 legislators accused of conspiring with Communists to overthrow the South Korean government and of accepting Communist bribe money.

Small Plane Crashes, Two Killed

Low-Flying Aircraft At Malton Rips Down Wires

TORONTO (CP)—A chartered plane crashed and burned today, bringing death to two airmen after its pilot successfully prevented it from plunging into the airport village of Malton.

The plane crashed 200 yards from the village, 10 miles north of here.

Killed were the Pilot, Cyril Fairhurst, 35, of suburban North York and formerly of Windsor, and co-pilot Robert George Tomlin, 27, of suburban Willowdale.

One engine cowling was seen to fall off soon after the take-off. The twin-engine Cessna hit hydro wires and plumetted to earth amid a series of explosions.

"There wasn't enough of it left to even tell what kind it was," said a clerk at a nearby drug store.

Half an hour after the crash the plane was still burning.

ENGINE CUT OUT

Jean Williams, an employee at an aircraft firm, said she was watching the aircraft when one engine cut out.

"The plane looked as if it stalled and then spun in," she said.

The plane was owned by Sanderson Aircraft Limited, Malton.

Both men were employed by the aircraft company.

One man jumped out just before the plane crashed and it landed on top of him.

Farouk Expects To Go To United States Soon

NAPLES (AP)—Exiled King Farouk of Egypt today told his travel agent he probably will go to the United States soon.

The travel agent said the playboy ex-monarch's immediate plans call for him spending the next three days on the Isle of Capri.

Farouk arrived here today aboard Egypt's Royal yacht Mahrousa. He was accompanied by Queen Narriman and their baby son, King Fuad, II.

The big $4,000,000 craft with the royal exiles aboard arrived off the Isle of Capri, across the bay of Naples, at dawn and vast quantities of baggage were transferred to a smaller yacht.

Egypt's ambassador to Italy, Abdel Aziz Badr Bey, awaited the yacht. He had hurried down from Rome last night. Farouk brought with him Egypt's new ruler, his six-month-old son King Fuad II.

Reds Shoot Down 2 British Planes

TOKYO (Reuters)—Communist jet fighters have attacked British naval planes, downing two and damaging one, for the first time in the Korean War, a United States Navy statement announced yesterday.

Eight British planes from the carrier Ocean ran into an unknown number of MIG fighters Sunday while on a mission to bomb and strafe Communist storage depots on Korea's west coast.

One British pilot crash-landed after being hit and another bailed out. Both were picked up by Allied troops. The third piloted his crippled plane back to the carrier.

Financial Issues To Be Discussed Churchill Reports

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill announced in the House of Commons today that a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference will be held in the last week of November. The session will go over the pressing issues of financial, commercial and economic policy now facing the Commonwealth. Churchill said the prime ministers of all Commonwealth governments including Southern Rhodesia will attend, except the Prime Ministers of South Africa and India. Both these countries will be represented, however.

Arrangements would also be made for representation of the colonial territories.

It is hoped, Churchill said, "that out of such discussions we could work towards a constructive approach to the economic problems which beset the world.

"I am glad to be able to inform the House that the other Commonwealth prime ministers have agreed that such a meeting will be timely and useful."

Prime Minister St. Laurent plans to attend "all or part" of the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference to be held in London next November, officials said today in Ottawa.

Officials said there will be no question of Canada granting Britain another loan. The U.K. government has made no request for additional financial aid. Canada's last loan to Britain was in 1946, totalling $1,180,000,000.

Lord Elgin Pays Ottawa Visit

OTTAWA (CP)—Lord Elgin, one-time elected head of Scotland's Kingdom of Fife and a grandson of a former governor-general of Canada, arrived in Ottawa today with Lady Elgin.

He is in Canada principally to help celebrate the week-long centennial ceremonies at Elgin county, named for his grandfather. The centennial begins at St. Thomas Aug. 3 and Lord and Lady Elgin will be there. He leaves here Sunday.

Lord Elgin, deputy chairman of Glasgow's huge Fairfield Shippany, was last in Canada in 1950 when he was a member of a British commission here to study Canadian radio.

He has spent more than 30 years on the Fife county council, nine of them as Chairman. Fife county, 15 miles from Edinburgh, "has some pretty individual ideas and they gave it the name of Kingdom," Lord Elgin said.

Asked by a reporter if he had ever heard Elgin pronounced with a soft "G," Lord Elgin replied: "Only in Illinois where they've got a watch firm and say it that way.

"I imagine they're part of our Elgin family, though."

Agreement Reached By Stelco And Union

HAMILTON (CP)—Louis Fine, chief conciliation officer for Ontario, announced last night that agreement has been reached between officials of the Steel Company of Canada and local 1005, United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) "on all matters at issue."

The statement followed all-day talks by company and union representatives with Mr. Fine on a new collective bargaining contract.

No details of the agreement, which still has to be ratified by union members, were disclosed.

Labor MP's Not Satisfied By Shoosmith Appointment

LONDON (Reuters)—A British deputy to Gen. Mark Clark's Korean command was named yesterday but the appointment failed to satisfy Labor members of parliament, who demand an increased say for Britain in the conduct of the war.

Maj.-Gen. Stephen Shoosmith, 52, was given the deputy chief of staff post, established after Britain complained last month at not being consulted before the Yalu River bombing raids.

Defence Minister Earl Alexander, making the announcement in the House of Lords, said Shoosmith will be "an ordinary member" of Clark's staff "with responsibility only to him."

"The British government accept no more responsibility for the conduct of operations than they bear at present," he added.

Labor members in the House of Commons protested that this left things exactly where they were in the beginning and challenged Nigel Birch, parliamentary secretary to the defence ministry, to prove them wrong.

Birch gave no direct answer but said the appointment would be "of value particularly to Gen. Clark in getting to know British reaction to anything he may wish to do." He admitted Shoosmith, as a member of Clark's staff, would not be able to communicate directly with London.

In Tokyo, Clark welcomed the appointment. "His services. . .will result, I am sure, in team play benefiting the entire command."

Britain Planning Further Cuts In 1952 Buying

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain will make further cuts in her buying for 1952 in an effort to bring her trade into balance, Richard Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons today.

Opening a two-day debate on economic affairs, he said the additional cuts should, with the co-operation of partner countries of the Commonwealth, bring the sterling world into balance with hard currency countries by the end of the year.

ON CREDIT SIDE

On the credit side of the ledger, Butler forecast larger coal exports from Britain and increased imports of steel for industry.

Imports for the second half of this year will be reduced by about 25 per cent compared with the second half of 1951.

Among commodities affected will be dollar tobacco, probably paper and pulp, and manufactured goods other than machinery and defence supplies.

"For 1953," he added, "we have already taken the decision to limit future programs of imports from the non-sterling world to strictly what we can afford."

Testing Blood Found On Car

STRATFORD (CP)—Tests of blood found on automobiles believed responsible for serious injuries to Mrs. Melville J. Buchner, 26, have been made by an official of the attorney-general's department, police said today.

Mrs. Buchner, mother of three, was allegedly beaten early Sunday on the lawn of her home then fell from a moving automobile to the road where another car ran over her. She was taken to hospital with crushed ribs, internal and head injuries. Her condition is reported improved today.

Pair Jailed 7 Years For Threatening Officer

KENORA (CP)—Two men who threatened the life of an Ontario Provincial Police officer were sentenced yesterday to seven-year penitentiary terms.

They were Joseph Vallee, 41, of Three Rivers, Que., and Francis Guy Lavalee, 29, of Alberta, described by police at the time of his capture as a man "who would shoot just as soon as look at you."

Both pleaded guilty to 16 charges of breaking, entering and theft from camps along the Ontario-Manitoba boundary, and a charge of carrying offensive weapons.

Vallee was captured July 13 as he attempted to swing a rifle into action when questioned by Constable Clifford Flewelling. Lavalee was arrested 36 hours later after threatening the same officer with a loaded shotgun.

Police, Guardsmen Check Coronation Plan

LONDON (AP)—Police and guardsmen walked a two-wheel pedometer from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey today to find out about spacing the formations for the coronation procession next June 2.

Clicks every time the wheels made a turn gave parade officials precise information on how far apart to put the marchers and the guards along the way.

They found also that the Queen will ride about seven miles through London streets in her trip to the Abbey and back to get her crown.

Aluminum Strike Averted, Economy Firm

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Settlement of a threatened aluminum strike and speed-up of steel production put the United States economy on firm footing today for the first time in two months.

A walkout of 15,000 C.I.O. steelworkers at nine plants of the giant Aluminum Company of America was averted last night by an 11th-hour settlement.

The strike set for today, would have shut off more than 20 per cent of the country's ingot aluminum production, vitally needed in the manufacture of planes and other defence items.

REPLACING W.S.B.

The settlement was announced by the Wage Stabilization Board on the eve of its final appearance. The wage board, stripped of most of its dispute-settling powers by Congress last month, will be replaced by a new board lacking any power to propose settlement terms in deadlocked labor disputes.

The W.S.B. announcement said the new contracts will give workers a 21.4-cents-an-hour pay benefit package. Of that, 15 cents is retroactive to March 10 and four cents effective July 1. The pact also calls for a modified union shop where employees must apply for union membership but may withdraw during the 15th and 30th day of employment.

Approval of a new wage contract between Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. and the United Steelworkers' Union (C.I.O.) affecting 5,000 employees in Kaiser plants also was announced.

SPEED UP PRODUCTION

Meanwhile, steel companies took short cuts but with safety margins to speed up production. By truck and railroad tinplate and other steel products moved to consumers.

One sour note in the general back-to-work story came from the defence production administrator Henry H. Fowler. He warned that it may be two or three months before manufacturers of civilian goods get sufficient flow of new steel. Fowler estimates steel production loss at 20,000,000 tons.

While negotiators wrangled over terms of the settlement, one of the country's biggest producers, Reynolds Metal Co., asked the government for a ceiling price increase of two cents a pound for primary aluminum. The request is the same as that filed a few days ago by Alcoa.

Boat Explodes 3 Of 12 Saved

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Three of 12 men aboard an explosion shattered fishing boat were plucked from the sea yesterday while search continued for the other nine.

The survivors said most of the others drowned in shark-infested waters 14 miles southwest of here.

Rescued by Santa Monica lifeguard station were Harold Haley, 44, Buzzy Sachse, 16, and James Knight, 23.

"The boat blew up suddenly and I think all the others went down with it," Haley said. "We couldn't have lasted much longer."

The 35-foot boat, Spare Time, was skippered by Wesley Wiggins, 29. Following the explosion he tried to get survivors bunched together on wreckage, and then attempted to swim ashore. He hasn't been heard from.

New Threats To Harmony Of Red Cross Conference

TORONTO (CP)—New threats to the harmony of the 18th International Red Cross conference were foreseen today by delegates and conference officials following a clear-cut rebuff Monday of a Soviet-bloc protest. Two of four main commissions elected Monday to conduct the business of the conference were expected to run into agenda items at which Iron-Curtain delegates would have an opportunity to raise international charges already brought up at the United Nations.

In sessions to date, the Russian bloc has lost no opportunity to bring these United Nations issues before the 750-odd delegates assembled here from 71 countries.

POTENTIAL TROUBLE SPOTS

In addition to the general commission of the conference, which will deal with the report of the international committee of the Red Cross on the work of the last four years, the relief commission will meet.

The legal sub-commission also is scheduled to meet and all three meetings—which will be held simultaneously—are considered by authoritative sources to be potential trouble spots.

The legal sub-commission meeting is closed to the press, but the others are open.

The general commission was expected to touch on matters at which the Russians could renew their charges of mistreatment of civilian populations in Korea, mistreatment of prisoners on Koje Island, and possibly other matters, including the question of Soviet charges of germ wafare.

REPEATED CHARGES

The latter have not yet been made on the floor of the conference, although the report of the Communist China Red Cross which was presented here did repeat the charges.

At the relief commission, it was indicated that the Australian delegate, Alfred G. Brown would renew charges that United Nations red tape in Korea and Japan has hampered the efforts of the Red Cross to get supplies to needy areas.

Reports persisted the Russian delegation was preparing proposals to delete the words, "International Committee of the Red Cross," from all references to proposed amendments.

The I.C.R.C. is a neutral body made up of 25 Swiss citizens. It has come under repeated Soviet charges, most recent being that it is not an impartial body and in fact, a United States tool. Russia refused to let the I.C.R.C. investigate its germ warfare charges against the U.N.

Labor Force Shows Boost

The number with jobs increased by 50,000 at 5,222,000 against 5,172,000. The number without jobs was 24,000 higher at 107,000 compared with 83,000.

Packers Report Drop In Profit

TORONTO (CP)—Canada Packers Ltd., reports a net profit decline of 61 per cent for the fiscal year ended last March 26, 1952, attributing the loss to severe price dips and consequent inventory losses on certain major products.

The big reductions in earnings resulted in the face of record sales which were slightly higher both on a tonnage and dollar basis.

Net profit amounted to $1,964,545 compared with last year's $5,126,-13 before transfer of $1,000,000 to inventory reserve. There was no inventory reserve appropriation in 1952. Net profit per share this year was $1.64 against $4.25 last year.

Net sales dropped from $356,825,590 to $390,513,992 while production costs jumped from $293,518,334 in 1951 to $326,001,702. Total assets for 1952 amounted to $92,551,270 compared with $98,940,883 for 1951.

Prices Push Higher On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices pushed steadily higher today in slow early afternoon stock market dealings.

Industrials and golds led the market's upswing as key issues drew firm early support that spread to a broad list of issues. Base metals joined the trend by noon after a slow start while western oils remained weak.

Volume for the first three hours was 971,000 shares.

Utilities, steels, refining oils, manufacturing companies, retail stores and miscellaneous issues led industrials with a large majority of fractional advances. Papers, agricultures and foods also drew firm support while textiles, banks and liquors remained mixed.

Western oil losses outnumbered gains about two-to-one.

Base metal leaders were strong but lower-priced issues made little headway.

Senior golds were firm. Hollinger and Lake Shore led a cautious advance. Junior producers and prospects edged upward.

Fine Bailieboro Man For Careless Driving

James Roddy of Bailieboro was fined $15, and $2.50 costs, when he pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge in police court today. Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked that a reckless driving charge against Roddy be dismissed.

O.P.P. Constable Harold Armstrong said Roddy was driving south on Highway 28 on July 8, in a line of traffic, and nosed out of line to see if there was any oncoming traffic.

As he did so, a truuck ahead of him was reported to have stopped suddenly and Roddy to avoid hitting the truck applied his brakes and was unable to get back on his own side of the road, before he was in collision with an oncoming car.

Roddy was represented by A. L. Elliott.

Four Records Toppled At Olympics

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI (CP)—Records fell today in the scramble for Olympic championships and by the time two champions were crowned, four records had toppled.

One swimming title was won by the United States and another by Hungary.

Elsewhere on the Olympic scene, South Africa won a championship in cycling and Sweden took two championships—individual and team—in the equestrian events.

A Hungarian girl, Eve Szekely, broke an Olympic record in winning the women's 200-metre breaststroke swimming championship. The U.S. men's relay team broke another in winning the 800-metre event.

In swimming heats Jean Boiteux of France broke the 400-metre record and Miss Geertje Wielema of the Netherlands the women's 100-metre backstroke mark.

In basketball the U.S. remained undefeated, trouncing Chile 103-55. Russia defeated Brazil 54-49 and Uruguay, playing without two banned players, defeated Bulgaria 62-54.

MILLMAN ELMINATED

R.L. Robinson of South Africa won the 1,000-metre scratch cycling championship. Jack Millman of Vancouver was eliminated in a repechage stage.

In the swimming competition, Gerry McNamee of Vancouver and Allen Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., were eliminated in heats in the 400-metre event.

Lenora Fisher of Ocean Falls was eliminated in the women's 100-metre backstroke trials.

Norway, Sweden and Finland made a clean sweep of the running-deer shooting competition, with John Larsen of Norway the winner.

Henri St. Cyr of Sweden led his country to a double championship in the grand prix de dressage of the equestrian competition—in which a rider directs his mount only with movement of hands. St. Cyr won the individual championship and Sweden the team title.

Sid Abel Signs With Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago Blackhawks of the National Hockey League today announced signing of Sid Abel, Detroit Red Wing star, to a two-year contract as player-coach.

Abel succeeds Ebbie Goodfellow, who resigned recently. Abel's salary terms were not disclosed.

President Bill Tobin said Abel, captain of three Detroit Stanley Cup teams, originally was sought only as a coach, but insisted he could help the Hawks by playing.

Abel, 32, played centre for the Red Wings with whom he was affiliated since 1938, except for a 1943-45 hitch in the R.C.A.F.

A native of Melville, Sask., he now resides in Detroit where he recently purchased a tavern.

It will mark the first time the Black Hawks, consistent tail-enders in recent seasons, have had a playing-manager.

Remand Man, 26 On Theft Count

William John Robinson, 26, 206 Lansdowne St., was remanded until Friday for sentence by Magistrate R. B. Baxter who found him guilty of a theft charge today.

Robinson pleaded not guilty to stealing a battery from a tractor on the farm of George Bolton, R.R. 10 Peterborough, on July 20.

He claimed he bought the battery from a man he met along the highway, when he needed another battery to get his car home.

Mr. Bolton identified the battery which provincial police took from a car Robinson had been driving, by a date on it and by one post, which he had shortened by sawing it off with a hack saw.

O.P.P. Constable John Gray said imprints left by a shoe tread around the tractor were similar to the tread on a pair of running shoes Robinson was wearing when he was arrested.

Robinson has a lengthy record of theft and shop breaking convictions dating from 1942, when he was sentenced to 12 months definite and six months indefinite for shopbreaking and theft in Oshawa.

He was released from penitentiary on April 4 of this year, after serving two years and six months on two concurrent sentences of theft.

Ball Club Offers TV Set As Game's Booster Prize

Somebody is going to win a $400 television set for 50 cents, the price of admission, at the baseball game Friday night at Riverside Park.

Other prizes to be drawn are: a ham from Canada Packers; $40 windbreaker donated by the Peterborough Hockey Club; five double tickets from Odeon Theatre; a case of canned peas given by Joe Frost of York Trading; and a gabardine shirt from Herb's Men's Wear.

The only condition attaching to this draw is that, to win, you have to be at the game: Peterborough vs. Belleville, beginning at 8.30 p.m.

A group of local merchants have subscribed the money that buys the T.V. set.

It is no secret that the ball club has been short of funds all season. One of the backers, in fact it was Max Swanston, said some weeks ago that the spirit of the team was indicated by the willingness of the players to pay for their own meals on the trips to Belleville and Kingston. The men behind the club wouldn't listen to that suggestion.

Other citizens interested in baseball offered to drive their own cars to save transport cost on the out of town schedule. That was accepted.

At a recent game in Kingston, Ray Tanner heard some mention of attendance prizes at that game. One of them was half a ton of coal. Mr. Tanner had driven a group of the Petes to the game. The attendance draw interested him. Discussion led to action.

Peterborough merchants were canvassed Monday morning this week, and the club owes the television set to them.

"They responded generously." Mr. Tanner said today, "and it was most encouraging to find so many who want to see the diamond game put on its feet."

Posters were printed Monday and were placed around the city this morning. Many of them have been attached to trucks travelling through the district.

That's the story in brief behind the surge of interest in Friday night's game.

The Petes are almost all home-brews, and some of the local juniors were drafted during the recent vacation period. The late W. G. Ovens was one of the promoters of the team.

Tickets will be sold only at the Riverside wickets, and you have to be in the park to be eligible for a prize.

This promotion effort is to boost interest in the Petes. They won three games in a row recently, and then dropped a close one to Belleville Saturday. The boosters are hoping for a crowd of several thousand at least. You can bring the family, buy tickets and it is still a cheap investment, as draws go. And the performance of the team rates your support—Friday night.

Man Drops Dead Selling Potatoes

Stricken with coronary thrombosis on King St., shortly after noon today, Alexander B. Byers of Bailieboro was taken to Civic Hospital by Nisbett's ambulance. He was pronounced dead on arrival by coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton. Dr. Carleton said there will be no inquest.

Mr. Byers was showing some potatoes he was selling to Mrs. F. W. Burnham, 265 King St., when he collapsed and fell backwards hitting the sidewalk heavily.

He did not regain consciousness.

Mr. Byers collapsed directly across the street from where John F. Condon was fatally injured when he fell to the sidewalk from the curb on the evening of July 9. Mr. Condon died a few days later in hospital.

P.C. Rodreque Beats Firemen Second Time

Constable Louis Rodreque beat the firemen to a fire again today. But, as he would be the first to admit, he had a head start: he lives next door to where it broke out. A faulty pump that allowed some gasoline to leak from a gasoline stove was responsible for a fire shortly after 1 p.m. today at the home of Kenneth Sanderson, 520 Bonaccord St.

Delmas Sanderson, 17, was preparing a meal for her sisters when she saw the gasoline begin to trickle out. In a minute or so it had ignited and the floor was also ablaze. She called next door to Mrs. Mary Rodreque, and the three of them—Constable Rodreque and Mrs. Rodreque and Miss Sanderson—snuffed out the blaze with towels and a broom. It was all out by the time firemen arrived. The floor was scorched and the pump will have to be replaced.

Thieves Enter Shed Steal Stove, Dishes

A camp stove and a set of dishes were taken from a shed on Hunter St. during the night, at the rear of the Bell Apartments.

The building is used by auctioneer I. L. Outwater.

Detective - Sergeant William Clarke, who is investigating the break-in, said a padlock and hasp on the door were broken to gain entry.

Italians Try Explosion For H-Bomb

ROME (AP)—The Italian defence ministry announced last night that an explosion had been touched off in this country in an attempt to transform "a very small amount of hydrogen into helium."

While the ministry did not emphasize the point, this is the same reaction which scientists and military researchers in various parts of the world have been trying to build up to the proportions of the dread hydrogen bomb.

First reports on the Italian experiment, appearing in the newspaper Il Giornale d'Italian earlier yesterday, said an Italian scientist had actually exploded an H-bomb.

This was categorically denied by Defence Minister Randolfo Pacciardi, who said such reports "were completely without foundation." Actually, Pacciardi added, it was an experiment "regarding the possibility of transforming a very small amount of hydrogen into helium."

The value of the experiment will not be known until a detailed scientific examination has been made, he said.

Allied Troops Hurl Chinese Reds Back

SEOUL (AP)—Allied troops clinging to the southeast slope of Old Baldy today hurled back a Chinese Communist attack in torrential rains that drenched the muddy Korean battlefront for the fourth straight day.

A reinforced Communist platoon hit the United Nations line in an apparent effort to win complete control of the strategic western-front hill. The attack was beaten off in a bloody two-hour battle during which 25 Reds were killed and 30 wounded, the United States Eighth Army said.

It was the first clash of any size since rains closed in on the 155-mile battlefront Saturday. Already 6½ inches of rain have fallen on the western front.

In another action Monday night and Tuesday morning a small Chinese unit probed Allied positions near T-Bone Hill, east of Old Baldy. The chinese were driven off after 4¾ hours of sporadic fighting.

3 Motor Vehicles Damaged On Curves

Three motor vehicles were involved in accidents Monday night while rounding curves on highways in the Peterborough district. Damage was not large and nobody was injured.

Blaine Spencer, 24, of Boisetown, New Brunswick, escaped with only a shaking up when the steering column of his half-ton pickup truck locked and the truck flipped over in the ditch. The accident occurred on a sharp curve on the River Road a mile north of Peterborough.

Spencer was driving north when the steering column locked. The truck turned over once and landed on its roof, causing minor damage.

Another minor accident occurred 12 miles north of Buckhorn on the Katchacoma Road.

A southbound stake-body truck owned by Bruce Parker and driven by Wesley Johnson, 33, of Lakefield, collided with a northbound car driven by Archie Kreig, 57, of Preston.

As the two vehicles rounded a curve the front left wheel of the truck collided with the rear left fender of the car, causing $50 damage to the latter. Neither of the men were injured in the sidewise collision.

Both accidents were investigated by O.P.P. Constable Harold Armstrong.

Ability Impaired Driver Fined $50

Charles Elmhirst, Keene, was fined $50 and $2.50 costs in police court today when he pleaded guilty to driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked that a drunk driving charge against Elmhirst be treated as the included offence of driving while impaired and Elmhirst pleaded guilty to the reduced charge.

The charge was laid March 13, when Elmhirst was stopped by provincial police while he was driving on Highway 28.

First-Nighters Find 'Jane' Hilarious Play

Professor Sir Heathcote Garrod, sometime professor of poetry in the University of Oxford, was once accused of weeping at thin movie melodramas. He said: "But isn't that the use of the cinema?" Everybody in the audience at the opening night of "Jane Steps Out" could be accused of laughing until it hurt. That is what this thin comedy is for. It stirred up more squeals and screeches than any play of this season. One fault of the production is that it is so intense, so continuously hilarious the actors push it for all it is worth) that one is exhausted by the third act.

The play is a trite and slick job of playwriting: so flimsy that the author, Kenneth Horne, is hard put to get a good final resolution; in fact, the third curtain is a fizzle. The play stops; it does not end. In other ways it is a poor job of playwriting; the action is limited and becomes noticeably static in the middle of the first act.

SISTER EMERGES

The story is briefly this: one svelte sister invites an eligible beau to her parents' country place; the work-a-day other sister, taken too much for granted by the family and considered to be dull and unattractive, decides to teach the family, particularly her urbane sister a lesson, and determines to woo the sister's beau. She succeeds more quickly than either she or the family is prepared for. Shrieks, from stage and audience, follow.

Kate Reid is particularly effective in the ingenue role of the frumpy sister Jane, very funny indeed in the first act with her silence and awkward poise as the 20-year-old sloppy girl. As the dressed-up doll intent on an inexperienced kill—in the rest of the play—she combines sympathy, charm, rambunctiousness and naivete. A couple of times, when she is off centre, her eyes roll more than is demanded.

The haute monde sister Beatrice brought low by Jane's ingenuous machinations, is beautifully played by Patricia Moore. We could wish her a better fate than a shelf beside her stage sister.

A SCREAM

Barbara Hamilton, rather too young in voice as the mother of these two, gives a slap-stick comic interpretation which, not overplayed last night, is a scream, my dear. Miss Hamilton has her own virtuosity in the comic, which comes off if she keeps it in control.

Betty Leighton give the minor role of the grandmother a toothless gurgle. She looks wonderfully, erectly, thin, in her too-Victorian costume, combining the dignity of age with its wise crackle.

Helen Robertson played the part of visitor; she has an interesting voice but a lack of acting skill.

The men in this play are unimportant, except for the intended suitor Basil, played by Peter Mews. Mr. Mews has an annoying habit of fluffing lines and obvious extemporizing; apart from that, his sure sense of the stage, his sensitivity to comedy and poignancy, keep him humanly, humorously and intimately before his audience. His and Miss Reid's gyrations on the sofa in Act 2, when she decides to prove to him that "I'm a warm, live woman" are hilarious.

Ronald Bailey plays the butler, and Jerry Campbell, as Major-General Wilton, the father of the menage, performs a stooge role with as much effect as the poor writing of the part allows.

This is a run-of-the-mill play whose entertainment value is 100 per cent, as presented by the Summer Theatre. This reviewer ought to know. He is still sore from crinkles around his laugh-ducts.—T.J.A.

FRUMPY SISTER JANE (Kate Reid) steps out of her dowdiness and determines to show her sister's intended suitor Basil (Peter Mews) that she is a "warm, live woman," The results are astonishing and hilarious; this week's Summer Theatre offering at the Queen Mary auditorium "Jane Steps Out" is domestic comedy at screech level.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Peterborough Model City Auctioneer's Travel Reveals

After two and a half months on the road by easy stages through the United States and Canada, J. H. Miles, Hunter St. auctioneer, returned home fully convinced "that Peterborough is a fine city."

"I didn't see anything that comes up to Peterborough in business, appearance or anything else, and I travelled 9,500 miles through the United States and Canada. And, I say that truthfully.

"I had one odd experience that proved the truth of the old saying that the world is a small place after all," Mr. Miles recalled.

"It was in the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia. A man came up to our car (my wife was with me) and said: 'I see you are from Ontario; what part?' I told him 'Peterborough.'

"'Peterborough?' he said, 'why, that's my old home town.' So we started to find out about each other. His name is James Nixon, who used to live in Dummer township, on the very next farm to my father's place. We discovered that we knew each other. He has been out in the west some 50 years, first in Manitoba, and now retired for some time on the coast.

"One impression of my trip is this: there are a lot of fine people in the world. Everywhere we went we met people who were courteous and considerate. You rather expect it at service stations and motels, but you find the same spirit generally. People would see our Ontario car licence and call out: 'Hello there, Canada!' Some of them talked to us about our trip, and where we were going.

"It was the same on the Canadian side, particularly throughout the west. One night in Vancouver I didn't see a 'no left turn' sign. When I made the turn I heard a whistle. A policeman came up to the car and said: 'I see you're from Ontario. Come out again and see us, and don't forget there's no left turn at this corner.'

"All those kind of experiences did a lot to make our trip pleasant. We went down through Chicago, and then west through the north-central States to Seattle. We'd stop usually about 5 p.m., and look around, and with that time on our hands, for we were in no hurry, we had a chance to get around and meet people. We came back by way of Banff, Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, Winnipeg and down to Duluth for the route home.

"People in the States were interested in talking about the war, elections, crops, and so on. As to the crops, they looked good on both sides of the border."

In Vernon, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. Miles called first on their daughter, Joan, who has been there since last October. She was glad to see them, and homesick that she gave up her office position at once to come back home with her parents to Peterborough.

"Our own city could be a model for its size in both Canada and the United States. That is the way I rate it, but Salt Lake City in Utah, the Mormon centre, is a fine place."

"I believe in giving our own city a boost when you can do so without stretching the truth," Mr. Miles said. "You have to travel and see a lot of other places, to appreciate Peterborough."

Mr. and Mrs. Miles left here May 10 and arrived back July 22.

Poll Members On Releasing Special Audit

COBOURG (ENS)—Members of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council will be contacted by mail to ask authorization or otherwise, of a move to reveal to the pupblic the contents of the special audit of the counties treasurer's books conducted earlier this year. Reeve William Roche of Port Hope, has been endeavoring to get the council to release the auditors' report for some time.

Warden Harry Campbell on Monday told The Examiner that letters would be sent out at once to members to poll their feelings in regard to publication of the report. Following the resignation of the former clerk-and-treasurer, William Barr, a special audit was made by an independent firm of auditors and an alleged shortage of over $3,000 was announced when the auditors reported to a closed session of council last April. Council then gave Mr. Barr until May 1 to re-imburse the counties, otherwise the matter was to be referred to the bonding committee. The money was paid by Mr. Barr, the warden said during the session earlier this month.

NOTHING TO HIDE

"If the council now decides to make the report public, it will be done. We have nothing to hide but we felt that it would serve no useful purpose to publish it," said the warden.

An editorial in the Port Hope Guide, the paper of Reeve Roche's home town, announced that it would run the complete auditors' report in the issue of the following day. Presumably this report was received from one of the council members as so far it has not been released by the clerk.

2 Drivers Given Terms In Jail Over Weekend

COBOURG (ENS)—It was one of those weekends when some people imbibe too much and accordingly several appeared in police court Monday.

There was Eldon Smoke of Alderville reserve, drunk on Sunday and paid $15 and costs. The charge was laid by George Pitkering of the R.C.M.P., Cobourg. Douglas Oliver, Cobourg, was driving all over the road in town here Sunday night. He also went through stop lights and across stop streets. Seven days in jail was the term imposed by Magistrate R. B. Baxter. Howard Nayes of Cobourg had a collision with a car and when police arrived, he was asleep in the cab of his truck. He was also given seven days in jail.

A 21-year-old Brighton girl, who said her weight was 87 pounds, told the court that she fought off Arthur Foote of Port Hope, 32, soldier, for three hours in bushes near Little Lake pavilion on the night of July 18. She walked home seven miles, arriving after dawn, accompanied by the accused. Her face was bruised and her legs bore many bruises also. The girl testified that she had been sitting in a car with some friends, who later left. Foote came along and she said she didn't remember how he got her into the bushes. She was successful in thwarting his intentions but was bruised in the process and lost her watch, she testified. Foote was charged with assault causing bodily harm.

Foote testified that he had been drinking and could not remember beating her up. He recalled walking home with her and said that she was worried about getting home so late but said she would fix up a story. Magistrate R. B. Baxter reserved his decision.

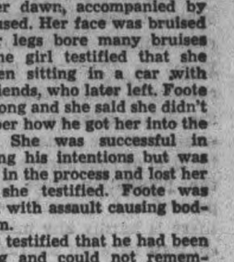
"COOL CONTROL"

POINTS ON THE SERVICE



1 Make sure ball is thrown up in a straight line. This is essential for control and stroke power. Ball should be thrown high enough to allow fully extended swing. Body stands sideways to net, shoulders turned in direction of serve.

2 To reach maximum height for downsweep, raise body on left toe. Extra height allows you to hit down on ball instead of hitting out flatly. Body-weight leans forward as ball is hit and follow-through begins, letting arm and racket come down across body.

3 Practise the throw. Throwing too high or too low may rob your shot of proper impact. Shots thrown too high are often hit on the wood or top of strings; shots thrown too low are usually hit on top of ball and go into net. Practise regularly for control.

Yes, it's control that counts, in tennis as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Putting On Blitz To SPeed Defence Program

By DOUG HOW

OTTAWA (CP)—The men directing Canada's defence program are putting on a blitz in an effort to make up lost ground on a production schedule which they now concede was over-optimistic.

The American steel strike hasn't helped things.

With the halfway mark coming nearer, there is a marked probability that the scheduled three-year $5,000,000,000 program to prepare the country for any eventuality will extend into a fourth year and cost closer to $6,000,000,000.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

The program was first announced in February 1951. Its highlights were plans to build the R.C.A.F. 3,000 new planes and 41 squadrons, to have a 100-ship navy and 115,000 men in uniform. The 115,000 has since been raised to 120,000.

With 98,000 or 81 per cent of that total in uniform, manpower is so far not a big problem. But production is.

The latest implication of the current situation came in Finance Minister Abbott's recent statement on the government's financial position after the first three months—April, May, June—of the current fiscal year.

In a nutshell, Abbott said that in the first quarter of the year only 14 per cent of the defence budget was used. To live up to the $2,125,000,000 appropriation, the two departments most concerned—defence and defence production—will have to spend money twice as fast in the next nine months as they have in the first three when the monthly average was $102,000,000.

Abbott's conclusion was expenditures "do not yet reflect the full magnitude of the defence program."

Officials confirm this. With the exception of the F-86 Sabre jet fighter, production of most major items of production—aircraft, electronics, warships, guns—is not up to the schedules originally conceived.

The reason is said frankly to be overoptimism when the program was originally drafted. They underrated the tremendously complex job of producing modern arms

Last fiscal year the defence program planners budgetted for $200,000,000 more than they actually spent. The difference would have been even greater had it not been for mobilization and despatch of the 27th Brigade to Germany after the year started.

Officials won't be able to tell until early fall whether they'll "underspend"—the official term—again this year. The U.S. steel strike is one drawback. It has had some effect but officials say the blow has not been a major one.

But there are several major factors pushing in the direction of spending the whole defence budget.

One is the fact that traditionally a large percentage of defence spending is concentrated in the last three months of the fiscal year. Another is the fact that production should begin to hit its stride late this calendar year.

PRODUCTION BLITZ

A third is the drive, the blitz which officials report is being waged to get production programs back nearer the original schedules. A substantial number of new faces are making their appearance in key jobs in Ottawa. Whether they can get the program finished in the scheduled three years is a big question impossible to answer at this time.

One senior official says he's a lot more confident than he was six months ago. But he's still not betting heavily that the target can be met.

Maggie Flees

The Maggie has been ordered to turn tail on trouble in Egypt and to flee to Malta. She's dancing to Jiggs back in Ottawa, of course. But what if, in the Middle East, the jig's up?

New Deal In Egypt?

There will be few tears shed at the abdication of Farouk. As King of Egypt he wielded considerable power and was subject to few constitutional curbs. The responsibility for present conditions in Egypt is therefore largely his. The country is riddled with corruption from the Palace downward. The bulk of the wealth of the country is owned by a handful of rich pashas, while the rest of the population lives in indescribable poverty and squalor: even in the towns there is hardly any middle class. The contrast between the luxury and callous ostentation of the pashas and the marginal existence of the fellahin is repellent. Farouk himself set the rich an example by his extravagance, losing fortunes at the gambling tables of the French Riviera while the mass of the people were on a starvation diet. Educational facilities are rudimentary, and about ninety percent. of the population are illiterate. Hygiene and sanitation, so important in a hot country, are in an equally rudimentary condition, and the country "enjoys" the distinction of the highest death rate in the world. The disgraceful military fiasco against Israel and the arms scandal shook confidence in the government.

* * *

It is no wonder that discontent, which breeds Communism, should be rife in Egypt. For some time it has been possible to divert this by blaming the British. Now it appears that the storm has broken over the ruling class and its chief representative. General Naguib has announced his intention of ridding the country of corruption. Deeds speak louder than words, and the General has a task before him that would tax a Dewey or a Stevenson. If he succeeds it will spell a new era for Egypt. His foreign policy, especially toward Britain and NATO, is less clear, but evidently Britain is taking precautions, as present naval dispositions indicate.

* * *

Why should we, in far-off Canada, be concerned over happenings in Egypt? The area of the Suez Canal is of tremendous strategic importance in the event of a Third World War, as it was in the last two world wars. The Communist idea has been halted in Europe, but the Middle East is wide open to Communist infiltration. The only chance lies in social reform of a far-reaching nature. If, in the course of these reforms democratic procedure (which has existed only on paper in Egypt) is flouted we must realize that the population as a whole is too backward politically and economically for the fine flower of democracy to bloom and flourish. Even in this rapidly changing world of ours it will take several years before truly representative government becomes a reality in Egypt, and many things may occur between now and then to check its growth.

The Madam Dies

The hysteria of mourning in Argentina for Eva Peron, companion and latterly wife of President Juan D. Peron, is fantastic, incomprehensible to sober Canadians, even if Madame Peron had been a person of qualities which they could respect. However, the Argentinian masses indulge a Latin temperament, and moreover have it whipped into frenzy by the propaganda of the kind of government the Argentine has. So hundreds of people are dead and injured in their press to see the embalmed remains of Madam. the Peron-led federation of labourers has ordered all work to be stopped for two days. The government has ordained thirty days of mourning, humorous programs on the radio are banned for the period, and members of the Peronista Party are ordered to wear black ties for the rest of their lives.

What are Madame Peron's "shirtless ones'" mourning? They are parading grief for an unsual adventuress, a courtesan who was not courtly, a woman of small mind and lustful heart, their pretty idol who left them still shirtless, despite the uncounted and unaccounted funds she extorted for the Eva Peron Foundation.

Madam lusted for power, and got it ruthlessly in the ways easiest for a woman whose only virtue is her face, her chief emotion an egotistical fanaticism. We do not condemn a woman whose face is her fortune; there have been distinguished courtesans of remarkable character, wit and intelligence who are admired by history. We can stand in awe of a person lusting for power; it is a disease common to many great people. We can respect a fanatic—his saints and artists have been fanatical. But Madame Peron did not have the loveliness which is the handmaiden of beauty, the wit which should accompany power, the morality which should underlie fanaticism.

As inamorata of President Peron (on whom she publicly poured nauseating adulation) and from the basis of a connubial bed, she crudely whipped people's passions, corrupted the government of a rich and great country, set at naught its constitution and debased the coinage of love.

Poor Canadian Show At Helsinki

Ever since the Russians announced their intention of taking part for the first time in the Olympic Games it was considered almost inevitable that the proceedings would be marked by bickerings, protests and walk-outs unless the Russians had things all their own way. After their record at the conference table in recent years it seemed almost inevitable that Helsinki 1952 would be just one more aspect of the "cold war."

We are happy and surprised to note that these gloomy prognostications have in no wise been fulfilled. Observers on the spot report that there have been so far no protests lodged by any team, and that the "iron curtain" judges have been as easy, if not easier to work with than the rest, in spite of the fact that the United States established a lead at one stage. As a matter of fact the American athletes, while not first, have run the Russians a close second, the next team, that of Hungary (an iron curtain country) a long way behind.

Less gratifying is the showing made by the Canadian team, which for many days failed to register even one single point. It is a poor advertisement indeed for this country with all its splendid resources, both human and material. How has this come about, when small and poverty-stricken countries such as Hungary can put up such creditable showings?

The answer lies in one word—organization. The set-up of the Canadian Olympic team has been pitifully weak in this respect. The Canadian team is the only team at Helsinki without a trainer. Supplies are woefully lacking, and the team has had to resort to the undignified expedient of "scrounging" from other teams. Our athletes have done their level best in the face of severe handicaps that could have been avoided by a competent organization that would have enlisted the support of the Canadian public. We trust that Canada will be better served next time. The Olympic Games is a contest between amateurs, but there is no excuse for dilettantism.

An Eventful Week

We cannot complain that the past week has been barren of news. The King of Egypt has abdicated, Eva Peron has died, Mossadegh has returned to power, and the Democrats have chosen their candidate for the presidential elections south of the border. Added to that the Olympic Games are in progress and the International Red Cross is in session in Toronto. Some or all of these events may appear to be significant to us at this moment. We wonder how many people will attach any significance to the names of Farouk, Peron, Mossadegh or Adlai Stevenson in fifty years' time? History alone will tell. We live in one of those uncomfortable periods when history is, to use the shop-soiled phrase, in the making. We sometimes wish ourselves back in those halcyon days before 1914, when atom bombs were unknown and life pursued a slower and less eventful course, such as that depicted by Stephen Leacock in his Sunshine Sketches.

Yet even those days were full of scares and apprehension. The Agadir incident, which nearly plunged the world into war in 1911, is now only remembered by students of history. The Dreyfus affair, the suffragettes, the revolution in Portugal, wars in the Balkans and unrest in Czarist Russia coupled with Prussian sabre-rattling, are enough to give the lie to the shallow theory that all was well in those days. Is it possible that our descendants might build up some rosy legend of the idyllic 1950's? We would like to assure the individual whose task it will be in the year 2002 A.D. to choose a cutting for "Fifty years back" that we are living in an atmosphere of menace and fear: we trust that affairs will have taken a turn for the better by then, though we see no signs of such a happy consummation at present.

NOTES AND COMMENT

"Evita" (Little Eva) Peron's funeral vaguely reminds us of Little Eva's death on the stage of the Grand Opera House in Peterborough many years ago. That Little Eva of Uncle Tom's Cabin was yanked to heaven by pulleys. Evita's ascension, if rising it was, was accompanied by more pomp than the creaking of pulleys on stage; but both were accomplished in a sentimental and garish atmosphere of second-rate opera.

Can Middle East Be Defended?

By WILLIAM D. CLARK

THERE is every indication that the whole structure of the Middle East, which has been shored up by British efforts for thirty years, is on the way to collapse. Though the Cabinet crises in Cairo and Teheran may appear so different, they are both indications that there is no stability of government, no approach towards parliamentary rule.

The crisis in Persia is more acute and more dangerous for the West. The resignation of Qavam es-Sultaneh shows as clearly as possible that it is not safe in Persia to be ready to negotiate with Britain, let alone to express pro-British or even pro-Western sentiments.

✧ ✧ ✧

QAVAM SAW CLEARLY — as did Dr. Mossadegh—that Persia was on the point of bankruptcy—in the literal sense that the government could not pay its workers their salary. He therefore decided that since Persian revenue had in the past been derived mainly from oil, he would attempt to solve the oil dispute with Britain. He had reason to know that Britain would be immediately generous to any government that attempted to end the dispute, and that the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company would settle the dispute on terms almost wholly favourable to Persia, even if those terms went against the injunction of the Hague Court.

✧ ✧ ✧

QAVAM HAD the full support of the Shah and his Court, of the Persian upper and middle classes, of the members of the Majlis (the Lower House of Parliament) who dared speak their mind, and of the Senate. Above all, he had the support at least of the officers of the army. All of this has counted for nothing. Mossadegh has won the hearts and minds of the poor people by his promise of social reforms, and of the city mobs by his hysterical nationalism. As a result the whole attempt of the Shah to restore Persia to solvency and sense (by bourgeois Western standards) has collapsed.

MOSSADEGH is now likely to gain control of the Army and establish a personal dictatorship on which the national finances will be "saved" by the usual dictatorial means —expropriation and inflation. Whether the Shah will simply give way, flee the country or be removed is not very important.

What is really significant is that Mossadegh has destroyed the established institutions of government. While he lives he may succeed in governing personally. When he dies the country will be absolutely ready for a coup by the Tudeh Party in the Communist interest.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN EGYPT, the interlude of Sirry Pasha's Government was almost as brief as that of Qavam of Persia. His replacement by Hilaly Pasha, who he had succeeded meant that King Farouk intended to rule through men of his choice, and not through men acceptable to Parliament or the people. Thus as he, too, destroying the institutions of government, and establishing a form of personal dictatorship. The usurpation of power by Major-General Mohammed Maquis Bey drove out the King but has left another dictatorship.

The situation was ripe for revolution, not necessarily led by the Communists, but certainly to be used by them in the long run.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE QUESTION all these events pose to Britain and the other Western Powers concerned is this: how can the Middle East be defended? Careful study of this problem is now taking place preparatory to the London visit of the Turkish Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary.

Seen from Whitehall, the problem is how to get Turkish troops into the Middle East. There is no other major source of men for the defence of that area. The Turks, however, have no intention of diverting their resources from the defence of their own North Eastern frontier with Russia.

✧ ✧ ✧

IF A DEADLOCK occurs it is possible that a quite new policy will emerge. Instead of the old containment policy of strength at all points in the Russian perimeter, it may be decided to make Turkey a position of great strength from which Russia could be badly injured. That potential injury — by bombing and land attack—might then be relied on as a deterrent to a Soviet attack on the Middle East, which would be left militarily as weak as it is today.

Strategic thinkers are aghast at the prospect of leaving our oil supplies so perilously placed; but political observers point to the present state of the Middle East and ask: how can you defend something so indefensible?

The Way of Longevity

(Ottawa Journal)

Everybody would like to discover the secret of longevity, to learn how to live long in contentment and good health.

Here are some observations on the subject contained in a letter to the London Spectator:

"Sir—Last week four veterans, A. B. C. and D, two soldiers and two civilians, met. Their ages were respectively 91, 90, 90 and 89. Except that all four live in the country, are in good health, and enjoy the food put before them—B eschews ices and C coffee—and none of them smokes cigarettes, they have no ways or habits in common.

"C and D suck pipes all day long; A and B do not smoke. A drinks whisky, C cider, B lemon-barley (between, not at, meals), and D abstains. A plays golf and is a doughty antagonist and drives his car; C being a little bent and using a stick takes no exercise; B and D potter in the garden and in walks observe a three-mile limit. A and B perform PT after the bath; the others do not.

"A, B and D rise early; C does not. B does much reading and some literary work; the others cannot owing to weak eyesight. B has an excellent memory; D's is very poor. A wears a "hearing aid"; B and C ought soon to do so. None of the four comes from a particularly long-lived family."

Here are no secrets, it is true, nor is there any guidance in the cases of A, B, C, and D. All this tells us is that if you smoke a pipe, abstain from spirits, and get up early in the morning, come to your nineties and you may meet a chap who doesn't smoke but likes his whisky, who gets up late, wears a hearing aid and plays golf.

It would be interesting if some time we could know which one of the four is the last survivor of them.

Senora Eva de Peron

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

A FEW MONTHS ago, disgruntled railway workers greeted the First Lady of Argentina with placards reading "Long live Peron—the widower." Now President Peron is so in truth, but even the placard-carriers will probably feel a stab of regret at the passing of the most dynamic and perversely attractive South American woman since Manuelita Saenz captured the heart of the Liberator, Simon Bolivar.

To millions of other Argentine workers Senora Dona Maria Eva Duarte de Peron was "our Evita," and to her they were "my beloved shirtless ones." She was a myth come true. Born some thirty years ago into a working-class family in the remote dusty pueblo of Los Toldos in Northern Argentina, she rose to be-jewelled and fur-clad eminence, and greater power than any South American woman had ever enjoyed.

SHE CAME UP the hard way, going alone to the glittering capital while still in her teens, and finding—as so many provincial girls had found before her—that the streets of Buenos Aires were not paved with gold. But Evita was tough, charming and reasonably unscrupulous. She fought her way into Buenos Aires' competitive show-business, making brief appearances as a stage-dancer and others as a starlet in minor films, until she landed a contract with the popular commercial broadcasting station Radio Belgrano, where her pleasing personality earned her the nickname of Senorita Radio.

It was in this capacity that she met Lt.-Col. Juan Peron, Minister of Labour and Welfare in the Provisional Government of 1943. He asked her to help him in the campaign for the relief of the victims of the destructive San Juan earthquake. She became his "companion," as the delicate Argentine phrase goes, and eventually his wife. In 1945, when Peron, now Vice-President, was gaoled by Army leaders fearful of his growing power, it was Evita who called out a mass demonstration of descamisados ("the shirtless ones") and secured his release. It was her finest hour—her triumph.

When Peron was elected to the Presidency his wife became in all but name a joint ruler, and her office in the Ministry of Labour was the Mecca of all who sought help—particularly if they could boast a proletarian background. Her furs and jewels, so sneered at by the middle classes, seemed to them a symbol of what they themselves could achieve. Her spectacular receptions on a visit to Spain and Italy in 1947 they felt as a tribute to themselves.

Last August, when she gracefully and emotionally declined the nomination for Vice-Presidency, her power and popularity seemed to be declining. But on her appearance—a sick woman—after the abortive revolt on September 28, she was reassured of the loyalty of her shirtless masses. She once said, "When I die I want people only to remember that by Peron's side was a woman who loved him." That wish will certainly be granted her.

Letter To The Editor

DEFICIT, NOT SURPLUS AT CIVIC

Sir: I see we have a report of our Civic hospital ending end of June. Mr. Roper claims a surplus of $28,546.96 when it is really a deficit of $109,513.44 less $23,546.96 of $85,966.48, or $469 a day. I am informed St. Joseph Hospital last year showed a surplus of around $1,000.00 a week.

At the time the budget and tax rate was struck Alderman Miller stated that the big increase was caused by forming of the union at the hospital, causing an increase of $97,000.00 in wages. Now according to Mr. George Lindell's letter the union representing 45 per cent of the staff only got $18,000.00 of an increase but according to the above the other 55 per cent got an increase of $79,000.00. It would be interesting to know what increase was given to some of this 55 per cent? I understand there are over 300 on the staff—50 alone in the kitchen. You can see by the above the union members got a small lot out of the increase in wages. Also we were told that indigent patients was the cause of the $40,000. deficit at end of the year, one half of the $10,000 paid to the hospital during the year. Later Mr. Metheral's report said it was less than $19,000 for the two city hospitals.

I questioned one of the board members on this and he finally admitted Mr. Metheral's figures were correct. I asked him why blame indigent patients for it all. His explanation was that it cost $14.75 per day for every patient in the hospital. I told him in that case a patient paying $9.00 a day for a semi-private room was an indigent patient to the extent of $5.75. The public ward rates is $6.50 per day.

The hospital receives indirectly $6.75 for every indgient patient. The sum and substance is the overhead is too high and it is overstaffed.

What the taxpayers want to know is what the council is doing about the Isolation hospital. Over three months ago Mrs. A. E. Berry has been trying to rent it as a nursing home, one that is badly needed. I asked an Alderman last week about it. He said: "I know nothing about it. Our city clerk who runs the city wants it sold." A few weeks ago council hired Mr. W. H. Turner as industrial commissioner at $300.00 a month part time apparently they cannot expect any results; if so they would not want to sell the Isolation hospital. If his efforts result in new industries, then our population should be increasing and the increases as such in the next three or four years as it has been in the past, there is bound to be that much sickness and the public ward now filled by patients, many of them indigent pensioners and others who have nowhere to go and are bedridden. Could these be transferred to the Isolation hospital to make that much room at Civic?

I understand Mrs. Berry has around 60 people on a waiting list, and is prepared to spent $2,300.00 on redecorating besides furnishings. The city has nothing to lose and they are not spending a cent. I understand the Canadian Legion has about 15 who want to go there. They think a woman cannot run it. When we had a lady superintendent in our hospital, it was better run financially than it is now. When Mrs. Berry has the approval of Dr. M. E. J. Stalker, Inspector of Hospitals and nursing homes, also three city doctors, also Miss A. M. Robinson of the Anson House. She also has the approval of several organizations in the city who are behind her 100 per cent. and have agreed to help her in every way?

Stop dilly-dallying and rent to Mrs. Berry for three or four years and at the end of that time we will see what the rent brings forth.

OSCAR S. MATCHETT.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Little children, yet a little while I am with you. Ye shall seek me: and as I said unto the Jews, Whither I go, ye cannot come; so now I say to you. A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another.

Simon Peter said unto him, Lord, whither goest thou? Jesus answered him, Whither I go, thou canst not follow me now; but thou shalt follow me afterwards. (John 13: 33-36.)

✧ ✧ ✧

If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels and mercies, fulfil ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind.

Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves . . .

Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus. (Phil. 2: 1-3, 5.)

OLYMPIC GAMES AT HELSINKI

Says Gut Dam Has To Go To Save Land

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The United States chairman of the International Joint Commission was quoted yesterday as saying that Gut Dam "has got to go and will go" from the St. Lawrence River.

Representative Kenneth B. Keating told reporters that Augustus C. Stanley, the commission chairman, said this to him in a telephone conversation.

Stanley said last week he agrees with property owners who claim that the earthen dam above the International Rapids was partly responsible for high levels in Lake Ontario that have caused widespread property damage.

Stanley said then that the dam contributes at least 8½ inches to the lake level. The commission held hearings in Rochester, Toronto and Ogdensburg last week on lake levels, and collected facts and figures on the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

Keating said further hearings will be held in Albany in September on the public power phase.

He said Stanley was confident that American members of the commission will convince the Canadian members of their view on Gut Dam, which was built by Canada in 1902.

"I don't see how they (the Canadians) can get away from it," Keating quoted Stanley.

Bratton Scores TKO

Johnny Bratton, Chicago welterweight last night scored a third-round technical knockout over Laurent Dauthuille, middleweight of France, in their 10-round main bout at Montreal.

Dauthuille weighed in at 157½ pounds and Bratton at 151½.

The end came suddenly at 2:15 of the third round after Bratton caught the Frenchman with a wicked right to the ribs. Medical examination following the fight showed Dauthuille had a fractured rib.

Referee Tony Mancini stopped the bout when Dauthuille clutched his left side, obviously in pain, and made no effort to defend himself.

In the semi-final eight-rounder Bryan Kelly 139¾, Niagara Falls, Ont., knocked out Martin Hickman, 134½ of Philadelphia after 1.51 minutes of the first round.

Order GM Firms End Monopoly

CHICAGO (AP)—The United States federal court yesterday ordered General Motors Corp. and its subsidiary, General Motors Acceptance Corp., to end "monopolistic operations" in auto financing.

Federal Judge Walter J. Labuy issued a decree, with the consent of the two firms, barring them from preventing other financing firms from handling loans on General Motors vehicles.

The decree provides that other financing companies will receive equal rights to operate through General Motors' dealers with the co-operation of General Motors Corp. Any service the auto company furnishes its wholly owned subsidiary, G. M. A. C., are to be afforded other financing companies, according to the decree.

The decree brings to an end an anti-trust suit brought against the two corporations by the government in 1939.

Won't Allow Intimidation In Windsor Investigation

WINDSOR (CP)—No intimidation of witnesses testifying before a public inquiry into the affairs of East Windsor Hospital will be tolerated, Commissioner Gordon Fraser, who is conducting the provincial government investigation, said.

He said he will take under advisement the alleged discharge Friday of Mrs. Frances Singleton, hospital supervisor who testified earlier at the inquiry, and a commission request that Mr. Fraser recommend the suspension of two hospital officials in connection with the action.

Arthur A. Macdonald, chief counsel of the investigating body yesterday asked Mr. Fraser to recommend the suspension of hospital superintendent Dr. P.J.G. Morgan and nursing supervisor Mrs. Madeline Campbell because of what he called the "summary dismissal" of Mrs. Singleton.

AFTER TESTIMONY

Mr. Macdonald said the action had been taken because of testimony Mrs. Singleton gave at the inquiry. The suspension of Dr. Morgan and Mrs. Campbell until the end of the investigation was advisable, he said, in order that other hospital staff members give testimony without fear of discharge.

Beatrice Lyons, counsel for Dr. Morgan, said that Mrs. Singleton had been neither suspended nor dismissed from the hospital but had walked out while Dr. Morgan was questioning her.

Seven patients told the commission that they are well satisfied with the care they are receiving at the hospital. They were pleased with the food and with the attention they are receiving, they said.

The inquiry into the 350-bed institution for incurables, now in its 10th week, is continuing.

Will Inspect Freighter For Damage

QUEBEC (CP)—The Great Lakes freighter John A. France, anchored overnight in the St. Lawrence River near here, was scheduled today to undergo inspection for damages suffered in a collision with another vessel Sunday.

The Woodford, an ocean-going freighter suffered a damaged hull and flooded engine room and was towed slowly upstream from the scene of the collision, 120 miles east of here.

Meanwhile, another lake vessel, the Birchton, was expected early today with 24 crew members and four passengers of the Woodford, transferred shortly after the collision.

22 CREWMEN STAY ABOARD

Only 22 crew members remained aboard the Woodford, bound for Europe with grain and mixed cargo when the collision occurred in fog near Ile Verte, across the St. Lawrence River from the mouth of the Saguenay River. The St. Lawrence is 20 miles wide at that point.

They manned the Woodford's pumps at full capacity to keep the water level in the hull as low as possible.

Water poured in from a gaping hole in the freighter's side.

The 3,300-ton John A. France, owned by Colonial steamships of Port Colborne, was sailing from the lower St. Lawrence harbor of Matane with a load of pulpwood for Erie, Pa.

She arrived here last night and anchored off the Davie shipbuilding and repairing company yards at Lauzon, across the river from Quebec.

The salvage tug Rocky River reached the Woodford, a Watts and Watts Line vessel represented in Canada by Cunard Steamship Company, late yesterday and started towing operations at three knots. The freighter had no power of her own. She was expected to reach Quebec late today.

Threat Of Destruction Doesn't Worry Village

IROQUOIS, Ont. (CP)— The threat of destruction appears to have no effect on this village on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River, 27 miles northwest of Brockville.

Residents have known for several years that, when the St. Lawrence Seaway is built, their village will be flooded. The seaway is expected to start within a year, yet within the last two years 24 houses have been built. Many others have been redecorated and many main street shops have new fronts.

Havelock Boys Meet in Korea

HAVELOCK (ENS)—A watchmaker's stand on the roadside in Korea was the scene of a happy re-union this month when a Canadian soldier suddenly came upon two boys from his home town of Havelock whom he did not know were serving there.

Pte. David Menzies of C Coy 1st Batt., Royal Canadian Regiment, Korea, in a letter to W. M. Platt, wrote how he and Pte. Stanley Simpson were having their watches repaired at this roadside repair stand when a truck driver pulled his truck up to have a look at what was going on. The driver was Keith Toms of Havelock. Pte. Menzies in describing the happy moment wrote: "You should have seen Keith. I thought he was going to lose his eyes and he could not get out of the truck fast enough when he recognized two guys from around home." Plans were made for another get-together.

Pte. Menzies wrote that the weather is very hot in Korea with very little rain. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Menzies.

Young Petes Beat Cobourg In 9-7 Lakeshore Fixture

A three-run drive in the last of the sixth inning here last night gave the Young Petes a 9-7 victory over Cobourg Legion. It was the local juniors' second straight win against Legion and their sixth triumph in the Lakeshore Baseball League schedule. The seven-inning game was called at the end of the sixth for darkness, and Manager Howie Dalton of Cobourg intimated that he would protest the tilt because it was too dark in the last of the sixth. Cobourg arrived late, the game starting 40 minutes after the scheduled time.

After spotting Legion a 3-0 lead in the first two heats, the Menzies pack tied it in the third. Cobourg went three up next heat but again Young Petes tied it in their half. Legion got their last one in the sixth and then the junior crew counted three for the win, two walks, an error and two wild pitches — which the catcher claimed he couldn't see — accounting for the runs. Only one was out when the three scored, the second out being a roller to short and the third a strikeout.

GOOD SUPPORT

Jerry Frizzelle went the route for the winners and gave up seven hits and six walks while fanning five. His support was good. Lefty Hart hit a wild streak in the third and was yanked for Jim Incamell, who got the loss. He gave up but one hit but walked four in three and a third frames, and had wobbly support. He whiffed seven. Hart allowed just three hits but walked five and fanned six. Four Cobourg errors hurt their cause.

Don Bigford banged out a double and drove in three runs during the game for Young Petes, singles being knocked by Bud McDougall, Gary Kearns and Jerry Frizzelle. Incamell slashed out a double aond single in two for the losers, and McIvor had two for three at bat. The winners left five stranded and the losers four. The same squads clash here again Wednesday. Teams:

Cobourg—Esquerod, 1b; Galeski 2b; Dalton, ss; McIvor, c; Hogan, 3b; Harnden, cf; Young, lf; Lawless, rf; Hart, p; Incamell, p.

Young Petes — Foley, 1b; Kearns, 2b; Wilson, ss; Bigford, c; McMartin, cf; Byrne, 3b; McDougall, rf; Lesch, lf; Pagett, lf; Frizzelle, p.

Appoint Hornsby To Manage Cincinnati Reds

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds last night named Rogers Hornsby as new manager to replace Luke Sewell who resigned earlier yesterday.

Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati Baseball Club, announced from New York that Hornsby will be manager through the balance of the season and through 1953.

Paul said Hornsby will take over the club when the Reds return to Crosley Field Aug. 5 for a series with the Chicago Cubs. Paul said Hornsby will continue scouting for the Reds in the meantime until taking over the club. Luke Sewell will continue as manager of the Reds through the Philadelphia series that closed Wednesday night.

WIN OR GET OUT

Sewell quit as boss of the Reds "because when you don't win in baseball, the only thing to do is get out."

Hornsby will draw two pay cheques while working with the National League club.

Bill Veeck, St. Louis Browns' owner, last night confirmed a settlement he was reported to have made with the "Rajah" to continue his pay under a three-year contract with the Browns despite the firing as St. Louis manager.

Hornsby will get full salaries this year and next and half pay in 1954 under the agreement, Veeck said. The contract called for a reported $36,000 yearly.

Hornsby, 56, led the St. Louis Cardinals to their first pennant and world championship in 1926. He also managed the Boston Braves and the Chicago Cubs.

He piloted the St. Louis Browns earlier this year until ousted by manager Bill Veeck.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Perhaps no field sport in this country is as expensive as rugby football. Not when you consider the salaries paid in the Big Four, the comparative shortness of the season, and the price of so much necessary equipment. We note in the Ottawa Citizen this item: "This year's Ottawa layout for uniforms, apart from pads and underclothing, adds up to an imposing total of $3,500. It can be broken down as follows: Boots, $600; helmets, $700; pants, $1,100; and sweaters, $800." That's apart from the many expensive pads needed in this hard-hitting game. The more amateur clubs require a lot of equipment, too, and they have only a few home games.

Big Turnover In Toronto

St. Catharines columnist comments re senior lacrosse: "Toronto West Yorks, who, like the Oshawa Merchants' ball club, have signed and released enough players for two or three separate teams this year, issued two more releases in order to get under the player limit and be able to use Joe McNulty and Ken Croft of this city. Those released were Cam Sheppard of Brampton and Manager Don Holden. It was a very short playing season for Holden, who signed before the game here last Saturday night, played three periods and then called it quits for the year." Yorks' coach is Don (Scotty) McPhail.

Petes' Timbermen trek to Owen Sound tonight for an O.L.A. fixture and then take on Fergus Thistles here Wednesday. The Messrs. Dobbie, Gear, Caruso, et al, have knocked off Hamilton and Toronto in the past week, so they'll extend the second-place Petes plenty, no doubt. Last time here a free-for-all flared up after big Jimmy Halls tried to choke Don Ashbee almost to death in a penalty-bench brawl that drew rival players and fans into the mess. We trust the hot opponents play lacrosse this time and leave the fisticuffing to the professional ringmen. But it should be quite a warmish tilt.

Young Petes Win Again

They did it again—the Young Petes defeated Cobourg Legion in a Lakeshore League ball game. Took 'em 9-7 here last eve, though Howie Dalton said he'd protest the game on the grounds that 'twas too dark to finish the sixth stanza, when the Menzies' crew scored three for the victory. Al Menzies retorted that lights are not put on in Riverside for seven-inning 6.30 games, and that Cobourg was at fault in starting the joust 40 minutes late. So there it rests at the moment. Cobourg used two twirlers and they were stingy with hits but overly generous with walks, and their backing was shaky. Locals had steady flinging and fine fielding. Cashed in on all the breaks, too. Same clubs clash here Wednesday eve at 6.30.

Welch's bantams of the P.M.B.A. last week dunked the northenders 6-2 and the southenders 12-11 in loop play. They drill at 6.30 p.m. Wednesday in the Oval. ## Strip Privileges From 2 Players Attacking Official HELSINKI (AP)—The United States basketball team today whipped Chile 103-55, piling up the highest score so far in the Olympic tournament and assuring a place in the final round-robin competition.

It was the fifth straight U.S. victory in the tournament and the second in the semi-final round-robin competition. With one more semi-final game to play, the American team is certain to be among the four which advance to the final round.

The United States plays Brazil tomorrow in its third game of the semi-final round.

The Uruguayan Basketball Federation stripped all Olympic privileges from two players following an attack yesterday on referee Vincent Farrell of Newark, N.J.

The remaining Uuruguayan players responded by winning their first semi-final game with a 62-54 victory over Bulgaria.

The federation identified the two players as Wilfredo Pelaez and Carlos Rossello.

Bill Griem of Denver, president of the International Basketball Federation, said the two players probably would be "barred for life" from amateur basketball. Griem said Uruguay had considered taking its team out of the Olympic basketball tournament but had decided this morning to carry on without the players who were disqualified.

Farrell was attacked at the end of one of the wildest basketball games ever played in international competition. Farrell called a charging penalty on a Uruguayan player, giving France possession of the ball and permitting France to win on a late goal, 68-66.

The entire Uruguayan bench boiled onto the floor and surrounded Farrell. Farrell was punched in the face and knocked down. Then he was kicked.

Jose Chaves, president of the Uruguayan Basketball Federation, last night extended apologies to Farrell.

Swimmers Break 2 More Records

HELSINKI (AP)—Two more Olympic records were shattered today when Jean Boiteux of France and Geertje Wielema of The Netherlands set new standards in swimming.

Boiteux shattered the men's 400-metre freestyle record with a sparkling 4:33.1 clocking in the qualifying heats. The old record—set only yesterday by a Swede—was 4:39.6.

Miss Wielema broke the Olympic mark in the women's 100-metre back stroke trial heats, swimming the distance in 1:13.8. This topped the former mark of 1:14.2 set by Karen Harup Tanska of Denmark in 1948.

Gerry McNamee of Vancouver placed third in his heat with a time of 4:46.7 and Allan Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., was fifth in his heat at 4:52.4. Neither was among the eight qualifiers.

In the women's race, Lenora Fisher of Ocean Falls completed the women's event in 1:21.9, too slow to make the qualifying group.

LAWN BOWLING

Ladies' scores—Mrs. C. Willison 12, Mrs. L. Yeotes 13; Mrs. L. Deyman 8, Mrs. W. Whitty 13; Mrs. L. Bearne 9, Mrs. F. Staunton 17; Mrs. L. Ackford 15, Mrs. S. Shields 8.

SCHOLES WINS 100-METRE FREESTYLE—Hiroshi Suzuki of the Japanese Olympic swimming team congratulates Clark C. Scholes of the U.S. team after Scholes won the 10-metre freestyle swim final in the Olympics at Helsinki, Finland. Runner-up Suzuki was clocked in the same time, 57.4 seconds, but Scholes touched the end of the pool first.

Marciano Puts Out Matthews In Sensational 2-Round Knockout

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano today eyes a million-dollar Sept. 23 title shot at heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott after his sensational two-round knockout of Harry Matthews last night.

"Marciano and Walcott will draw all you can put in," said Jim Norris, International Boxing Club president. "A million is a conservative guess, not counting television or theatre TV."

"I'm ready for Walcott," said the unbeaten Brockton, Mass., slugger. "I can lick anybody I step in the ring with."

WALCOTT WILLING

Walcott, who watched Marciano's crunching left hooks to the jaw sprawl Matthews on his back in 2:04 of the second round, said he was "looking forward to meeting Marciano."

"I hope we can get together," said the 38-year-old champ.

Back under the stands in Matthews dressing room, manager Jack Hurley said "Harry was a glorified amateur for 10 years and tonight he reverted to type." Matthews had little to say, grinning sheepishly.

A Marciano-Walcott bout Sept. 23 at Yankee Stadium is Norris' goal. He will talk with Marty Weill, Marciano's manager, and his step-father, Al Weill, the I.B.C. matchmaker, today. Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, also may be in for tea.

The payoff on Marciano-Matthews was disappointing in contrast to early estimates. But a last-minute gate sale saved it from being a flop. A crowd of 31,188 paid $215,707 to see the show that barely beat the rain. There was no radio or television.

Matthews won round No. 1 on the cards of referee Ray Miller, judges Harold Barnes and Joe Agnello and the A.P. but that was all, brother. Two crunching hooks to the jaw, some 30 seconds after a long looping right started Matthews on his way, brought victory to swarthy Rocky, an 11-to-5 favorite. Marciano had an 8½-pound advantage at 187½ to Matthews' 179.

When the 29-year-old Matthews went down on his back, clawed at the ropes in an attempt to get up and then collapsed over the bottom strand, he lost his first fight since 1943.

Marciano, 27, is hailed in some quarters as the greatest puncher since Jack Dempsey.

Marciano put a spectacular end to the fabulous Matthews story by scoring his 37th knockout in 42 all-winning fights.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

The late esteemed Daniel Webster, who won very considerable fame as a gentleman who knew what words really meant, defined sport as a noun meaning... that which makes mirth; pastime, amusement.

If Mr. Webster was around today, he might alter the definition. He might remove the word "mirth." For there is little more real fun in the major realms of sport. It has become a very serious business, with few laughs. If there is any mirth, then it is strictly coincidental, and unintentional.

In fact, the athletes of today aren't even characters as we knew such in other days when there was less money, more laughs. They're cold, calculating and skillful, workmen.

It wasn't like this in the not so old days when sport had its sports. The guys (and gals, too) had personality.

There are no more roistering characters such as, for instance, the late Harry Greb, Pittsburg's bouncing boxer who buffetted his way to the world middleweight title. Greb's deviations from what were known as routine training methods won him fame of a sort. Certainly notoriety. Once in New York he rolled out of bed late in the afternoon, went to the hotel barber-shop, requested a shave and a face massage with hot towels. It had been a rough night.

The barber asked courteously: "Who do you think will win the fight tonight Mr. Greb?"

Replied Harry, indifferently: "Who's fighting?"

"Why, you are, Mr. Greb" said the amazed barber. He was right too.

Out west they recall lurid tales of big, rugged Amby Moran, who played major hockey both east and west. Amby was careless about training, too. He played so poorly for Regina one season, that the late Wes Champ, advised him he would have to report in shape the next fall or do without a contract. So Moran bought a pair of pants three sizes too big for himself, donned them, reported to Champ. When the manager queried him about weight, Amby ran his hand around the top to show how much larger they were for him "as a result of his program of getting in shape."

...."It cost me $9 for those pants, but I got a contract," recalled Amby.

Sprague Cleghorn, one of hockey's great all-time players, was a paradox, a practical joker off the ice, a hard man on it. One night while he was managing Montreal Maroons, the Governor General of Canada was present in the Montreal Forum as patron and guest of honour at a big Christmas-basket charity boxing event. He was invited to the Maroon dressing-room to meet the players, who were hurriedly summoned. Just as the Governor General and his staff were making a dignified entrance, a horrified Forum official noticed Cleghorn had a "buzzer" attached to his hand. He was instructed, in hasty whispers, to get rid of it. "Surely" said the official, "you were not going to shake hands with the Governor General wearing that thing?"

"Certainly I was" said Cleghorn. "The boxing show is poor, the Governor looks bored, and deserves some sort of a thrill."

There is no such humour around the major sports wheel today. Big money has chased out the laughs, made it serious business.

Point Scramble Sharpening Fast

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI (CP)—The scramble for points—no matter if they are frowned upon officially—is sharpening up the fast-waning 1952 Olympic Games.

The feature attraction, of course, is the United States' desperate efforts to overhaul the leading Russians who have amassed 502½ points in the unofficial standing to 425 for the United States.

Other countries are far behind but still trying for all the points they can get, as well as the medals and honors—all Olympic officials recognize as the result of athletic achievement.

CANADA AT 27 MARK

Canada has only 27 points so far, compared with 35 at the 1948 games in London. Canada still has chances in the boxing and swimming competitions. Again, someone may bob up in a lesser known event and win a gold medal, as young George Genereux of Saskatoon did last Saturday in winning the clay-pigeon championship in the trapshooting tournament.

Two boxers came through the initial round yesterday with victories. Another lost. Paddlers placed eighth and ninth in finals—not good enough for point-scoring. A seventh was the closest, made after the completion of yachting competition.

The United States is counting heavily on its aquatic stars for points. They were off to a good start yesterday in taking the first three places in the men's springboard diving event. American yachtsmen scored two firsts.

Neither American nor Canadian boxers faced Russians in the first day of the boxing tournament.

WON FOUR BOUTS

American coaches adopted a wait-and-see attitude regarding the Russians, who won four bouts and lost one.

All the Russian leather-pushers seemed to be poured from the same mold. They all waited out the first minute or so of each round and then lashed out with short left hooks and rapid-fire combinations. They appeared to be excellent counter-punchers, and judges at these games score heavily for this art.

The long boxing program yesterday afternoon and evening ushered out more than 50 boxers. In this tournament there's no second chance. A loss means out.

CANADIAN BOXERS WIN

Len Walters of Vancouver and Clayton Kenny of Ottawa won their opening bouts handily. Roy Keenan of Montreal, in the light-welterweight class, lost a split decision to Pieter van Klaveren of Holland.

Coach Tommy Sullivan said it was a weird decision that Keenan chased his opponent all over the ring, winning the first two rounds by a wide margin and getting at least an even break in the third. Keenan himself was downhearted at the decision.

Kenny, in the lightweight division, pounded his Danish opponent—Niels Berthelsen—and won by a technical knockout in the third round.

Walters scored a unanimous decision over an Egyptian—Salah el Din Ahmed Fathi—and won easily although he said his timing was off.

LOSE SWIM RELAY

Canada's team in the 800-metre swimming relay was eliminated in the opening heat. But Allen Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., and Gerry McNamee of Vancouver qualified in preliminaries of the 400-metre race. Qualification was on a time basis and their marks were none too good compared with many others posted.

The paddling competitions ended yesterday. Finland took three gold medals in all and Sweden, Denmark and Czechoslovakia one each. Arthur Johnston and Tom Hodgson of Toronto were eighth in the Canadian-type pairs and Bert Oldershaw of Toronto was ninth in the Kayak singles. George Cordner and Bob Ward of Montreal were eliminated in the Kayak pairs and George Bossy of Montreal in the Canadian singles.

YANKS WHIP RUSS

The basketball tournament brought the long looked-for clash between the United States and Russia and the Americans won 86-58.

It was a hard-fought game and the officials tooted loud and often, waving six Americans and four Russians to the sidelines on personal fouls. But neither side let out a peep and there was a show of friendship at the end.

This was in contrast to the game in which France edged Uruguay 68-66.

The Uruguayans mobbed referee Vincent Farrell of the United States. The crowd joined in and Farrell was kicked in the groin by a spectator, then clipped on the jaw.

Farrell had called a charging penalty on a Uruguayan player, giving France possession of the ball. France scored a last-second goal to win.

Farrell's refereeing partner was a Russian. He managed to escape the wrath of the players and stood at a safe distance when the melee broke loose.

Two Uruguayan players were stripped of all Olympic privileges by the Uruguayan basketball federation. The pair, identified as Wildredo Palaez and Carlos Rossello, probably will be barred for life from amateur basketball, Bill Griem of Denver, president of the International Basketball Federation said.

Final results of the yachting competition weren't tabulated until late last night.

Skipper Bill Gooderham and his Toronto crew took seventh place in the six-metre class with their yacht Trickson IV. The winner was the United States yacht Llanoria.

In the Finn class, one-man yacht, Paul McLaughlin of Toronto sailed his boat to an eighth-place final Denmark had the winner with Great Britain second.

The Hamilton yacht Jet placed 10th in the Dragon class and Andy Hugessen and Doug Woodward of Montreal were 10th in the Star class.

Cubs Divide Doubleheader

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The seventh place Springfield Cubs, plummeting toward the International League cellar, earned a reprieve last night by splitting a double-header with Toronto Maple Leafs. Shut out by a 5-0 the Leafs in the opener, they needed a two-run rally in the last inning of the nightcap to win 6-5.

Rochester Red Wings edged Baltimore 3-2 to strengthen their hold on second place. Jack Cullum won his own game with a ninth-inning home run.

The Syracuse-Montreal game was called because of rain after one inning. Buffalo and Ottawa were not scheduled.

Richard Denies He's Retiring

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, generally regarded as hockey's greatest rightwinger, last night vigorously denied reports he would not play again.

"I will play for (Montreal) Canadiens next winter. . .absolutely," said Richard. "The Rocket" claimed he was in good health and had recovered fully from his illness of last winter which forced him to miss 20 games of the National Hockey League schedule.

(The Hamilton News last week reported from "a reliable source" that Richard might never play hockey again. The report indicated Richard had an abdominal growth).

Richard was in Saint John to referee a wrestling match.

Batting: Walter Dropo, Tigers—hammered his 17th and 18th home runs to lead the Tigers to a 12-2 triumph over the New York Yankees.

Pitching: Gerry Staley, Cardinals—limited the Dodgers to four hits and two unearned runs in pitching the Cardinals to a 3-2 triumph for his 13th victory of the season and St. Louis' fourth straight over Brooklyn.

Yanks Bow To Tigers 12-2 Scream For Pitching Help

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Managers Charlie Dressen of Brooklyn Dodgers and Casey Stengel of New York Yankees were beseeching their bosses for more pitching help today after watching their leads shrink like a $10 suit in the rain. Just six days ago the Dodgers and Yankees were laughing their way to a pennant. Now worried frowns have replaced the happy smiles.

Yesterday's 12-2 Yankee loss to Detroit and the 3-2 Dodger defeat by St. Louis Cardinals climaxed a sorry six days that saw this happen:

LEAD SLICED

1. The Yankees' American League lead of five games over Boston and 7½ over Cleveland has dwindled to three over the now-second-place Indians and 3½ over the Red Sox.

2. The Dodgers' 7½-game bulge over New York Giants has been sliced to four.

No wonder Dressen and Stengel are moaning for mound help. The harried skippers want more pitchers, especially with Brooklyn's Ralph Branca and Clem Labine and New York's Eddie Lopat on he shelf with ailing arms.

DROPPED 4 IN ROW

The Dodgers heaved a sigh of relief as Eddie Stanky's merciless Redbirds headed for Boston, but not before they had taken four straight at Ebbets Field. Gerry Staley applied the final crusher to the Dodgers last night, hurling a four-hitter and losing a shutout in the ninth when two St. Louis errors gave the Dodgers a pair of unearned runs.

George Shuba led off the Dodgers' ninth with a double. With one out, Duke Snider walked and Dick Sisler fumbled a grounder by Gil Hodges to load the bases. Injured Jackie Robinson came off the bench to hit for Rube Walker. The game seemed over when Robinson hit a double-play grounder to Billy Johnson at third. Red Schoendinst, however threw wildly to first and two Dodgers scored with Robinson taking second.

STRATEGY WORKS

Tommy Holmes came to bat for Rocky Bridges and manager Eddie Stanky ordered Holmes walked. The strategy worked when Billy Cox hit into a game-ending force-out.

There was little doubt about the Yankee outcome after the first inning when the Tigers broke through rookie Schaeffer for three quick runs. Tigers accumulated 15 hits while Hal Newhouser coasted to a neat seven-hitter. Walt Dropo led the Tiger attack with a pair of homers. Steve Souchock also got a round-tripper.

In the only other scheduled game, St. Louis Browns upset Washington Senators 6-3 as Satchel Paige celebrated a "night" in his honor by pitching his seventh triumph.

Rain Washes Out Baseball Tournament

LINDSAY — Rain washed out the East Central Zone second annual pee-wee baseball tournament here but the heavy downpour failed to dampen the spirits of over 100 13-year-old diamond enthusiasts. Recreation director Red Mitchell announced that the tourney would be completed next week with Bowmanville meeting Lindsay and Belleville and Aurora Clubs clashing in the semi-finals.

Lindsay gained the first round win by coming from behind to edge Peterborough Braves 5-3. Bowmanville walloped Haliburton, 11-4, and Belleville Pauls were leading Oshawa Tigers, 3-2, in the sixth when the rains came. Aurora gained a bye to the semi-finals.

Davis Cup Teams Getting Into Practice

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian and Mexican Davis Cup tennis teams went into high-gear practice sessions today for first-round North American zone matches next Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Neither playing captain Pedro Vega of Mexico, nor non-playing captain Dr. Georges Leclerc of Canada, would predict who could be meeting the United States in second-round zone finals next week, but both said their men were working out well.

VETS TOP PLAYERS

Top players for Canada are expected to be Brendan Macken and Lorne Main, both Davis Cup veterans.

Macken recently won both the Quebec and Ontario provincial championships and in those tournaments played better tennis than ever before. His forehand, once his weakness, now is his strength, and he gives it plenty of depth and authority.

Main was below form for a while this year, but has improved measurably in the last few weeks, and trounced Sidney Schwartz, ranked 23 in the U.S. on a recent jaunt south of the border.

SERVICES VOLLEY IMPROVE

He had been playing without a grip on his racket for the last year or so, to help his two-handed strokes, but now has put it back and his service and volley have improved.

Henri Rochon has not played much tournament tennis this season, following a car accident this spring, and consequently is a little out of trim. He has practised against Macken for the last week, and his angle and drop shots have not lost any of their edge

Canada's Embassy In Moscow

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—With a small staff the Canadian embassy in Moscow manages to keep as active as any of the bigger diplomatic establishments in the Soviet capital.

This is another way of saying it turns out a lot of work.

Its members keep in touch with Soviet life as well as they can. They read all the Russian publications available. They attend all public functions and circulate with other foreigners here.

The Canadian embassy also is in close touch with the British embassy and other British Commonwealth missions here and maintains friendly contacts with Americans.

Young and personable Robert A. D. Ford is the Charge d'Affaires and he is highly regarded by his colleagues in the diplomatic corps. Canada has not had an ambassador in residence here since L. Dana Wilgress immediately after the war.

EXPERIENCED DIPLOMAT

In Ford, however, Canada has an experienced diplomat and one who has had previous experience in the U.S.S.R., serving as the principal lieutenant to Ambassador Wilgress.

Entertaining and being entertained—as anyone knows—is an important function of a diplomatic mission. In addition to the social obligations entailed, it is a convenient method of exchanging news and views.

The Canadian embassy is fortunate in having one of the most accomplished hostesses in Moscow, the young and pretty wife of the Charge d'Affaires. And she manages to strike a happy medium in entertaining—not too much and not too little.

The embassy is located in a large two-storey, almost square, cream-plastered building across a narrow street from a large school for Soviet boys. Previously it was the Danish legation, and before that a pre-revolutionary Russian residence.

PRIVATE GROUNDS

A high brick wall encloses the embassy grounds which also include garages, storerooms and a place where wood is cut and stored for winter heating.

A section of the backyard was once flooded for a skating rink, but this wasn't a great success and since then ice-minded Canadians have done their skating at public places. They ski in nearby hills.

The embassy handles a considerable amount of consular work, dealing with the Russians in connection with the settlement of estates, etc., of Russians who die in Canada and leave money to relatives in this country.

Reports and interpretation of events and policies make up a large proportion of the work of any embassy here and the Canadian embassy is no exception.

Unlike some Canadian embassies abroad, the one in Moscow is not required to spend much time on folks known as "visiting firemen"—visitors from Canada—who expect to be shown the places of interest and entertained.

Not many Canadians come this way these days.

MOSCOW EMBASSY—The Canadian Embassy in Moscow is located in a large, two-storied, almost square building just across the street from a large school for Soviet boys. Before it was the Canadian Embassy it was the Danish legation, and previous to this, it was a pre-revolutionary Russian residence. It is located in the Arbat section of Moscow fairly close to the Austrian legation, the Danish legation, the Chinese and American Embassies and the Finnish and Israel legations. R. A. D. Ford is charge d'affaires.

CHARGE D'AFFAIRES — Robert A. D. Ford, 35, is Canadian charge d'affaires in Moscow. His appointment by the External Affairs Department in January, 1951, was for his second term. From September, 1946, to November, 1947, he was in the Moscow legation, acting as charge d'affaires part of that time. He is the son of Arthur Ford, editor-in-chief of the London Free Press, a graduate of the University of Western Ontario and Cornell University. He joined the Department of External Affairs in July, 1940, and has served in Rio de Janeiro and London, England. He was a member of the Canadian delegation to the First General Assembly of the United Nations in January, 1946.

ENVOY'S WIFE—Mrs. R. A. D. Ford is the Brazilian-born wife of the Canadian charge d'affaires at Moscow. They met while both were attending a United Nations conference in London, England. Mrs. Ford was on the staff of the Brazilian Foreign Affairs Department. They were married in New York in 1947.

Bobby Soxers Reveal Drug Experiences

VANCOUVER (CP)—The story of thrill-crazy bobby soxers who experimented with narcotics in cheap hotels continued to unfold in police court yesterday.

Committed for trial on charges of distributing heroin to two girls, one 16 and the other 18, was James Mason, 28-year-old seaman.

Mason is the sixth suspect to be committed on that charge.

So far, 10 teen-aged girls from all walks of life have told how they used narcotics given to them by the alleged distributors.

Yesterday a blonde witness who said she escaped from industrial school several times testified that Mason gave her the first drug she ever used.

"I escaped from the school in October 1951, and came downtown with another girl. We met Mason somewhere downtown.

GIVEN 'FIX'

"The next day we went up to his room in a hotel. . . I had never taken drugs before but I told him I had. I asked him for a fix. There were four other people in the room and he brought out a capsule of heroin, poured the contents into a lipstick tube, mixed it with water and heated it with a match.

"First he fixed another and then asked me if I had ever used it before I said yes but I was lying.

"He put it in my arm and gave me a sink fix. I didn't feel anything so a bit later after he had cooked up another cap for himself and the others, I asked if I could have some of that too.

"He gave it to me. Then I felt very sick and lay down on the bed and coasted. I don't remember anything more—how I left the apartment or whether I used any more drugs later in the day."

CARRIER VISITS—The 27,000-ton United States carrier Leyte, one of six ships bringing 10,000 U.S. sailors to Halifax, is edged slowly into harbor by tugs. With the Leyte was a sister carrier, the Midway, returning for a second call. Four destroyers also accompanied them.

800 Students Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Some 800 students from English and French families in Ontario and Quebec will trade places this summer for a month.

Placed in foster homes by the Visites Interprovinciales organization, they will practice speaking one another's language.

Mrs. E. M. Cassels, manager of the Toronto branch of the society, said three main types of exchanges usually are involved: The "perfect" exchange, where two families simply switch children; the arrangement whereby the student works in the city but lives at an English- or French-speaking home; and a combination of the two.

She said there is no service charge for those who made exchanges. The society's staff of five and the operation of its three branches at Quebec, Montreal and Toronto was paid for by a combined provincial grant of $6,000 and the donations of private individuals.

It was the experience of the society that French students pick up English faster than the English students learns French. Most of the visitors from Quebec know some English before their arrival and were not afraid to speak it even when it is "dreadful." On the contrary, English students would not open their mouths until they had composed a perfect sentence.

Begun as a hobby in 1936 by J. H. Biggar, a teacher at Upper Canada College, the society is becoming well known. Last year the number enrolled was 50 per cent higher than in 1950. This year requests for exchanges have been received from other provinces than Quebec and Ontario. Some have even come from the United States.

The Movie Column

Arlene Dahl Shocked At Pictures

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The turning point in Arlene Dahl's career may well be when she posed in next-to-nothing for a magazine layout. The pictures appeared in print only a fortnight or so ago but already her film career had undergone a change.

The red-haired beauty explained how it all happened. She had been posing for a "high fashion" layout in one of the sheer nightgowns she has designed and marketed.

"I didn't think anyone could see through the nightgown," she reported, "and the magazine wouldn't let me approve the proofs At the end of the sitting, the photographer took a few shots with my hair awry. I thought they were only going to be for my amusement but they turned out to be the shots in the magazine."

ARLENE SHOCKED

The photos left little to the imagination. Arlene said she was shocked, and so was her father.

"And several of the ministers in my family background must have been spinning in their graves," Arlene sighed.

But the poses apparently had film producers spinning, too. The actress reported that they viewed her in an entirely different light.

"They used to think of me to play cool, unattainable heroines," she remarked. "But now I'm getting scripts that would have me as fiery, sexy women. Until now, I have generally drifted over movie sets in an ethereal manner. But now I have the chance to play vibrant characters."

BUSY LITTLE BEE

Miss Dahl is a busy little bee these days, what with writing a beauty column, incorporating right and left to sell her own fashions and trying to make a go of her marriage to Lex (Tarzan) Barker. Everything seems to be hunky-dory in the latter department, at least it was as this went to press.

Tarzan and his Dahl have split and reconciled in their brief months of marriage.

Howe Rejects Union Request For Meeting

WINDSOR (CP)—A union request for a "public meeting" in connection with the cancellation of a Ford of Canada contract has been turned down, Tom MacLean, assistant Canadian director of the United Auto Workers (C.I.O.—C.C.L.), said yesterday.

He said that Trade Minister Howe has rejected the U.A.W. request for a public meeting in connection with the cancellation July 17 of a Ford contract to manufacture wings for 576 T-33A Shooting Sar jet aircraft.

Officials of Canadair Limited, Montreal, cancelled the order "because of certain difficulties and obstacles which could affect the satisfactory performance of the contract." Union officials asked for a public meeting to discuss the circumstances of the cancellation because, they said, the act constituted a "smear" on the U.A.W.

Ms. MacLean said that Mr. Howe's stand "leaves alive several inferences that are good neither for the Ford Motor Company nor for the union, nor, for that matter, for the City of Windsor."

$500,000 Damage Left In Squall's Wake

SALEM, Mass. (AP)—Possibly five lives, approximately $500,000 damage, disrupted telephone and power lines, and losses to crops and dairies were the toll of Sunday's sudden squall along the north shore.

About 3,800 telephone lines were out and scores of dairies and homes were without refrigeration as the result of power failures. One dairyman said he lost 1,000 quarts of milk for lack of refrigeration.

Four bodies were recovered. Little hope was held for Edward Novak of Danvers, believed the fifth victim.

Shouldn't Write Off U.S. Too Soon In Seaway Proposal, Bank Says

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

United States participation in the navigational end of the St. Lawrence Seaway should not be too hastily written off, the Bank of Montreal says in its current monthly Business Review.

"Rapid industrial expansion, with increasing dependence on hydro-electric power, has culminated in an urgent need for more power," the report said. "In addition, the discovery of rich iron ore deposits in the Quebec-Labrador area has significantly altered the economic aspect of the navigation proposal."

CHANNEL TO SUPERIOR

The Seaway project would permit ocean shipping to penetrate more than 2,000 miles into the heart of North America by providing a continuous 27-foot-minimum channel from the mouth of the Gulf of St. Lawrence to Lake Superior.

This would necessitate construction of dams, locks and canals, as well as deepening and widening of existing channels.

"In conjunction with these navigation facilities, the joint plan envisages development of hydro-electric power amounting to 2,200,000 horse-power in the International Rapids section.

Of this half would go to the United States, and would also permit, at the option of the province of Quebec, completion of work in the Soulanges section at Beauharnois (173) to bring capacity there up to 2,000,000 horse-power as well as the potential development of 1,200,000 horse-power in the Lachine section."

DISMISS OBJECTION

Dealing with various views supporting and criticizing the Seaway, the review dismissed the objection that it would take too much labor and materials from more vital defence needs by citing official estimates of national requirements.

These did not appear "to be extraordinarily large in relation to current productive capacity." Failing Seaway construction, Quebec and Ontario would still have to use construction materials to get the new power they need.

"Few of the great constructive achievements of the world would have been realized if action had been delayed until all doubts were resolved," it said.

Best British Brains Puzzled Over Red Dean

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)The — "Red" Dean of Canterbury Dr. Hewlett Johnson, believes bus seats should be wider so weary workmen could spread out in comfort.

He also believes Communist charges that United Nations forces fighting in Korea dropped diseased insects in China to spread pestilence in the Orient.

The vigor with which he has spread Communist germ warfare propaganda has centred him in one of the fiercest storms of his eventful career.

The best brains in Britain don't know what to do about the Dean, administrator of Canterbury Cathedral and ranked ecclesiastically "somewhat below a bishop."

Thousands wonder what made him get that way. He says his movitive is Christian compassion for his fellowmen. Through most of his adult life he has supported Socialist political aims and Socialist leaders.

He was aked whether Prime Minister Stalin is a Christian.

"I didn't ask him," the Dean replied. "But he was very friendly, and where there is friendship there is Christianity."

He clings determinedly to his church office. Both Prime Minister Churchill and Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Dean's ecclesiastical boss, have told Parliament there is now way of getting him out, even though they found his political views objectionable.

The Dean is a product of England's Manchester region and, some say, also a product of 19th century industrialism. As a youth he worked in his father's mill to familiarize himself with factory operation.

He studied engineering at Manchester University but became convinced religion offered means for bringing about social betterment. He went to Oxford, where he was a good oarsman and won honors in theology.

For about 20 years he was vicar of a wealthy parish of factory owners and employers at Altrincham.

He preached mild Socialism to a parish which was not much impressed. But he did attract the attention of Ramsey MacDonald, Labor prime minister.

On MacDonald's recommendation, the Crown appointed Dr. Johnson Dean of Manchester.

He became Dean of Canterbury in 1931.

The Dean is regarded by his Archbishop as an erudite theologican.

"He holds prefoundly and sincerely precisely the same Christian faith."

He is an ardent dress reformer. He dressed choir boys in shorts. Women should not have to wear hats in church, he said, and he would not exclude a girl in beach pajamas.

Lovers, he said, should be permitted to hold hands in church right through the most profound sermon.

He went to Spain to exhort Socialists in their fight against Generalissimo Franco.

Believing Russia had found the answer to things, he went there first at the age of 62. He is a welcome visitor there now, having won the Stalin Peace Prize which the Russians hold is worth $25,000.

Between trips abroad, he managed the cathedral competently, aided by his second wife, Noel Mary, 44, an artist of ability. From his first wife, who died in 1931, the Dean inherited a substantial fortune. An author, his "Socialist Sixth of the World," appeared in 22 editions and 24 languages.

Lately the Dean and his wife have set up a tea room and cafe at the village of Charing near Canterbury.

Under existing law he cannot be removed from his church office and British authorities shrink from limiting freedom of speech. But Sir Lionel Heald, the attorney-general, is still studying the record to determine whether any criminal action is possible.

Gromyko appeared calm and unruffled by the crowd and demonstration. He succeeds Georgi N. Zarubin. He told reporters he thought the wartime friendship between Britain and the USSR could be revived.

1951 Model Car Flattened Into Pancake

Second report of the Tehachapi-Bakersfield earthquake of a week ago Monday came today on the heels of wire service stories of new quakes centering in Bakersfield. James Webb, of Lancaster, Cal., formerly an Examiner compositor, sent the report.

Mr. Webb said in the letter that he and his wife planned to move to Bakersfield—70 miles to the northwest—on Sunday. He will be working for the Bakersfield Californian, the daily newspaper in that city of 121,000.

Damage to Lancaster was slight, he said, and was confined mostly to broken windows and damaged goods in stores.

Tehachapi, which the Webbs visited Friday, was a scene of ruin. Buildings on both sides of the main street were flattened, and walls were cracked and buckled in many homes.

A 1951 model car, hit by a collapsing wall, was flattened into a metal pancake about two feet thick.

Since the first tremor early in the morning of July 21, there have been 100 more of varying intensity, Mr. Webb says. He quotes a professor in Los Angeles as predicting the quakes and tremors may last for two years.

On Monday, The Examiner printed a story taken from a letter from Walter E. Northcott, son of Mrs. Walter S. Northcott, 698 Charlotte St. Mr. Northcott is Mr. Webb's uncle.

CANADIAN HISTORY UNFOLDS as a field party from the Royal Ontario Museum explores Indian mounds on Rice Lake near the Trent River. During the past few days the group has discovered evidence of Indian camps there about 2000 years ago, and other camps about 3,000 years ago. Russel Harper with his wife (top left), museum's chief cataloguer, look over their prizes; these include parts of pottery, arrow heads and parts of a copper necklace. The white shells (on the right) formed a necklace, found there two years ago. Mary MacPherson, museum staff (top right), looks at deer bone (right hand) and plate of pottery (left hand). This is evidence of Indians there about 3,000 years ago. Kitty Vaughan, Toronto anthropolgist, indicates how the group know the various Indian camps. Where the knife is in the ground is a shell layer of an Indian camp 2,000 years ago. Below hand is black ash layer of early Indian cooking camp, possibly 3,000 years ago.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Find Four Indian Townsites Dating Back to Caesar's Time

A new chapter in Canadian history is being uncovered by archaeologists of the Royal Ontario Museum on the north shore of Rice Lake, five miles southeast of Keene. Well over 1,000 people are believed to have lived on a townsite directly south of Keene, near the mouth of the Indian River about the time Caesar made England a Roman Colony. Russell Harper, the museum's chief cataloguer who is in charge of the expedition, rates the discovery of four townsites along the rocky slopes of Rice Lake's north shore one of the most important in Canadian pre-history research. Rice Lake's famed serpent mounds have attracted scientific expeditions ever since the turn of the century and pottery discoveries made this week will probably result in a new chapter being written at the beginning of Canadian history books.

What the northern half of North America was like before Champlain explored the Trent Valley for the first time in 1612 has remained largely a mystery.

Evidence has been found of a highly civilized group of Indians who inhabited the Rice Lake region 2,000 years ago. Among the party's discoveries are: the earliest painted pottery yet discovered in Canada; implements; and a wide variety of ornaments, made from copper and shell.

Earlier expeditions have dug up evidence of a race of red men on Manitoulin Island who pre-dated the Rice Lake settlement's but, the Manitoulin natives did not have such a high degree of civilization.

TRADED FAR

It has been determined that the copper came from Lake Superior, and the seashell from the Georgia and Florida coasts. The finding of these copper and shell ornaments indicates there was a highly developed and far flung trading organization existing between different tribes on the eastern part of the continent at the dawn of the Christian era.

The four townsites so far discovered, are on the old Indian route to the Northwest, up the Trent, through Rice Lake, on through Lake Simcoe to Georgian Bay, the same route Champlain followed 1,600 years later.

The area's plentiful food supply of fish, clams, reindeer and wild rice made it a logical place for the tribes to settle.

Cooking hearths have also been found and the elaborate burial mounds prove that a social organization existed within the tribes. Their existence has been known for many years, but this is the first scientific attempt to determine if settlements existed near them.

Similar mounds in Ohio are said to be 2,000 years old and the Rice Lake mounds are the furthest north yet discovered in a chain which extends northward from Mexico.

ELABORATE POTTERY

The pottery, which has elaborate designs both inside and out and was made by coiling strands of clay, in the manner of coiling a rope, is similar to a type found in Massachusetts. Mr. Harper believes the Ontario tribe which inhabited the Rice Lake district was a mingling of the mound builders of the central plains of the interior and the east coast Indians.

The rate of erosion on the slopes at the base of which the townsites have been discovered have established roughly the dates of the settlement. Two inches below the surface, pottery of the type made by Indians 300 years ago was discovered. Earlier remains found about a foot below the surface are estimated to have been there six or seven times as long. But not more than 3,000 years ago.

Carbon found at the site is being sent to the University of Chicago for radio-active analysis to determine its age more accurately. Three years ago, a process was developed there which gives the age of carbon within 200 years, by the amount of radio-activity it gives off. The Rice Lake excavations have provided the archaeologists with a good supply of carbon.

The townsite south of Keene is believed to have existed for 100 or 200 years between 2,000 and 3,000 years ago. Nearby, a 186-foot burial mound winds like a mammoth serpent and there are also seven circular mounds, possibly for chieftains of the district.

Evidence has disclosed a camp site about 2,000 years ago, indicated by bits of clam shells used as food. The area is littered with them. Under the shell layer is a layer of sand indicating the land was not used for 300 or 400 years and beneath this is a layer of black ashes.

The present Hiawatha Reserve, of the Mississauga Indians is the location of the biggest townsite. However, the archaeologists have respected the Indians' reluctance to have the mounds disturbed and have not dug into the Hiawatha mounds.

A METHOD OF BURIAL

Another townsite on the farm of Jim Humphrey, 10 miles east, where the Trent River flows out of the lake is where the party has explored the mysterious mounds.

Apparently, the Indians began by digging a trench. Then, in a stone well, the body of a child was buried. Gifts of ornaments, and other trinkets, such as earrings, beads and bracelets were mixed with earth from another type of soil, and were buried with the child. Carbon streaks remaining 2,000 years later, reveal that fire then seared the burial pit and adults were buried on top. The party knew there were two mounds on the farm and they have discovered a third one. In the most easterly mound they found skeletons of children about two years old from two to four feet beneath the surface. They have also found some pockets of charcoal indicating they cremated some bodies.

Gifts were piled on the heap and pots of food in them were among the comforts included for the use of the dead in after life. Then, the mounds were sealed with huge stones, many of which are still in place. The stones were so large they were rolled into place, while the earth was brought to build the mounds in baskets.

The museum party has been working on the site two weeks now, and has two more weeks to go.

Truck Goes Out Of Control Toronto Salesman Killed

LINDSAY (Staff)—Thomas Mills, a 42-year-old Toronto salesman, was killeld early today when his panel truck went out of control on Highway 35, nine miles north of Lindsay, and he was thrown onto the highway. A few minutes later a car going in the same direction ran over him.

There were no eyewitnesses to the accident.

Coroner Dr. W. R. Crowe of Lindsay said it was almost impossible to tell whether Mill's death was caused by the impact and being thrown onto the highway, or by the wheels of the car that later ran over him.

Dr. Crowe said Mills died from a fractured skull and internal injuries. There will be an inquest.

Mills had been in Bobcaygeon Monday evening and was travelling south on Highway 35 when the accident occurred about 12:45 a.m. He was a mile south of the village of Cameron and just north of the Cambray cutoff when he either dozed off or somehow lost control of his panel truck.

TRUCK HIT TREE

The truck swung to the east and struck a large tree on the shoulder of the highway; then it rebounded back on to the paved surface and continued on in a southwesterly direction. Mills either fell out or was jarred out of the careening vehicle which continued on for another 30 yards and wedged itself between a tree and a wire fence.

Thomas Pearson, a Toronto T.T.C. employee, managed to stop his northbound car in time to avoid running over Mills who was sprawled in the west lane of traffic. He blinked his headlights several times as a warning to a southbound car, driven by Garnet Schraeder, 19, of Lindsay, but this apaprently only added to the confusion.

Schraeder later told Provincial Police that Pearson's lights temporarily blinded him and he did not see Mills lying on the highway. As a result he ran into Mills and the impact carried the fatally-injured man down the highway for some distance and then the car wheels ran over him.

O.P.P. Corporal Fred Rawlings of Peterborough H.Q., was called to Lindsay to assist Constable Ray Lawson in the investigation.

'Expert' Thief Robs Cottages

A sneak thief, described as an "expert" by Police Chief Leslie Foster, entered two cottages in Lakefield Park Monday night.

Both cottages were entered about the same time during the evening. While Mrs. H. A. Kidd sat on the verandah of her cottage, the thief entered the rear of the cottage, emptied a purse belonging to Mrs. H. A. Kidd and made off with $32. Nothing else in the purse was touched and Mrs. Kidd heard no noise while the thief was at work.

There was nobody at home at the second cottage, occupied by Mrs. George Aubry. A screen on a rear window was removed, but nothing was taken from the Aubry cottage, Chief Foster said.

Council Offers Tribute To Wm. G. Ovens

At its special session Monday afternoon, city council paid tribute to the memory of the late William G. Ovens, former mayor and alderman, who died suddenly on a vacation last week.

Before taking up the business for which the meeting was called, Mayor Hugh F. Waddell said: "When the sudden death of Mr. W. G. Ovens was announced last week, the whole community was gravely shocked by the word. Mr. Ovens was well and favorably known to a great many in this community, and not the least of these were the men who served with him as fellow members of the Council.

"Some of you were members of his councils, and I think you will agree that he served the city with earnestness and vigour. It was my own privilege to be elected to council the first year he was mayor.

"In taking this moment to do honor to his name this afternoon, I know you would want to extend our very sincere sympathy to his wife and family, in which I am sure all the personnel in and around the City Hall will wish to join.

"I would ask that we all rise for a minute's silence to pay respect to the memory of the late William G. Ovens."

By that action the death of Mr. Ovens is formally recorded in the council's minutes. All the members were present.

The meeting was called to give third reading to the bylaw authorizing the issue of $395,000 debentures to pay the remaining cost of the new City Hall. It was introduced by Ald. T. D. Miller, on return to the council with the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board.

Another bylaw authorizing the laying of a crushed gravel pavement on O'Carroll Ave. was given its first reading in a motion by Ald. J. E. Gillespie.

Recommend Government Set Up Enquiry Into Rent Levels In City

Urge Decision On Continuing Rent Controls Be Based On Board's Findings; Council Reluctant To Assume Supervision

If anybody is going to enquire into realty rentals in Peterborough, it will not be the city council as indicated by their expressions and attitude at a meeting of the property committee Monday afternoon. Recommendation of that committee with Ald. H. S. Longhurst presiding was to this effect; that the select rental control committee of the Ontario government be requested to set up a board of enquiry in Peterborough to secure facts on rental control needs, and that they base their decision as to continuing rental control on the facts brought out in that enquiry.

After the special session of the council, Ald. Longhurst asked the members of the property committee to meet for a while, and also invited all the members of the council to sit in. All the aldermen and Mayor Waddell retired to the committee room.

Referring to the previous course of the council in referring to the property committee the circular letter from the select committee of the Legislature on rent controls, Ald. Longhurst said that if the council was to delve into this question it would require at least one day's hearing. He suggested that witnesses could be called for both sides, some being landlords and other tenants. That appeared to him to be the range of the proposed probe, and Ald. Longhurst asked for opinions of his associates.

"I think you would end up where you started," said Ald. P. J. Anglesey. "There would be two groups, about 50-50."

Ald. Longhurst: "We'd get a lot of concrete examples of rents."

Ald. Anglesey: "That's a problem for the province."

Ald. Longhurst: "They have nothing to work on."

Ald. Anglesey: "They can come here and get information just as we might."

WOULD BE FOOLISH

Ald. T. D. Miller commented that a municipality would be foolish to become involved in the administration of rent control. The city would have to set up a board of enquiry, applications would be dealt with daily, investigations would have to be made, decisions arrived at. "If decisions did not suit some people, they would probably feel that we were prejudiced."

"I think this is something we should decide to keep out of," Ald. Miller said, "and put it right back in the hands of the Ontario government."

Incidentally discussion briefly recalled that the Dominion government in a policy of discarding controls that were introduced during the war had included property rentals. Criticism by the Ontario government of the proposal of unloading controls had left it in a position where it had to assume the responsibility from the federal government.

"It wasn't only as a war measure," Ald. William Beggs said. "There was a lack of housing here even then, and controls were adopted because of that lack of housing."

ARGUES FOR CONTROLS

Ald. Beggs said that if rent controls were lifted, cost of living would be increased by the ensuing higher rentals, and would be reflected in the cost of living index.

"One result would be a further burden on municipalities," Ald. Beggs said, probably with thought of Peterborough council's experience in having to reckon with the cost of living in determining municipal department expenditures. "And, I don't think the government has the authority to pass this back to the municipalities."

Ald. Syd J. Black said it looked as if the government was trying to pass the responsibility on to the municipalities, "and I'm not in favor of it."

"Landlords have recourse to the control authorities in Toronto," said Ald. Black. "I know two cases where the applicants got replies back in three weeks. One man was not satisfied; the other said he was perfectly satisfied with the Toronto decisions."

Ald. Black said there was nothing to prevent the government from sending a man here and looking after the details themselves.

In thinking of what might be considered, as directed by the council, Ald. Longhurst said that if the council undertook an enquiry the evidence of witnesses would be taken by a court reporter, and would be available to the government.

Ald. T. D. Miller: "The government isn't asking for information. You could hold an enquiry, but you would still have a decision to make: do you want control system retained?"

Ald. Gillespie: "They also asked for any advice the council had to offer."

KNOW MORE

Ald. J. A. Dewart: "I feel sure that the rent control people in Toronto know a great deal more about this question than we do."

Ald. Miller suggested that the council propose to the select committee of the Legislature that they arrange for enquiry here to bring out the facts regarding the continuing of rent control in Peterborough.

Ald. Young remarked that the council had enough to do without getting involved in rent controls.

Ald. Anglesey moved the motion which was a recommendation to the council that the select committee of the Legislature be asked to appoint an enquiry board. It carried, ending the property committee's sitting.

Identify Objects As Jet Bombers

Flying objects reported flying over the Peterborough area Sunday morning have turned out to be high flying jet aircraft.

The R.C.A.F. has reported that the objects, which were taken for flying saucers by citizens in several sections of Southern Ontario, were aircraft returning to base after taking part in a nine-day defence exercise. The exercise was known as Exercise Signpost and was undertaken jointly by Canadian and U. S. air forces.

More than 800 aircraft took part in the exercise.

Two reports of the objects were telephoned to the Examiner. They were described in both cases as faint silver dots flying in two formations.

The aircraft were also spotted in the Lindsay district. Here reports were that there were two formations of bombers accompanied by other chrome or silver colored disc shaped craft.

6—In Memoriam

MORROW—In loving memory of our son and brother, Flying Officer Clifford Morrow, who was missing July 29, 1944.
Nothing but memories as we journey on,
Longing for a smile from a loved one gone;
None knows the depths of our deep regret,
But we remember when others forget.
—Ever remembered by his mother, dad, sisters and brothers.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Canned Fish Can Be Made Into Fine Dish

Dear Mary Moore or Martin or Morgan or Moron (etc. ad infinitum)—I answer to anything but when I'm asked a Dorothy Dix question on how to "go steady" with two boys at one time—I relinquish the chair to the experts on the subject of love. I'm a food woman myself. (A certain very near female relative of mine, initial of M., did just that for a year—"go steady" with two boys at one time. I've never fathomed how the little minx wangled it.)

But to answer "Worried" in a motherly manner, I would say just stop calling it "going steady". Go out with both boys. Play the field in other words. The right boy will hang on.

I want to get back into my comfortable groove. I want to talk about creating glamorous dishes from those cans of fish you keep on your shelves. I mean genuine company dishes that you feel no apology for—just pride.

In the warm weather things that are always on hand in cans will save you many a headache—the headache of a perennially good provider who finds herself besieged with guests and confronted with an unstocked refrigerator.

These are all specials. Surely I need not say more than that a certain handsome movie actor makes a specialty of the shrimp creole (below) for midnight snacks for his friends; or that tuna casserole (also below) is the favorite luncheon dish of one of the heiresses of an automobile manufacturer's fortune. We are in celebrated company, pals.

TUNA PARTY CASSEROLE

Make 3 cups medium white sauce by melting 6 tablespoons butter or margarine and stirring in 6 tablespoons flour. When blended stir in 3 cups milk and 1 teaspoon salt, until thick. Using 2 cups canned tuna (approximately 2 7-oz. tins) arrange in alternate layers in large buttered casserole, the tuna, 2 cups crushed potato chips or cheese crackers, and the white sauce. Finish with topping of crushed potato chips. If you want to make this extra posh add to that layering process ¾ cup either sliced ripe olives or sauteed mushrooms. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 35 minutes and serve very hot. A big green salad with tomatoes for a border is all you need as an accompaniment.

SALMON MOUSSE

(Without Whipped Cream)

This is the kind of a dish you might want to make on Saturday for company on Sunday. If you will have 10 or 12 people to serve—double these quantities. Two tablespoons gelatine, 4 tablespoons water, 1 egg, 1½ tablespoons lemon juice, 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine or very good quality shortening, 1 teaspoon each mustard and salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ¾ cup milk, 2 cups flaked canned red salmon (or other cooked or canned fish such as lobster, crab or fresh salmon). Soak the gelatine in the cold water for 5 minutes. In top of double boiler mix all other ingredients except the fish. Stir or beat constantly until it thickens. Immediately remove from heat and stir in soaked gelatine and flaked fish. Pour into moistened mould and chill until firmly set. To serve turn out on platter garnished with dainty lettuce cups filled with tomato wedges and slices of cucumber. Serve with lemony mayonnaise. This may be moulded in individual moulds. Quadrupled it is ideal for a small wedding reception, especially when made with canned or fresh cooked lobster.

SHRIMP CREOLE

(A One-Dish Hot Dinner)

In a frying-pan in 3 tablespoons hot salad oil saute 1 cup thinly sliced peeled onions, ½ cup diced celery, and 1 finely chopped clove of garlic until limp and transparent, but not browned. Add 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon each salt and sugar and 1 tablespoon chili powder. When blended stir in 1 cup warm water until thick, then simmer over low heat for 10 minutes. Add 2 cups each canned or fresh tomatoes, cooked or canned green peas and canned or cooked shrimp, and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Heat through. Serve in hot boiled rice ring. If you have a ring mould butter it and pack the hot cooked rice in it to shape it smoothly. If you save out some of the shrimps they make an effective garnish with a few sprigs of parsley and wedges of lemon.

MR. AND MRS. KEITH DELAHEY, the bride formerly Miss Maxine Johnston, were married Saturday in George St. United Church.—(Duke Studio Photo).

Rings and Vows Exchanged

An arrangement of assorted gladioli was used to decorate the George St. United Church on Saturday for the wedding of Maxine Ethel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Johnston, to Harold Keith Delahey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Delahey, all of Peterborough.

The couple exchanged rings as well as vows with the Rev. T. W. Rowland officiating in the ceremony. The music was played by Mr. Harry Northrop and Mr. Reg. Peters was soloist, singing "The Lord's Prayer" and "My World."

The bride was gowned in ivory slipper satin designed with a low cut neckline edged with shirred satin, the bodice being finished with long sleeves and buttoned to the waist at the back. The skirt extended in a long train which was edged with deep nylon lace and the skirt front was trimmed with layers of ruffled nylon lace. Her circular veil of silk illusion edged with Chantilly lace fell to fingertip length from a dainty halo of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Bridesmaid was her only sister, Miss Ethel Johnston, who was wearing a pink nylon net frock, over taffeta, pink lace mittens and a pink floral halo. Her bouquet was of pink roses.

Groomsman was Mr. Roy Delahey and the ushers were Robert Delahey and John Johnston, brothers of the groom and bride.

The reception was held in the church parlor with the bride's mother receiving, wearing beige crepe and a hat of beige with brown trimming and corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother chose blue crepe and wore a navy hat and corsage of pink roses.

For the wedding trip to Detroit and points north the bride selected a pink linen suit and blue accessories. Her corsage when going away was of pink rosebuds.

They will live in Peterborough.

Selwyn Friends Honor Couple

SELWYN (ENS)—A very pleasant evening was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McIlmoyl on Thursday, when 75 neighbors gathered to honor Staff-Sergt. Robert Davis and Mrs. Davis and their four-month-old son Jerry, who have come from Texas and are spending a vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Charles McIlmoyl and other relatives in this district.

Bob, as he is known to all his friends here, left this community five years ago and spent some time in British Columbia, Alaska, and then went to the Southern States. He joined the Army, married and settled there, and this is his first visit back home.

The evening was spent in dancing and before lunch was served, Harold McIlmoyl read a short address, and Clayton Fitzgerald presented them with a purse of money on behalf of the community. Music for dancing was provided by Jim Sloan on the violin and Melba Pavey on the piano.

The evening was convened by Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McIlmoyl, and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald.

'52 McGill Reunion In Orono Park

Forty-three members and relatives of the McGill family of Manvers gathered on Saturday for their second annual re-union. It was held in the Orono Community Park. After a pleasant hour of visiting, supper at 6:30 p.m. was served in pot-luck fashion at one large picnic table which had been reserved several weeks earlier.

Mr. Roy McGill of Enniskillen presided for the brief business session. Minutes of the previous meeting and a financial statement were read by Mr. James Turnbull of Peterborough, the secretary-treasurer, and the register was signed by all present.

It was decided that the central location and varied facilities of Orono Park made it the most suitable choice of site for the next year's meeting. The date was set as July 25, with the supper hour at 5:30 if possible

Mr. McGill was again elected president, and a sports committee consisting of Miss Joyce McGill, Enniskillen, and Mr. Ronald Ashton, Haydon, was named for 1953.

Prizes were distributed as follows:

Most recently married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ashton, Haydon, Ontario.

Couple married longest, Mr. and Mrs. J. Clarkson, Lang.

Couple from greatest distance, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McGill, West Toronto.

Oldest member present, Mrs. H. H. Ryley, Bethany.

Youngest member present, Baby Joan Might, Millbrook, born June 13, 1952.

Races: Up to 5 years—Nancy Might, Millbrook. 5 to 11 years—Garth McGill, Enniskillen. 11 years and over — Reva McGill, Enniskillen, Jim Billett, Toronto. Three-legged race—Reva McGill and Ray Ashton, Haydon. Needle and thread race — Joyce McGill and Garth McGill.

Swimming and a ball game concluded the day's activities. Special thanks are due to Miss Esther Might, Peterborough, and Mr. Gordon Might, Millbrook, for a splendidly arranged program, to Mrs. Roy McGill, Mrs. Lloyd Ashton, and others who formed a volunteer table committee.

Newcomers welcomed to the picnic included Mr. William Pritchard, Cavan, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Monerief, Fraserville, also Mrs. W. A. Brownlee, Leaside. Letters were received from Mr. Cecil McGill, Vancouver, B.C., Mrs. Arthur Vodden, Neepawa, Man., Mrs. Victor Walker, Stirling, and others who expressed regret at their inability to attend. It is hoped many more families will be well represented at the 1953 re-union.

DOROTHY DIX

Learn To Do Share About House

DEAR MISS DIX: Three years ago I married a man with two children, and we are very happy except for the younger daughter. She is so careless and lazy that it drives me crazy. All I ask her to do is make her bed and keep her room tidy, but she just won't. Clothes get shoved under the bed or are left on the floor.

For the last few months I have had to go to work part time to help out. One morning a week I leave before the children go to school, and when I get home at five I find the table still covered with the remains of lunch. I am very fond of the children, and I know they are of me. I give them as good a home as I can and we would be very happy except for that one thing. Am I expecting too much of her? She is 11.

W. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are certainly not expecting too much of a child of 11, but perhaps the trouble lies in your approach to her tasks. Also, does her older sister perform household duties? A youngster this small cannot be expected to remember each day's work unless it is presented with a reason.

TELL HER WHY

At her age, household chores are naturally placed after both school and playtime activities. In themselves, of course, they are very boring, but if she knows just why she must do each task, and how necessary it is for the well being of the entire family, she has a purpose to fulfill which may provide the necessary motive for accomplishing her work.

The aftermath is also important. Do you praise and compliment her for successful (or sometimes even half-successful) completion of a job? Eleven is the age for learning, and no incentive is as strong as praise for propelling lagging arms and legs. Routine tasks do not easily become automatic at this tender age, but with continued perseverance on your part, the child's attitude toward work will improve.

Children differ, of course, in their attitude toward helping at home. Some girls take to it more naturally than others, and the laggards must get extra encouragement. Rewards for the job well done, praise and affection liberally bestowed, less faultfinding and more patience will accomplish the desired end.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have one big difference of opinion. He says he married me only to look after the children and stay at home. He goes out three times a week. I believe he could look after them one night a month so I could go to a movie.

X.X.X.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Treat your husband to a bit of reading, in the form of the marriage service that united you. Therein he will find that he undertook certain responsibilities as a husband. At that time he acquired a partner, not just a housekeeper. Leaving you alone while he goes out for entertainment is not part of the bargain. An occasional baby-sitter, or relative, could give you some time out together, and the family responsibilities surely should be sufficiently shared by hubby to enable you to go out once in a while. His outlook is pretty selfish.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Mine is a "neighborhood" problem. We have a big shady yard, an ideal place for the children to play. My two youngsters, 5 and 3, have all sorts of play equipment such as swings, sandbox, etc. Our neighborhood is full of children but only one other family has swings, so usually my yard is full. I don't mind it as I like my youngsters to be at home, but the visitors literally take over the place. My own children, however, are never permitted in other people's homes, or yards. Now I have told outsiders that unless my two can visit them, the neighbors' children cannot come into our yard. My husband thinks I'm wrong. Am I?

B. V.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your feeling of annoyance is perfectly natural and understandable, but the situation you outline is a commonplace one that doesn't offer much in the way of alternate solutions. Since the welfare of your own youngsters is your chief concern, you are better off continuing, even at the cost of patience, your system of permitting the neighbors' offspring to share the pleasures of your yard. Make them respect your property and the rights of its owners, but don't shunt them off. Acting as hosts, as your children do, will increase their social adaptability, and will give them a love and respect for their own home that the visitors will never have.

Parents make a big mistake by not opening their homes to the guests of their children, and they pay dearly in later life when sons and daughters continue to seek their fun outside. Your forebearance now will be rewarded later.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD D. McMILLAN, of Peterborough, were married Saturday afternoon in the Millbrook United Church. The bride is the former Miss Mary Elizabeth Blair of the Civic Hospital nursing staff.—(Roy Studio Photo).

Winds In Winter, Summer Flies Ungava's Problems

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Norman Delmage has lived since 1947 in the heart of Labrador-Ungava. Let's listen to him talk about the weather in that frontier area which iron ore is opening.

Now Burnt Creek, Que., near the Labrador boundary, where he lives with his wife and small daughter, has electric lights and running water. By 1954 vast surface mining will have started pouring the natural riches of the area on world markets at a rate of 10,000,000—perhaps later 20,000,000—tons a year.

"There were no conveniences here five years ago," he says.

"During the first winter there were days when we had to take crews off the job to cut firewood and haul it in to keep from freezing.

SNOW IN SEPTEMBER

"There is cold, dirty weather after August, and sometimes as much as a foot of snow in September. By the end of October the lakes begin to freeze. Generally there is not much snow until December, but from mid-December we can expect anything.

"The toughest part is the wind. It can be 40 below zero and blowing 40 miles an hour at the same time.

"It's not that there's so much snow, but what we get blows off the hills and piles up in the valleys. Drifts reach the tops of buildings. The more you plow, the more it piles in. You're only asking for trouble to try to cut through it. So, on the winter roads, we try to stay on top—to travel over it.

"Three winters ago we had our worst siege, 40 and 50 below zero for weeks on end, and an occasional 60 below. That year we installed a central heating plant, and nearly froze to death doing it. The last two winters have been comparatively good.

"There is not much break until April, and the first real thaws are in May. June and the fall bring the best weather. July and August tend toward wet and fog. Some summers it has dried up enough to raise dust.

"Black flies are the real summer problem, along with mosquitoes. Those flies get in your ears, your hair, crawl under anything, take chunks right out of you. The men get used to it, but the women and kids suffer."

A WOMAN'S VIEW

After hearing that, I asked Mrs. Delmage what she thought about it. She went to Burnt Creek as a bride in 1948 from Normetal, Que.

"We had two rooms between the rafters above a machine shop," she said. "But it was kind of cute."

Sometimes she found the winters "depressing" but after a few trips outside she feels that Burnt Creek, where she now lives in a new house with modern fittings, is "home."

Her daughter, Lynn, is two years old, and was hailed when she was born "as the first production of the Iron Ore Company in Labrador."

Mrs. Delmage says the baby wasn't actually born in Burnt Creek; she went out to Mont Joli.

"When we go out, we go on a buying spree—like men going berserk on drink."

Her ordinary winter costume is parka and ski slacks, a kerchief, woollen mitts, fur-lined boots.

She told about last Christmas at Burnt Creek:

"Six of Norm's men came around, and played with Lynn and her puppy spaniel. We had a Christmas tree. We made ice cream—somehow, we get a craving for ice cream up here—and we had a turkey with all the trimmings. We got out the guitar and the five other families here dropped in for a singsong."

COME OUT BY AIR

She said air transportation is provided when one wants to visit Outside.

"But we feel guilty taking it. It means that some supplies won't be delivered. Once when I was catching a plane at the last minute, I saw them take off enough lumber to make up for my weight."

Brides going to Burnt Creek are welcomed by the women in residence, who call with cakes and refreshments. "People are helpful here—they have to be."

Mrs. Delmage, an attractive brunette, is the former Yvette Noel, who was born at Cutler, Ont., when it was a lumber town between Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie. She met her husband when both were working at Normetal.

Delmage is an example of the powerful call of the big jobs which are pushing back Canada's frontiers.

He was born at Ochre River, near Dauphin, Man., and worked at northern mining camps in Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec. Then, in 1947, he thought he'd try something different and went to Vancouver. Within six weeks he got a telephone call asking him to go to Labrador. He has been there since, first as master mechanic and now as manager, for Iron Ore Company.

WINTER DRIFTS — Drifts pile deeply along the route of the proposed 360-mile railway into the Labrador-Ungava iron ore development during the severe winter months. The southern terminus, Seven Islands, Que., will have 48 lines of tracks leading to the ore-shipping docks on the St. Lawrence River when the railway is completed.

SPLASH PARTY—Irene du Gras, left, and Barbara Dubau, both of Montreal, enjoy a dip in the St. Lawrence River, away from their duties at the Seven Islands, Que., terminal of the railway into Labrador-Ungava. The girls work for construction firms building the 360-mile rail line into the mineral-rich wilderness.

MONTREAL (CP)—Louis Bercovitch, former gambler serving life imprisonment for the 1946 slaying of bookmaker Harry Davis, said yesterday he bribed a Montreal city councillor with $3,000 to cast a vote needed for election of another councillor to the city's executive committee.

Bercovitch testified at the Montreal vice inquiry, investigating alleged police toleration of vice in Montreal during a 10-year period.

The recipient of the bribe and the councillor for whom the vote was purchased were not identified.

Hundreds In Indiana Watch 'Flying Saucers'

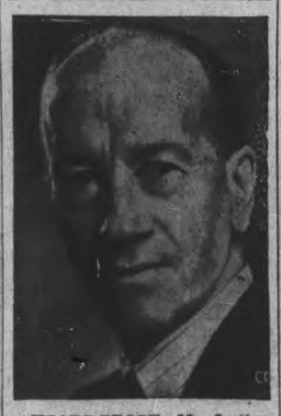
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Police and military observers and hundreds of civilians reported seeing three "flying saucer" objects over south central Indiana between midnight and dawn yesterday.

State police at Indianapolis, Seymour and Connersville posts, and army and air force observers at Camp Atterbury said they watched the objects for several hours.

U.S. Naval Chief Sees Armistice In Korea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Admiral William M. Fechteler, United States chief of naval operations, said yesterday he thinks there will be an armistice in Korea—"principally because the Communists want it."

Fresh from a Far Eastern tour Fechteler said the Reds are getting fed up with their war against the United Nations.



HEADS PROBE—Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson, of Ottawa, president of the Exchequer Court of Canada, has been elected president of a congress of 200 international lawyers meeting in Berlin to study law as administered in Communist-dominated countries. The group, from 42 countries including refugees from behind the Iron Curtain, will study documents from Soviet-controlled countries and hear experts on conditions in those countries.

Small Canadian Embassy In Moscow Busy As Others

MOSCOW (AP)—With a small staff the Canadian embassy in Moscow manages to keep as active as any of the bigger diplomatic establishments in the Soviet capital.

This is another way of saying it turns out a lot of work.

Its members keep in touch with Soviet life as well as they can. They read all the Russian publications available. They attend all public functions and circulate with other foreigners here.

The Canadian embassy also is in close touch with the British embassy and other British Commonwealth missions here and maintains friendly contacts with Americans.

Young and personable Robert A. D. Ford is the Charge d'Affaires and he is highly regarded by his colelagues in the diplomatic corps. Canada has not had an ambassador in residence here since L. Dana Wilgress immediately after the war.

EXPERIENCED DIPLOMAT

In Ford, however, Canada has an experienced diplomat and one in the U.S.S.R., serving as the principal lieutenant to Ambassador Wilgress.

Entertaining and being entertained—as anyone knows—is an important function of a diplomatic mission. In addition to the social obligations entailed, it is a convenient method of exchanging news and views.

The Canadian embassy is fortunate in having one of the most accomplished hostesses in Moscow, the young and pretty wife of the Charge d'Affaires. And she manages to strike a happy medium in entertaining—not too much and not too little.

The embassy is located in a large two-storey, almost square, cream-plastered building across a narrow street from a large school for Soviet boys. Previously it was the Danish legation, and before that a pre-revolutionary Russian residence.

PRIVATE GROUNDS

A high brick wall encloses the embassy grounds which also in place where wood is cut and stored for winter heating.

A section of the backyard was once flooded for a skating rink, but this wasn't a great success and have done their skating at public places. They ski in nearby hills.

The embassy handles a considerable amount of consular work, dealing with the Russians in connection with the setlement of estates, etc., of Russians who die in Canada and leave money to relatives in this country.

Reports and interpretation of events and policies make up a large proportion of the work of any embassy here and the Canadian embassy is no exception.

Unlike some Canadian embassies abroad, the one in Moscow is not required to spend much time on folks known as "visiting firemen"—visitors from Canada—who expect to be shown the places of interest and entertained.

not many Canadians come this way these days.

Plan Revision Of Holy Communion To Be Presented For Anglicans

By H.H. GORDON

TORONTO (CP)—A revision of the Office for Holy Communion is to be presented for information and study to the general synod of the Church of England in Canada when it meets in London, Ont., in September.

The work is part of the task undertaken by a committee of the general synod on the revision of the book of common prayer, headed by Rt. Rev. W. T. Hallam, assistant bishop of Huron and former bishop of Saskatoon.

The committee considers revision of the communion service of greatest importance and in its report to the synod says:

REPORT TO SYNOD

"Your committee desires it to be clearly understood that this proposed revision is submitted for the purpose only of information and study and not of obtaining authorization for permissive use."

The committee hopes that suggestions will be forthcoming from study groups and individuals throughout the church. To this end it recommends that its report be published and circulated by the church book room.

Most important changes precede and follow the consecration of the bread and wine.

It is proposed to add the following to the prayer of consecration:

"Wherefore, O Lord and heavenly father, in union with all Thy holy church we do this in remembrance of Him who died, and rose again, and ever liveth to make intercession for us, presenting unto Thy divine majesty this our thanksgiving and service, through the merits and mediation of Thy beloved son, Jesus Christ our Lord, by whom and with whom, in the unity of the holy spirit all honor and glory be unto thee, O Father Almighty, world without end."

In the proposed revision, the prayer of humble access—"We do not presume to come to this Thy table. . ."—follows immediately after the prayer of consecration and will be said by the priest and all about to receive communion. Previously the prayer was said by the priest alone, immediately preceding the consecration.

The revisers would shorten the well-known general confession. The word "confess" is substituted for "bewail" in the sentence: "Acknowledge and bewail our manifold sins. . ." Phrases dropped are: "Provoking most duly Thy wrath and indignation against us," and "the remembrance of them is grievous unto us, the burden of them is intolerable."

THE COMMANDMENTS

At the opening of the service, recitation of the commandments has been shortened by abbreviation of the second, fourth and 10th commandments.

The first commandment is preceded by the admonition; "Hear the law of God which was given to Israel in old time." Following the 10th it is proposed to add: "Hear also what our Lord Jesus Christ saith: A new commandment I give unto you that ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another."

Demand Investigation Of Charity Drives

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto and Lake Shore Labor Council, alleging irregularities in some charity drives, last night demanded a full investigation of the United Emergency Fund for Britain.

A resolution asked the Ontario government to set up a special commission to hear representations on the question of charity-raising organizations and to enact legislation to protect the public from charity drives of a racketeering nature.

Minister Tells Martian Rotary Meaning

"My conception of Rotary as told to a man from Mars," was the theme of an address given by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Baptist Church at the Rotary luncheon meeting Monday.

Mr. Morgan retold to the members of the Rotary club what he had previously told to a man from Mars whom he had chanced to meet in front of J. K. Hughes' garage on Water St.

According to the speaker, the Martian had landed in front of him after falling out of a flying saucer. And at this particular instant, Mr. Morgan was singing the Rotary theme song. The Martian wanted to know what Rotary was.

"So I told him my conception of Rotary," Mr. Morgan said.

Using this amusing explanation as a starting point, the speaker described what he thought Rotary was.

Included in his address were such words as fellowship, brotherhood, education, international, community and vocational service.

He laid particular emphasis on the proper attitude Rotarians should take in their work for crippled children.

"We must get others interested in this work," Mr. Morgan said. "If we do that we won't have as much trouble getting the great amounts of money needed to carry on. We can't do it all ourselves, but we can be a force in the community to promote this work."

Mr. Morgan was introduced by S. J. Black and thanked by Ward Smith.

Lumber Strike Settled In B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's 40-day lumber strike was settled last night but a few wrinkles remained to be ironed out.

Coast operators agreed to the mediator's terms for ending the $44,000,000 strike six hours after the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) signified their agreement to the terms.

Union President J. Stewart Alsbury ordered the 32,000 workers to stay on strike until the official contract is signed.

Of the 162 operators involved, six rejected mediator Chief Justice Sloan's proposals while 38 had not been heard from.

The chief justice's key proposal is for a general wage increase of 5½ cents an hour above the current basic wage of $1.29½.

Buy Pork At Bargain Prices Bonanza To Cost 8 Million

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian housewife may soon be able to buy canned pork at bargain prices at local grocery stores, but this consumer bonanza may cost taxpayers between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000.

Anxious to rid itself of a climbing surplus, the federal government yesterday began moving into the wholesale market its huge stockpile of 40,000,000 pounds of canned pork, offering to sell it to dealers at about 30 per cent less than it paid for it.

With packers acting as agents, the pork accumulation, caused by the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Canada, went on the market at about 40 cents a pound, delivered to grocery stores in Ontario and Quebec, with fluctuating lower prices at other centres across the country.

CUT RETAIL PRICE

Officials said the cut-rate price will allow grocery men to reduce the retail price of canned pork to between 36 and 42 cents from about 50 or 55 cents.

That price reduction may stir up bigger sales, but on every pound sold, the federal treasury will stand to lose between 17 and 23 8 cents. On 40,000,000 pounds the loss may run to almost $10,000,000.

The pork surplus became serious in Canada when the foot-and-mouth outbreak resulted in the United States embargo on Canadian meats and livestock.

In a drive to stabilize meat-market disruptions caused by the disease, the government, through the Agricultural Prices Support Board, originally offered to buy surplus pork for canning at 63.8 cents a pound.

OFFERING 57 CENTS

Some pork was purchased at this price which later was reduced to 61.8 cents and still later to 57 cents. The board still is offering to buy surplus pork for canning at the latter figure.

Normally, Canada is not a great pork-canning country, preferring to sell her pigs in the natural state or in various cuts and cures to home and foreign markets.

The government resorted to canning to get under the American embargo which does not cover canned meats. However, agricultural officials have found they can get no better price for the product in the U.S. than in Canada and have decided to let the Canadian housewife have the cheap product first.

Canada Plans To Help U.K. Overcome Economic Crisis

Say Trade Surplus $109,800,000 For Five Months

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada scored a $109,800,000 foreign-trade surplus in the first five months of the year, a sharp reversal of the trend toward a heavy deficit a year ago, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday. Even though Canada had a tiny deficit in May, the first in nine months, record-making exports for the five-month period reversed last year's trend when there was a $295,000,000 deficit during January-May. Exports for the five months climbed to a peak $1,735,900,000, up $300,000,000 from $1,446,700,000 in the comparative period last year while imports slipped to $1,626,100,000 from $1,742,000,000.

Even the May deficit showed a sharp change from last year. It amounted to a mere $700,000, only a tiny fraction of the $78,100,000 deficit during May, 1951.

Exports during May climbed to a record $385,200,000, up $60,000,000 from last year's $327,000,000. Imports eased to $386,000,000 from $405,100,000.

Sales to the U.S. for the five months totalled $937,600,000, compared with $936,000,000 last year, but exports to the U.K. jumped by more than $100,000,000 to $313,100,000 from $206,600,000.

At the same time Canada's purchases from Britain eased by more than $5,000,000 to $129,900,000 from $184,600,00, but imports from the U.S. dropped by only $7,000,000 to $1,222,500,000 from $1,229,600,000.

Debate Cut Off In Red Cross After Protest

TORONTO (CP)—James T. Nicholson, vice-president of the American Red Cross, today struck back at attacks made against the United States for the last week at the 18th International Red Cross conference

The leader of the U.S. delegation—which so far has maintained silence in the face of daily attacks by Communist countries attending the conference—said the repeated charges "are debasing the Red Cross and perhaps destroying it."

He spoke after Polish, Red Chinese and North Korean delegations monopolized nearly two hours of discussions which were supposed to concern only the ratification of the 1949 Geneva conventions. A few minutes later the general commission of the conference voted 60 to 13 to cut off the debate.

The U.S. delegation, Mr. Nicholson said, had been convinced that "certain" countries would attempt to use the international conference as a platform for continuing their propaganda attacks against the U.S. His country had decided to remain silent and so far had done so.

"However, the patience of the U.S. delegation has been sufficiently tired," he said. "We feel we should not much longer be plagued with such allegations.

"The United States Red Cross is not on trial at this conference, and the United States is not on trial. Ladies and gentlemen, the Red Cross is."

U.S. PRESS CONFERENCE

Immediately after the session, C.B. Marshall, head of the U.S. government delegation which has only observers and not voting delegates here, held a press conference.

He said the countries which had monopolized the meetings here for propaganda purposes "understand human relations only in terms of conflict."

Mr. Nicholson, who also attended the press conference, said in reply to questions that he has a real fear that the Red Cross could be destroyed by the Soviet bloc attacks.

"Once you destroy the basic Red Cross principle, which is compassion, you destroy all its organization," he said. "If the Red Cross is destroyed, it means a return to barbarism."

East German Travel Curbed

BERLIN (CP)—East Germans may not leave their homes for more than 24 hours without telling Communist police, it was learned yesterday when West German authorities received the text of a new travel decree.

The new law affects travel both to the west and within the Soviet zone of Berlin. Would-be travellers to West Germany, or even to the western sectors of divided Berlin, now face a searching inquisition as to why they want to go and whom they intend to see.

The Soviet-style wording of the law, dated last Saturday, indicates that permission to visit the west will rarely be granted.

The law also provides that the vigilant eye of the state security service will be on all East Germans who dare to travel away from their own town or village.

Anyone who wants to go away for three days or more must get police permission. Anyone who spends 24 hours away from his own district must register with the police of the place he is visiting.

Farouk Planning Private Party

CAPRI, Italy (Reuters)—A colorful private party appeared to be in the offing today as publicity-shy former King Farouk of Egypt settled down for a week's stay in a plush hotel on his honeymoon Isle of Capri before going to the United States.

Bodyguards and servants, at the behest of the exiled former monarch, scoured the island for five hours to find 10 Japanese lanterns. At about midday the frantic hotel manager sent out special messengers to find two large beach umbrellas for Farouk.

The Hotel Eden-Paradiso on a cliff edge in the exclusive Aanacapri district has been virtually requisitioned by Farouk, his wife, Narriman, their six-month-old son, King Ahmed Fuad II of Egypt and two young daughters.

They have taken over the top floor complete with the roof garden. Burly Egyptian bodyguards stand watch.

Farouk, who abdicated his throne last week following an army coup, spent all morning today in the hotel after giving strict orders that no new guests be admitted. This applies particularly to newspaper men.

A member of his staff said Farouk may give a press conference either tonight or tomorrow.

Mossadegh Withdraws Arbitration Offer

LONDON (AP)—The British foreign office said today Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran offered to submit the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute to arbitration, but withdrew his offer "without explanation" within 72 hours.

A spokesman told reporters at a daily news conference the Iranian leader called George H. Middleton, British charge d'affaires, to his home Friday and outlined his arbitration proposal to end the 18-months-old dispute.

At a second meeting with Middleton Monday Mossadegh suddenly backed down without giving any reasons.

Diving Champion

HELSINKI (CP)—Mrs. Patricia McCormick of the United States today won the women's Olympic springboard diving championship.

Mady Moreau of France was second and Mrs. Zoe Ann Jensen of the United States third.

Land Owners Furious At High Tax

Toronto Twp. Citizens Demand Inquiry, Told Tax To Increase

TORONTO (CP) — Home owners in suburban Toronto Township, already up in arms over tax jumps as high as 300 per cent this year, were told today by Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar today that they will have to pay more next year.

Commenting on ratepayers' demands for a provincial investigation into township affairs, Mr. Dunbar said banks had loaned the township approximately $1,600,000 for improvement work done during the 1949-51 period and that these must be paid now.

Instead of looking forward to lower taxes next year, residents will face higher levies, the minister added.

"Many Toronto people moved into the township during the past few years to take advantage of lower taxation, but they wanted city comforts and conveniences and an easy going township council tried to please them.

"Now they have to pay the bill. They have been spending money high, wide and handsome in spite of repeated warnings."

Last night the businessmen's association of Lakeview, a community of 9,000 persons in the township, decided to form a committee of five to investigate the advisability of secession from the township.

Believe Reds Plan Violence

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian Communist leaders now are preaching that they can come to power in this country by democratic votes alone. But Ottawa authorities are convinced, they said today, that the overthrow of Canada's democratic machinery by force remains the cornerstone of Red policy.

They were commenting on release of a long-secret F.B.I. report in Washington saying Stalin has decided Communists can achieve control of the U.S. only by force.

Officials here say the Reds in Canada now are preaching the old united-front line, arguing that a coalition of "progressive people"—under Communist leadership—can win Canada by votes and then put the civil service, the police, the armed forces under leaders of their own choice.

A high source said this is "pure eyewash." He said the basic Communist aim remains the same as it was when published in the first Canadian Red newspaper in 1921—that only violence can bring power in this country and that the whole apparatus of democratic rule must be overthrown and ripped apart.

Two Freight Trains Sideswipe In Michigan

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—Two Grand Trunk Western freight trains sideswiped south of here today, piling up 13 derailed cars and blocking the road's main line between Chicago and Montreal.

The spectacular collision tossed loaded freight cars into a huge hodge podge but only one person was injured seriously.

HERE'S WHAT HAPPENS to liquor, beer and wine seized by the police as the result of raids, arrests and convictions under the Liquor Control Act. Tuesday afternoon, gallons of assorted brands of hooch went down the drain at the police station when identification sergeant Bill Aggas (above) poured 334 pints of beer, 17 part bottles of liquor, nine full and 12 part bottles of wine down the sink. In addition, a considerable number of full cases of beer and sealed bottles of liquor were returned to the Liquor Control Board. The stock disposed of Tuesday had accumulated since the last housecleaning in September 1951. Peterborough Police Department is one of the few in Ontario which obtains permission to dump the broken cases and part bottles of illegal liquor under supervision without returning it to the Liquor Control Board.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Britain Slows Down Defence

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that because of financial difficulties it has been decided to "alter the pattern of the defence program," freeing part of the engineering industry to make goods for export. "It cannot be dogmatically stated that defence has priority over exports or vice versa," Churchill said in the Commons debate on economic affairs. "We hope and believe that we can with patience strike a balance which will build up our defences without endangering our solvency." If the cold war continues "we must organize our defence on lines which do not require a constantly expanding expenditure of money and materials over an indefinite period."

Rising prices had pushed up the cost of the three-year rearmament program originally planned by the Labor government. Had the Conservatives not slowed down this program it would have far exceeded the £4,700,000,000 which had been earmarked.

MANY ECONOMIES

Technical development and improved types of weapons would enable many economies to be made which would result in "a positive increase in war power."

4 Families Shoot It Out Bad Aiming Nicks Neighbors

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP)—"Call the law, 'cause they're at it again," cried a youngster with buckshot in the seat of his pants. "They better stop this shootin' so a man can get some sleep," complained L. E. King, another resident of nearby Lamar Hollow. Both reflected the sentiments of folks in the hollow who would like to see an end to the four-family shootin' feud which has been outstanding for its poor marksmanship.

The indignant youngster and another neutral in the feud, a man with a peg leg, each were hit by wild shotgun pellets as the Howertons continued their argument with the Blankenships, Pendergrasses and Sigmans.

NOT SERIOUS

Their hurts apparently were no more serious than the slight wounds received earlier by one of the Blankenships and one of the Howertons.

King added somewhat testily that his sleep has been broken twice in the last three nights as shots rang out in the argument over land ownership.

State police say they can't act until a list of warrants is issued. One law officer said he heard some charges would be filed this week.

Meanwhile, the three-family combine vows to proceed with the building of an access road on property the Howertons claim as their own. The Pendergrasses say they own the land.

Many Leaving After 'Quakes

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—An atom bomb wouldn't scare the residents of this busy farming town much more than they are today. Bakersfield has been through another earthquake. Several, in fact.

Official county business is being conducted on vacant lots. The court house has been jolted so severely that engineers fear it may collapse.

Part of general hospital has been abandoned for the same reason.

Homes have burned, and hundreds of jittery residents camped out after the last series of quakes yesterday. An exodus has begun.

Four quakes yesterday were the sharpest since a July 21 quake took the lives of 13 persons.

Quake experts say the earth-rumbling will continue, and there's no telling where it will strike next.

Saudi Arabian King Gets Luxurious Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—The King of Saudi Arabia is getting a four-engine airplane equipped with a king-size bed and an elevated revolving throne, complete with safety belt.

Transocean air lines said the plane, one of five Douglas DC-4 Skymasters sold to Saudi Arabia, is being converted at Oakland, Calif., into the "most plush of all personal transports."

Black List Friends Of Farouk In Egypt

CAIRO (Reuters)—A black list of "friends of Farouk" forbidden to enter or leave Egypt has been circulated to all ports and airports, a government spokesman said today.

The list includes both Egyptians and foreigners. The names were not disclosed.

The move backs up general orders issued last night requiring all Egyptians wishing to leave the country to apply for special passes.

Announcement of this travel restriction was made against a background of political manoeuvering, with Wafdist party leaders believed making a frantic bid for power with the support of Gen. Mohammed Naguib's armed forces, which ousted the previous government and King Farouk last week.

Give Arms Orders To Britain To Boost Dollars

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada plans to use part of her $5,000,000,000 defence program to help the United Kingdom overcome an economic crisis threatening the sterling area. Informants said today that wherever possible Canada is directing arms orders to U.K. factories with two objectives in mind: To bolster Canada's defences and to provide Britain with more dollars to pay for imports essential for U.K. defence and economic stability.

In this way, some $75,000,000 already has been allocated to pay for a light aircraft carrier, a big batch of Centurion tanks and for electronics equipment.

Secret negotiations are currently going on, they added, for more arms orders from the U.K. If these are successful, more Canadian dollars will find their way into the British treasury.

This was disclosed as Prime Minister Churchill announced that a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference will be held in London during the last week of next November "to review together the pressing issues of financial, commercial and economic policy with which our several governments are faced."

Officials in Ottawa said that Prime Minister St. Laurent will attend "all or part" of the sessions which will open about the time the next session of the Canadian Parliament begins. Parliament is scheduled to start Nov. 20.

LITTLE REACTION

There was little reaction among trade officials at the announcement by Richard Butler, chancellor of the U.K. exchequer, that Britain will make further cuts in 1952 buying program in an effort to bring her trade into balance.

They said that Britain already has pared buying in Canada to the essentials and outside of a sharp cut in tobacco purchases—which already has been made known—there seemed to be little extra trimming Britain could do without harming her export drive and rearmament effort.

Congress Cuts Slow Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson said today cuts by congress in United States funds for foreign aid will have the effect of stretching out or slowing down military production in the western world.

He made the statement at a press conference while discussing the denial of a French request that the U.S. greatly increase the purchase in France of arms for Atlantic pact armies.

He said the trouble was that the United States government simply did not have the money to increase its orders from French factories.

Requests Recount

ROUYN, Que. (CP)—Edgar Turpin, Liberal candidate in Rouyn-Noranda in the July 16 Quebec election, announced today he has asked a recount. The final count showed Guy Dallaire, Union Nationale member in the previous house, with a majority of 699.

Capture Pair Wanted In Counterfeiting

TORONTO (CP)—A police officer yesterday stopped a car carrying two men wanted for questioning in connection with counterfeiting by the Ottawa police department.

Frank Watson, 34, no fixed address, and William Knutson, 26, of Sutton, were arrested and charged with being in possession of a large amount of counterfeit money. Watson, at the time of his arrest, was on bail in Toronto on an armed robbery charge in connection with the holdup of the Royal Bank at Woodbridge.

Watson was earlier arrested with Leonard Jackson, who is waiting trial on murder and armed robbery charges, in connection with the holdup at Bradford last year of the Bank of Commerce in which gunmen exchanged shots with police. Jackson is charged with the murder of Detective Sergeant Edmund Tong, shot to death in downtown Toronto March 6 when he attempted to question two men in a car in connection with a bank holdup.

ON ROUTINE PATROL

Det. Frank O'Driscoll, of headquarters staff, was on routine patrol at 5 p.m. on Queen St., near Spadina. He recognized Watson as one of the men in a car ahead of him.

The Ottawa alarm had described two men wanted for passing $2,000 worth of bogus bills. O'Driscoll gave chase and forced the vehicle to the curb at the intersection.

Jumping from his car with his gun drawn; the detective prodded the two suspects into the back of the police car. He radioed for assistance and five other police cars rushed to the scene.

Searched and questioned at headquarters, Watson and Knutson were found to be unarmed. Police said they found a considerable quantity of bills which they thought would prove to be counterfeit on examination.

Refugees Flee Panic In Macao

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Refugees from the Portuguese colony of Macou poured into Hong Kong today from the Chinese mainland, bringing reports of "near panic" following a night of gunfire exchanges with Chinese troops.

For nearly two hours shells crashed, hand grenades exploded and machine-guns rattled, the refugee said. Some reports said the Portuguese gunboat Goncalo Velhi lobbed shells into Chinese territory, but Portuguese authorities today denied she had opened fire.

The outbreak ended a three-day lull along the borders of the little colony 40 miles southwest of Hong Kong. Clashes started Friday night.

U.S. Air Force Not Excited About Flying Saucer Stories

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radar screens showed flying unidentified objects over Washington for five hours early today, but air force experts said they appeared to be mere layers of cold air.

Maj.-Gen. John A. Samford, director of air force intelligence, discounted any theory that the Washington area is being menaced by unknown aerial vehicles from abroad or from other worlds.

Experienced radar operators at the Civil Aeronautics Administration trafic control centre reported scores of unidentified objects flitted about the capital sky from 2:30 to 6 a.m.

It was the third time in 10 days that radar—an electronic device which tracks only physical objects, not imagination—picked up signs of something unknon moving through pre-dawn black skies.

On the two earlier occasions, sightings were confirmed by more than one radar set, and veteran pilots, asked to investigate, said they saw mysterious lights zooming hither and yon. All that led to one of the biggest flying saucer mysteries yet.

But today's sightings—little spots on a fluorescent radar screen—were unconfirmed by other radar sets in the area or by visual sky watchers.

And the air force threw lots of cold water on any chilling speculation about men or missiles from Mars—or enemy countries.

Samford and fellow air force officers told a press conference, called especially to answer questions about the recent goings-on, that they are personally satisfied there was a natural cause.

Their explanation:

In hot, humid weather—such as Washington and other eastern areas have been having—layers of cold air are likely to get sandwiched between layers of warm air, in what is called a temperature inversion.

These layers produce strong reactions on radar screens, the officers said.

They didn't add any specific explanation of the reported moving lights, but presumably the cold air layers could reflect searchlights or other lights from the earth below.

The air force chiefs conceded that of about 2,000 reports on flying saucers, about 400 have not yet been explained satisfactorily. The air force is giving these reports an "adequate but not frantic" check, they said.

Adenauer Wins First Ratification Victory

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—The West German chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, won a court victory today in his fight for ratification of his country's alliance with the west. But the way was left open for more legal battles that could delay German rearmament.

The constitutional court ruled that it could not consider Socialist challenges of the peace contract with the allies and the European army agreement until the pacts had been enacted into law by the West German parliament.

The two treaties, ending most occupation controls and obligating West Germany to raise 500,000 troops for the proposed European army, come up for final vote after the lower house of parliament, the Bundestag, reconvenes in September.

The court decision was a big boost toward ratification, since the tribunal refused to rule on Socialist contentions that the pacts could be approved only after national elections choose a new parliament and after a constitutional amendment authorizes rearmament.

Black Sheep Irish Peer Dies In London

LONDON (CP)—Lord Langford, bankrupt, black sheep Irish Peer who once hired out as a tenor in a Winnipeg movie house, has died in obscurity.

His death was kept secret until yesterday, when the Times carried an advertisement announcing his title had been claimed by the next in line. It mentioned in passing that Lord Langford had died July 15. It did not give his age.

The baron at one time or another appeared before a criminal court, a bankrupt court and a divorce court, and there was talk of convening a court of peers to try him for bigamy.

The criminal court sentenced him to a year at hard labor for obtaining money through a faked letter allegedly from the King which stated that he would soon get £500. The divorce court took no action. The bankruptcy court refused to discharge him.

NOBILITY NOTE

Langford once offered the Times, which chronicles the doings of the nobility, this item for its court column:

Clotworthy Wellington Thomas Edward Rowley, seventh Baron Langford of Summerhill, dined last evening at a soup kitchen and slept on a bench on the Thames Embankment."

Born in New Zealand, he worked as a gentleman farmer until manhood and then worked his passage to Ireland.

His inheritance from his uncle came in 1931 but brought him only "Summerhill," the charred ruins of a house on a small plot in Ireland.

A GOOD VOICE

In 1923 he went to Winnipeg and worked as a farm hand until a bout with "bad whiskey" laid him low. While convalescing he discovered he had a good Irish tenor and was hired by a Winnipeg movie to dress in an Irish costume and sing. It led to a tour of major cities and $60 a week, he claimed.

He came home first class, ran out of money and shoved off for a similar life in Australia. There he learned the peerage was his.

He worked his passage home, took his peerage and found that while his title brought him no money, it also prevented him from earning any. He begged for food in restaurants, slept on benches, and took what odd jobs he could get.

With his death, the title passes again into respectability. The incumbent, a distant cousin, who claims it as grandson of the second Baron, is Sir Arthur Sholto Langford Rowley, 82, who retired as British consul-general in France in 1932.

Reds Suggest Change In Wording

U.N. Delegates Ask Clarification Of New Terminology

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Communists today suggested a possibly significant change in the wording of the proposed Korean armistice document now under study by staff officers of both sides.

It dealt with a paragraph relating to war prisoners. The issue of prisoner exchange has blocked a truce for months.

The Reds proposed changing the term "captured personnel" to "prisoner of war" in paragraph 52, which would then read:

"Each side agrees to insure that it shall not employ in acts of war in the Korean conflict any prisoners of war released from custody incident to the armistice."

ASK CLARIFICATION

Col. Duncan S. Somerville, U.N. command staff officer, said he had asked the Reds for clarification.

During recent secret truce talks, Maj.-Gen. William K. Harrison, senior U.N. armistice delegate, told the Reds the term captured personnel meant all persons in custody, even those opposing repatriation. War prisoners, he added, were all those persons who were to be repatriated.

Italian Says Reds Tried To Buy Secrets

ROME (CP)—An Italian scientist said yesterday that two Russian officials tried to buy their secret information on hydrogen bomb experiments.

Marco Cadamuro Morgante made the statement after the Italian Defence Ministry announced Monday that an explosion designed to transform hydrogen into helium—the reaction which could power a hydrogen bomb—had been touched off in this country.

The announcement had made it clear that the experiment involved a very small amount of hydrogen.

The newspaper said the explosion was the culmination of studies made by a young atomic scientist, Ubaldo Loschi.

Morgante, an associate of Loschi, said the Russians "contacted us last winter but we told them that reports about our laboratory were nonsense."

Men Battle Six Hours To Prevent Ship Sinking

QUEBEC (CP)—A fire department pump that can handle 1,000 gallons a minute and a group of fast-working men today prevented sinking of the crippled freight vessel Woodford in Quebec harbor. Damaged in a collision last Sunday with the John A. France, a Great Lakes freighter, the Woodford made Quebec last night with the help of three salvage tugs and began listing after tying up.

Cunard Steamship Company, agent for the Watts and Watts fine vessel bound for Europe with grain at the time of the collision, placed an emergency call to the Quebec city fire department which sent a pump to the dockside. A hole had to be bored with torches in the ship's deck to get the hose lengths into the engine room where the water was pouring in.

After a six-hour battle, Capt. D.G. Martin ordered some of his crew to bunk up for the night and was heartfelt in his statement: "of course she'll stay afloat."

The Woodford remained with a five-degree list. Crew members removed personal belongings and some of the cargo including a dozen tractors.

Twelve firemen remained on board to supervise the pumping operations and the skipper posted a watch of nearly a score men to help the work.

There was no time to inspect damage before the Woodford started listing. It was believed that a plate was smashed in under the waterline on the port side. A porthole was pushed in when the France and the Woodford hit almost at a direct angle of Ile Verte, 20 miles across the St. Lawrence river from the mouth of the Saguenay River.

Four passengers and 24 crew members boarded the Birchton, a laker that heard the distress signal, and were taken back to Quebec.

New Wage Board Set Up In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A shiny new Wage Stabilization Board, free from the controversy which surrounded its predecessor, came into legal existence today.

As yet unmanned, the new board will look much like the old W.S.B. which, with a membership of 18 representing the public interest, labor and industry, was ordered disbanded by Congress because of recommendations it made last March in its effort to settle the critical steel dispute.

The new W.S.B. has no power to deal with country-wide labor disputes; all its members will need Senate confirmation; and all regulations it may issue to control wages must be cleared first by the economic stabilization agency headed by Roger L. Putnam.

CROSSED ONE HURDLE

The new board has already crossed one hurdle; the A.F.L. announced that it will reappoint its representation on the old board to the new board. The C.I.O. maintained official silence but there was no question that it would participate.

Scheduled for the chairmanship is a Harvard law professor, Archibald Cox, now co-chairman of the Construction Industry Stabilization Commission.

Missing from the new board will be Nathan P. Feinsinger, chairman of the outgoing board.

Less Chance For Truce Than Ever—General

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet said today there is less chance for an armistice in Korea than ever before.

The United States eighth army commander told a press conference that the prospect for an armistice is in direct proportion to the amount of military pressure put on by the Communists and that the Communists believe the United Nations forces will not attack to force a truce.

He said the Reds "still have the capability of striking at any point with considerable surprise." But he added they have been "thinning out their front-line strength quite a bit over a period of many weeks" to the point where it is "thinner than ever before."

Court Dismisses Assault Charge

A charge of assault occasioning bodily harm against Lloyd Smith, 32, of Gilchrist St., was dismissed by Magistrate R. B. Baxter in police court today.

Smith was charged with assaulting Leo Emery, 50, no fixed address, who was found unconscious and brutally beaten in a lonely section of Jackson Park the night of June 23.

Smith, Emery and Charles Cromie had been drinking wine during the afternoon and evening Emery was injured. Emery insisted he remembered seeing Smith strike him "with something in his hand," before he fell to the ground.

Dr. Ralph Clark testified Emery was treated for several scalp cuts and a severe concussion when he saw him at Civic Hospital, the night of June 23. The concussion was so severe Dr. Clark said that Emery was kept in the hospital for a month so he could convalesce properly.

While Emery maintained Smith had hit him more than once, Smith said he did not remember anything after all the wine (six bottles) was gone. He said he woke up next morning in Jackson Park about three quarters of a mile from where the three had been drinking.

Court was adjourned when Cromie failed to appear to testify for the Crown. He was picked up on a warrant and told crown attorney John A. Bradshaw he had forgotten about the summons today and it was raining a week ago so he did not come to court then. He blamed his lapse of memory on a nervous breakdown some time ago, but said he remembered drinking with Emery and Smith in Jackson Park. According to Cromie, Emery was injured when he tripped on some bushes and fell, hitting his head on a stone.

Cromie and Emery said Smith had brought some baloney and bread along with three bottles of wine back with him when he went downtown for more wine. In dismissing the charge, Magistrate Baxter said "Reference has been made to baloney and the whole case appears to be constructed on it." He said he did not believe Cromie's evidence and gave him a stern warning about the consequences of disregarding subpoenas to appear in court. "Failure to attend court makes you liable to contempt of court," the magistrate warned Cromie. Taking all the evidence into consideration, the magistrate said he was dismissing the charge but added there should be some recommendation that Smith be placed on the interdicted list.

Smith who was defended by Gordon H. T. Farquharson then stood up and said he was going to have himself placed on the list.

Argentina lost its first game of the semi-final series, an upset overtime 66-65 win for Uruguay, and France took a shocking defeat at the hands of Bulgaria 67-58.

RECORDS BROKEN

In the women's 400-metre swim relay, the United States team broke an Olympic record in winning a preliminary heat. Eight teams advanced. Canada did not qualify.

Boiteux's time in winning the men's 400-metre race was 4:30.7, well under a record 4:33.1 he set yesterday in a heat. The old mark is 4:41 made in 1948.

Walters and Roth fought a rather tame bout. There was some mild booing when the verdict was announced.

Walters fought coolly and cleverly. The shock-haired German kept boring in, swinging wildly but seldom doing much damage. It was pretty much a case of brains vs. brawn, with Walters getting in some fine counter-punching.

In water polo the United States pulled a surprise by upsetting Belgium 4-2 in the semi-final round.

Industrials Leading Advance On Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Industrials led a steady advance in prices in slow early afternoon trading on the Toronto stock exchange.

A few key industrial issues sparked a jump in the industrial index and base metals climbed steadily. Early afternoon profit-taking skimmed the advance made in golds and western oils moved uncertainly upward.

Trading picked up slightly from a dull opening. Industrial dealings however, remained within a narrow range of selected leading issues. A broad list of secondary golds and lower-priced metals and oils attracted speculative interest volume for the first three hours was 1,070,000 shares.

Steels led the industrials' upswing.

Base metals were firm as American Yellowknife, Fenimore, Golden Manitou, Gulf, Opemiska and Tungsten traded higher.

In western oils, lower-priced issues posted a majority of moderate losses. Britalta, Husky and Pacific Petroleum climbed while Del Rio, Peace River and Triad slipped.

Senior golds drifted in dull trading. Selected secondary issues edged upward.

The exchange's 1 p.m. index showed industrials up 1.70 at 327.33, golds up .03 at 93.21, base metals up .75 at 197.73 and western oils up .28 at 128.25.

U.S. Defence Taking Double Steel Amount

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States defence production will take double its normal share of the country's steel output during the next six months.

An official handling military production problems said today this will necessarily mean less steel, temporarily, for civilian use, and a return in part to the system of wartime priorities for military production.

He said the U.S. lost 20,000,000 tons of steel during the 54-day steel strike.

Defence orders would have taken about 15 per cent of that production, he said. To make up this 3,000,000-ton loss, the military's share of the first 20,000,000 tons produced after resumption of full production will have to be increased to 30 per cent, or 6,000 tons.

Court Martial Convicts Maj.-Gen. Grow

FORT MEADE, Md. (AP)—An army court martial yesterday convicted Maj.-Gen. Robert W. Grow of improperly jotting down military secrets in his personal diary and failing to safeguard classified data.

The diary was stolen by Soviet agents last year while Grow was in Frankfurt, Germany. Russian propagandists promptly exploited it to bolster their war-mongering charges against the United States.

Published excerpts from the diary quoted Gen. Grow as saying:

"War! As soon as possible! Now!"

Another alleged entry, dated March 29, 1951, read:

"The time is ripe for a blow this year."

A court of eight high-ranking generals sentenced Grow to a formal reprimand—a black mark against future promotion—and suspension from command for six months.

Will Investigate Two Fires In London Area

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two fires—a city block apart—were discovered almost simultaneously early today in properties owned by two London brothers.

The one blaze destroyed the London bag manufacturing plant, owned by Rueben Ginsberg, with an estimated loss of $45,000. The other caused damage to a second-floor bedroom of the Victoria Hotel, owned by Hymen Ginsberg.

Fire Chief R.C. McRonald said inspectors from the fire marshal's department will be called in to investigate. The plant fire was the second for the big firm in less than three months. On May 10, fire destroyed its plant with damage of $75,000. Activities were transferred to the second structure while rebuilding was in progress at the first.

The fire chief said the fire marshall's investigation of the first fire raised suspicions it had been set by someone. One man was questioned, he said, but no charge was laid.

Charges Denied Undue Incidence Of Lung Cancer

MARMORA—Norman Langford, secretary-treasurer of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Co., said last night that there is no greater incidence of lung cancer among workers at the company's plant than in the district as a whole.

This statement was made in reply to charges by union officials in their brief to the Ontario Conciliation Board meeting here yesterday. The union claimed that some employees engaged in refining cobalt used in the cobalt bomb for treating cancer were themselves developing cancer of the lung and that four had died in the past year.

"It is my belief," said Mr. Langford, "that most of the charges are totally unfounded." Further, he said, "in view of the conciliation board's meeting to investigate the charges, the publicity given to them was most unfair. The board's meeting has been recessed until next Tuesday morning to allow company officials to prepare their brief. In face of this, any further comment from me would be inadvisable."

Radioactive Flies Buzzing In England

ISLINGTON, Middlesex, England (AP) — Some radioactive flies are buzzing around here. They got that way because they were given a drink of brew distilled at the Harwell atomic research laboratories. The idea is to determine how far a fly flies.

The insects are released here after the atomic brew snifter. Then flies are captured at varying distances, and a geiger counter spots those which are radio-active. Greatest distance covered so far is three miles.

Split Growing For Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP)—New voices were added to the Republican harmony chorus today as notes of discord sounded among Democrats in the southern United States.

Two senators who backed the unsuccessful fight of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio to win the Republican presidential nomination were welcomed into the camp of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the party nominee. They are Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois and Senator Hugh Butler of Nebraska.

In the Democratic camp, rumblings of discontent were heard in Virginia, South Carolina, Louisiana and Mississippi. They appeared to be directed more at the Democratic platform's civil-rights plank than at the party's nominees, Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Senator John J. Sparkman of Alabama.

Police Raid Offices Across South Africa

CAPETOWN (Reuters) — Police today raided offices throughout south Africa of the African national congress and the Indian congress, the country's leading African and East Indian organizations.

In Johannesburg simultaneous raids by detectives of the special political branch were carried out on the offices of the African National Congress, the Transvaal Indian Congress, the non-European national action committee, and non-European trade unions. Homes of officials of these organizations were also raided.

Similar raids were reported from other centres, including Port Elizabeth, where the defiance campaign has been most active, and Durban.

Continue Inquiry In Plane Crash

TORONTO (CP)—Two inspectors from the Department of Transport today continued investigation of yesterday's plane crash at nearby Malton in which two R.C.A.F. veterans were killed.

The victims, both employed by Sanderson Aircraft Ltd. of Malton, were Cyril Fairhurst, 35, and Robert Tomlin, 27, of suburban North York.

Both pilots were well known in flying circles and had flown regularly to Manitoulin Island on northern Ontario charter flights.

Their aircraft, a twin-engined Cessna, lost altitude soon after taking off from Malton airport, struck a high-tension line and plunged in flames to a road.

Inspectors Arthur Empey and Maurice Louch of the air services branch of the transport department have been assigned to investigate.

Eubanks said the object, appearing as a "yellow-green, then yellow-brown streak about 400 feet long," suddenly swooped low over the highway, then reversed directions and disappeared.

4 Massed Bands Give Concert

WARKWORTH (ENS)—Under the stars and the new moon an open air concert was presented to a very large gathering by the massed bands, comprised of Frankford Citizens band, Trenton Lions Club, Stirling and Warkworth bands at the lighted ball park, Warkworth, on Sunday evening.

The bands under the leadership of Bandmaster Maurice Bell and assisted by Bandmaster Chas. Butcher of Frankford comprised 75 instruments and showed splendid training.

The Frankford band has a number of members of the former citizens band which operated in that town for many years before the war. Early in the war this band was used as a foundation upon which the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment Band was built under the leadership of the late Floyd Ketcheson. Mr. Ketcheson soon obtained a commission in the army and appointed Maurice Bell to succed him as Band Sergeant-Major which position he held until after the war when the band was disbanded. Frankford was without a band until late in 1951 when former solo cornetist Chas. Butcher organized under his direction the present band which has been making good progress.

The Trenton Lions Club band was organized in 1939 by V. P. Carswell and Frank Sherbert with George Emley organist of Grace United Church as bandmaster. At the present time this band is being trained by Bandmaster Maurice Bell of Stirling. Since this band was organized it has won wide acclaim for itself at band competitions and has travelled extensively.

The Stirling Citizens band was organized in 1926 by a group of interested citizens under the direction of Wm. Pearson of Campbellford. In the following 10 years the band was twice disbanded and reorganized. In 1936 the band was reorganized under the present leadership of Maurice Bell. The band room of his organization is adorned with cups, plaques etc. that it has won at band competitions and tattoos.

The Warkworth Community band has provided the distirct with music since its organization in 1949. Many obstacles must be surmounted in bringing four bands together to play in massed formation, but the large representative gathering from over Northumberland county were treated to an interesting and delightfully presented program.

The band marches, medleys and overtures and hymns were intermingled with special numbers. A vocal male quartet from Frankford led in a sing-song with the audience and also sang several numbers on their own showing splendid harmony.

Horace Stanley of Trenton gave an euphonium solo "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep."

The Trenton Trumpeters played a cornet trio and Wm. Aylesworth rendered a cornet solo and Garnet Thain of Stirling a cornet solo.

Major Fraser of the Stirling band received special mention as he had been playing the bass drum for many years, throughout England, France, Belgium, across the Rhine and back again and was playing again in their band at this gathering.

Collection amounted to $132.30 which was given to the Warkworth band.

Harold Buttars as one of the band committee of Warkworth thanked all who had helped and special thanks to the Rev. J. M. Ritchie of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Warkworth, who was the master of ceremonies for the program.

The Warkworth ladies served lunch to their guests at the close.

Outlook In Persia And Egypt

Persia and Egypt went through the same political sequences in the last fortnight. The monarch personally intervened, rejected premiers who had some popular support and installed men who had none. Both were quickly rejected. The King of Egypt lost his throne, the Shah of Persia retains only a slender hold on his. Thus the monarchies have failed, and oligarchies (supporting the premiers whom the monarchs raised to be cast down) have failed. In Persia the power now lies with the mob, under Mossadegh; in Egypt it is with the military, under General Naguib. A revolution has taken place in Egypt; a debacle is pending in Iran.

* * *

Despite the thoroughness of the revolt in Egypt, where the king has been deposed, the situation in Iran is more critical. General Naguib seems to have enough force to cleanse the army (his support is from the brigadier rather than the top brass level) and to keep the state in control, with Maher Pasha, new premier, as political leader. But in Persia, the mob holds sway, and Premier Mossadegh's power to stay it is limited. Economic and political chaos has descended on Iran, and the only party with enough determination, organization and fighting power to stiffen or subjugate the people is the Persian Communist Party—the Tudeh. It gave proof of its power last week through the mob demonstration to which the Shah and the Army were able to stand up for only three days.

* * *

For the moment the Tudeh Party seems content to allow the Shah to remain on condition that he reinstate Dr. Mossadegh. Premier Mossadegh is far from being a Communist himself, but his latest program is bound to intensify popular expectations and, later, resentment and disappointment. That may be the time for which the Tudeh Party is staying its hand, and for which Russia is waiting. One observer of the situation has written of the grim prospect that a Communist Persia might bring Russian power to the Indian Ocean, outflank both Turkey and Pakistan, and change the world balance of power. A Communist coup in Persia might strain the fabric of world peace to breaking point.

Batter Up!

In back lots, empty fields and under the brilliance of the lights at Riverside Park, the continent's summer game is in full swing. And here in Peterborough baseball is entirely amateur—from the wrangle of small boys fingering up a bat for their team's licks to the dash and skill of the Senior Petes competing with other teams in the Central Ontario Baseball League for the honour of the team and the glory of the game.

There is only one member of the senior squad this year who is a summer visiting player; the rest are home-grown products. And we are rather glad of this; somehow real amateurs, even if their skill may not be equal to that of professionals, give a better game to watch. The spectators feel a local pride, and a special enthusiasm is roused. Next Friday evening's game with Belleville, for instance, will be the sort of match which is a joy to watch. Let the lungs heave, the voice boom, the heart palpitate with the thump and toss, the crack and slide around the diamond. No summer is complete without baseball; and the heat of the day and the troubles of the world go phut with the umpire's cry: BATTER UP!

Baseball is the North American cricket, in fact, it and cricket both originated with stoolball, an old Easter pastime popular in the fourteenth century. In somewhat its present form baseball was played in England in the eighteenth century, as a circuit-running form of cricket—and even called base ball. It is recorded that children of the Royal Family played baseball in 1748; however, it survived in England only as Rounders on village greens. Royal children no longer play baseball (except in Japan), but for that matter, British royal children have not played cricket either, in recent years; so why expect to see a Princess padded, and stocked with gum, in a ball game?

There is glitter and glamour in the game, without royalty, on this continent which has exalted it to a national sport. A good sport it is, even if it is not quite cricket with its sand-lot squabbles and its senior league roars from the bleachers. Baseball is a Canadian folk heritage, and a summer without it is like Christmas without Santa Claus. Batter-up? Yes; and the crowds will be there to see him swat.

Sausage Into Dog

It is quite an easy business to nationalize an industry, as the British Labour Government proved during its years of office by nationalizing the Bank of England, the railways, the coal industry, the trucking industry and the steel industry. The shares are exchanged by the Government for Government stock, which invariably shows a lower yield.

Theoretically it should be equally easy to reverse the direction of this sausage machine to convert these concerns back to private ownership, as the Conservative Government has pledged itself to do in the case of the steel industry. Unfortunately for their intentions the Labour Party is equally determined, should it return to power (and there is a strong likelihood that the next elections might sweep them back into office), to renationalize the steel industry. This very real possibility will have an extremely adverse effect on the saleability of the industry. The Conservatives admit now that it may well take several years to restore it to private enterprise.

Nationalization has certainly not produced the effect that its advocates expected. Many who were persuaded by the Socialists that nationalization was the panacea for the economic troubles of the country have been sadly disillusioned. In the case of the steel industry nationalization was quite uncalled for, as it was generally admitted that the steel industry as a whole was the most efficiently run in the country. It is evident that the Socialists have still to learn that a nationalized concern must still be run on sound business lines or else become a pensioner of the taxpayers.

Human Vanity

With all due respect to Sigmund Freud it is true to say that one of the master-passions of homo sapiens is the love of glory. Men and women have given up their lives rather than bring dishonour on themselves, their family, their regiment or their country. The classical French drama of Corneille and Racine hinges on the conflict between love and honour. It is a pity that this noble passion should so often assume grotesque shapes. Perhaps our modern life is deficient in colour and excitement. The fact remains that there are people foolish enough to risk their lives by plunging over Niagara Falls in a barrel in the hope that their names may go down into history. Others have thrown themselves from the top of high buildings to get into the headlines for the first and last time of their lives.

On a more harmless level there are the tree-sitters and those individuals who scribble on the walls of public places. The latter were well known in the ancient world, to judge from the abundant evidence found in the ruins of Pompeii. There are those that claim fame at second or third hand by virtue of having a great-uncle who was patted on the head by Mr. Gladstone.

The Democratic Convention in Chicago threw some inetresting sidelights on this human foible. Surrounded by batteries of microphones and television cameras some of the nonentities succumbed to the lure of drawing attention to themselves by diverse means. The ballot for the candidates was continually interrupted by obscure delegates challenging the accuracy of the figures. This was done, not so much because any real doubt existed (in nearly every case the figures stood up to scrutiny) but in order that the electorate and friends of the delegate might see, hear and read about his action. Each time the figures were challenged a poll had to be taken of the individual delegates of each state, causing considerable delay. This was less tiresome in the case of smaller states, such as New Mexico, but when the results of the ballot for Pennsylvania were challenged a groan went up which was doubtless echoed by countless viewers and listeners-in.

It has often been suggested that parliamentary proceedings should be broadcast. Human vanity being what it is we fear that M.P.'s, instead of attending to the business in hand, might tend to play to the unseen gallery in a way that could hardly be other than detrimental to the common weal.

Courteous Governor Stevenson

Very early indeed on Saturday morning Governor Adlai Stevenson was nominated as Democratic candidate. His very first remark after being nominated was to apologize to the reporters for having kept them waiting so long. It was not his fault that they should have been kept waiting; but if this remark is, as we believe, characteristic of the man, it shows a remarkable degree of selflessness. It would occur to very few men indeed if they happened to be placed in the same position.

Governor Stevenson is a man of brilliant intellect, of transparent integrity and altogether superior ability. We also hazard the guess that he has a deep and sympathetic insight into the problems of his fellow-citizens whom he may possibly be called upon to lead in perhaps the most responsible office on earth.

"The male is no longer stronger than the female," says a biologist. Nature usually eliminates a characteristic when it is no longer necessary.

Helsinki Hosts Till 2.30 Dawn

By CHARLES HUSSEY

NOT SINCE it was a holiday resort for the high society of St. Petersburg has Helsinki been so stirred.

The Helsinkians cannot get over it. Every night they take the tram to the city centre to parade along the Mannerheim Boulevard that leads to the stadium and observe the quaint manners of the foreigners. Not many tourists come here in a normal year and now there are 30,000 of them from almost every country in the world.

✧ ✧ ✧

YET THE HELSINKIANS regret that we are getting a wrong impression of the place. It is really a quiet town, they explain, especially in summer. In June, July and August the schools are closed. The families move out to their "summer place," perhaps a well-proportioned wooden villa on one of the many islands or a two-roomed hut with a postage stamp of a garden.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVEN NOW Helsinki strikes one as a quiet town. The gaiety is the subdued kind you get in an English spa. Perhaps the architecture suppresses exuberance. It is usually in the Bauhaus or in the classical tradition. And when you first arrive you feel you are going to suffer from an excess of good taste. Your eye rests gratefully on the towers of the Uspensky Cathedral or even on the atrocious facade of the national theatre which is built in the florid German Jugend style of fifty years ago. In a day or two, however, you find yourself at ease with the architecture. Helsinki has the peculiar charm of all small capital cities. But still you long for colour.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE FINNS are as restrained in dress as they are in architectural and industrial design. In a crowded restaurant you may see only two or three women wearing floral prints. The rest are in fawns or greys, or in tidy subfusc suits. The interiors of the buildings have often the same neutrality. So have the shop windows. Even the best of several excellent stores have little idea of what London or Paris or New York considers to be good window-dressing.

✧ ✧ ✧

YET, this fear of colour cannot always have existed. The national costume which Finnish girls are wearing to present bouquets of carnations to winners of Olympic medals are scarlet, black and white. Why and when did this fear of colour begin? I have put the question to a number of Finns without getting a satisfactory answer. "We're rather a quiet people" is the only explanation they give. That is true. Even the crowds hurrying to the stadium converse sotto voce, and though they applaud warmly, you never hear the kind of roar that rolls thunderously through the Maple Leaf Gardens.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT DINNER in a restaurant there is only a murmur of conversation over the crayfish. The band plays slow foxtrots and tangos. Then the brannvin begins to work. C. E. Montague said the average Englishman is two whiskies under par. The average Finn needs four schnapps to become as gay as the average European. The band plays a gay tune and a different race takes the floor to a jenkka, a schottische or a rhumba. A huge Finn tries to use his ten words of English as he leans over your table. "Meester Churchill good man. Russians bad man. Bang, bang, bang!"

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS an over-simplification of the political problem, but you agree, raise your glass and cry "Suomi," and you are all friends. After one of these encounters three of us found ourselves being carried off to the home of a family of Karelian refugees for coffee and cakes. We did not escape until dawn was breaking at 2.30.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVERY VISITOR is delighted by the sheer pleasure Helsinki takes in acting as host. It is sometimes embarrassing. You are given a table in a restaurant when the natives are being refused, and Helsinkians go to such trouble to gratify a whim that you are sorry it ever occurred to you. Their efficiency as Olympic organisers is superb. Whenever they make a promise to do something for you they always keep it.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS ONLY because the Helsinkians have "summer places" that the Games could be held here. There are few hotels and the city has a housing problem that compels the authorities to ration accommodation: one room per person is the rule. Most visitors are staying in vacated rooms in private flats and paying a guinea a night for it. They take their meals in the restaurants, which at the special Olympic rate of 900 marks to the £ are still dear, but not very dear. The food and cooking are good.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT FEWER PEOPLE have come to the Games than the Finns expected. Though the stadium, a masterpiece in ferro-concrete, holds only 70,000 people, it has not been filled every day. The Helsinki authorities have provided a tented camp for 5,000 Finns and so far only 500 are using it. Nor are the foreigners as numerous as expected. Rooms can be had in Helsinki at half the official price. The tourist abroad and the Finn at home have both been frightened off by all the stories that were told of high prices and shortage of accommodation.

Helsinki would be a gayer place if the athletes were allowed to come to town more frequently. But they stay in their villages under the eyes of their trainers. So the Helsinkians go to see them. And with their red-and-blue track-suits against the new and pastel-tinted blocks of flats where they sleep, the athletes make the most colourful scene in Helsinki.

Unconsidered Trifles

"I'm all out of sorts. The doctor said the only way to cure my rheumatism was to keep away from all dampness."

"What's so tough about that?"

"You don't know how silly it makes me feel to sit in an empty bath and go over myself with a vacuum cleaner."

✧ ✧ ✧

"Your husband says that when he is angry he always counts ten before he speaks," said one woman to another.

"Yes," answered the other, "I wish he'd stop it. Since he's had dyspepsia, home seems nothing but a class in arithmetic."

AND THERE WAS LIGHT

The Grand Banks Special

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

THE GRAND BANKS SPECIAL that passed through Ottawa last week was taking Maritimers "home" on a holiday excursion organized by J. V. Dodds of Edmonton. What's the matter with Mr. Dodds that he isn't happy in the bustling, booming city of his adoption? It would not be remarkable if he made a nostalgic pilgrimage to Prince George, N. B., once in a while. But under what compulsion does he go every year, and take with him a gathering of the clans from all across the Western plains?

Though westerners love the prairies, no Winnipeg special is chartered by those who have once escaped. Torontonians who have strayed from their so-called Queen City may dutifully visit there, but hardly en masse. Vancouverites in exile remember the mountains and the sea, and yet they are not observed swarming together for a return flight. Not even Ottawans trek homeward in droves.

Apparently Maritimers have a homing instinct as strong as that of pigeons. Like the lemmings of Norway (or Canada, for that matter), they join periodically in a gregarious migration to the Atlantic shores, Haligonians and other breeds all as one family, evidently feeling stronger bonds than those for example, existing between the people of Toronto and Ottawa, Ont. For the rest of the country, here is a problem in assimilability different only in degree from that posed by the Doukhobors. A Maritimer may become an Ontario merchant, or president of a Western university, but he still considers his origin to be his primary distinction.

Nor will the Maritimers keep their infatuation to themselves, They want everybody else to share it. They lure the tourist with booklets boasting of game-crowded hills and trout-packed streams — North America's Scottish highlands and "most scenic drive"—sandy beaches, and salty fishing villages that delight the artist—historic towns, and farmlands "where ploughshares have been whispering to the earth since 1605"—a country "where beauty has had time to grow, where memories have gathered." The Grand Banks Special bears witness that all of this may be true.

Letters To The Editor

TRIBUTE TO W. G. OVENS

Sir: Life, our life, is what we make it. "It is not the days or years that count, but how we have lived and why."

Bill Ovens' life was filled to overflowing with unselfish endeavour, virility, good cheer and happiness, an inspiration and blessing to all who knew him.

In our loving memories leave him, God accept him, Christ receive him.

Sincerel',

TOURIST APPRECIATES LAKEFIELD

Sir: May we congratulate the town of Lakefield on their efficient and courteous Chamber of Commerce information booth.

Last Saturday evening, July 26th, we were stranded after a six hundred mile drive, having been recommended to a lake accommodation south of Peterborough, and finding it utterly impossible, we continued north hoping to find an overnight accommodation at least, and look around next day. We stopped at the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce booth, and after several phone calls made by the attendant, she located a very nice housekeeping cottage. Not only did she make the reservation but located a gentleman living there to direct us right to the door of the cottage.

To add to our troubles, our car was about ready to give us trouble. The courteous attendant directed us to a local garage in Lakefield and to our surprise he had the necessary parts available. So Monday a.m. we came in to Lakefield, had our car repaired, picked up some delicious home-made baking that the booth attendant ordered for us and back to our cottage happy to enjoy the balance of our vacation.

Believe me my wife and sons (one recently released from active duty from the U.S. Air Force) will never forget Lakefield and the kind and wonderful assistance we received from the Chamber of Commerce booth.

We are looking forward to next year, when we hope to return and bring some of our friends.

Yours very truly,
J. TED THARP AND FAMILY.

Mount Vernon, Ohio.

BEWDLEY'S VIRTUES

Sir: In regard to an article appearing in the Examiner of July 19 "Road Tour of Biggest Lake," I would like A. J. Thomas, the writer, to explain just what he means in his brief reference to our village, "the less said about Bewdley, the better."

Bewdley has its quota of excellent places to eat, hotels, stores, garages, etc., a lovely little Anglican church on the hill which is a credit to its members and adherents and a well kept cemetery. There are many beautiful summer homes and cottages and fine modern residential homes where the usual run of good class citizens will be found. The crowds of both American and Canadian holidayers on the waterfront street any summer afternoon or evening testify to Bewdley's popularity as a summer resort, and from no spot on the Kawarthas will the fishing be found any better.

Bewdley, too, has its history going back to early pioneer days and several descendants of the early settlers are to be found here in good old family names.

The writer carries his grudge right on through the village to the old Baptist church, converted into "some kind of house," (which by the way is a house I own), and to the new Bewdley school, S.S. 15 Hamilton, a very nice modern construction but facing the south, instead of the road, to catch the sunlight.

Because A. J. Thomas cannot see beauty does not mean beauty is non-existent. If he could offer no compliment as he did of the other communities around the lake, why such a slurring remark?

Yours truly,
MRS. C. M.

Bewdley.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Jeroboam and all the congregation of Israel came, and spake unto Rehoboam, saying, Thy father made our yoke grievous: now therefore make thou the grievous service of thy father, and his heavy yoke which he put upon us, lighter, and we will serve thee . . . And king Rehoboam consulted with the old men, that stood before Solomon his father while he yet lived, and said, How do you advise that I may answer this people? And they spake unto him, saying, If thou wilt be a servant unto this people this day, and wilt serve them, and answer them, and speak good words to them, then they will be thy servants for ever. But he forsook the counsel of the old men, which they had given him, and consulted with the young man that were grown up with him, and which stood before him . . .

And the king answered the people roughly, and forsook the old men's counsel that they gave him; and spake to them after the counsel of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke heavy, and I will add to your yoke: my father also chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions . . .

So when all Israel saw that the king hearkened not unto them, the people answered the king, saying, What portion have we in David? neither have we inheritance in the son of Jesse: to your tents, O Israel: now see to thine own house, David. So Israel departed unto their tents. But as for the children of Israel which dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them . . . So Israel rebelled against the house of David unto this day (I Kings 12: 3, 4, 6-8, 13, 14, 16, 17, 19.)

So There

(Letter in The Wall Street Journal)

The writer is president of a machine tool manufacturing company.

After several unsuccessful advertising campaigns it was suggested that we print something to show the size of our machines. My daughter happened to be in town in slacks and sweater and I photographed her beside a machine and printed the cut with our next ad. The inquiries more than doubled, so I got a professional model and doubled them again. I eliminated the slacks and used a bathing suit on our next ad and doubled them again. Soon I was getting upwards of 1,000 inquiries per ad instead of 40 to 50.

All buyers are alike whether they are buying soap or bulldozers. They obey the same laws of buying and are governed by the same impulses. And I do not care what the "experts" of the National Industrial Advertisers Association say.

Undressing On The Beach

Bold new satirist interprets classic English custom . . .

West End theatregoers are spreading the success of a satirist named Ian Carmichael in the new "Globe Revue." Carmichael's act is simple — depends for its success mainly on the fact that nearly everyone at one time or another has faced the problem of undressing on the beach. For that's all Carmichael does—but here Giles comes in on the act, too.

Mohammed Naguib Bey to abdicate in favor of his infant son. One of the tanks of the armored unit which surrounded the palace can be seen behind the crowd.

Girl Sells Self To Get Money For Drug Supply

VANCOUVER (CP)—A slender 16-year-old girl told in police court yesterday how she sold herself to Chinese men to get money for her boy friend to keep him supplied with narcotics.

The blonde girl friend of a heroin addict broke into violent sobs at the conclusion of her testimony which resulted in an 18-months hard labor sentence for Everett (Jock) Heron, 21, for contributing to juvenile delinquency.

A second charge against Heron of living off the avails of prostitution was withdrawn.

MOTHER BARRED

The girl's mother was barred from the courtroom as she related in a whisper how, sponsored by Heron, she met as many as "four or five Chinese men" a night in a skidroad hotel room and made as much as $25.

"I gave the money to Jock to buy drugs with," she said.

She testified that she first met Heron in a Vancouver cafe after she arrived here from her Vancouver Island home.

"He said that he liked me very much. He asked me to go to work for him."

"What did he mean by that?" asked prosecutor Gordon Scott.

"Prostitution," she replied.

She said that while living with Heron she took as many as three injections of narcotics a day.

USE CAUTION in making the ignition system check illustrated here to avoid igniting gasoline that may have been spilled in other tests.

How To Make Motors Behave

It seems that almost everyone who has ever owned a gasoline-powered lawn mower has at some time suppressed an urge to give it full throttle and let the infernal machine run itself to pieces—if it would run at all.

For power lawn mowers—like their pilots—seem subject to fits of temperament. Without apparent reason they balk or quit, usually at crucial moments.

Here are some power lawn mower problems and simple solutions:

Engine won't start. There could be three trouble spots: in the carburetor, ignition system, or in the engine itself.

If the mower hasn't been in use for several months, the carburetor has probably become gummed up and isn't feeding gasoline.

Move the choke backward and forward while trying to start the engine. Thoroughly clean the carburetor, if necessary.

Next, check the ignition system by removing the spark plug wire at the plug and hold the tip about ⅛-inch from the cylinder head while cranking the engine. If a spark jumps the gap, the system is probably all right. If there is no spark, the spark plug may be broken or gone bad. A broken plug will not fire properly, even though there may still be a spark.

If the spark plug's porcelain is broken, replace the plug.

Accumulations of gum and carbon may have caused the plug to foul. Clean the electrodes at the base of the plug, readjust the gap between electrodes, and try again.

When all this is to no avail, you can be almost certain the trouble is in the engine itself. Such conditions as loss of engine compression, sticking or broken valves, worn pistons, bearings or cylinder walls all demand overhaul by an expert.

Engine starts, but dies slowly. This usually happens after the engine has been running only a few minutes and is probably caused by a clogged gas line or carburetor screen, if the fuel tank still has gasoline in it.

Drain gas from the tank and disconnect gas line at the carburetor. With air under pressure at the fuel tank opening, try to blow obstructions, if any, from the gas line.

If the gas line is not clogged, remove carburetor; check screen and clean it if necessary. Blow out carburetor with air under pressure.

Engine runs normally, but stops suddenly. Chances are an ignition failure is at fault. Make ignition test previously described. Otherwise, the fault is in the engine, which should be checked by a repairman.

Engine idles, but quits when accelerated. This occurs when the engine is cold and dechoked, or when it is hot and fully choked. Or a partially clogged fuel line may be allowing only enough gasoline through the line to feed the engine at slow speeds. Be sure to open the choke of cold engine and close it after it warms up.

Engine runs slowly, lacks power. This condition indicates a need to consult a repairman, for it may mean a partially clogged gas line, use of wrong gasoline, worn engine parts, etc.

By careful maintenance some of these problems can be avoided; others can't be anticipated. Here's wishing you luck.

CCL Planning Drive For Raise

OTTAWA (CP)—Joseph MacKenzie, general representative of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said yesterday a drive will be launched to increase wage rates throughout the Ottawa Valley.

Addressing striking employees of the Dominion Bridge Company here, he said:

"The C.C.L. is a national organization and we are well aware that a low-wage spot anywhere in the country is detrimental to Canadian workers as a whole.

"The membership of our unions in the Ottawa Valley has been steadily increasing and we now are actively considering steps by which the wages paid workers in this area will be brought into line with the rest of the province."

33 Air Cadets Arrive In Europe For Visit

LONDON (Reuters)—Thirty-three members of Canada's Air Cadet Corps arrived at Northolt airport yesterday from Montreal in a North Star transport plane of the R.C.A.F.

They arrived seven hours behind schedule because of slight engine trouble.

The youngsters—all are 17 or 18—are here on a three-week exchange visit, during which they will visit R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. stations and sight-see. Eight of them will continue to the continent, two each going to Norway, Denmark, Sweden and The Netherlands for their stay.

Damage High As Cars Collide North Of City

When a St. Catharines man stopped his car on the highway Monday afternoon to make a left turn it caused an accident three miles north of Peterborough. Nobody was injured, but there was an estimated $1,000 damage to the two cars involved.

Joseph Duemo, 50, of Atwood Street, St. Catharines, had been driving north and he stopped his car while waiting for southbound motor traffic to pass. He then intended to make a left turn.

Another northbound car, this driven by Gordon Hanes, 28, of 384 Grady Street, tried to go around Duemo, but his right front fender struck the left rear fender of Duemo's car. Damage was about $500 to each car.

Both drivers and their six passengers—three in each car—were shaken up but uninjured.

O.P.P. Constable Wallace Mohns investigated.

Timbermen Get 13-11 Tilt Against The Crescents In Keen Senior O.L.A. Fray

OWEN SOUND (Special)—Rusty Slater, Curly Mason and Moon Wootton returned to their home town last night and proceeded to hand their former mates a 13-11 setback. The win moved the Petes into second place, depending upon the outcome of Toronto's game last night. Slater, with three goals and two assists led the Petes to victory before 1,347 fans. O'Hearn scored three, Thorpe and Powless two each to account for most of the Peterborough goals. Don Campbell was the best man on the floor for the Crescents, potting six goals. Arn Smith scored two and Gillespie, Lumley and Shortridge the others.

Owen Sound opened the scoring, Grant Gillespie doing the honors to give the home club the lead for the first and last time. The Petes replied with four straight goals. Slater, Vitarelli and Thorpe, with two, were the goal getters.

OPENED SCORING

Once again the Crescents opened the scoring, this time by Arnold Smith, as the Crescents battled gamely to overcome the lead. Don Ashbee, fiery forward, got that one back as he picked up a pass from Vitarelli.

Don Campbell scored his first of six a minute later and Curly Mason replied for the Petes. Campbell, Lumley and then Campbell again, scored before O'Hearn could score for the Petes at the close of a rough second quarter which saw Bill Allum of the Crescents and Lou Nickle come to blows.

Just three goals more scored in the third quarter but the Petes counted to build their lead as O'Hearn picked up two goals.

Legrow Leads U.E. Team To A 3-2 Win

Skipper Buck Legrow of the aggressive and efficient U.E.W. men's softball squad, took over the hero's mantle Tuesday night at the Bowl as his team edged Seabrooke Motors 3-2 in a dandy nightcap duel.

Buck slammed a 3-2 inside pitch by Jim McGrath just inside the foul line over the right field fence in the last of the ninth, with two away, for a home run to settle a corking pitchers' battle between the youthful McGrath and veteran Howie Dalton. The crowd gave the recent benedict a big hand as he circled the bases gleefully. The win places U.E.W. just one back of Seabrooke's for league leadership.

Dalton displayed fine form opposing the Sullivan pack as he scattered six hits, including triples by Curry in the second and Thompson in the sixth (the latter scoring the visitors' second run later) and was never in serious difficulty. He struck out three and walked as many. On the other mound, Jim McGrath hurled an equally fine game—an exceptional effort—against this formidable squad. He yielded but six safeties, including Grafstein's double, aside from the Legrow smash. He walked six, however, and struck out one; his support was excellent with but one excusable bobble. Bob Wyatt, Skeeter O'Heron, Red Sullivan, Neil Thompson and Bill Lewis all pulled off sparkling plays. Jim Conlin, Leether and Dalton shone defensively in a game that saw many fine features.

Seabrooke's: Curry 2b, Sullivan 1b, Lewis rf, O'Heron cf, Thompson ss, Wyatt 3b, Scriver c, Spencer lf, McGrath p.

U. E. W.: Leether ss, Taylor 3b, Legrow c, Dalton p, White lf, Robson cf, Williams 2b, Grafstein rf, Conlin 1b.

Umpires: Snape and Payne.

STICKS TO BALL—Though an outstanding senior lacrosser, Arn Dugan is sticking to senior baseball with the Petes this season. The versatile athlete plays a solid game in right field for the C.O.B.L. club and is a steady turnaround or switch hitter for them. He will see action Friday when Belleville is here for the Petes' "booster night" program.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Kawartha Lakes golf tournament goes this weekend at the Kawartha Golf Club on Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Winds up in the late aft or early eve of Civic Holiday after the limit of 250 good competitors have battled it out at the annual 54-medal invitation amateur tourney. Nick Westlock of Windsor is coming as defending champion; he finished ahead of Moe Norman of Kitchener, Bernie Johnson of Hamilton and Sonny Adams of Scarboro. They'll all be back, as will Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ontario open champ, and provincial junior winner Jerry Knechtel of Rockway. Over 100 top-flighters coming here ere proceeding to the Ontario amateur in Kingston. Three flights go, and it's really a big golf affair.

With holidays cutting in and Jensen on the injured list, the Young Petes used three midget ballsters in their win o'er Cobourg here the other eve, McDougall, Pagett and Leach. They may see action again tonight at 6.30 when Cobourg Legion again provides the Lakeshore Loop opposition in Riverside. Manager Howie Dalton decided against protesting their last loss when the game was called for darkness at the end of the sixth. Instead, they'll try to avenge the two defeats they've suffered at the hands of Young Petes recently. Whitby is here for a 6.30 p.m. tilt Thursday, moved up from Friday, with the local juniors.

K's Fail To Show Up

No playoff plans made yet for the C.O.B.L., as Kingston didn't have representatives at the Belleville meeting Sunday. Both the Redmen and Petes did have delegates but nothing came of the session—another one will be held shortly. Meantime, Belleville plays the Petes here Friday p.m. at 8.30 in Riverside, and these two clubs have staged several swell struggles in the past few weeks. Bill Dadson or Phil Clancy will chuck for the Stewart squad, with Wright likely to toe the Quinte slab. It's "booster night" for the locals and they hope for a crowd of 2,000 or so. A TV set and other good prizes will be drawn for on admission tickets at this one.

Next senior lacrosse attraction—and the only one here this week—is tonight (Wednesday) at 8.45 in Miller Bowl. None other than the hot Fergus Thistles against the Peterborough Timbermen, and the latter must win to keep pace with the leading Mimico Mounties and ahead of the packed Toronto Yorks. The scrappy Thistles—remember that big brawl here last time they were in town?—have been knocking over the upper division teams lately and might pull an upset on Timbermen, too, though we wouldn't bet on it. This is "father and son" night, meaning kids accompanied by parents get in for free to see the O.L.A. senior fray.

* * * * * * *

Petes Climb a Step

Timbermen climbed to within a game of Mimico—who lost the previous night to Hamilton after Joe Murphy again tossed Pop Chard out of the game—when they took Owen Sound 13-11 last eve. A tight fit but the Thorpe team came through after a rugged first half before some 1,300 fans. Russ Slater stood out for the victors with three goals and two assists, as Nit O'Hearn counted three also in a smart showing, two apiece going to Bob Thorpe and Ross Powless. 'Twas a triumphant return to the old home town for Moon Wootton, Curly Mason and Rusty. But Don Campbell of Crescents was the individual standout with six markers in a losing cause. Lou Nickle and Bill Allum tangled once. Petes used two juniors.

* * * * * * *

Over at the Bowl last gloaming, Buck Legrow homered in the ninth to give his U.E. softballers a 3-2 verdict o'er Seabrooke's in a honey of a battle. It pulled U.E.W. to just a point back of the leading Sullivan squad. Jim McGrath and Howie Dalton hooked up in a dandy hurling duel and some okay fielding marked this number. The other joust saw Haddy Eakins pitch Lindsay to a 9-3 win over Lakefield to tie these teams in fourth place. John Hinton opposed Haddy in the fray which was cut to eight heats by the curfew rule. Joe Blewett bashed out a Lakefield homer. Games Thursday: U.E. vs. Revoy's, and Lakefield vs. the Seabrooke pack.

Juvenile Petes Get O.L.A. Playoff Fray

Peterborough juvenile lacrossers, coached by Doug Miller Jr., captured a 15-8 victory over Orillia on the latter'as floor last night. It was the first game of their home-and-home O.L.A. juvenile "B" playdown series, goals counting, and the young Petes carry a seven-goal lead into the return playoff in Miller Bowl at 8:30 this Thursday night.

It was a tidy tilt Tuesday with the visitors finishing a little stronger after some keen play on both sides, with action not too rough. Carl Simmons' nifty work in the Peterborough cage kept down the count, though the victors had 40 to 32 shots on goal.

Bob Curtis sparkled for the winners with five goals, while Bob Allen clicked for three, and Bob Hobart two. Singles were scored by Jim Sutherland, Bob Delahaye, Tiny Hunt and Jack Ferren for Petes.

Cards Down Braves 6-5 After Tight 13 Innings

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Can lightning strike twice for Eddie Stanky? Stanky is keeping discreetly quiet as his sizzling St. Louis Cardinals continue to apply pressure on Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants in the National League race. Who will forget the '51 pennant race in which the Giants, sparked by Stanky, rose from a 13½-game deficit on Aug. 11 to nose out the Dodgers for the pennant in a play-off? With that in mind, it would be hazardous to discount the third place Cardinals because they trail the pace-setting Dodgers by 8½ games.

The Cards have won 39 and lost 20 since May 30, have captured their last five in succession including four straight from Brooklyn and have sliced off five full games from the Dodgers' once awesome lead in as many days.

The Cardinals struggled through 13 innings last night before they finally downed the Braves in Boston 6-5 to pick up a full game on the Dodgers and the second place Giants.

FIRST TO SCORE WIN

Murry Dickson gained the honor of becoming the first Pittsburgh pitcher to defeat Brooklyn this season, ending a 13-game Dodger winning streak over the Pirates with an eight-hit 7-1 decision.

Rookie Warren Hacker, with the help of veteran Dutch Leonard, gained his ninth triumph as Chicago Cubs defeated the Giants 4-2. Philadelphia's Phillies continued their blistering pace, sweeping a twi-night twin bill from Cincinnati, 6-1 and 4-3.

Mickey Mantle's grand slam home run with two out in the ninth inning gave New York Yankees a uphill 10-7 triumph over Chicago White Sox and enabled them to retain their three-game first-place margin over Cleveland. The Indians whipped Boston 4-2 to drop the Red Sox 4½ games off the pace.

St. Louis Browns won their sixth game in seven starts as Ned Garver and Earl Harrist pitched a 7-3 decision over Spec Shea and the Washington Senators. Philadelphia and Detroit split a doubleheader, the Tigers rallying to win the second game 10-8 after Harry Byrd had hurled the Athletics to a 5-0 victory in the opener.

BRAZLE DELIVERS

Three-hit pitching by reliefer Al Brazle over the last nine innings helped the Cards to victory.

Home runs by Tommy Brown and Bill Serena, each with a man aboard, furnished all the Cubs runs off loser Max Lanier of the Giants.

A seven-run ninth-inning rally featured the Yankees' victory over the White Sox. Trailing 7-0, New York tallied three times in the seventh before the winning outburst.

Early Wynn fanned a dozen Boston batters as he registered his 12th Cleveland success. Luke Easter's 14th home run and Dale Mitchell's two-run single spelled defeat for Sid Hudson.

Most Provinces Opposing National Health Insurance

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA (CP)—Most provinces would oppose inauguration of a national health insurance program at this time. That is made clear in surveys made to assess the medical, hospital and health needs of the people in all the provinces.

The surveys, launched two years ago, were financed by the Federal government.

Each province established a special commission to conduct the surveys and to make recommendations. Seven provinces have made public the recommendations of their commissions—British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

Still pending are reports from Quebec, Manitoba and Newfoundland.

MORE DOCTORS, NURSES

Only two provinces—Alberta and Saskatchewan—recommended immediate adoption of a national health insurance program. Both now have provincial health insurance plans in operation. British Columbia, also with a hospital insurance plan of its own, recommended consideration be given to a comprehensive plan to cover children in all parts of Canada.

Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island said more doctors, hospitals, nurses and trained staffs are needed before an over-all insurance program can be put into effect.

Ontario's report made no reference to national health insurance, but it stressed the need for additional facilities and health personnel.

Since health matters are primarily within the jurisdiction of the provinces, the Federal government could not inaugurate a national health insurance program without the consent of the provinces.

At a federal-provincial conference in 1945, the Federal government offered to finance out of taxation the major cost of a health insurance program. The conference, called primarily to arrange for new taxation agreements with the provinces, ended in disagreement.

EARLY ACTION

The Saskatchewan report recommended the Federal proposals of 1945 be implemented at the "earliest possible date." It added:

"The Federal government should establish basic standard to be met by the provinces as conditions for receiving the grants in order to provide at least minimum uniform benefits throughout all Canada, with reciprocity benefits for insured persons moving from one province to another. . .

"This health insurance program should be integrated with and built upon existing health programs which should be extended, modified, and co-ordinated as required, to the end that adequate health care of high quality shall be available to all resident of the province on the basis of need and without regard to individual ability to pay."

SHARED COST

The Alberta report recommended that a "complete program of health insurance be adopted" in the province, financed by contributions by or on behalf of each individual and by grants from the municipal, provincial and federal governments.

The report proposed that a charge be made against a person for the first services received "to reduce possible abuse of the scheme."

British Columbia recommended "comprehensive health insurance be not introduced at present, but receive further study."

The report also recommended consideration be given to plans covering some medical services and certain groups of the population; that in any proposed plan of health insurance, federal assistance be available through a definite financial formula; and that consideration be given to the introduction of a comprehensive health insurance plan to cover children.

Cost of the program would be split among parents and governments.

STRAIGHT TALKS

The bluntest recommendation against health insurance now was contained in the Nova Scotia report.

"The conclusion is that the requirements for group health services and facilities have not been nearly met in this province, nor indeed in any Canadian province.

"The first duty of all governments, Federal, provincial and municipal, is to build up these services and not embark in wider responsibilities for the care of individuals until they fulfill more effectively the duties they have already accepted.

"Federal grants far in excess of the present $30,000,000, a provincial health department budget far above the present level, and greater expenditures by municipal governments and local, provincial and national voluntary agencies would all be required for at least 10 years before the community health services would be remotely close to a desirable level or to the minimum required for the introduction of a national health insurance plan.

"Neither the federal nor provincial governments need look for new worlds to conquer. Each still has a great deal to accomplish on the present public health front."

SENIOR DEFICIENCIES

The New Brunswick report said it recognized "deficiencies in medical, nursing and allied personnel, laboratory facilities and hospital beds must be dealt with before any attempt to establish an equitable, province-wide and tax-supported plan can be made."

The report added:

"Until such deficiencies can be corrected, the voluntary health insurance plans should be encouraged for that part of the population that can afford them, and the government introduce a medical care plan for the welfare group which, under any scheme, must be paid for by some governmental authority."

Prince Edward Island also recommended continuation of voluntary plans providing for prepaid hospital care. The island's report suggested the provincial government pay the premiums in the voluntary plans for needy persons.

SUDDEN STORM HITS MASSACHUSETTS—A fallen tree lies across a narrow road and rests on the roof of a house after a sudden windstorm that hit communities north and northwest of Boston. This scene was in Melrose, Mass. Also hard hit was Salem, where at least five were drowned as sailboats capsized.

Find Natural Gas Can Bring Increase In Food Production

By BASIL C. RAFFETY

OMAHA, Neb.—(AP)—Although it may surprise you, the natural gas that heats your home is actually worth more to you as food.

That doesn't mean you can eat it but when the magic wand of chemistry is waved, natural gas becomes a nitrogen fertilizer — which is easily translated into increased food production.

For instance, it takes about 300,000 cubic feet of natural gas to heat one installation for a year at a cost of some $200. But turn that amount of gas into fertilizer, say chemical experts, and it will produce food valued at $13,200.

This might be a key to "vertical" expansion of food production —which the United States department of agricultural says must equal the output of 100,000,000 more acres of crop land if the population anticipated by 1957 is to be adequately fed.

The job must be done by increased production from present crop lands because good crop lands aren't available any more.

PATTERN FOR FUTURE

What's happening in Nebraska right now is an example of what may be the pattern for the future.

Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation is planning to erect a $25,000,000 plant at the juncture of the Platte and Missouri Rivers south of Omaha to begin the first commercial production of urea—a nitrogen fertilizer.

This plant will use about 12,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day—enough to heat 14,600 homes—to make about 61,700 net tons of nitrogen or 110,000 tons of urea annually.

This much nitrogen would be equivalent say the experts, to 44 million bushels of corn in increased production.

Translated into meat production, that would make about 246,800 tons of meat or enough to provide 150 pounds of meat to 3,290,000 persons.

It would be equivalent to cultivating 1,542,000 acres of land.

In fact, Allied spokesman say that the production of this plant if translated into increased yields of farm lands will have the effect of putting almost 4,000,000 acres of farm land into production.

The new plant would produce primarily pelleted or crystal urea, because of its versatility. It can be spread effectively by airplane; it can be dissolved in water and applied as a foliage spray or put into irrigation water.

In slightly different form urea can be used as protein supplement feed for livestock.

Allied is locating the plant in the midwest because of its proximity to market. It's cheaper, Allied says, to bring the gas to Nebraska and make the fertilizer here, than to make the fertilizer at the source of the gas and ship the finished product to the midwest.

Canned Pork Price 35 Cents In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Canned pork went on sale here today in the shops of a large retail grocery chain at 35 cents a 12-ounce can, down 12 cents from its 47-cent price yesterday.

The firm announced last night it was chopping the price as a result of a Federal government decision to offer 40,000,000 pounds of surplus canned pork on the wholesale market at 40 cents a pound, 30 per cent less than it paid for it.

FBI NABS BANK BANDIT—A doctor attends to the bullet wound in the leg of Gerhardt Puff, listed by the FBI as one of the ten most wanted criminals in the country, after Puff was trapped by FBI agents in a New York hotel. # New Army Camp Will Aid N.B. Economy

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New Brunswick's economy will get a boost from establishment of a huge army training camp in the province.

The first base in Canada capable of training a brigade all-year round it is expected to cost about $30,000,000 to establish. About $5,000,000 of that will probably be used to buy 600 square miles of land and the remainder will go for clearing the site and construction of buildings.

Work will begin this fall and plans are to start using the camp about September, 1953.

Once established, the camp will bring millions of dollars into the province and possibly rank sixth, after the tourist trade, in the value of New Brunswick's economic life.

Day-to-day operating costs will mean large expenditures, merchants and other suppliers in communities fringing the area sharing this dollar harvest as well as purchases by the soldiers.

As far as possible the army buys locally. Complete development of the army camp plan would result in a market for New Brunswick food almost as large as Fredericton where the population was 16,018 in the last census.

The army estimates it costs about $1-a-day, buying in bulk, to feed one man. Even with only 5,000 troops in the camp area at first, ration sales would call for daily supplies of 3,750 pounds of beef or its equivalent, 4,375 pounds of potatoes, 625 pounds of butter, 625 pounds of bacon, 3,900 quarts of fresh milk, 3,750 pounds of fresh vegetables, 5,000 eggs, 150 pounds of cheese, 5,000 apples, oranges or other fresh fruits, and additional foods.

The camp also will require huge quantities of fuel, gasoline and other supplies.

Its payroll will bring a heavy flow of dollars into Saint John, Fredericton and smaller centres. A camp with 5,000 men would draw almost $1,000,000 a month in pay.

Says Church, State Approaching Struggle

HANNOVER, Germany (AP)—Bishop Eivind Berggrav of Norway told the Lutheran world federation assembly today that the church and the modern welfare state "are approaching a gigantic struggle."

In one of the major addresses here before Lutherans from 24 countries, the Norwegian churchman said: "The state which we see developing today attempts to take the place of God by substituting welfare for God and faith."

FEW BERRY PICKERS

Few blueberry pickers are out this month, Department of Lands and Forests reports in its Trent district bulletin. Indications are that the crop will not be very good, district forester A. B. Wheatley says.

ASK APPLICATIONS

Applications to the Department of Lands and Forests for trees to be planted in 1953 must be sent in by August 15. Trees asked for are shipped in the spring or can be picked up by the applicants at the nursery.

NEARING COMPLETION

Eastwood Construction men are levelling the ground around Kenner Collegiate Institute this week. Glazing of the windows is completed, and with another month to go until the school term begins, apparently the contractor will be able to coast along to the end of the job with time to spare.

IN JOHNSTON FAVOR

Canadian National Railway section men down the old Millbrook line get special mention from Melville Johnston, county weed inspector. They clipped the goatsbeard along the right of way not once, but twice, in a thick stretch. Some of those weeds were given a lot of liberty to propagate themselves on the north side of Romaine St. and west of the C.N.R.

BUILDING AT BAILIEBORO

At the top of the Bailieboro hill where he is building a new ranch type house for himself, since the city elbowed him out of Smith, Roy Sanderson will have about 15 miles further to motor for his curling this winter, providing he is still interested in the Charlotte St. game.

WHEAT DOWN TWO CENTS

Price of fall wheat is down two cents a bushel to $1.83 from the $1.85 of a week ago in the Peterborough area. Farmers were busy combining the crop Tuesday in all the grain townships of the county. They said it was ideal harvesting weather, sunny with a tempering coolness, just as the Probs man predicted.

PORTENT OF THE SWALLOWS

Rows of swallows are seen these afternoons on telephone wires, a phenomenon of the season as significant of its passing as stubble in the grain fields. Maturing broods strengthen their wings for the August flights to the far south, completing the cycle of the swallow who arrived so zestfully when spring was here.

SMOKE BUT NO FIRE

An overheated toaster at Jerry's Snack Bar, 405 George Street South, early today began to emit a waxy-smelling smoke. The proprietor decided to take no chances and called the fire department. The trouble was finally located and the firemen left without having to use any of their fire-fighting apparatus.

Board Hearing Fails To Settle Wage Dispute

A conciliation board hearing has failed to settle the collective bargaining dispute between Hobbs Glass Ltd. and the union, Local 527, United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America.

Judge W. S. Lane of Picton, chairman of the board, said that as a result of the deadlock the board will have to study the briefs submitted by the company and union and later make a recommendation.

Eight employees are in the bargaining unit.

INCREASED WAGES

The union are asking for the starting rate to be $1.35 and top rates ranging up to $1.65 an hour. At present the starting rate is 95 cents and the maximum rate is $1.30 an hour.

They also want eight statutory holidays with pay; overtime pay for holidays worked; the Rand formula for union security (i.e. all employees pay union dues but they don't have to belong to the union).

During negotiations — which have dragged on for 10 months—the company has lowered the work week from 44 to 40 hours and increased rates 10-20 cents an hour.

The two parties are still at loggerheads over clauses defining management's rights, no-strike provision, seniority and other items in the proposed contract.

Old City Hall Loses Identity

All that remained today of the old city hall were the official quarters of councils of many years, and at the rear the shabby police station with its memories and echoes of grief and humiliation and implicit justice.

The committee room of late years was disintegrating at the weekend and had vanished in rubble Monday. A patch of shelving was a last remnant of the private office of successive mayors. It was also the meeting place of the Police Commission.

The public door into the council chamber gaped sombrely upon the wreckage of the quarters of city officials along Simcoe Street to the tumble of brick in the basement of the Utilities Commission offices

Demolition fills in the cellar hollows as it moves along to the east. Workmen reported that they found two or three roofs over the part of the old city hall that is now gone. The final stage of razing was proceeding today throughout the interior of the council chamber, and the empty and doomed offices below it.

At least the city's official flagpole should be salvaged for some community purpose, possibly a relic that could be turned to useful purpose at one of the new schools.

Sudbury, Rouyn Supply City Blueberries

The best of the huckleberry crop is still to come, as reported from National Grocers.

Some of the local picking is still on the market, but N.G. are getting their berries from the Sudbury area. They are of fine quality, but E. Mellwain rates the Rouyn, Que., berry as "tops."

Peterborough raspberries are nearing the end of their season. A few cases will come to market by the end of the week, and then curtains. Montmorency and black sweet cherries are just about done. They are too advanced in orchard ripeness for deliveries except for short distances.

Leamington cantaloupes and white flesh peaches are in the retail stores. National Grocers received another carload of watermelons. This stock is from South Carolina. The last car went out fast in an area of 40 to 50 miles radius from Peterborough.

Potatoes are holding a firm price, indicating that there is no surplus of the early varieties in Southern Ontario.

Tomatoes are plentiful, but with some evidence of blight effect following the combination of rain and hot weather last week. Garden truck is plentiful.

District Fire Hazard Drops To Low Rating

Fire hazard in the Trent district of the Department of Lands and Forests has dropped to a low rating, district forester A. B. Wheatley said today.

Only three small fires have been reported in the past week. One in Dysart township in Haliburton, was caused by lightning, but the heavy rains accompanying the electrical storm put the fire out.

Another fire was caused by blueberry pickers and a third by boys on a canoe trip. Fires to date have been small in acreage burned, but high in number.

During August, the bush will be in the "curing stage" with the usual hot August weather, and the hazard rating will probably be high.

Largest Rice L. Muskie

BEWDLEY (ENS) — Largest muskie from Rice Lake was reported this week by Ted Dawson of Bewdley. Fishing "just out from Bewdley" he landed a 30-pounder.

The fish measured 48 inches in length and 18 inches in girth. Bait was a straight pikie minnow. Fishing with Mr. Dawson was Murray Manley, also of Bewdley.

Banquet Marks Retirement Of Charles H. Saunders

A combination farewell and welcome banquet was enjoyed Tuesday evening by approximately 30 staff members of the Walker Store in Peterborough at the Empress Hotel. The event was to mark the retirement of Charles H. Saunders who has been manager of the store for the past 27 years and to welcome his successor, William Steele, formerly manager of the Brockville Walker Store.

During the evening Mr. Saunders was presented with two cheques, one from the employees, presented by Roy Davidson and the other from the company, which was presented by Blakeney Woods, assistant general manager of the Walker Stores group.

"This gift is in recognition for Mr. Saunders' great help, not only to the Peterborough store, but to all the other stores in the group," Mr. Wood said. "He has been a terrific help to the company and has trained many of our present managers."

The great affection in which the retiring manager is held by his staff was expressed by Mr. Davidson during his presentation speech.

Miss Nora Killen presented Mrs. Saunders with a bouquet of roses.

Another visiting executive of the company, David Woods, vice-president of Gordon Mackay & Stores Ltd. welcomed Mr. Saunders, Mr. Davidson and Miss Killen into the Quarter Century Club of Walker Stores Ltd. He presented them with watches as a recognition gift of their 25 years of service.

Mr. Steele was introduced by Mr. Saunders, who explained that the new manager in Peterborough has had several years of experience as manager in the Brockville, Port Colborne and Bowmanville stores.

Following his introduction, Mr. Steele acted as chairman.

Another of the representatives of the company's head office in Toronto, Holly Hart, merchandising supervisor, was present and also paid tribute to Mr. Saunders' ability and service.

Mr. Saunders' retirement began Tuesday, but he will retain an optional and part-time connection with the store to assist Mr. Steele in the transfer of management until the end of the year.

District Wheat Moves To Mills

Trucks loaded with fall wheat were heading for the cereal mills in Peterborough Monday directly from farm fields within a circle of about 40 miles.

They were lined up at Quaker Oats and Dewart Milling unloading platforms, coming and going until late in the evening.

The combine machine threshing of grain as it is cut is now established practice on many farms of the district. Bags are dumped in groups for convenience of pick-up in the fields, and grain is on the way to the mills within a short time after cutting. It is a matter of arranging for trucking, while the combines rattle on with their job.

Monday's work stripped a big acreage, and combining was continuing today at the same rate. Weight of wheat is averaging 58 to 61 pounds to the bushel, but information as to yield per acre was not available today.

Local price to the producer was down here two cents from last week's $1.85 a bushel; in Simcoe county it was from $1.77 to $1.80, and in Chatham district $1.85 to $1.90.

Fourth Time Lucky

It should have been three times and out for Ben Smith of Cameron St. He went fishing in the Otonabee River early today at the end of Park St. and hooked a muskie. Having no gaff, club or net, he tried to wind his line around the fish's gills and smother it. Three times the fish unwound the line. The fourth time it broke the line. Ben went home, but returned half an hour later to see the muskie recovering its bearings on top of a weedbed close to shore. Throwing off his coat, he jumped in and grabbed the fish. This time, Ben won, and brought a 40-incher to shore.

Urge $700,000 Assessment Jump In Victoria

LINDSAY.—An increase in the equalized assessment of Lindsay to $700,000 was recommended at a meeting of the Victoria County Council Monday night.

The equalization committee of the council headed by Warden Ray Webster of Mariposa inspected all the municipalities in the county earlier in the summer. Object of this inspection was to enact a more equalized assessment within the county for 1953.

The findings of the committee were reported to the meeting on Monday and the following changes recommended: Bexley increased by $5,000; Carden increased by $5,000; Dalton, no change; Eldon, no change; Emily, no change; Fenelon township, increased $175,000; Laxton, Digby and Longford, increased $40,000; Ops, increased $30,000; Somerville, increased $50,000; Verulam, increased $21,000; Lindsay increased $1,000,000; Bobcaygeon, increased $55,000; Fenelon Falls, increased $10,000; Omemee, no change; Sturgeon Point, increased $4,000; Woodville, no change.

Following discussion the following changes were made in the recommendation: Fenelon township was cut to $150,000; the increase for Laxton, Digby and Longford was cut to $30,000; the increase for Somerville was cut to $40,000; the increase for Lindsay was cut to $700,000; and the increase for Bobcaygeon was cut to $40,000.

Economists Work On UK Recovery

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is placing some of its best economic brains on the job to help the commonwealth sterling area find the road to financial recovery.

High-ranking trade, financial and banking officials in the Federal government are expected to be formed into an interdepartmental committee soon to concentrate on the problems that will be brought forward at the commonwealth prime ministers' conference to be held in London next November.

These officials, veterans in dealing with crucial international economic problems, will study means to boost Canada's imports of commonwealth goods to provide the sterling area with increased amounts of dollars.

They will also prepare the Canadian fiscal view on how the United Kingdom and other commonwealth sterling-area countries can best stave off the threat of economic bankruptcy. The view will be carried to the conference by Prime Minister St. Laurent who may be accompanied by Finance Minister Abbott and a delegation made up of this interdepartmental group.

First Polio Case Reported By M.O.H.

Peterborough district's first polio case, a two-year-old boy, was reported today by Dr. R. A. Kelly, medical officer of health.

The first suspect of the year, reported earlier, was found to be suffering from another disease.

There were 63 cases of polio from the city and district admitted to Civic hospital in 1951 and four additional cases were taken directly to Toronto.

Fishing Equipment, Motor Valued At $800 Stolen In Buckhorn Area

Sneak Thieves Break Windows on Two Autos For $500 Worth of Tackle; Outboard Stolen From Resident's Trailer

Provincial Police are investigating the theft of an outboard motor and fishing tackle from tourists in the Buckhorn district. The total value of the stolen goods is estimated at $800. Two United States tourists at Beachwood Lodge were the chief victims. Edward T. Rowland of Weirton, West Virginia, Tuesday morning found that a window had been smashed in his car, parked outside the lodge, and $300 in rods and reels were missing.

Another American, W. S. Gardiner of Huntington, N.Y., lost $200 in rods and reels, tackle box and a couple of blankets, from his car, also parked outside the lodge.

The two Americans, along with Harry Morgan, proprietor of Beachwood Lodge, have put up a reward of $50 for the return of the fishing equipment. Another $50 is offered for the arrest and conviction of the thief.

"We've been coming up here for 15 years," said Mr. Rowland, "and this is the first time we've had anything stolen. It's a bad advertisement for the tourist trade; we estimate that our party over the years have spent about $8,000."

Joe Kelso of Buckhorn was the third victim. The thieves broke open his cabin trailer and stole an outboard motor. He uses the trailer as his bait sales shop.

Egg Prices Skid 4 to 5 Cents In Past Week

Skidding egg prices are causing concern to district poultry farmers. During the last week, the price paid by wholesalers to producers has dropped from four to five cents. The same is true at the retail level.

Closely tied to supply and demand, egg prices are often subject to freqquent variations and are about as unpredictable as the weather.

Main reason for the drop within the last few days, according to local packers and egg grading stations is that spring pullets are coming into production.

A week ago, Canada Packers were paying 53 cents a dozen for Grade A Large. Today, the price quoted to farmers is 48 cents. Prices for other grades are correspondingly lower.

In downtown stores, consumers were still paying about 73 cents a dozen for Grade A's when stores closed Wednesday noon — the prices varied from 72 at suburban corner grocers to 74 cents in some downtown stores.

GAMBLE ON PRICES

Farmers, faced with fixed costs, particularly feed prices which normally are quite stable, have to gamble on prices staying high enough to give them a sufficient margin of profit to cover production costs.

Then too, they are critical of the wide spread between the prices they receive and the prices consumers have to pay when they buy eggs from grocery stores.

The nub of the farmers' complaint that they are the end men on the totem pole and hardest hit by price variations. The prices they receive are subject to current market quotations, while retail and wholesale dealers have a day or two to take advantage of wide price variations.

The present spread between prices paid to farmers and the price being charged to consumers is 24 cents for Grade A large.

Hint Queen May Take Children To Australia

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (CP) A hint that the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh may bring Prince Charles and Princess Anne on their forthcoming tour of Australia and New Zealand was given today by Sir John Allum, Mayor of Auckland.

Sir John, who just returned from a visit to Britain where he was presented to the Queen, said in a speech that "Her Majesty herself has said she expects to be in Australia early in 1954, and she will visit New Zealand first."

Sir John said he did not want anyone making more out of his words than what he said, but he added, with a knowing smile:

"I hope she brings her children."

City Police Keep Close Watch On Vacant Homes

A major job of the Peterborough police in summertime is keeping a watch on vacant homes when the occupants have gone away for a vacation. It's not the sort of job that hits newspaper headlines but it's an essential part of the police department's service to the public.

Chief Constable John Thompson says that it takes two men, doing nothing else, practically all night to check the "vacant homes" list this time of year.

Here are a few hints, suggested by Chief Thompson, for keeping your house "thief proof" while you are away:

First of all—and most important—tell the city police when and how long you will be away. Don't come back unexpectedly during that time without warning the police or you may be mistaken for a burglar in your own home.

ASK NEIGHBORS

Ask your next-door neighbors to keep a wary eye on the place. Give them your vacation address and ask them to call the police if they see strangers around or if their suspicions are aroused in any way.

Lock all windows and doors.

Don't leave money, jewelry or other valuables at home; store them in a safe place until you return.

Cancel milk deliveries to your home, and either have your newspaper temporarily cancelled or mailed on to your vacation address. Give your postman the change of address.

Chief Thompson says that a pile of newspapers and a collection of milk bottles have often been the tip-off that persuaded breakin-artists the way was clear to enter a house.

51,900 Planted

Hatchery Sets New Musky-Raising Mark

Deer Lake Hatchery has set a new production record in the raising of maskinonge in Ontario. So far, 51,900 fingerlings have been planted in the four counties served by the hatchery.

These are a small fraction of the original 4,170,000 fry that hatched out in the middle of May this year. Since then natural deaths and weather problems have cut the population in the rearing ponds.

The weather problem this year was a double one. Hot weather raised the water temperature in the rearing ponds to a critical point, and made the collection of shiner fry — used as food for the tiny muskies—more difficult.

A. B. Wheatley, district forester with the Department of Lands and Forests in Lindsay, says of the production record this year that "the attainment of a fixed high production figure should not be expected each year."

Although definite progress was being made in the artificial propagation of muskies, old and new obstacles crop up each year, and good and bad years are encountered.

"The degree of success," said Mr. Wheatley, "is directly dependent on how they (the hatchery manager and staff) encounter and surmount adverse conditions each year. In this muskie work, a great deal depends on initiative and ingenuity."

Distribution in the Trent district of maskinonge fingerlings is as follows: Peterborough County, 18,300; Victoria, 9,000; Northumberland, 8,700; and Haliburton, 800.

In addition, Mr. Wheatley's weekly report told of the distribution of largemouth and smallmouth black bass, and Kamloops trout. In Peterborough, 750 largemouth fingerlings were planted, 2,500 smallmouth fingerlings, and 3,000 Kamloops yearlings.

Fred MacMurray Trying Adventure Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Meet the new Fred MacMurray—swashbuckler!

"I might as well get into this kind of picture," remarked MacMurray, who was decked out on the set of "Fair Wind to Java," in the dashing costume usually sported by Errol Flynn and Alan Ladd.

"No reason why those guys should keep adventure pictures to themselves. Nobody seems to be making comedies any more. So adventure is the thing for me now."

NO LAUGHS

Asked why there was a dearth of laugh-provoking movies, MacMurray said:

"I guess the producers think that they have to compete with television. That means giving the public color and scope, which they can't get on TV. Big westerns, musicals, spectacles and adventures are the ticket."

In the absence of good comedy scripts, MacMurray has switched to the adventure field.

"People ask me if it's tough work," he commented. "It couldn't be tougher than comedies. Why, I've slipped in the mud, done pratfalls, fallen in water and done anything for laughs. After that training adventure pictures are a cinch."

He thinks comedies will eventually return to public favor.

"Pictures run in cycles," he remarked. "I remember when we made 'Double Indemnity.' It was the first of the realistic kind of crime picture and a whole raft of them followed. The picture did well, but it probably would have done better if it hadn't been the trail-blazer."

SEN. JOHN SPARKMAN, Democratic vice-president nominee, raises his hand on the rostrum as he introduces Mrs. Sparkman (centre) and their daughter, Mrs. Tazewell Shepard, to the Democratic convention before it wound up its activities in Chicago.

Thousands Flock To Centennial At Owen Sound

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Several thousand Grey county residents flocked into Owen Sound yesterday for the first of two days set aside to mark the 100th anniversary of the county. The city of Owen Sound, which was 100 years old in 1940, is joining with the county in the event.

Special speakers at the official opening were the county's four representatives in the federal and provincial governments, two of them holding cabinet rank. They were, Federal Immigration Minister W.E. Harris, M.P. for Grey-Bruce; Ontario Health Minister Mackinnon Phillips, M.P.P. for Grey North; Hon. Farquhar Oliver, former Liberal leader in Ontario, M.P.P. for Grey South, and Colin E. Bennett, M.P. for Grey North.

In a morning parade most of the county's 26 municipalities entered floats depicting some scene from the early days. Veterans from Canadian Legion branches throughout the county marched in a special warriors section.

A soft ball tournament, a horse shoe pitching tournament and a tug-of-war featured the afternoon sports program. Leonard McKeown of Priceville and his daughter Helen were winners of the senior and junior classes of the fiddlers contest.

Motorboat races and water skiing in the Owen Sound harbor, a lacrosse game between Peterborough and Owen Sound and a dance made up the evening program.

The centennial concludes tonight.

"WOODEN CURTAIN" FOR GERMANY —East German workers erect a long line of wooden poles along the East-West German border near Hohegeis and Braunlage in the Hartz Mountain district. Communist East German government sent thousands of workers to the border to complete a 10-yard-wide "dead zone" no-man's land. Poles are being strung with barbed wire. This picture was taken with a long-range lens when the workers' Communist guards were out of sight.

British Newspaper Criticizes Canada's Policy

LONDON (Reuters)—The Manchester Guardian today suggests that Canada relinquish the "posture of Olympian detachment she has lately assumed in Commonwealth affairs."

In an editorial on the November meeting of Commonwealth prime ministers announced yesterday by Prime Minister Churchill, the Guardian says:

"The government has been careful to describe the . . conference as a first step in a larger effort to reach a closer economic understanding with the U.S. and Canada.

"That door must be kept open in spite of all the draughts which the presidential election will cause.

"In that respect much help could be rendered by Canada if she was to give up the posture of Olympian detachment she has lately assumed in Commonwealth affairs and to join in the effort with the friendly, constructive energy we used to admire."

Plead Guilty To Smuggling

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Two men accused of taking part in an attempt to smuggle aliens into the United States from Canada pleaded guilty yesterday to charges of conspiracy.

They were Vito Montalbano, 43, of Elizabeth, N.J., and George C. Steele, 46, of Niagara Falls They will be sentenced Aug. 11.

Say Autopsy Report Will Be Delayed

SARNIA (CP)—An autopsy report in the death of Eva Thibeault, 34-year-old former resident of Timmins, who was found dying Monday in a house here was not completed last night and an official of the coroner's office indicated it would not be available for two or three days.

City police were called to the residence about 7 p.m. by other occupants of the house who said the woman had been "violently ill" most of the day.

Police said she was apparently suffering from a dose of poison and that she was in a dying condition when they arrived.

Two Soldiers On Trial In Shooting

WITH THE CANADIAN BRIGADE, Korea (AP)—Two Canadian soldiers accused of shooting a Korean woman to death went on trial today before a five-man court martial.

Charged with murder are Pte. Clarence Leo Mowers, Silllery, Que., and Pte. Kenneth Carleton, Saint John, N. B., both members of the first battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. Maximum sentence is death.

Both face additional charges of stealing and of acts prejudicial to good order and discipline.

The charges grew out of an incident at the village of Shin San on the night of last May 18 when a Korean woman was shot fatally through the head.

Canadian authorities said the prosecution will contend that Mowers fired a shot through the door of a Korean home which killed the woman as she sat near a window. Carleton was accused as an accomplice.

Both men allegedly fired several shots in the village before the fatality.

The prosecution, headed by Maj. Clayton Hutchins of Halifax planned to call 24 witnesses. About five will be called for the defence. Maj. C. H. Johnson of Ottawa is defence counsel.

The court will hear the case of Mowers first. Col. J. S. Ross of Edmonton is president of the court.

B.C. Loggers Back At Work As Long Dispute Settled

VANCOUVER (CP)—The tramp of loggers' boots today began to drive the ghosts of a costly silence from the forests and sawmills of coastal British Columbia.

The summer fire hazard and transportation kinks were the only remaining obstacles as the giant timber industry began a return to life after 45 days of strike paralysis.

Settlement of the $1,000,000-a-day strike of 32,000 workers was announced last night by Chief Justice Gordon Sloan and a back-to-work call was sounded by union and operators.

The woodworkers will get a 5½-cents-hourly wage boost which, with rentention of the 11-cents-an-hour cost-of-living bonus, will give them a basic wage of $1.46 hourly.

Other provisions are three paid statutory holidays and a clause permitting reopening of wage negotiations in December.

Actually, what the operators and the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) signed was an agreement to enter into a new contract.

Under the pact Chief Justice Sloan will draft clauses putting his award into the new contract. If there is any dispute over the wording, the decision of the chief justice will be final and binding on both parties.

The settlement bore little resemblance to proposals made at the opening of negotiations by the I.W.A. and by Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., bargaining for 162 coast operators.

The loggers demanded an increase of 35 cents an hour. Operators said overseas markets were dwindling and recommended that their employees take wage cuts ranging up to 10 per cent.

J. Stewart Aisbury, district president of the I.W.A., called the settlement a "decisive victory" for the union, "unique because of the uphill battle we had to fight."

Disagreement on procedure of signing was what delayed settlement. The companies asked that the workers return to their jobs while the contract was in the process of being drawn up and the union insisted that the contract be signed before the men returned to work.

Chief Justice Sloan's suggestion of an agreement to enter into a new contract settled this dispute.

John Billings, manager of Forest settlement: "Most operations will resume production at the earliest possible time. In many instances this will be this morning. Logging camps will take a little longer to assemble crews and in some areas fire hazard due to dry weather may interfere with work."

The I.W.A. said picketing continues at 16 small operations, 11 of which have "rejected the agreement" and five which "have not yet reported acceptance." They involve less than 200 workers.

Thick Report Will Answer Red Charges On Atrocities

TORONTO (CP)—A voluminous report is to be presented to the 18th International Red Cross conference today by the International Committee answering Communist charges against the committee regarding alleged atrocities in Korea.

Paul Ruegger, president of the International Committee, announced the release of the report Tuesday during sessions in which Russian, Communist Chinese and Czechoslovakian delegations denounced the I.C.R.C. as a tool of the West and withdrew financial support from it.

Despite Communist attacks, the General Commission—one of four conducting conference business—voted 61 to 14 to continue the mandate of the finance commission, set up four years ago to accept contributions from Geneva convention countries.

The International Committee is designated as the enforcer of the Geneva Convention, which set down rules for the treatment and exchange of war prisoners.

Soviet bloc delegates charged the I.C.R.C. has repeatedly ignored atrocities committed against civilians and prisoners of war.

Lt.-Gen. Nikolai Slavin, head of the Russian delegation, said the committee had hidden atrocities during the Ethiopian, First and Second World and Korean Wars.

Mrs. Li Teh Chuan, head of the Communist Chinese delegation, condemned the United Nations for permitting alleged Koje Island prison camp massacres. She charged villages had been bombed and Chinese civilians killed without the International Committee "denouncing this as inhuman."

A Russian proposed amendment, backed by Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia, seeking to reduce the committee's power to recognize new societies and enforce the Geneva Convention, was turned down by Andre Francois-Poncet, chairman of the General Commission, because it had been presented after June 30.

Principal defender of the I.C.R.C. was the Viscountess of Limerick, British delegate, who said her delegation was concerned about "unjustified attacks."

Flowers Add Beauty, Grace When Artistically Arranged

By MATILDA ROGERS

Whether you grow flowers in your garden, buy them at a florist shop, or receive them from friends, you will want to do more than merely plunk a few stems into a vase, when you bring flowers into your living room or office.

With interest in flower arrangement as an everyday art growing in leaps and bounds, you, too, will want to try your hand at this fascinating hobby.

To begin with, you must aim for good design. And to get it, try for a combination of a spike flower (with tips like snapdragon or gladioli) and a round flower (like peonies or carnations). Even round flowers, however, need a succession of buds on top, with the rest of the blooms graded so that the largest flower is at the bottom of the arrangement.

With these two basic principles, plus a little practice, you'll make progress in flower arrangement—since these are two important principles that govern the essential difference between an arrangement and just shoving flowers into a container.

You'll find, too, that you can achieve a much more effective design with fewer flowers if you choose a low bowl instead of a tall vase.

The thing that makes this possible is your flower holder. Good ones are made of brass and usually are covered with enamel. They are heavy, so that your flowers will not topple, and have fine, sharp needle points to aid the stems in taking in lots of water.

In addition to the holder, you'll need some soft, oily clay. Break off a piece about the size of a lump of sugar, roll it between the palms of your hands to bring the oil to the surface. Then break the pieces into three gobs.

Place one on the back of the holder at the upper left corner, another at the upper right corner, and the third at the bottom center, forming a triangle. Incidentally, holders and clay are sold by most department stores and many florists.

Now, armed with a low bowl, a good flower holder anchored firmly in the bowl with oily clay, a pair of sharp scissors or pruners and the flowers, and you're ready to follow this step-by-step procedure and copy a snapdragon-and-peonies arrangement.

Measure your straightest snapdragon so that it is at least one-and-a-half times as tall as your bowl is wide. Next, cut another snap (with a curved tip) so its stem is about two inches shorter. Cut a third snap (with a more pronounced curved tip) a few inches shorter still, and the one with the most interesting curve, the shortest of all.

Place each of the snapdragons on the holder, a bit to the left, so that each shows to advantage, before you grade your peonies from the smallest bud to the largest flower. The tiniest bud will have the longest stem and the largest flower should have its stem cut shortest.

Now you are ready to put the peonies on the holder, adding them to the right of your snapdragon. Strip any of the upper leaves, if necessary, if each bud and flower does not show to best advantage.

Because the peony has such lovely foliage of its own, you need add nothing but water and an ice cube or two. Before you do, however, fill in any spaces at the bottom of your arrangement with extra peony leaves.

Notice that while your flowers look casual enough, the position of each is really carefully planned. So that your friends and family can enjoy your completed arrangement, place it to the left of any table, flat desk or piano that's silhouetted against a wall background.

No tall arrangement would ever be used as a centerpiece on a dining-room table.

FOR GOOD BALANCE in flower arrangements, try combining a spike flower, such as the snapdragon, with a round flower, such as the peony. The largest flower goes at the bottom of the arrangement.

"Double Duty" Key To Living Small Quarters

NEW YORK.—Keyed to living in small quarters, the annual midsummer display of new furniture and model room settings places an emphasis on the "double-duty" piece of furniture.

Some furniture displays a pleasant light brown mahogany finish, polished to show the grain and said to be alcohol and heat resistant. Many of the pieces are paneled with a woven grass matting, called gabanga. The doors on cabinets are fitted with devices to make them open at the pressure of a fingertip; the drawers have rollers to make them slide easily.

Two versions of the popular room divider are shown, one of them fitted with open shelves, enclosed cabinets and drawer sections on both sides. A desk is fitted into one side of this divider, a table top which drops down for dining or serving, on the other. Another double-duty piece is a small square lamp table, the top of which may be lifted off to disclose compartments for records or magazines. A number of chests, cabinets, hutch tops and low tables which may be combined in various storage arrangements; a dining table and chair group and some bedroom pieces are also shown.

Baby's Room Aid To Health

A great aid in keeping your baby healthy and contented is the well-ventilated nursery.

This means the room must always get enough fresh air, regardless of season. Don't be afraid to open the windows. Baby won't catch cold if you maintain the proper ventilation.

Naturally, circulation of air is of prime importance. Keep a thermometer in the room, and check it several times throughout the day. It should read between 68 and 72 degrees. At night, 65 degrees is considered most beneficial.

With the coming of fall, you should give some thought to heating the nursery. Since humidity is often a problem when a house is heated by steam, hot air or hot water, a pan of water in the room will keep it much more comfortable.

It's a good idea to be prepared for any emergencies that might arise by keeping an electric heater on hand. The heater will help to maintain the temperature in baby's room, if, for instance, there should happen to be temporary poor circulation of heat throughout the house.

Make every effort to insure your baby's well-being when she is in the nursery. Her even-tempered happy disposition will more than reward your care.

DOROTHY DIX

Second Wife Annoyed At Being Compared To First

DEAR MISS DIX: Two years ago I married my husband, who was a widower. I was a widow. Every once in a while he makes remarks about his first wife's cooking, how she would go blocks out of her way to save a few cents in groceries, how she sewed, baked, etc.

I feel that I am an individual with my own way of doing things. After all, no two people are alike. He is getting me nervous with these constant comparisons. I never mention my late husband, so why should the past be brought up to me? He seldom takes me out, giving the baby as an excuse, although my older children could watch him.

I am 43 now, my husband is 56, and we each have five children from our previous marriages. My husband's children are also providing a bone of contention. At the time of his marriage they seemed to approve and they are all out on their own. After their mother's death they didn't bother with their dad at all, but now they tell him all the faults of my family. We should have a peaceful home, but there always seems to be an argument brewing.

MRS. R. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You certainly do seem to have lots of contention, but, since none of it is serious in itself, a wise consideration of each separate item would clear the atmosphere quite a bit. Basically, you and your husband are happy and contented. At the time of your writing, apparently everything had flared up at once into quite a domestic conflagration.

HAS HE JUST CAUSE?

You are a bit on the defensive when complaining of your husband's remarks anent his first wife. Is it possible that he has just cause for making unfavorable comparisons? Are you a good housekeeper—at least to the extent of keeping a clean, comfortable house, serving appetizing meals with an eye to the family budget? Perhaps the accusations of extravagance are not unjust, in which case you most assuredly should do something about them.

Walking several blocks to save a few pennies would be expecting too much, but a reasonably sensible attitude toward spending is part of a housewife's routine talent. Check your own capabilities in the household department, and see if you can't find room for improvement.

One of the penalties a woman usually pays for marrying a man considerably older than herself is a curtailment of social life. While you may feel physically and mentally able to brave a fairly strenuous social program, your husband, nearing 60, has reached the age where television provides all the exertion he wants in his time off. Remember the limitations of age and don't expect 56 to keep pace with 43.

If you can take a fairly objective appraisal of your marriage, and make an honest effort to remedy your own shortcomings, home should be a much more harmonious place. Be thankful for your husband's good points, and don't expect perfection. Settle gratefully for a trifle less.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Two years ago, at the age of 19, I fell in love with a man who has a most unsavory reputation. At that time I knew nothing of his past. He is 20 years older than I. Now I find he has an abusive streak, and he has been mistreating me abominably. He tells me that if I try to break up with him, he will make things very miserable for me and my family, since I know too much about him. What began as an affectionate, innocent friendship has turned into a nightmare. What can I do?

D.D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You cannot fight this thing out on the man's terms without at least having a nervous breakdown. Go to one of your parents with the story, your father preferably. He should be able to give you, or obtain for you, the protection you need. If yon can't do that, threats or no threats, see a lawyer or go directly to the police.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: With a choice between two boys, how can I tell which I should go with? One likes me a lot, but I am not too fond of him; the other I care for, but he seems more indifferent to me.

REGINA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: At your age, be friends with both and see what develops. Perhaps further acquaintance will increase the ardor of the second friend.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Spanish Omelette Or Salad Tasty Summer Supper

The cooks' little helper has an idea that everybody is going to call her blessed for. How does a meal with one hot special — Spanish Omelette—appeal to you? Bolster this with a beautiful salad full of little surprises; win your loved ones to you with a deep fresh apple pie and tangy cheese for dessert.

Want to work along with me on this? So far it is cool in my kitchen today.

EMEM'S SPANISH OMELETTE

To serve four people use 6 eggs. Separate whites and yolks and beat whites until stiff but not dry. Now without washing the beater transfer it to the bowl of yolks and beat them until they are double in bulk and lemon-colored. To the yolks add ¾ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper and ½ cup milk. Heat a large frying or omelette pan with 1 tablespoon butter in it. Have sides and bottom of pan well-buttered and quite hot. Cut and fold the whites into the yolk mixture. Pour into hot pan, then reduce heat. Cook slowly until omelette is set. Then place in moderate oven to dry off top.

SPANISH SAUCE

On cup sliced onions, 4 tablespoons salad or olive oil, 1 bay leaf, 2½ cups tomatoes, fresh or canned, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 chopped green pepper, if desired 1 cup mushrooms, dash of pepper, 2 whole cloves, 1 teaspoon sugar, 4 tablespoons flour, 6 tablespoons water. Saute the onions, peppers and mushrooms if used, in the salad oil until tender and transparent but not brown. Add all remaining ingredients except flour and water and cover and simmer about 30 minutes. Mix the flour and water to a smooth paste and stir into sauce until thick. Remove the bay leaf and cloves.

SURPRISE GREEN SALAD

The sauce goes between the fold of the omelette. Three hands would be better to manage this, but since most of us have only two you have to perform sleight of hand. Serve very hot on hot platter garnished with sliced tomatoes and cress.

Rub wooden salad bowl with cut clove of garlic; break apart crisp dry lettuce and place in bowl —about ¾ of a medium head. Add bite-sized pieces of tomato wedges, wafer thin slices of cucumber, sliced radishes and celery, about ½ cup of strips of anchovy or imported sardines, ¼ cup crumbled Roquefort or Dutch blue cheese, and 1 sliced hard-cooked egg. Dress with sparing amount of—

PIQUANT FRENCH DRESSING

Two tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon each dry mustard, paprika and salt, ½ teaspoon each celery seeds and grated onion, one-third teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup lemon juice, ¾ cup salad or olive oil, 1 very thin slice garlic. Shake all well in covered bottle. You will have some left over for your next salad. Leave the garlic in and keep covered in refrigerator.

DEEP FRESH APPLE PIE

I have Duchess apples in mind for this. You need about 10 cups of them when pared and cut in wedge-shaped slices. Mix with them 1¼ to 1½ cups sugar and 1 teaspoon nutmeg. You may want to add 2 tablespoons flour if apples are extra juicy. Arrange these in a 9-inch 2-inch deep baking dish, sides of which are lined with pastry. Sprinkle with 1 or 2 tablespoons water. Cover with top crust rolled a little thicker than for a two-crust pie. If you like you can dot the apples with 1 or 2 tablespoons butter before putting on top. Brush crust with mixture of 1 tablespoon each sugar and milk to glaze it. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 45 minutes. Serve warm with old cheddar cheese. In Missouri and plenty of other places they omit the cheese and pour thick cream over. If I had some Devonshire cream I'd use that.

Paper Describes Pump Device To Drain Blood

DUBLIN (CP)—A detailed description of the electric pump device alleged to be used to drain blood from live horses and thus provide whiter meat, was published recently by the Irish Press.

The newspaper quoted a prominent but unnamed horse exporter as saying the pump is strapped to the horse's neck and connected into the jugular vein.

"Shackles are placed both on the near hind leg and near fore leg to prevent the animal from kicking about too much," the exporter was quoted as saying. "He stands on a rubber mat to prevent the flesh from being bruised when he collapses, which are the horse's worst moments, lying kicking and whinnying on the floor.

"The result of all this torture is that the blood has been sucked dry from the animal, which turns snow white, and this white flesh can be sold as veal, usually in pies and sandwiches, as any visitor to London hotels can testify."

The electric pump was mentioned in a series of articles written for the Manchester Guardian by Patrick Keatley, on leave from the Vancouver Sun on a Commonwealth Press Union scholarship. The series aroused a large correspondence and led to a number of debates in the House of Commons. Prime Minister Churchill promised an "urgent inquiry" into some of the malpractices described by Keatley.

6—In Memoriam

CATHCART—In loving memory of Harold Cathcart, who passed away one year ago, July 30, 1951.
Time speeds on, one year has passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there is none can fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain
For up in heaven we will meet again.
—Ever remembered by the Family and Mildred.

US Seeking To Cut Russ Olympic Lead

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI (CP)—The pickings were comparatively poor for the hungry point-scorers at the Olympic Games today. There were only three finals on the program.

But the United States hoped to cut into that 74½-point lead held by Russia.

The three finals scheduled were the men's 400-metre free-style swimming race, the women's springboard diving and the final in sabre competition for teams.

CANADA ADDS 3 POINTS

No points were in sight for Canada, which added three yesterday on Gilmour Boa's fourth place in one of the shooting championships. Canada's swimmers were eliminated yesterday from the 400-metre event. There were no Canadian entries in either the diving or team-sabre events.

The United States yesterday scored 15 points, the biggest chunk of 10 points coming on a victory in the 800-metre swim relay. Russia scored 12 points, all but one in two shooting events.

Going into today's competition, Russia had 514½ points to 440 for the United States. Canada had 30 points and was in 20th place in the team standing.

The United States had three men in the 440-metre swim final but they faced tremendous opposition, although among the five other finalists there were no Russians.

1ST, 3RD FOR U.S.

The first half of the women's springboard competition was held yesterday and the United States placed divers first and third—Mrs. Pat McCormick and Mrs. Zoe Ann Jensen. Mady Moreau of France placed second. Two Russian girls qualified—fifth and eighth among the eight who advanced to today's second phase.

The sabre-team championship appeared to belong to Hungary, which has won this event since 1928.

Two Hungarian girls placed one-two in the women's 100-metre backstroke final of the swimming competition yesterday.

Eva Szekely was the winner, in Olympic-record time, and Eva Novak was second. Helen Gordon of Great Britain took third place.

Lenora Fisher of Ocean Falls, B.C., was eliminated in preliminaries of this event. And in the men's 400-metre preliminaries, Gerry McNamee of Vancouver and Allen Gilchrist of Ocean Falls failed to qualify.

In all, eight championships were decided yesterday. Besides the two swimming championships, they were:

BOA FOURTH

Prone-firing section of the small-bore competition; won by Yosef Sarbu of Romania, with Boris Andreev of Russia second, A.C. Jackson of the United States third and Boa, the Toronto marksman, placed fourth.

The aggregate championship in small-bore competition: won by Erling Kongshaug of Norway.

Running-deer shot: Won by John Larsen of Norway.

Grand prix dressage of the equestrian competition: Individual championship won by Henri St. Cyr of Sweden; team title won by Sweden.

The cycling 4,000-metre team pursuit race: Won by Italy, with South Africa second. Great Britain was third.

In basketball yesterday the United States and Argentina remained unbeaten in semi-final play which continued today. They were favored to advance to the finals along with Russia and France. The schedule today: United States vs. Brazil; Russia vs. Chile; Argentina vs. Uruguay; France vs. Bulgaria.

CANADIAN TRIUMPHS

In the boxing tournament three Canadians were left after yesterday's long program. Charlie Chase, Montreal light-welterweight, won a decision over Andre Oueille of France. Clayton Kenny, Ottawa lightweight, and Len Walters, Vancouver featherweight, had byes yesterday.

Jack Butula, welterweight from Kimberley, B.C., was a technical-knockout victim of Ron Norris of India. Norris opened up in the third round, staggering Butula with a right to the jaw and following up with seven smashing rights before the bout was stopped.

Bobby Malouf, Montreal middleweight, lost on a first-round technical knockout to Leonardus Jansen of Holland, an easy target after taking a stiff left to the jaw.

LOSES DECISION

In the heavyweight division Jim Saunders lost a decision to Giacomo di Segni of Italy, apparently losing the third round after being warned for holding.

The United States still had nine of its 10 boxers in the running and the Russians had eight of ten. The lone U.S. loser was Ellsworth Webb, middleweight, who was kayoed by the 1948 Olympic middleweight champion, Lazlo Papp of Hungary.

One of Russia's best prospects was heavyweight Aljirdas Schocikas, who scored a technical knockout over Antoni Goscianski of Poland in the second round.

In the soccer tournament, Yugoslavia moved into the finals by defeating Germany 3-1 last night. The Yugoslavs will meet Hungary in the final Saturday night. Hungary yesterday crushed Sweden 6-0.

FAST FIGHT ACTION—Left, Laurent Dauthille moves back, covering up, and in slight distress in the second round, as Johnny Bratton forces him to the west-side ropes. Right, Bratton ducks under Dauthille's left lead and spears to the stomach starting the eventful third round in which Dauthille was knocked out. The fight was held in the Montreal Forum.

Athletics Only 6 Games Behind Yanks

DETROIT (AP)—Jimmy Dykes has been around long enough to get used to almost anything in baseball—even his Philadelphia Athletics.

But the 55-year-old manager is a bit amazed today. His sixth-place Athletics—and this may come as news to you—are only six games behind the league-leading New York Yankees in the all-important loss column. And only three games behind the second-place Cleveland Indians in the loss column.

Until now everybody was talking about the American League race as a five-team affair. But if the A's have a hot streak in making up their postponed games, it could be a six-team fight.

They took five straight series before moving into Briggs Stadium here and splitting a twi-night doubleheader with the Tigers yesterday.

Behind the pitching of ace Bobby Shantz (18-3), Alex Kellner, Carl Scheib, and rookie Harry Byrd, the Athletics have picked up 3½ games on the leaders since July 14. They now trail the Yankees by 9½ games.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Jim Norris, International Boxing Club president, yesterday opened negotiations with the managers of heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott and Rocky Marciano for a Sept. 16 or Sept. 23 million-dollar title bout.

"This bout will draw all you can put in the park," said Norris at a conference in New York with Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, and Marty Weill, manager of unbeaten Marciano.

"It will do a million dollars at the gate," said Norris, "not counting home television or theatre television, whatever we decided to do. It's the biggest match the I.B.C. ever had."

Norris' preference is for Sept. 23, a Tuesday, at Yankee Stadium. That also meets with Marciano's approval. Bocchicchio would like an earlier date and is not sold on the site.

"I can't manage my fighter in the state of New York," said Felix. "And I can't have him fight when I can't manage him."

He was referring to the fact that he has no manager's licence in New York. His application in 1949 for a manager's licence was refused.

CRICKET MEET SATURDAY

The 1952 inter-provincial cricket meet will open at Ottawa Saturday with Ontario playing British Columbia. On Sunday Ontario will meet Alberta at Ottawa while Quebec and British Columbia play at Toronto.

Ontario and Quebec meet at Toronto Monday, followed by Ontario and Manitoba at St. Catharines Tuesday.

Succeeding games will depend on first round results.

Canada will meet the United States at Toronto Aug. 10. Toronto Cricket Club will play the United States team at Toronto Aug. 11.

+ + +

LADY-DRIVERS IN DERBY

The "Powder-Puff Derby" first race of the season to be staged exclusively for lady-drivers, will be contested at Thorncliffe Raceway Thursday.

Seven lady-drivers, five from Ontario, have signified their intention of racing. The list is headed by Mary Lou O'Connor of Warwick Downs, R.I., who, because she has been driving in open competition against the men, probably will be favored to win with Volo Harvester.

Other drivers are: Miss Jacqueline Sharpe, Beechy, Sas.; Mrs. M. Dell, Niagara Falls.; Mrs. Victor Lutman, Toronto; Mrs. Mabel Holden, Wallacetown; Mrs. Ann Pickel, Thorndale; and Mrs. Wilbur Apthorpe, of Chatham.

+ + +

DURNO, COLLIZA SIGN

Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four football league, yesterday announced the signing of Don Durno and Vince Colliza to 1952 contracts. Durno was traded to Hamilton by Toronto Argonauts along with Buckets Hirsch a few weeks ago while Colliza was here briefly last year from McGill before going to the University of Toronto.

+ + +

CANADIAN ENTRY WINS

Calgary publisher Max Bell's Royal Serenade won the King George Stakes at Goodwood Park, Sussex, England, yesterday in a photo finish that involved four of the six entries.

Britain's champion jockey, Gordon Richards, rode the Canadian entry at 137 pounds, winning by a neck from King Charles who finished slightly ahead of third-place Set Fair in the five-furlong race.

+ + +

LE BRUN SLAUGHTER-ED

Charlie Slaughter, 126, Westfield, N.J., outpointed Leo LeBrun, 124, Montreal, in an eight-round bout here at Newark, N.S., last night.

Slaughter used a combination of left jabs and right crosses to earn an easy victory.

+ + +

ABEL TO COACH HAWKS

Sid Abel, 12-season star for Detroit Red Wings, yesterday was named playing coach of Chicago Black Hawks, who have finished last in five of their last six National Hockey League seasons.

Abel replaces Ebbie Goodfellow, who resigned several weeks ago with another season still remaining in his three-year contract.

Abel received a two-year contract to direct the hapless Hawks for whom he will as he sees fit. Hawks President Bill Tobin said Abel was sought as a bench coach but suggested he could help the club by playing.

Abel, 34, plays centre and five times since he joined the Red Wings in 1938 was among the N.H.L.'s top 10 scorers. He played in 62 games last season, scoring 53 points for eighth spot among the league scorers.

Lindsay Takes A Triumph Over Lakefield

Lindsay Combines continued their recent winning ways in the opener of Tuesday's men's softball duet at the Bowl, they humbled Lakefield Merchants 9-3 to draw into a fourth place tie with Tom Junkin's scrappers. They have six points apiece.

Haddy Eakins, speed ball artist, showed fine form to keep his team in the playoff race; he fanned nine batters, scattered nine hits and walked a single batter. Joe Blewett's long homer to left in the eighth was the only extra-base clout off the stouthearted twirler. Led by Harry England, Art Plumpton and Jack Richards, Lindsay's support held up well, to earn a well-merited victory, along with timely stickwork by Plumpton, who drove in three runs; Richards who hammered home a pair, and Carl Deyell and Tom Bolderstone with three safeties in five attempts.

John Hinton opposed Eakins in the eight-inning duel, called by the curfew; but was less fortunate as his mates faltered in crucial spots with five miscues to partially account for his downfall without detracting from the victors in any way. Hinton allowed 12 hits, farmed four and passed four.

A good-sized crowd witnessed the struggle as the teams sharpen up to playoff form. Cam Wasson, Joe Blewett, and Bill Twist each collected two safe bingles for the losers, while fielding gems were supplied by Blewett, Cam Wasson, Harry England and Dick McCracken for their respective teams.

C.G.E. In Lead After 6-2 Win

COBOURG—C.G.E. vaulted into sole possession of first place in the Cobourg and District Softball League here, beating Port Hope Mathews, 6-2.

Barney Mills, Port Hope hurler, held Cobourg well in hand until the fifth, when a walk to Sweet started a three-run rally. Bevans fanned for the first out, but Carlson came up with an infield hit to put two on, then Crowe's single scored the first run. An infield out gave the winners their second and Crowe stole home for the third tally. Two more in the seventh nailed it down for the factory hands.

During this last splurge Jackie Ball, the plate umpire, took swift action to halt a hassle at the plate. Ball called Bob Crowe out at home when he tried to steal for the second time and a storm of C.G.E. players gathered around Ball. Art Jones, the winner's left-fielder, was too strong, according to Ball, and he ejected the veteran from the game.

Kingston Downs Belleville 6-2

BELLEVILLE. — Behind the four-hit pitching of Walter (Babe) Stinson, the Kingston Monarchs upset the league-leading Belleville Redmen, 6-2, here Monday night in a Central Ontario Baseball League fixture. The win marked the Monarchs' fifth in their last six starts, while the loss was the seventh in 22 outings for the Redmen.

Stinson was in complete command throughout as he set the league leaders down with but four hits. He claimed two on strikes and walked five.

Don Gilmour had a perfect night at the plate for the winners, with a double and three singles. Lorne Ferguson and Al Lenard each helped themselves to three singles, while Clarke Carnegie and Babe Stinson each claimed a pair. Tony Pettitt and Don Semark each rapped out two-baggers for the Redmen.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batting—Mickey Mantle, Yankees—hit a grand slam homer with two out and bases full in the ninth to give the Yankees 10-7 victory over Chicago White Sox.

Pitching—Murry Dickson, Pirates—held Brooklyn to eight hits as he pitched Pittsburgh to its first 1952 victory, 7-1, over the Dodgers who had beaten the Bucs 13 straight times.

Ghosts Gathering For First Drill

COBOURG. — President Fred Dufton issued a call here Tuesday for all Cobourg Galloping Ghost football candidates to attend the first practice here Friday, Aug. 8. The club will work out three days in a row.

All holdovers from last year are expected out and it is believed that 40 will ask Trainer Scotty Black for uniforms in the first two days.

New coach of the Cobourg club Art West is expected in town for that weekend and will bring some well-known football names with him according to Ghost headquarters. West faces a rebuilding job this season.

Who West will bring with him from Toronto is not yet revealed, but he is known to be in contact with several good backfielders and at least one kicker.

The hoofing department is one of the big question marks with the Ghosts this season since their ace of former years, Bob Cooper, has left town for Windsor. Cooper's shoes are large ones West knows, because the one-time winner of the John Black Trophy built the Ghost machine that twice rolled to Canadian titles.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Great Britain administered the first whitewashing to the United States in 24 years of Davis Cup play 15 years ago today at Wimbledon. In the final day's play Fred Perry defeated Wilmer Allison and Bunny Austin upset Donald Budge. That made it 5-0 for the defending nation.

Davis Cup Teams Practise

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian and Mexican Davis Cup tennis teams start final serious practices today for first-round games this week-end at Mount Royal Tennis Club.

Canadian non-playing Captain Dr. George Leclerc, said his team would work out Thursday, the day before the first singles matches.

Mexican Captain Pedro Vega says frankly that his team will just loosen up.

Henri Rochon showed well yesterday in practice, beating Lorne Main in two sets. Dr. Leclerc says the wiry French-speaking team member is playing better tennis than he has been so far this year.

Rochon seems to be optimistic. "We should take them." And back of his opinion is six years in Davis Cup play in which he won two matches and lost seven.

Brendan Macken still seems to be Canada's best bet. Fourth member of the Canadian squad is Jack Spencer, named to his first Davis Cup team this year.

What No Coolers?

WINNIPEG (CP)—Old dobbin just doesn't seem to care about dunking his nose in the water trough any more. City Engineer W. D. Hurst reports seven of the old sidewalk refreshment booths are unused.

Ontario Golfers Down U.S. Team

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's junior golfers yesterday avenged a defeat handed them by the District of Columbia juniors in 1951 by whipping the United States team 7-5 in an international tournament at the Mississauga Golf Club.

The victory brought the Ontario boys the Robert Simpson Trophy, donated by the Robert Simpson Company of Toronto, sponsors of the good-will competition.

Captained by Jerry Knechtel of Kitchener, Ontario junior champion for the last two years, the Canadians won three of the four morning matches and broke even on the eight singles in the afternoon.

The win came only after rousing finished by both Knechtel and Bob Ptashnik of Toronto Summerlea. Ptashnik was down four to Gene Howerrd of Washington in the singles, but won his match on the 18th when Howerrd went past the pin while the Toronto boy parred the hole.

Knechtel had a tough time with Perky Cullinane, a quarter-finalist in the 1952 United States junior golf championship. One down after 13, he tied the match on the 14th, went ahead on the 15th and finished it out with a birdie on the par-four 17th.

Local Bowlers Win In Playdown Round

Ed Pritchard and A. Mauder, in Port Perry Monday evening, won the provincial doubles for District No. 13 and they will now go to Cornwall on Wednesday, Aug. 6, to compete in the next round. Although they were penalized six points, (for being a few minutes late) they overcame that handicap and won from an Oshawa pair. In their second game, against Cannington, they had to play an extra end before winning.

H. Staunton was not so fortunate in the singles; he lost out—the penalty of six points being too heavy to carry.

Britain May Be Forced To Cut Arms Drive To Boost Exports

LONDON (AP)—Britain will sell more than £44,000,000 worth of arms to the United States and other Allies to earn critically needed dollars, R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, said yesterday.

Butler also hinted in a House of Commons speech that the government may be forced to stretch out or cut back its present £4,000,000,000, four-year domestic rearmament program to help boost the country's lagging drive to export goods.

He called for a great expansion in exports, a hold-the-line on wages and more belt-tightening.

Prime Minister Churchill revealed earlier he had called a Commonwealth economic conference for the last week in November to be attended by Commonwealth prime ministers.

Butler said imports of manufactured goods will have to be reduced in the last half of this year to only 40 per cent of the same period last year and imports of non-rationed goods, such as canned meats, must be trimmed by 25 per cent.

He reported that Britain's austerity soon may pay off by putting the country on a pay-as-it-goes basis for the first time since before the Second World War.

Former prime minister Clement Attlee and four other labor members submitted an amendment to Butler's report which would censure the government on grounds that it has failed to provide an adequate economic policy. A vote was expected tonight.

"COOL CONTROL"

PITCHING: THE BASIC GRIP

1 Ball should be gripped along or across the seams. A short-fingered hand should grip ball across the seams at the narrowest point; long-fingered hand holds ball across seams at widest point. Grip across the seams gives better control.

2 Grip always should be firm, but never tight. Tips of index and second finger and joint of thumb should be your pressure points. Wrist action and way of releasing ball on pitch will give control to standard throws.

3 Gripping ball along the seams usually makes it harder to control. The raised stitches, when held across, help give 'spin' to the ball as the seams rotate towards the batter for more air resistance and rise. Sidearm and underarm pitchers use grip along the seam for fast 'sinkers.'

Yes, it's control that counts, in baseball as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

British Papers Welcome Conference Plan

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers today generally welcomed the announcement that a prime ministers' conference will be held here in November, but some expressed the opinion it should be widened later beyond the commonwealth.

The Times (independent) says there is "a strong case for the conference with the United States urged by Mr. Gaitskell (former Labor treasury chief) to see whether a 'new policy of economic co-operation' can be devised and what steps can be taken to 'deal fundamentally with the dollar problem.'

"The one could be the prelude and the essential complement to the other."

The Manchester Guardian (liberal) notes that the government "has been careful to describe the proposed commonwealth conference as a first step in a larger effort to reach a closer economic understanding with the United States and Canada."

In Canberra, Australian Prime Minister R.G. Menzies welcomed the broad agenda proposed for the conference.

The first meeting of the ministerial committee preparing for the conference was held here today, with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden presiding as deputy prime minister.

Peron Funeral Delayed Again, Thousands Come

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—New throngs from all over Argentina crowded past Eva Peron's body today and a presidential announcement said her lying-in-state will continue for "a month or two if necessary."

Strong troop reinforcements moved in to control the surging queues outside the labor ministry.

Despite repeated radio appeals for provincial workers to stay home trains arrived yesterday packed with people who joined the growing lines of mourners.

DISTRIBUTED SANDWICHES

Trucks from the Eva Peron foundation distributed free sandwiches and fruit to thousands who had been standing for more than 12 hours.

An announcement from the office of President Juan Peron said the body of his wife, who died Saturday after a long illness, will lie in state until everybody has had the opportunity to pay a visit.

The funeral, originally scheduled for yesterday afternoon, has been postponed until the week-end at the earliest.

High Mass In Church Starts A Scuffle

ASHBURTON, England (Reuters)—High mass being celebrated in an Anglican church yesterday started a scuffle in which two men and two women were evicted after prayer books were thrown, chairs overturned and a clergyman's surplice torn.

The Bishop of Exeter, Dr. R.C. Mortimer, was preaching a sermon at St. Peter's Church at nearby Sheldon, when four persons stood up and protested vocally at the use of the high mass.

They refused to leave and a score of clergymen attending the service helped remove them by force.

The four were members of the Protestant Union, which objects to what it calls Roman Catholic forms of service in Protestant churches.

Two Sisters Arrested

TOLEDO, O. (AP)—Two sisters, carrying $8,132 in cash and a $4,262 cash certificate, were arrested on disturbance charges yesterday after they refused to stop sitting on a train track at Toledo's central union terminal. Police said Miss Palestine Jarrell, 62, and Miss Ollie Jarrell, 55, refused to get off the track because the Lord is the only one who could order them around. Sgt. Margaret Slater said the sisters told her they were moving to Toronto, to buy a farm.

HAPPY DAY — Arriving at Castelgondolfo, his summer residence, Pope Pius XII. smiles happily as he is greeted by the city's new mayor. Reason for the Papal pleasure is that in past years he had been greeted by a Communist mayor. The new one, a Christian Democrat, defeated the Red incumbent in recent local elections.

Red China Declares U.S. Afraid Of Charge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Communist China charged yesterday that the United States sent no delegation to the International Red Cross Conference in Toronto because it feared the conference would condemn "germ warfare and other atrocities . . . in Korea."

A Peiping radio broadcast, heard by the Associated Press here, asserted America "is trying to evade condemnation of world public opinion and at the same time make Britain its accessory in conducting behind-the-scenes disruptive activities."

Neither the U. S. nor Britain sent official delegations to the Red Cross Conference. Both sent groups of observers.

Plainville News

About 20 members and some children of the Young Adult Group of the United Church motored to Warkworth Sunday evening to attend the band concert of the massed bands in Warkworth Park. After most of the group had lunch together in Warkworth.

Paul McKinlay, Bob and John Tinney and John Barrett were among the boys and girls on the Port Hope Four-H Calf Club bus trip and picnic to Orono on Friday. They also visited a dairy farm and beef raising farm in that district.

Unwilling Audience

TOKYO (AP)—A self-styled "mountain and village corps" of Communists invaded a laborers' field camp near Tokyo last night to give a show of lantern slides. They wound up in a club-swinging brawl with laborers who didn't want to look. Kyodo News Agency reported 17 Reds tangled with about 50 construction workers.

Robber Too Smart

NEW YORK (AP)—Police had a snap solving a tailor shop robbery last night. The robber left a paper giving his name, address and description. The "calling card" was a completed application form for city employment, which apparently had popped unnoticed from Moses Haynes' pocket when he drew his gun. Police found Haynes at his address and charged him with robbery.

The Australian team, top favorites with champion Marge Jackson as anchor, dropped the baton and put themselves out of contention. Janet Morreau failed to place in the sprint here at our Forum last April.

Regret Bishop Ordass Not At Conference

HANNOVER, Germany (AP)—Dr. Petrus Bersell of Minneapolis told a Hungarian churchman yesterday the Lutherans regret Bishop Lajos Ordass could not represent the Hungarian church at the Lutheran world assembly here.

Hungary's Communist government forced Bishop Ordass to retire from office. He was invited to this assembly of Lutherans from 24 nations, but church officials said he was not granted travel papers.

The assembly gave him an ovation when his name was mentioned by Dr. Bersell, after Hungarian Bishop Laszlo Dezsery delivered a brief address before 1,200 delegates and official guests.

Red Wings Whip Baltimore 10-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rochester Red Wings blasted 16 base hits off two Baltimore pitchers in the International League's only single game last night to trounce the Orioles 10-3. The victory put the second-place Wings within four games of Montreal Royals, who split a double-header with Syracuse.

Buffalo Bisons swept a twin bill from the staggering Ottawa Athletics by identical scores of 6-5.

Toronto's Maple Leafs rallied in the late innings of both games to beat Springfield, 7-2 and 9-8. The Leafs rushed five runs across in the sixth inning of the opener to break a 2-2 tie. They waited until the last frame of the nightcap, when, behind by one run, they pushed over two tallies to win a real thriller.

Montreal's Tommy Lasorda shut out the Chiefs 3-0 on three hits, in the opener. His record now is 10 and 5. Bill Woop was tagged with the loss. Syracuse came roaring back in the nightcap with a two-run, 10th-inning rally to win 7-5 and give Bob Keegan his 15th victory against eight defeats.

Report Minor Action On Korean Front

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—One minor action was reported today as rain drenched the Korean battle front for the sixth straight day.

Most ground contact was limited to brief exchanges between patrols. On the western front United Nations troops counter-attacked a second time against an advance position seized by 200 Reds early Tuesday.

Planes Turned Back

PRESTWICK, Scotland (Reuters)—Two United States army helicopters attempting the first copter crossing of the Atlantic were turned back to Iceland today by bad weather. They had taken off from there early this morning bound for this Scottish airfield. This leg—870 miles—is the longest on the trip from the United States to Germany.

Plants Scramble To Obtain Steel Supply

NEW YORK (AP)—With the steel strike settled, industry is engaged in "one of the wildest scrambles for steel in history," the Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, said today.

Consumers striving to keep plants going or get them started again are "exerting almost unbelievable pressure on all possible sources," the Iron Age said, and the outlook is for a "tight steel market for the next six months."

"Conversion, foreign and grey-market steel sources are being canvassed for all they are worth," the weekly said. "Chances of getting much help from these sources are remote. And the cost is terrific."

Iron Age said current shortage jitters are well founded because consumers probably will have a rough time placing new orders for the rest of the year. Military needs will increase the pressure.

The tight market "might last until the second quarter of next year."

Bill To Punish Bad Wives Dropped In Parliament

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—A bill to punish unfaithful wives by jail sentences was withdrawn from the Indian parliament today after members argued that women already have it tough enough.

Mrs. Jayashri Raiji, a Congress Party member of parliament, led the attack with the assertion that the Indian woman today was just "a big helpless piece of human flesh."

The bill had been introduced by Fulsihji B. Dabhi. At present men can be sent to prison for up to five years for adultery, but women are outside the law. After being heckled for an hour, Dabhi withdrew the bill.

Mrs. Raiji said the Indian woman is looked upon as the private property of men, has no individuality, and has to depend on men for everything. In such circumstances, she said, she couldn't be expected to remain faithful.

Even Dabhi admitted it was difficult to punish the inconstant wife "while the law admits the privilege of a husband filling his zenana (the female quarter of the house) with women."

Polygamy among Hindus is prohibited in Bombay state but in most other states it is still allowed.

Polyandry (the practice of a woman having simultaneously more than one husband) is found in a few mountainous areas.

Hank Greenberg Peeved At Veeck Deal

CLEVELAND (AP)—Hank Greenberg angrily accused Bill Veeck yesterday of trying to knock his Cleveland Indians out of the pennant race by dealing "good" players to Chicago White Sox.

Greenberg said Veeck's sending outfielder Jim Rivera and catcher Darrell Johnson of St. Louis Browns to White Sox will immeasurably strengthen Chicago. Indians, he pointed out, have to play White Sox 11 more games.

Veeck, who owned the Indians in 1948 when they won their second pennant, now owns the Browns. He said in St. Louis that "Henry is seeing ogres" and is acting like a "little boy whose candy has been taken away."

The deal that peeved Greenberg completed yesterday, also moved outfielder Ray Coleman and catcher J. W. Porter from Chicago to St. Louis.

The players were claimed and swapped by waivers. Cleveland wanted both Rivera and Johnson, said Greenberg, but couldn't claim them because Chicago, being lower in the standings, could choose first.

Says Creamery Butter Output Up In June

TORONTO (CP)—Creamery butter output in Ontario during June increased 11.9 per cent over June, 1951, output, the department of agriculture reports. Output totalled 10,311,600 pounds, compared with 9,217,000 pounds in June, 1951.

Cheddar cheese production decreased 22.2 per cent at 8,225,200 pounds, compared with 10,572,500 pounds in June, 1951.

Convicted Of Wounding

TORONTO (CP)—Harry J. Swan, 26, was convicted yesterday of wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm. Police said he told them he did not know why he had slashed the throat of James Bell, 55, with an eight-inch hunting knife. He said he had been drinking with Bell and that during an argument he took him to a deserted school playground and cut his throat. Twenty stitches were needed to close the wound. Swan will be sentenced next Tuesday.

Trade With Poland

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain will imports £550,000 worth of cotton cloth from Communist Poland this year, trade minister Peter Thorneycroft disclosed today. He said in a written parliamentary reply that this quota had been fixed under obligations in a 1949 five-year trade and financial agreement.

Buy Rice From Reds

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake told the House of Representatives today that Ceylon is sending a mission to Communist China to buy rice.

Communist Chinese agents in the last few months have offered rice in exchange for Ceylon's rubber.

Canadian Gives Bacon Flitch

MONTREAL (CP)—Tam Deachman's flitch of bacon is on its way to London.

The 34-year-old Montreal advertising consultant offered to donate the 12-pound side of bacon for the "Flitch Trial" at the borough Willdesden's annual August bank holiday festival three weeks ago when he learned the prize this year would be only a single rasher.

The bacon is offered as an annual prize to Willesden's most happily-married couple. The couples "tried" by a jury of six maidens and six bachelors, seek to prove they have been married at least a year and a day without a cross word or deed.

Mr. Deachman's offer was accepted by the festival's sponsors and the flitch left for London today aboard a Trans-Canada Air Lines flight.

The practice of annual "Flitch Trials" originated at Dunmow, Essex, in 1870, but meat shortages have reduced the prize from an entire side of bacon to one lone rasher.

Extending Iron Ore Boundaries

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

If you want to get out on the frontier, perhaps you had better try to join a party of geologists.

Perhaps you had better be up at Knob Lake in central Labrador-Ungava and hear Dr. A. E. Moss, chief geologist of Iron Ore Company of Canada, exclaim: "On Monday we must have some planes!"

You look around, and there's Knob Lake itself, two miles long, a mile wide, a picturesque patch of water with a knob-like hill at one end which supplies the name.

There's even a relatively lush growth of black spruce in an adjoining valley—lush for Labrador where a tree may take 125 years to grow to six inches in diameter.

COLORFUL TERMINUS

Nearby is the airport, and Knob will be the northern terminus of the 360-mile railway which is being built to the coast, and the site for a future town.

At present, however, there's not much around Knob except the things required to get people out to the bush. Other activity is three miles away at Burnt Creek, Que.

But Knob has color, real and imaginative. On the dock over there are 30 canoes waiting to be flown out to camps—orange-colored so they can be easily spotted from the air.

In a storehouse, Dr. John Ussher, professor of Geology at Queen's University, is checking over supplies before taking a party out.

WILDERNESS GROCETERIA

The storehouse is packed with groceries—just about everything you'd find in a city super-market; but you'll search hard before you find beans, the staple of the old days in the bush.

WILDERNESS AIRPORT — Pontoon-equipped planes at Knob Lake in the centre of Labrador-Ungava carry food to the prospecting parties threading lake and bush. They also bring back ore samples of the latest finds in the huge iron development. Knob Lake is the last stop on the biggest civilian airlift in the world, which has made possible the opening up of this vast territory. Nearby is a large airport. It also will be the northern terminus of the railway which will run 360 miles to Seven Islands, Que.

At another dock is Dr. James Harrison, of the Geological, Geodetic and Topographical Survey of Canada, a native of Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., who has been in for the last four summers.

His youthful party, some of them students, are putting up a tent in which they'll sleep tonight. But in a few days they'll be out in the wilderness, making examinations which may mean new mines a few years hence.

SEVEN-MAN SQUADS

Dr. Moss, for his part, needs his planes because he has a lot of geological parties to send out, trying to extend the boundaries of the 400,000,000 tons of iron ore which he already knows about.

Some of the parties will be seven-man, some will have six men, four, two.

A seven-man party will consist of three canoes, a party chief, two senior assistants, three juniors and, perhaps most important, a cook.

Once on the job, they travel in at least pairs.

"It is poor policy to let one man travel alone in the bush," said Dr. Moss. Recently, one of a pair stopped to tie a shoelace. When he looked up he was alone and was lost for three days.

WELL SUPPLIED

The party is in the field at 7 a.m. They take lunch and, if they are following something interesting, may be out to all hours of the long summer day. Otherwise, they return to camp as judgment dictates.

They live in tents and get provisions once a week by plane, including fresh vegetables, and meat, and mail which is very important.

"There weren't fresh vegetables and meat in the early days," mused Dr. Moss, native of Strasbourg, Sask., who has been tramping the country since 1942.

The visiting plane picks up samples, and has on board a supervising geologist, who may stop over with the party to follow up some clue.

If you don't want to see the frontier with the geologists, perhaps you may find a place on a helicopter when it goes out to pick up an injured man—see him placed in a basket stretcher and secured to a pontoon for transport out. You're not likely to find a place on that mercy trip, however, unless you are a doctor or first-aid man.

Capitalism Said Too Slow For Atomic Age

MILLBROOK (ENS)—Capitalism is too slow and too partial to special interests for the atomic age advances, Miller Stewart, radio commentator, writer, and past president of the Ontario C.C.F. said Saturday.

Mr. Stewart was guest speaker at the Durham County C.C.F. picnic held at Wallace Point.

In normal times, private enterprise moves too slowly, the speaker said. We need more socialism in our political mixture to secure as soon as possible the application of atomic power in peaceful development. This development will prove atomic fission the greatest discovery since the invention of the wheel.

GREAT VICTORY

In his comments about the recent election in Saskatchewan, Mr. Stewart explained that the C.C.F. had been given the biggest majority it has ever had. The sole opposition in this provincial government is 11 Liberals. The Conservatives were wiped out polling only 8,000 of the 500,000 total vote.

The reason for the success of the C.C.F. in this province, the speaker attributed to the insecurity felt by the farmers. As a result they wanted more socialism instead of less.

In the next four years important resources will be developed. They will not be handed away from the people by the C.C.F. as they would have been under the old parties.

Mr. Stewart next spoke of present conditions in British Columbia where he said one industrialist controls a great part of the province's timber and salmon resources. Labor is insecure there and the current strikes in the salmon and timber industries will be showdowns.

He said that labor's insecurity had been reflected in the last election returns when the C.C.F. received its best showing in the number of members elected to the government.

The speaker claimed that if the old system of voting had been used the C.C.F. would have seated 32 rather than 18 members. The electoral machinery had been rigged in the city ridings with multiple members to force voters to stick to the old parties. The scheme backfired because C.C.F. representation is strongly founded on labor support.

EFFECTIVE OPPOSITION

In Ontario, the most effective opposition the legislature ever had was under Joliffe. Now good government depends solely on the conscience of the Conservatives.

Ontario will soon be having showdown strikes too. Labor will need friends at Queen's Park. The C.C.F. will again be chosen by workers as their only dependable supporters in the legislature, Mr. Stewart concluded.

Lucas Nichols of Bowmanville was appointed delegate to the C.C.F. convention which will be held in Toronto early in August. Howard Foley of Maple Grove was appointed as alternate.

Spencer Cheshire of Fraserville president of the Durham County C.C.F. association, was chairman of the picnic.

Ex-Soldier To Be Hanged

BIRMINGHAM, England (Reuters)—Donald Simon, 32-year-old former Canadian soldier now living in England, today was sentenced to be hanged for shooting his wife in a "crime of passion" when he found her with another man.

The prosecution said Simon, formerly of Fredericton, N.B., shot down both his estranged war-bride wife, Eunice, 28, and Victor Brades, outside his wife's home June 15.

Defence lawyers pleaded that Simon had a history of psychopathic personality which would make it more difficult for him to control himself than a normal person.

Dr. Allan McKenzie, medical officer of Shrewsbury prison, said that in his opinion Simon was emotionally unstable but he was unable to find any evidence of mental disease.

He considered Simon responsible for his actions and fit to stand trial.

The jury retired for 65 minutes before announcing that they found Simon guilty.

Big Future

LEICESTER, England (CP)—Works Minister David Eccles told a meeting the export of prefabricated buildings may some day be as important to Britain as the motor-car industry. Within 10 years Britain will export houses worth between 50,000,000 and 100,000,000 pounds annually, he predicted.

Charge Favoritism In Indian Schools

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Charges of favoritism by the federal government for the Roman Catholic church in providing indian schools are made in a report prepared for the general synod of the Church of England in Canada, which will meet here in September.

The Anglican Indian school administration reports it "continues to experience dissatisfaction with certain sections of Indian Affairs Branch." It says that in a number of cases "decision have been made plainly in favor of the Roman cause and to the disadvantage of Church of England schools and interests."

In some quarters of the county, the report adds, residential schools have been built for the Roman Catholic church where its adherents were in the minority, while rebuilding of burned Church of England residential schools "has been neglected."

Indian residential schools, especially in northern parts of the country, are operated by churches in co-operation with the government.

Boy 5 Drowns At Grass Lake During Sunday School Picnic

Child Not Missed Till Youngsters Called To Dinner

HALIBURTON (Staff)—While other children paddled in the lake nearby, five-year-old Herbert Johnston of Guilford township drowned Wednesday afternoon in three feet of water. The fatal accident occurred during the annual Sunday School picnic of the West Guilford Gospel Hall at Grass Lake, 12 miles north of here.

The boy was not missed until the children assembled at a nearby farmhouse for something to eat. A search revealed him 40 feet out from shore, lying in only three feet of water.

Artificial respiration and a resuscitator were used on him for more than three hours but he did not respond. He was pronounced dead at 6:55 p.m. by Coroner Dr. Agnes Jamieson of Minden.

The tragedy cut short the festivities of the Sunday School picnic that was attended by 20 children, including a seven-year-old sister of Herbert Johnston. There were no eyewitnesses to the drowning.

MISSED LATER

After a swim or paddle, in which nearly all the children entered the water, they dressed and went to a nearby farmhouse for dinner, on the north shore of Grass Lake. Later young Johnston was missed and, fearing the worst, Sunday School officials went down to the lake.

David Harris, assistant to the pastor, found the boy while searching the shoreline in a boat. He called to Stuart Wilson, pastor of West Guilford Gospel Hall, and Mr. Wilson dived into the water and pulled the boy out.

Artificial respiration was started at 3:45 p.m. by two hydro employees—Phil Graham and Walter Webb—both of Haliburton village. They were just passing by when the body was found.

DECLARED DEAD

Half an hour later a resuscitator, donated by the Rotary Club of Haliburton, was rushed to the scene by Thomas Chambers, Haliburton fire chief. He and Webb used it on the boy until Dr. Jamieson, who arrived shortly after the resuscitator, declared the boy dead at 6:55 p.m.

It is the first time that the newly-purchased resuscitator has been used on a drowning person, O.P.P. Constable Gordon Langton of Haliburton told the Examiner. The boy is the first drowning victim in the Dysart district this year.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Johnston of West Guilford in Guilford township. Besides his parents he leaves two brothers and a sister.

The body is at the Welch funeral home, Minden. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Level Red Plant In Biggest Superfort Raid

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—United States B-29s levelled a huge Communist aluminum plant near the Manchurian border early today in the biggest overnight raid of the Korean War. The 63 unescorted bombers braved Red anti-aircraft fire and fighter opposition which American pilots described as "the heaviest in months." All returned safely to their bases in Japan and Korea. The 12½-acre factory of the Oriental Light Metals Co., 10 miles southeast of Sinuiju, went up in smoke and flame after the B-29s hurled 630 tons of bombs on it and an adjacent troop build-up area.

BIGGEST SUPERFORT RAID

Five other Superforts hit other North Korean targets. The 63-plane armada which blasted the metals plant was the biggest Superfort raid of the war against a single objective.

Pilots reported flak from the Manchurian as well as the Korean side of the border, about four miles from the metals plant.

Airman Julius W. Meintel of Wheeling, W. Va., was credited unofficially with shooting down a propellor-driven night fighter which rose to defend the sprawling target.

Col. Winton R. Close, Los Angeles, who directed the raid, said almost every other bomber was attacked by Communist fighters. Capt. Ralph R. Searle of Houston, Tex., said "it was like high noon all of a sudden," when "eight searchlights locked on us at the start of the bomb run and kept with us for the longest five minutes I've ever spent."

An air force statement called the raid a calculated effort to force the hand of stalling Communist truce negotiators.

TARGET SATURATED

The target was saturated with 500-pound bombs, some of which will not explode for hours or even days. The plant area had been showered with leaflets for almost two months, warning non-combatants to stay away because it would be bombed.

The bombing followed a medium bomber raid on the North Korean capital of Pyongyang on July 24. The stepped-up air war started on June 23 with a massive Allied strike at the Suiho power complex near the Manchurian border. This raid knocked out much of Manchuria's industrial power, but pilots last night said they saw many lights burning in Manchuria

On the ground, Allied infantrymen Thursday wrested an outpost from Chinese troops in a two-hour fight in driving rain northwest of Yonchon on the western front. The Reds had taken the position Monday.

On the eastern front, United Nations troops twice hurled back 50 Communists who attacked an outpost east of the Nam River, near Korea's east coast. The Allies reported 11 Reds were killed.

Heavy rain limited other action to scattered patrol clashes.

Chiang Orders Delegation Quit Conference

By H. DENT HODGSON

TORONTO (CP)—The Nationalist Chinese delegation on orders from Formosa packed its bags today to leave the 18th International Red Cross conference.

The move was in protest at the presence here of the Communist Chinese delegation from Peiping and also—said Dr. J. Heng Liu, head of the Formosan group — against "its behavior."

"We regret very much to take this action," said Dr. Liu, who graduated from Harvard University in 1913 and later became superintendent of China's largest hospital built by the Rockefeller Foundation at Peiping. The hospital since has been taken over by the Communists.

Dr. Liu said he received his orders to withdraw late yesterday. He did not announce to the conference his withdrawal because there is no plenary session until next Monday. The conference at the moment is broken up into four commissions.

ANNOUNED IN LETTER

Instead, he made his formal announcement in a letter to John A. MacAulay of Winnipeg, chairman of the conference.

The letter said that the Chinese Communist "puppet regime has never been recognized as a lawful government by the United Nations."

"The so-called Red Cross Society of Peiping is only an agency created by and under the direction of the puppet regime. Its existence is merely for propaganda purposes.

"As I stated on previous occasions the participation of that regime and its so-called Red Cross Society is calculated only to make a mockery of the conference and to have it used as an instrument of vicious propaganda."

Dr. Liu said his six-man delegation came to the conference hoping it would discuss only Red Cross matters. Although he had lost confidence in the conference he still realized the importance of its deliberations.

Dr. Liu and his delegation in effect left the conference as soon as he received orders from Formosa. He delivered his 400-word letter to Mr. MacAulay at 2 a.m. today.

Double Output Of Uranium Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has set next April as the target date for the opening of new facilities that will at least double her output of uranium.

The United States is expected to get a substantial part of the new production, as the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission indicated in a report issued today in Washington.

The new production of the basic atomic ingredient will come from the Beaverlodge property in far northern Saskatchewan. It may well surpass the initial Eldorado Mine at Port Radium in the Northwest Territories.

Both are controlled by the government's Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd.

The U.S. report reiterated the statement that an American atomic reactor or atom-splitting, energy-releasing furnace now spews forth more atomic rays—density of neutron flux, the scientists call it—than any other reactor in the world.

Officials here say they understand Chalk River's record has been equalled or surpassed but they're still not sure whether the U.S. reactor can do some of the things Chalk River can do, such as produce cobalt-60 radioisotopes in fair quantity.

Quake-Jittery City Has New Mild Shock

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—This quake-jittery city had another gentle aftershock at 5:09 a. m. today. It lasted for about 15 seconds.

There was no immediate report of any additional damage in Bakersfield. However there was some glass damage in the Kern county town of Arvin, with several windows broken.

The mild tremor was felt at 5:10 a.m. in the Los Angeles area.

After shocks of varying intensity have occurred here since July 21 when California's second greatest earthquake of this century killed 11 persons.

MacArthur Accepts Plant Chairmanship

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today accepted the chairmanship of Remington Rand Inc., manufacturers of business machines and electronics equipment.

His acceptance was announced by James H. Rand, president, who said the post had been ofered MacArthur nearly three years ago.

The company made no mention of the general's salary as chairman, but it was previously reported unoficially he had been offered $100,000 a year.

A company spokesman indicated the general will retain his army rank, on an unassigned basis

Remington Rand employs 36,000 persons and operates 22 plants in the United States. It has a plant in Hamilton and office in Toronto.

2 Girls Die As Train Strikes Car

3 Others Injured In Accident Near Parry Sound

PARRY SOUND (CP)— Two girls were killed last night and three persons injured when a Canadian Pacific Railway freight struck an auto seven miles from Parry Sound.

Dead are: Marlene Moyer, 17, of Parry Sound and Evelyn McCarthy, 13, of Hornings Mills near Shelburne.

The injured are: Rev. Stephen Mathers of Toronto, former principal of Alma College at St. Thomas; Mrs. Mathers; and Shirley Tough of Tottenham.

A sixth passenger, Ruth Mathers, 16, was unhurt.

The injured were brought to hospital here. Mr. Mathers, 56, operates a camp near here and the group was travelling from the camp to town.

Evelyn's father is the secretary of the Dufferin County federation of agriculture. She was to have attended a Shelburne wedding Saturday and her father had planned to bring her home today.

WORKING AT CAMP

Miss Tough was working at the camp for the summer. Her parents left Monday for a Northern Ontario trip and police were unable to locate them to notify them of the tragedy.

Police quoted Mr. Mathers as saying he heard no whistle and was on the tracks before he knew it. He feared if he applied the brakes he would stop directly in the path of the train so he speeded up. But the train hit the car, carrying it for 25 feet.

The slow-moving C.P.R. extra freight was en route from MacTier to Cartier. Engineer S. Lockhart of MacTier said he approached the level crossing in the normal way and blew his whistle and rang the bell. He said the weather was clear and visibility good.

Cost-Of-Living Jump Expected

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal officials reported today that the cost-of-living index for June likely will be made public tomorrow.

Usually the index is published about the fourth day of the month, but because of the civic holiday week-end, officials said they will try to get it out ahead of time.

The index climbed three-fifths of a point during May to 187.3 from 186.7, first increase since the peak of 191.5 was reached last December.

Some observers feel that the prices measuring-rod will move to higher ground, pushed ahead by some food prices.

Generally, economists feel that Canada is in for a mild inflationary wave that may swell prices during the next six months because of the continuing demand for wage increases by Canadian and American labor unions resulting in higher prices for some commodities.

Economists said they did not believe the inflationary wave would be as severe as the one which followed the outbreak of the Korean war.

BRITISH ROCKET CHASES PLANES—Enemy bombers would have to make "well over" 2000 miles per hour to evade this new British rocket, according to Supply Minister Duncan Sandys. He recently watched impressive firing tests, like that pictured above, at Aberporth, Wales. The new rocket, which carries booster motors along its sides, can rise to "heights far greater than any bomber is likely to reach for many years to come." The 24-foot, 17-inch missles can be directed by radar beam and can steer themselves in the sharp turns necessary to intercept aircraft taking evasive action.

Blast Injures Two Firemen

HAMILTON (CP)—Two firemen were injured and much of downtown Hamilton was left without 60-cycle power today after two underground explosions blamed on an electrical circuit-breaker. Taken to hospital with burns were Lieut. D'arcy Gowland, 51, and Lieut. Earl Charters, 49. Charters was released after treatment. Gowland was reported in fair condition. The first blast tossed a manhole cover high in the air, narrowly missing a passing car. Gowland was in charge of a pumper sent to investigate. He was climbing down the ladder into the manhole to check when the second occurred. Charters, who was also burned slightly in a test demonstration yesterday, was looking into the manhole.

NORMAL IN HOURS

Hydro officials said the explosion took place in an oil breaker on the 60-cycle line. It was expected that normal 60-cycle supplies would be available in the afternoon. Most of the downtown section uses 25-cycle power.

"I was climbing down the ladder into the manhole with a flashlight in my hand," said Gowland. "I hadn't reached the bottom when there was a tremendous boom. The next thing I knew I was being pulled out of the manhole. They tell me I climbed part of the way myself."

$60,000,000 Trade Boost Reported For Half Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's exports, bed-rock of her economic strength ,leaped ahead of imports during June, climbing by more than $60,000,000 to spark the biggest monthly trade surplus of the first half-year. With sales to the United Kingdom sharply higher and with increases noted in almost all foreign markets, Canada's exports climbed to $378,800,000 from $315,800,000 in June last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

Imports lagged, however, down $36,000,000 to $324,400,000 from $360,400,000, giving Canada a favorable balance of $54,400,000 for the month, compared with a deficit of $44,600,000 for June, 1951.

The surplus was the biggest since the postwar monthly record of $112,000,000 was posted last December, and brought the total surplus for the half-year of 1952 to $164,200,000—a sharp contrast to the $391,800,000 deficit in the corresponding period last year.

The gain exports was most prominent in trade with the United Kingdom, which, in spite of its lack of dollars, boosted purchases from Canada during June to $83,100,000, an increase of more than $30,000,000 from $51,400,000 last year.

SLIGHT INCREASE

Exports to the United States, Canada's top customer, increased only slightly to $194,400,000 from $190,900,000, indicating a possibility that the saturation point may have been reached in Canada's drive to expand the American market for Canadian goods.

However, during June as in previous months since February, Canada has been barred by the U.S. from shipping livestock and meats to the American market be-

Watchman Dies In Mill Fire

TIMMINS — (CP). — Henry Lincourt, 76-year-old night watchman, died last night in a $250,000 fire which destroyed the A. E. Wicks sawmill.

The blaze is believed to have started when a tightener pulley burst into flames as the mill shut down at 5 p.m. Lincourt died of suffocation in the corner of the building where he apparently fled from the flames. He was working with William Hadley and Louis Fortin when their fire hose broke. Hadley said he thought Lincourt was behind them when they ran from the building. Lincourt was partially crippled with arthritis and unsteady on his feet.

The mill, employing some 100 men, was built in 1926 and produced 50,000 board feet of lumber daily. It was destroyed in less than an hour.

Writer Dies During Pageant

ST. ALEXANDRE DE KAMOURASKA, Que. (CP) — Charles E. Harpe, French-speaking Canadian poet and writer, died suddenly last night as the curtain fell on a historical pageant he had written.

Actors taking part in the scenic drama, staged in connection with celebrations marking the centenary of this lower St. Lawrence village, found the 43-year-old writer unconscious in the wings of the theatre. A physician pronounced him dead.

Among his books are "Le Jongleur Aux Etoiles" and "Les Oiseaux dans la Brume."

CLARK'S NEW AIDE—British Maj.-Gen. S. N. Shoosmith is the newly appointed Deputy Chief of Staff to American Gen. Mark W. Clark, Supreme Commander of U.N. Forces in Korea. Shoosmith is the British Joint Services Commander. His appointment is the result of recent English criticism of American military action undertaken without consultation with British military circles.

Britain Prepares For New Belt-Tightening

LONDON (AP)—Britain today prepared a new belt - tightening drive to get out of the red after Parliament approved Prime Minister Churchill's plan to divert some production from defence to exports.

The House of Commons last night approved the Conservative government's new economic program by a vote of 299 to 277 after Churchill warned the alternative was bankruptcy. The plan also calls for a slash in imports and continuation of the wage freeze.

Churchill said full schedules on the arms cutback necessary for solvency will be worked out at a commonwealth economic conference here next November.

NOT UNEXPECTED

The government's proposal to build up exports at the expense of arms was not unexpected. Earlier this month, as Britain's trade became more unbalanced and vital gold and dollar reserves sagged below $1,700,000,000, Churchill warned that "very serious measures affecting the domestic and defensive aspects" of British policies were being planned.

Since Churchill became prime minister last fall, Britain's £4,500,000,000 defence program has been stretched out from three to four years.

Helicopters Save 1,000 GI's

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA (AP)—Thirty helicopters rescued 1,000 American troops yesterday from a flooded island where they were marooned two days by the rising Pukhan river in eastern Korea.

The river, swollen by heavy rains which began last Saturday, swept over the island around the army camp.

Shortly after noon the fleet of army and marine helicopters began shuttling the men over the river. By late afternoon the movement was completed.

A small caretaker group was left behind on the island's highest ground to look after equipment. A helicopter remained with them, ready to remove them if the river rises higher

Simple Family Man Now Farouk Says

ISLE OF CAPRI, Italy (Reuters)—Former King Farouk of Egypt today placed himself before the world as a simple family man, stripped of fortune and position, who wishes to lead a quiet life with his children.

The portly former monarch told a press conference he would remain for several months on this vacation island, where he spent a fabulous, free-spending honeymoon last year with Narriman, his teen-aged bride.

He looked tired and his face was swollen from a toothache.

Farouk refused to answer questions, but read a long statement in which he appealed for the right to lead a quiet life. He denied that he had great wealth, and said he had no immediate plans for taking up residence in the United States or any other country.

Question Four In Robbery

Red Master Spy Convicted Jailed For Life In Sweden

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Swedish Communist Fritiof Enbom, accused master-mind of a Soviet espionage ring, today was found guilty of spying for Russia and sentenced to hard labor for life. The 33-year-old agitator and editor was convicted of espionage and preparations for treason against Sweden in the event of war.

Enbom's chief accomplice, Jugo Gjersvold, 32, also was convicted of espionage and given a life sentence.

The ringleader's younger brother, Martin Enbom, drew a seven-year sentence.

The government charged a seven-member ring gave the Russians details of Sweden's northern defences against any Russian attack across neighboring Finland.

Others convicted and sentenced were:

Arthur Karlsson, 42, a Communist member of the town council of Halmstead in South Sweden. Karlsson, who arranged the elder Enbom's contact with Soviet embassy officials, received 20 months imprisonment.

Fingal Larsson, 40, a railway worker, accused of sending regular reports to Enbom on railway security measures, drew five years at hard labor.

Lilian Ceder, 31, Fritiof Enbom's girl friend, who operated a short-wave transmitter Enbom received from the Russians, was given eight months but the court ruled the three months she has spent in custody since her arrest would count in this period.

Acquitted for lack of proof was Tage Wickstrom, 37, a clerk in the army fortification construction bureau.

Give Mossadegh A Free Hand

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iran's parliament today gave tentative approval to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's demand for a free hand to deal with this near-bankrupt country's economic and financial problems.

In a speed-up session, members of the Majlis (lower house) passed through two readings a single-article government bill granting Mossadegh unlimited powers for the next six months to implement the nine-point program he had submitted last Sunday.

The bill still must be approved on a third reading, but this was expected to occur without difficulty on Sunday.

Under the terms of the bill Mossadegh can do anything he wishes—actually rule by decree—to carry out the reforms he has proposed in economics, finance, banking and employment.

Falls Out Of Car Youngster 4, Killed

BELLEVILLE (CP)—Thrown onto the highway when he accidentally opened the rear door of his uncle's car, four-year-old Garry Roy Brownlee was killed yesterday.

The lad, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brownlee of Cannifton, was struck by an oncoming car. Police said the boy took hold of the door handle and accidentally released the catch, the force of the wind pulling the door open.

Network Guarding Skies

Canada's Radar Stations Operating

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has the first stations in her radar network operating now, their screens probing northern skies, and Americans will be coming into this country shortly to man stations of their own.

So far nothing approaching a network is in action and it will be months yet before the chain really is in operation in a big way. But there never will be anything like the vast screen across the far Arctic wastes that has so often been reported. This joint network will cover certain vital areas and will be much farther south than the Arctic circle.

HAD INITIAL TEST

Exercise Signpost, finished last week, gave the first few Canadian stations their initial test and another, bigger joint Canadian-U.S. exercise is coming up this winter.

It will, however, be a year yet before Canada's air defences—the radar stations are the outer rim—are in the shape officials envisage. Even the stations now partly operating are not completed .

The U.S. stations—they actually are going to be more numerous than Canadian stations—are being built to supplement the Canadian group to provide added protection for certain American cities.

STATIONS NOT COMPLETED

Original plans were for the first U.S. Air Force station crews to come to Canada in July but officials say this has been put off until September because of delays in getting the stations ready.

Officials are loathe to talk about radar and Defence Minister Claxton has asked newspapers not to report the location of any stations.

It was decided long ago not to try to blanket Canada's northern horizon with radar stations, but to try to throw guards around certain key areas and let it go at that because of the prohibitive cost of doing more. Thus there are bound to be gaps.

Just what the total cost will be has never been made public but will undoubtedly be up in the hundreds of millions of dollars. The cost of a single station with all its modern equipment has been listed as $3,000,000 to $6,000,000.

P.E.I. Cattle Disease Controlled

Not F-M Outbreak Officials Say, Possibly Anthrax

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — A federal veterinarian said yesterday Prince Edward Island's unidentified livestock disease is under control although he would not confirm an earlier report that the disease was anthrax.

Dr. R. J. McClenaghan of Moncton, N. B., federal veterinarian for the Maritimes, said the outbreak that killed two horses and a cow and nearly caused the death of a farmer was "not serious. . . and now appears to be under control."

However, Provincial Veterinarian George Fisher announced a strict quarantine was being maintained in the farming community of Roseville, near Alberton in Prince County.

A P. E. I. agriculture official, who asked not to be named, said the deaths may have been caused by anthrax. Farmers reported their animals showed swelling about the stomach and discoloration of the udder, general characteristics of the disease.

Dr. Fisher said the outbreak was "definitely not" foot and mouth disease, which hit south Saskatchewan last winter. The disease only affects cloven foot animals.

In Ottawa, federal veterinary officials expressed surprise that a livestock quarantine had been ordered in the province.

Dr. Orlan Hall, assistant veterinary director-general, said he had received no report and if a quarantine has been ordered by the district veterinarian it was because "some mild disease has broken out."

Edmund Kelly, who performed an autopsy on a cow, became extremely ill and was treated in hospital. His son Ralph said he had "a pretty tough time" during his 10 days in hospital.

Ku Klux Klan Official Jailed For Four Years

WHITEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan's pudgy imperial wizard, Thomas L. Hamilton, was sentenced to four years in prison yesterday for masterminding a flogging.

Superior Court Judge Clawson L. Williams ordered the maximum term for the Klan leader who once boasted he would spread his hooded anti-Negro, anti-Catholic and anti-Jewish secret society across the United States.

Sentence was passed against Hamilton and 62 other Klansmen as the climax of one of the largest mass trials in North Carolina history. It followed a wave of floggings by nightriders who spread terror through the coastal Carolinas last year.

In the other cases, Judge Williams gave sentences ranging from one to two years, many of them suspended on payment of fines. All but one of the Klansmen had pleaded guilty or no contest.

CCF Convention To Consider Many Topics

TORONTO (CP)—Resolutions dealing with subjects ranging from social security at home to napalm bombing in Korea will be considered at the annual convention of the C.C.F. party opening here Aug. 6.

The three-day convention, coinciding with the 20th anniversary of the founding of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation as a party in Canada, will be addressed by Kenneth Younger, secretary of State in Britain's former Labor government.

Some 200 delegates from all parts of Canada are expected, and provincial leaders attending will include Mme. Therese Casgrain of Quebec, Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan, E.B. Jolliffe of Ontario, Harold Winch of British Columbia and Scottie Bruce of Manitoba

Elmer Roper, Alberta party leader, hopes to fly to the convention following the election in that province Aug. 5.

PREPARE PLATFORM

Issues of domestic and foreign policy to be dealt with at the convention will form the basis for a platform to be drafted by the C.C.F national council for the next federal election when the party plans to run as full a slate of candidates as possible.

Resolutions already submitted will be considered during the three-day convention and other resolutions may be brought forward by the national executive, which meets Aug. 4 for two days.

Besides Younger, speakers will include M.J. Coldwell, the party's national leader in the House of Commons, and Premier Douglas.

The long list of resolutions must be voted on by the convention before becoming part of the C.C.F. election platform.

SECURITY DEMANDS

In national affairs, resolutions have been submitted on the questions of social security, veterans' allowances, agriculture, housing, immigration, taxation, and other subjects.

Resolutions call for complete health services and sickness benefits, increased old-age pensions, family allowances and pensions for blind and disabled persons, along with "adequate" unemployment insurance.

Security for agriculture is called for in another resolution by postponing for three years the annual payments being made on the British loan if the British government will use the extra dollar exchange made available for purchasing cheese, bacon and apples from Canada.

"Adequate compensation" to farmers suffering losses through the outbreak of foot and mouth disease earlier this year in Saskatchewan also is demanded.

In housing, submitted resolutions generally call for the federal government to introduce a national housing program to provide working families with housing at reasonable rents.

NAPALM DEPLORED

Immigration resolutions demand standards of employment, wages, hours and working conditions for immigrants be not less than those in effect for other Canadians and that racial discrimination be outlawed.

Taxation resolutions generally condemn "the general trend in Canadian tax laws which are laying an increasing burden on those least able to pay" and suggest higher exemptions for child dependents and full deductions for medical expenses.

In international affairs, resolutions favor the Colombo Plan for aid to Asian territories, criticize the North Atlantic Treaty Organization for its emphasis on arms production rather than economic aid to needy nations, and ask that "no effort be spared to bring the tragic struggle in Korea to a conclusion."

Resolutions from Ottawa and British Columbia deplore the use of the napalm (jellied gasoline) bomb in Korea.

cause of foot-and-mouth disease in South Saskatchewan. Once this market is reopened, exports to the U.S. may show sharper gains. In the past, Canada had a market in the U.S. for more than $100,000,000 worth of livestock and meats a year.

Exports to Commonwealth countries other than the U.K. increased to $18,800,000 during June, up from last year's $15,100,000. The combined total shipments to other countries amounted to $82,-500,000, sharply higher than $58,-400,000 last year.

Dollar value of imports showed a softening during June which virtually affected all of Canada's suppliers. Imports from the U.S. slipped to $235,600,000 from $241,-500,000 and from the U.K. to $31,400,000 from $39,900,000.

Total purchases from other Commonwealth countries were cut by almost a half to $16,700,000 from $30,700,000 while purchases from all other countries eased to $40,700,000 from $48,300,000.

2 New Sources For Uranium

WASHINGTON (AP)—Uranium ore for the ever-expanding United States Atomic program will soon be coming from two new foreign sources—South Africa and Australia. The U.S. revealed this today in a report disclosing substantial progress in developing improved atomic weapons during the last six months. The Atomic Energy Commission in its 12th semi-annual report to Congress further disclosed additional uranium may come from new milling facilities in Canada—long an American supplier—and that new sources within the U.S. itself are nearly ready. The A.E.C. also said its atomic reactor is scheduled to do extensive work this summer at the Arco, Idaho test station. Described as the world's most powerful research reactor, it is designed to test materials which might conceivably be used in construction of atomic furnaces.

This reactor is said to produce more atomic rays for a given amount of atomic fuel than any known reactor.

Until completion of the reactor this year, Canada had the lead over the U. S. in this field with its heavy-water atomic pile at Chalk River, Ont.

Indicating a vastly increased tempo, the commission revealed its plants for producing atomic explosives had at times been pushed even beyond their designed operating capacity. But new ones are being built and still others are in prospect under the recent $3,500,000,000 expansion program.

NEW URANIUM SOURCES

As for the new foreign sources of raw uranium, the A.E.C. said the first of several plants being constructed in South Africa to recover uranium from gold ores of the famous old "Rand" gold field is nearly ready to start production, first product of a three-nation agreement of December 1950 whereby Britain and the U. S. will purchase uranium from South Africa.

Concerning the Australian source the A.E.C. said only that an agreement was reached with Australia to supply uranium to the U. S.

The A.E.C.'s report also listed:

1. Progress in the development of atomic propulsion for aircraft.

2. Continuance of a project to build a second type of atomic engine for possible use in a submarine.

Conspicuous by its absence was any reference to progress on the projected hydrogen bomb.

North Carolina Farmers Visit In City

"The Central Experimental Farms at Ottawa comprise the finest agricultural demonstration station we have visited since we left home."

That was the voluntary compliment by W. C. Medford of Waynesville, N.C., one of the 181 farmers and business men and their wives from Haywood County North Carolina, who were luncheon guests at the Empress Hotel today.

"We weren't in to Cornell University in New York State, but of the various places that we have called at since we left home last Saturday at 7 a.m., the Government Farms at Ottawa were fully up to anything comparable in our state.

"I'd say they were the best we have seen on the trip," Mr. Medford said, "and that includes North Carolina."

The Haywood County Out-State Farm tourists are travelling in four spacious buses.

"This is our 11th tour, and our first time into Canada," Mr. Medford said "We averaged 2,600 miles the last two years. The Out-State expression means away from home. The tour started in a small way, but has been expanding steadily. It has become so popular that we just had to take in some of the business men who wanted to come along with us."

The visitors from Carolina arrive home late Sunday, after traversing 14 States, Quebec and Eastern Ontario.

"About 25 per cent of the men and women on this tour are not farmers," Mr. Medford said. He is a retired farmer, in real estate in Waynesville, and also doing some newspaper corresponding.

"Farming has been changing radically in our State for the last 10 years. At the beginning of the century we got into burley tobacco and its production developed into quite a big industry. Today, some of the tobacco land is being reforested. That is one sign of the times.

"Our cattle industry leads our agriculture, with tobacco second.

"In beef cattle, Herefords come first, with a lot of Shorthorns and Angus; and in dairying I'd say the Guernsey breed is outstanding, but we also have Holsteins and other breeds.

"Improvement of the land, greater use of fertilizer, permanent pastures, these are some of the branches of farming in North Carolina that are getting more attention today. Greater emphasis is being placed on livestock, and especially dairy cattle."

The accommodation of the Kawartha Room at the Empress was entirely occupied by the Haywood County people at luncheon, and the soft speech of the Southerners was a new tone in the banquet room.

Cliff Morrow, Toronto, fieldman of the Livestock Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, came down from Toronto to greet the farm visitors.

Mayor Waddell extended a welcome to Peterborough; Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, and Harold Lewis, fieldman of the county Federation of Agriculture, were also present.

Trying To Speed Up News Censorship

CAIRO (Reuters)—An attempt to speed up newspaper censorship in Egypt is being made following complaints from editors.

The complaints came today from newspaper editors who also protested against confiscation of yesterday's first edition of the Wafdist daily Al Misry.

They were told that Al Misry had published news which had been banned and that as from last night more censors had been appointed to speed up censorship.

Cairo's influential independent El Ahram was given a second warning today for violating censorship instructions. The newspaper was told it would be suspended if it disobeyed a third time.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich (AP) —Four teen-agers—two girls and two boys—were sought today along heavily-wooded borders of the Marquette national forest and the Mackinac state forest in Michigan's rugged Upper Peninsula.

They vanished at 2 p.m. yesterday. An overnight search failed to find any trace of Dorothy Klingler, 14, of Hinsdale, Ill; Shirley Kasur, 13, of Chicago, and Frank Grasscott, 17, and Edward Kenyon, 14, both of Dearborn, Mich.

U.K. Swimming Team At Michigan University

Mann, also swimming coach at Michigan, is a native of Leeds, England. He said the Wardrop twins were not given scholarships.

"We will help them find work, of course," he said, "but the work will be self-sustaining."

Nine Swimmers Break Record

HELSINKI (CP)—Nine swimmers broke the long-standing Olympic record for the men's 1,500-metre free-style swim in trial heats today, Japan's Shiro Hashizume leading the way with a time of 18 minutes, 34 seconds.

Japan's great swimmer set that mark in the first of six trial heats and it stood up throughout the day. Other swimmers in addition to all heat winners also broke the Olympic record of 19:12.4 which K. Kitamura of Japan set in 1932.

The eight swimmers with the fastest time go into Saturday's final.

The record-slashing was so furious that Jean Boiteux of France, winner of the men's 400-metre free-style championship yesterday, failed to qualify although he was one of the record-breakers. His time of 19:12.3 ninth best, just missed the last qualifying place.

The qualifiers were:

Shira Hashizume, Japan; Ford Konno, U.S.: Peter Duncan, South Africa; Tetsuo Okamoto, Brazil; Joseph Bernardo, France; John Marshall, Australia; Jim McLane, U.S., and Yasuo Kitamura, Japan.

Gerry McNamee of Vancouver and Allen Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., failed to qualify. McNamee's time was 20:02.5 and Gilchrist's 20:08.3.

Kay McNamee of Vancouver and Gladys Priestley of Verdun, Que., failed to qualify in preliminaries of the women's 400-metre race.

Stinging Answer To Charge Brings Harmony

TORONTO (CP)—Delegates to the 18th International Red Cross conference today looked hopefully for a return of harmony to sessions, seared in the last several days by Communist charges of alleged atrocities and use of germ warfare in Korea.

Polish, Chinese Communist and North Korean delegates Wednesday reopened their attacks on United States and United Nations at morning sessions. For the first time these attacks were answered directly on the floor of the conference by U.S. observer James T. Nicholson, Vice-President of the American Red Cross. He told delegates Communist tactics were "debasing the Red Cross and perhaps destroying it."

Later, at a press conference, he warned:

They think a society for humanitarian work applying to all man is impossible. They understand human relationships only in terms of conflict. They are here to create conflict."

U.S. EFFECT SEEN

In the afternoon session it appeared that Nicholson's stinging answers had at last stifled the Communist propaganda and the conference moved ahead with its legitimate business.

A Polish resolution, asking all governments to hasten ratification of the 1925 Geneva Conventions outlawing bacteriological warfare, was passed 49 to 8 with the Soviet Bloc in favor. A Norwegian resolution calling on governments to hasten ratification of the 1949 Geneva Convention was passed unanimously.

It also accepted unanimously a boiled-down version of complaints from Russia, Greece, and other countries that refugees from the Second World War and other strife areas have not been repatriated and agreed to a resolution expressing hope the current conference can organize some way of obtaining this repatriation.

In Poor Health 3 Years; Then Read About Syntona and Said "That's The Way I Feel." Now Tells His Experience.

Mr. Edward Ashley, 83 Inkerman Street, London, Ontario, says he is only too glad to pass his experience along to other people, because that is the way he found relief from health disorders which had kept him feeling miserable for the past three years.

"I was having a bad time of it and couldn't get anything to help me," said Mr. Ashley. "After meals I would bloat with gas and belch up hot, sour liquids. I was subject to bilious attacks, dizzy feelings, and throbbing headaches. I had a dull aching pain across my back and rheumatic pains in my limbs and joints. I couldn't get my proper sleep at night and in the morning I felt fatigued and found it hard to get started on my day's work.

"After trying many different things I read about Syntona and as I was reading it I said 'That's just the way I feel.' So I began taking this medicine and now I am like a different person. Syntona cleared up all the distress in my stomach, the aches and pains, and dizziness are now gone away and I am getting more sound restful sleep. As a result my strength has returned and I get up morning feeling rested and ready for my day's work.

MR. EDWARD ASHLEY

"I am certainly very happy about the way Syntona helped me and glad to recommend it to other people who suffer this same way."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. Find out how it can help you, too. (Advt.)

RONALD SPROULE of Consecon throttles down after winning first heat in the Class A races at Woodland Estate near Campbellford on Wednesday. ## Clayton Revoy Captures Bait-Casting Contest

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Sunny skies, a good course and a large number of entries in the boat races combined to make the annual regatta held by the Campbellford and District Fish and Game Protective Association a success on Wednesday. The affair was held at Woodland Estate near Healey Falls.

In spite of two other regattas in the district, a large crowd turned out.

BAIT-CASTING

In the bait-casting contest, Clayton Revoy, of Trent River, took first prize. Bert Wedman, of Warren, Ohio, placed second and Douglas Ryan, of Puff Ball Inn, was third. All received cash prizes.

In the draw, James Black, of Marmora, held the winning ticket and received a combination radio and television set. Jim Owens, of Campbellford, won the second prize, a spinning reel and rod.

The boat races provided many thrills for the crowd. Ron Sproule, of Consecon, upset his boat, "My Ruthie," on a turn, and was fished out of the water by Charles Wickens and Lloyd Richardson, of Campbellford, who went to the rescue. His disabled boat was towed to shore.

Winners in the boat races were as follows:

Class A—Ted Renouff, Oshawa; George Stafford.

Class B—Russ Vesna, Toronto; Ozzie Nelson, Hastings; Lloyd Richardson, Campbellford.

Class B1—Ron Sproule, Consecon; Norm Seward, Campbellford; Russ Vesna, Toronto.

Classes A, B and B1 were run off in two heats.

Charles Wickens of Campbellford took first place in the one-heat free-for-all race. Russ Vesna of Toronto was second, with Lloyd Richardson of Campbellford coming in in third position.

In the swimimng races, James Ruttan won the race for boys 16 and under, outstroking Douglas Ruttan who came in second. Eleanor Dutton took top honors in the swimming race for girls 16 and under. Wanda Brunton was the runner-up. In the boys' 12 and under race, Raymond Brunton came in first, with Gary MacArthur second.

English Buses Pay Visit To Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS)—The caravan of English buses got away yesterday morning, en route to Campbellford, after an overnight stay in Cobourg. The caravan personnel said that they were impressed by the orderly arrangements laid out by the local police in regard to the public going aboard to see the buses. Almost a thousand people, most of them children, were given rides about town. One of the bus tour officials confided that they enjoyed the informality of their visit to Cobourg, the warmth of the reception and at the same time the lack of speeches from local dignitaries. Mayor Jack Burnet had promised to keep it short and sweet and he did.

Campbellford Citizens' Band Greets English Buses

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The three double deck buses from London, England were in Campbellford on Wednesday morning.

The cavalcade carrying the British visitors were escorted into town by motorcycle police and O.P.P. cruisers, and led by the Campbellford Citizens' Band.

The cavalcade parked at the post office square where hundreds of people had gathered. For many, the sight of the big red double deck omnibus recalled memories of war years in England, for others it was like a personal visit from friends "over 'ome," but the majority of curious onlookers, it was something entirely new.

Many persons had an opportunity to ride the big vehicles. One of the buses made several trips around the town, each time carrying a different load of passengers.

The motorcade arrived in the town just prior to the lunch hour, and the crews were taken to tea on the large lawn at the residence of Reeve R. J. Locke.

OFFICIAL WELCOME

Reeve R. J. Locke and councillor Isobel Tatham were in charge of the official reception. Mayor W. A. Kingston, Reeve R. J. Locke and Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason officially greeted the British crews on their arrival. Wives of councillors and representatives of the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, I.O.D.E, Chamber of Commerce, Canadian Legion and the Legion Auxiliary were on hand to officially greet the visitors.

The group seemed to appreciate the special reception that had been arranged for them, and said that outside of Ottawa, Campbellford was the only centre where they had been escorted into and out of the town by a band. The Campbellford Citizens' band played during the entire stay, lasting more than an hour.

To Prevent Television Jungle

The prospect of opening television broadcasting stations in Toronto and Montreal is making the residential skylines of many Ontario cities, as well as of Toronto and Montreal, unsightly jungles of aerials, as more thousands of people buy TV sets. These skylines are bad enough now, for Ontario's domestic chimneys are not works of artistic craft. But roofs festooned with wire and steel contraptions resembling crow's nests of wash lines and poles neither ornament homes nor adorn streets. We hope that, as radio's advancement made radio aerials on houses unnecessary, so in due course television engineers will be able to do away with the frightful fantasy of TV aerials. Meanwhile, the Canadian army has shown a way to be discreet and decorous in equipping buildings for television reception.

* * *

At Camp Borden a single tower antenna is being built near the camp to act as a centralized receiving station for TV broadcasts. Messes and private homes on camp will be connected to the central tower by cables. If present or prospective TV set owners along streets in Toronto, Peterborough and other centres likely to be disfigured by hundreds of TV aerials, were to club together to put up one central aerial to do three or four blocks, the residential district's skyline would be preserved from the unsightly array of wires and poles on roof-tops. Other advantages would accrue. It is likely that reception would be improved generally, for the best technicians would advise on and supervise the erection of the neighbourhood's single antenna, and thirty or forty contributions to the central reception tower would provide all told more money by far than individual set owners would be willing to put out for their own separate aerials; thus a better reception tower would be built. Further, the cost, being pooled, should be less to the household than if each had its own. When the Camp Borden tower is completed in mid-August, TV watchers there expect to have as good reception as viewers in Toronto.

* * *

A private company is erecting the large antenna at Camp Borden. Its officials report that the system is being used with success in the United States. Here is an opportunity in Canada either for private enterprise to sell the communal idea to neighbourhoods; or for families in a city district to co-operate on a non-profit basis, to save themselves money and their neighbourhood's amenities. Certain it is that TV aerials disfigure a street. Municipal councils might themselves undertake, at the request of residents, to zone the city for central TV antennae, and build and maintain them as a public service, but at the entire cost of the households tapping them.

* * *

We hesitate to recommend official civic intervention in this matter, until TV engineering is sufficiently advanced to warrant its being adopted on a city-wide scale. Meanwhile, as at Camp Borden, private initiative could lead the way.

Trade With The Iron Curtain

The present international situation might well have been devised by the late W. S. Gilbert. There is fighting in Korea although war has not been declared. Russia continues to be a member of the United Nations although she is furnishing aid to the adversaries of the United Nations in Korea. The United States, who run the show for the United Nations, are still negotiating a truce with the military representatives of a power that they do not recognize officially, Red China.

Meanwhile Japan and Western Germany, the erstwhile enemies, are being actively urged to support us in our defence preparations, while murmurs of apprehension are heard from Australia, France and elsewhere.

The U.S. is putting pressure to bear on European countries to cease trade with the iron curtain countries in an effort to deny them the use of certain important raw materials and manufactured goods. At the same time she has made no effort to lower her tariffs to permit European exports to flow more freely into the U.S., a measure that is admitted by all shows most promise of easing the present economic instability of Europe.

The French government has drawn up a "black list" very similar to the American model, featuring some three hundred different products which it is forbidden to export to Communist-controlled countries. It is not stated what precautions are taken to prevent re-export from the country of destination, but even American "strategic products" sometimes find their way through.

As a matter of fact French trade with the Communist world declined during 1951, and the new regulations will decrease it still further. It was most extensive with Poland and Czechoslovakia. Trade with Russia and Rumania was almost trifling. In the words of the French Official News Service, "In any event, in the name of Atlantic solidarity, France has forced upon herself an attitude which is not always in conformity with her material interests. By abandoning certain exports (motor vehicles and chemical products, for instance) she is depriving herself of raw materials which she is obliged to buy in other markets, when frequently the necessary currency is not available. France can only hope that this will be taken into consideration during international economic negotiations."

Most of the other countries of Western Europe are facing the same dilemma. It is an issue of which the American public as a whole is ignorant, to judge from the violent outbursts over the leak of strategic materials that occur from time to time. If the American people were made fully aware of it we are confident that their response would not be niggardly.

Poverty Too Expensive

When distinguished visitors arrive in a home, a military establishment or a country, there is always a flurry of preparation for days ahead, and sometimes the preparations to entertain the visitor are costly, even if he says: 'Now, don't put yourselves out; I'll just take pot luck,' or 'I want to see the camp (or city or country) as it usually is.' Even to put on a good appearance of normality takes time, whitewash and money.

Last year Mrs. Roosevelt toured Europe and Asia. She earnestly wished not for elaborate ceremonial and princely entertainment, but to see people and places as they ordinarily are, and to visit the humble as well as the great. A story about her reception in India by Pandit Nehru has lately been published by a columnist in the Milan Corriere della Sera.

"A friend of mine, the son of a Maharaja, joined me and told me of the minor diplomatic battle that had been fought between the Minister and the Widow who at first firmly refused the princely (aulica) hospitality which was offered her. She would have much preferred to live among the poor people in a village somewhere in the country, if possible among the Untouchables. And for the Pandit, bard of democracy in India, it had been pretty embarrassing to refuse that wish. 'You must understand,' the son of the Maharaja said to me, 'other considerations apart, it would have cost us a bagful of money to build, out of nothing, such a village, even if we had used mud to make it more convincing, and then put in some hundred decent families as part of the desired "poor people." It has already cost us too much to keep Gandhi in poverty'."

People Who Seek Accidents

Everybody has heard a miserable or unfortunate person described as "looking like an accident going someplace to happen"; we suggest that a more accurate description might be "looking for an accident to happen to him." For an interesting field of research of modern psychology concerns those people who become involved in accidents with unusual frequency, and who are called "accident-prone."

We have been looking over some figures sent to us by the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations which give details of the accidents which have happened in industry in this country from January 1st to June 30th of this year. Forty-seven per cent. of these accidents happened when objects were being handled, and when people fell at work; another ten per cent, happened when people ran into things. In short, these accidents could probably have been avoided if greater care had been taken. The other causes of accidents—flying fragments, using tools, moving vehicles, industrial disease, and so forth—figure far less prominently in the totals.

Psychologists now have a pretty shrewd idea of the kind of man or woman who will be involved in accidents of the preventable kind; they are people who are worrying about home affairs, about money, about love affairs, about anything; they are more often young than middle-aged or old, and they are often of a vigorous, impulsive and daring temperament. They are not consciously aware of it, but they are inviting trouble because they are not attending carefully to what they are doing. Some of them have surprisingly long records of accidents, extended over a period of years.

We do not see what can be done about them. They are often able workers, and in any case they have to have jobs. But it seems likely that in a few years tests will be devised which will show who they are, and will enable managers to put them in jobs where accidents cannot happen even to people with their genius for trouble. When that day comes the yearly total of 20,000 odd accidents a year in industry can be cut in two.

Convention Against Literary Thieving

By DENNIS BLOODWORTH

BECAUSE COPYRIGHT laws vary so much from country to country and have become filled with obscure catch-clauses, UNESCO during the past four years has organised a series of conferences, to produce an international agreement which would simplify and standardise them. On August 18 this year copyright experts from up to eighty four countries will meet at Geneva to sign a new Universal Copyright Convention, which will then have to be ratified by all Parliaments concerned.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT FIRST GLANCE it appears that the elephant is straining at the gnat, for the product of all this work is a few clauses designed to grant the same protection to foreign authors as native writers of a country enjoy, to provide a minimum period for the duration of copyright and translation rights, and to simplify the formalities involved.

✧ ✧ ✧

A LITTLE EXAMINATION, however, shows how necessary and difficult the work has been. In Europe and the British Commonwealth the copyright on literary or artistic works extends for about fifty years after the death of their authors, and provides children and often grandchildren with an income. In some States, on the other hand, copyright is granted only for ten years from the date of first publication, after which the ageing and impecunious author may observe with chagrin that a novel which earned him a mere pittance when he held its copyright is selling many thousand copies and making a small fortune—exclusively for its (to him) undeserving publisher. UNESCO hopes to introduce universally a twenty five year period of copyright protection dating either from first publication of a work or from the time of its author's death.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE UNIVERSAL CONVENTION is also expected to grant an author exclusive rights for ten years on the translation of his work into foreign languages, and for a further thirty years, while no longer having the right to refuse permission to translate, he will still have to be paid. Asked recently whether such protective laws did not exist already, a newspaper colleague replied: "Judge for yourself. A few years back I ran a forty-eight page South American weekly newspaper singlehanded. It was not a bit difficult. I just bought a vast selection of the world's newspapers and magazines, "lifted" enough articles and photographs out of them to fill forty-eight pages, translated them where necessary, and there was my weekly edition. No payments were made, and no references made in our pages to the publications from which the material was taken. Yet it was all quite legal."

✧ ✧ ✧

THE CONVENTION equally attacks the complexities which apply to copyright laws in countries where translation rights are not recognised until complicated and often expensive formalities are completed. It costs about one hundred dollars to protect one's brainchild in Cuba, for example, and it takes a very confident new writer to believe that his first book will earn that hundred dollars back for him. If he does not protect it, however, and the book proves a best-seller, he may have to look on with impotent and profitless fury while a Havana publisher translates it, prints it, and proceeds to sell a million copies in the twenty different countries where Spanish is spoken, without paying him a cent.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR AUTHORS writing in English, an even more dangerous pitfall is provided by the Manufacturing Clause in the American copyright law, which stipulates that no book written in English has a valid copyright in the United States until its author has contracted for an American company to print it in America on American paper and to have it bound by American bookbinders. If this is not done, any company in the United States can publish the book freely, while its author, sitting glumly in London, Melbourne or Cape Town, watches his dreams of a fat dollar account dwindle to nothing. Yet at the same time, American law grants full protection to authors writing in any other language in the world.

✧ ✧ ✧

PUBLIC, authors and business alike suffer daily from the intricacies of existing copyright laws. Even a powerful and resourceful Hollywood refuses to consider a first-class script if the copyright laws applicable to it are too obscure and might lead to trouble. In this way the cinema industry loses a money-spinning proposition, the author his one chance of making writing pay handsomely, and the public some excellent entertainment.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS TO PROTECT the often guileless author and artist and to give the maximum benefit to them, as well as to business and the general public, that the new convention has been drawn up. If it is agreed, incidentally, the very word "Copyright" with its intimidating associations, will disappear from the flyleaves of books and be replaced by an accepted symbol—the letter 'c' in a circle — so that no one can flagrantly ignore its implications and plead afterwards that "he did not speak English."

Dulse - They Eat It!

(Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

This is the height of the dulse season, and wherever the succulent seaweed is displayed in grocery store windows the tourists stop to stare in and speculate what the strange-looking stuff is used for.

A frequent guess is that it's an insulation material. When a visitor is informed that New Brunswickers eat dulse, that in fact some of them have an insatiable summertime craving for it and can no more stop nibbling at it than most folks can stop eating peanuts, he is incredulous.

Dulse! He just can't get over it. Even when he gingerly tastes a strip of the purple seaweed, he can't comprehend it. He chews it with mixed emotions registering on his face, like a child taking medicine, and asks anxiously, "What am I supposed to do now—swallow it?"

He listens in bewilderment as shoppers in the grocery store discuss the relative merits of, say, Chance Harbor dulse and Grand Manan dulse, or of the shiny leathery variety versus the soft pinkish salty type, or of plain raw dulse versus dulse that has been toasted over a lamp or a candle.

Another Goose Killed

(BRANTFORD EXPOSITOR)

THERE are many modern variations of the legend about the man who killed the goose that laid the golden egg, but perhaps no incident in Canada in recent years illustrates the fable as well as did recent union demands at Ford of Canada in Windsor—demands which were so exorbitant that they resulted in cancellation by Candair Limited of its multi-million dollar contract with the company. Ford was scheduled to build the wings for Candair's $120,000,000 T-33 jet trainer program and the project would have provided jobs for 800 to 1,000 men.

In a newspaper story in a current issue of The Financial Post, the reasons why the contract was cancelled are set forth. They make disturbing reading for all Canadians. The official statement said that the deal was called off because of "certain difficulties and obstacles." These were: union demands that seniority in the auto plant be extended to the new aircraft division, and unsettled labour relations at Ford and in Windsor generally.

If the union's seniority plan had been accepted, it would have meant that, in the event of layoffs in the automobile manufacturing section, the aircraft men would be laid off to make jobs for senior men from the auto section. However, the men employed in the aircraft division would require considerable training. If they were "bumped off" by senior employees engaged in the auto section, this training would be lost, as far as the company was concerned, and an additional expenditure would be required to train the seniors in the elements of aircraft wing manufacturing. When the auto section opened up again, the senior men would return to their regular jobs and if the laid-off aircraft employees were not available for rehire, a new group would have to be trained.

Clearly, no company could accept such conditions and Canadair, which must produce T-33 jet trainers, could not afford to become involved in a situation so riddled with uncertainties. As a result of the proposed seniority plan and because labour conditions in Ford and in Windsor have frequently been pock-marked by strikes, threats of strikes and wildcat walkouts, the contract was cancelled. Until labour leaders learn the importance of the long-range view, and until they are willing to shed their dictatorial tendencies and accept compromises for the ultimate benefit of union members, industry, workers and the nation as a whole will continue to suffer needlessly.

Letters To The Editor

NO NICER PLACE

Sir: I agree with auctioneer Miles that Peterborough is a model city. Unlike Mr. Miles I haven't travelled so extensively but since coming to Canada from Britain almost eight years ago, I have come to realise that I couldn't have wished for a nicer place in which to make my home. Credit should be given to the Peterborough people for keeping it a clean and beautiful place. They show that they are proud of their city, in being so generous in their welcomes, such as was given the London busmen on their recent visit.

It was really a wonderful welcome from Peterborough and the surrounding districts. I know when these men get back home and tell of their wonderful visit, our city will be one of the foremost places in their minds. May this goodwill tour bring for Britain the tourist trade they have hoped for, to help them back on their feet, and for Canadians who are fortunate enough to make the trip may they bring back wonderful memories.

MRS. E. DAVIS.

THE ARMS POLICE BEAR

Sir: Last Saturday a man died from a bullet fired by a policeman at Kirkland Lake. His offence was that he was "loitering near a railway box-car." Recently some boys in Toronto were playing some games which entailed jumping over walls. A policeman, suspecting attempted burglary gave chase with drawn gun and one of the boys was killed. In another Ontario town recently I saw that a man had been noticed loitering near a girls' school and reported to the police. Despite the fact that he was well known locally as being quite harmless except in one unfortunate sense, he was shot during arrest. These are not isolated instances.

The argument that the police need guns for defence against armed criminals is sound, but it must be obvious that these arms are being used needlessly and irresponsibly.

It has still to be proved that arming of police is any deterrent to intending law-breakers, and it is significant that the countries where police are unarmed are amongst the most law-biding.

Is it not time that this whole question was brought out and thoroughly investigated? Human life, even that of law-breakers, is still sacred.

Yours truly,
SIXTH COMMANDMENT.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, a certain lawyer stood up, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life? He said unto him, What is written in the law? how readest thou? And he answering said, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbour as thyself.

And he said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this do, and thou shalt live. But he, willing to justify himself, said unto Jesus, And who is my neighbour?

And Jesus answering said, A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, which stripped him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead. And by chance there came down a certain priest that way: and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side. And likewise a Levite, when he was at the place, came and looked on him, and passed by on the other side. But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was: and when he saw him, he had compassion on him, and went to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him. And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto him, Take care of him; and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again, I will repay thee.

Which of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour unto him that fell among the thieves? And he said, He that shewed mercy on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do thou likewise. (Luke 10: 25-37.)

Feed On Publicity

(Brandon Sun)

The scathing criticisms and loud protests against permitting that man Endicott to rave as he will for his masters in Russia are having repercussions which add to the value of propaganda for communism in Canada. It would have been better for all if they had been allowed a large amount of obscurity and silence in the press. Already some sections of the C.C.F. are taking up the alleged germ circulation as an Allied war weapon—and publicity is their meal ticket, too. Only our rabid communists believe the sort of propaganda being peddled and they find it useful to have their woolly-minded stooges in the limelight. What we need is to restrain ourselves better and to learn to tolerate the occasional fool or fanatic. That is not so much of a price to pay for preserving the rights of every man to speak what he imagines is his mind on public affairs freely and without fear. It is one of the traditions of the British race—and a proper one.

'Ikeburger'

(Indianapolis Star)

When kind friends warned Gen. Ike that as he entered politics he was entering a chamber of horrors filled with assorted pitfalls and booby traps, how right they were! This pessimistic point of view was reached after reading that in the town of Philmath, Ore., a restaurant proprietor has come up with the "Ikeburger," which is described as being "an open face sandwich of meat and cheese, served with potato chips and a strip of bacon, 'for Ike to bring home.'"

"COOL CONTROL"

PITCHING FROM THE RUBBER

1 Your pivot foot must be in contact with the "rubber" on every pitch. You should not walk into a pitch. "Rubber" is 24 inches long and 6 inches wide. If no runners are on base, begin with right foot on "rubber" a few inches in from 3rd base side.

2 Left foot is slightly behind right leg; spikes on right shoe hang over "rubber" and bite into earth. Hold ball behind right leg, body relaxed and slightly bent. Gloved hand hangs loosely.

3 Distribute weight about evenly on both legs while receiving signal from catcher, with right leg taking slightly more lean. Keep windup simple by not wasting motions and energy. Delivery begins by transferring weight to right leg as arms swing in front.

Yes, it's control that counts, in baseball as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Rowing Crews Busy Keeping In Trim

HELSINKI (AP)—The Canadian and United States eight-oar crews aren't letting themselves get rusty now that the Olympic rowing competition is over.

Today they played a basketball game on the Kaepylae village's outdoor practice court—barefooted. The U.S. won 43-30.

Seek Injunction Against Pickets

TORONTO (CP)—Sunshine Waterloo Company of Kitchener today asked for a court injunction against picketing of their plant by striking members of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.).

A decision was expected later today.

J.K. Sims, representing the firm, said evidence showed employees who wished to return to work and regular customers of the company were denied entrance by a jostling, tightly-packed picket line, three to four ranks deep.

He said no actual violence had occurred but company officials were anxious to prevent any possible outbreak and objected to intimidation presented by the intensive picketing.

Counsel for the union contended no evidence of violence had been presented and no injunction was warranted.

With the exception of six strikers specifically named as agitators by the company, no action ought to be contemplated by the court against the union as a whole, union counsel said.

Reeve Disapproves Of Firemen's Increase

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Reeve Ann Shipley of Teck Township yesterday expressed disapproval of a recent arbitration board decision granting township firemen a monthly $15 across-the-board increase.

Criticizing what she termed an "interfering" arbitration board, Mrs. Shipley told a council meeting the increase had been based on a comparison of wages between towns, rather than on the wage schedule in force in Teck and the ability of taxpayers to carry the added load.

Suggest Selling Drugs Through Clinics

VANCOUVER (CP)—A special committee set up last April by the Vancouver community chest today suggested that the opium and narcotics drug act be amended to permit legal sale of drugs through government clinics.

There, the report said, addicts could legally obtain their minimum required dosage.

In an 18-page statement, The committee said Vancouver's problem of teen-age drug users was "hardly unexpected," considering a "progressive increase" in the number of addicts throughout Canada.

More than a dozen Vancouver boys and girls have confessed to taking drugs. Detective say their investigations are far from completed.

"This development," the report said, "adds significance to the evidence that the number of addicts must be increasing, for without successful techniques of treatment and rehabilitation, only death releases the addict from the grip of the drug of his addiction."

The committee came to the "obvious conclusion" that the problem of addiction is "medical" and suggested a complete revamping of present methods of battling the menace.

Allow Steel Mills Higher Ceiling Price

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States government today issued a special order permitting steel mills to put higher ceiling prices in effect on all steel delivered on or after July 26.

Mr. Brodeur, who headed the police department's morality squad in 1940 and 1941, said he amassed that amount by saving and stock market deals. He had been playing the stock market since 1927.

The inquiry is into alleged non-enforcement of anti-vice laws by the police department during a 10-year period.

More than 100 entries have been received for the draw which was scheduled to close yesterday. The list will be closed when 128 are received.

A spokesman said their decision did not close the matter since the rowing club executive would have final say.

Record-breaking States Attorney, owned by Andrew Reese Jr., of Hamburg, N. Maybe shortstop Willy Miranda of Chicago White Sox hoped to hoist his lagging batting average, but the umpires made him change his favorite hitting stick during the game yesterday against New York Yankees at Chicago.

The umpires checked the business end of Miranda's bat before his second appearance at the plate and ruled it had been tampered with. Willy's bat appeared discolored to onlookers, but otherwise shaped in the conventional style.

Ontario, Quebec Juniors Plan Play Together

TORONTO (CP) — Eastern Canadian junior hockey took a bold step yesterday when the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A loop and the Quebec Junior Amateur Hockey Association agreed to play an interlocking schedule during the 1952-53 season.

The idea, from Quebec representatives, came into fruition at a meeting here today. Sam Pollock and Kenny Reardon, of the Montreal Canadiens' farm system, represented the Quebec circuit while seven of the nine O.H.A. Junior A clubs had officials at the meeting. Barrie and Windsor agreed to the idea in absentia.

The new home-and-home schedule will see the Ontario teams meeting each Quebec club twice, eight more games each for the O.H.A. groups. The four Quebec teams will play 18 additional games.

NO GUARANTEE

There will be no guarantee or split gate. It is a straight exchange on a year's trial basis with all games counting in the standings of each league.

Tentative plans call for the Ontario clubs to play the two Montreal clubs, Quebec and Three Rivers, in a single eastern trip.

The Q.J.A.H.A. teams will meet Toronto Marlboros and St. Mike's, Oshawa and Barrie on one trip and Guelph, Windsor, St. Catharines, Galt and Kitchener on another.

40 Canadians Flying Home

LONDON (Reuters)—Forty members of the Canadian Olympic team—including eight girls— flew into London airport last night from Helsinki aboard a chartered airliner, the first of several groups of the team expected to arrive here during the next few days on their way back to Montreal.

Among the party was the team's coach, Bruce Humber, of Victoria, who said: "I couldn't be more pleased with the team's showing in the 1952 games. Several individuals have set up enviable times, and on the whole we have everything to be pleased about.

"The spirit of this year's games left nothing to be desired."

Relations with athletes and team members of the Iron Curtain countries was discussed by track and field athlete Miss Eleanor McKenzie of Vancouver.

"With the Russian girls in particular we were on very good terms," she said.

Swimmer's Father Makes Big Splash

HELSINKI — (AP) — When France's Jean Boiteux won the Olympic 400 metre freestyle swimming championship in record time, it was his father, Gaston, who made the big splash.

The elder Boiteux jumped into the Olympic pool, fully dressed and with his beret still on his head, to embrace and kiss his son on both cheeks, even before all the others in the race had finished.

Jean's mother was a member of two French Olympic teams, in 1924 and 1928, but never could win a medal. His father was a top-rank swimmer in France, but never got anything better than a second place in French title events and never was picked for the Olympics.

Still dripping and grinning proudly, Gaston Boiteux sounded a note of warning to future Olympic contestants:

"We have two more at home—Henri, 14, and Marie-Therese, 12. They're going to be swimmers, too, and anyone counting on an Olympic title had better watch out when they get ready."

The $2,000 is a minimum and pay can increase sharply for championship bouts or other outstanding attractions.

ROUGH ON REF—Olympic basketball referee Vincent Farrell, of Newark, N.J., had the misfortune to officiate during a rough game between Uruguay and France. He called many fouls. France won the wild game, 68-66.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Comes to the desk a copy of the 1952 Canadian Rugby Football Union rules, the same set used by the O.R.F.U., a 107-page booklet complete with rules, list of officers, signals used by referees and the record of winners going back to 1892. Peterborough is mentioned three times in the intermediate series, defeating the Quebec champs in 1899 and again in '01, losing to Quebec the next year. Apparently we had then some mighty gridders, big muscular men wearing moustaches and few pads. Football is a tricky game and few fans thoroughly understand the rules. Hence it might be a good idea to get the book and read up on it ere autumn.

Jolly Jack Adams of the Stanley Cup champs recently spoke to Rotarians in Windsor. He remarked that none of last season's Wings received less than $6,500, apart from play-off bonuses, and some were away up in the $20,000 bracket. He spoke of expenses, too, saying that sticks are $2.50 each and Ted Lindsay alone broke 80 in the last campaign. Said an N.H.L. club must make $500,000 to break even in one season, so a losing squad can take a terrific financial beating. The Wings spent $53,000 two years ago to operate the Windsor junior "A" team. Yeah, pro hockey—especially in the National League—is really big business. Adams played here in '17.

Golfers At Ball Game

All is set for the big baseball "booster night" Friday at 8.30 in Riverside when Belleville and Petes tangle in a C.O.B.L. fray. A swell scrap assured and a draw for some valuable prizes, including a TV set. Admission ticket entitles one to these draws and no ducats are sold outside the park. Ray Tanner and Stan McBride have arranged an added attraction. Two golf teams will have a driving contest trying to hit the scoreboard for six prizes put up by Art Goodies. Peterborough team includes aces like Mike O'Leary, Red Sullivan, Ossie Anderson, Don Vyse, Arn O'Heron and Les Reid. Classy Kawartha crew comprises: Dick Ouimet, Mel Akers, Jim Clarkson, Bill Crowley, Jack Condon and Errol Hanbidge. Ought to be a good show.

Couple of interesting lacrosse games coming up at Miller Bowl the rest of the week. Doug. (Jr.) Miller's local juveniles have an 8.30 playoff tonight with Orillia and tote a seven-goal lead into the return of the home-and-home series. Winner advances into juvenile "B" provincial playdowns and it should be the young Petes. Lou Vitarelli's junior "A" Filter Queens clash at 8.30 Friday night here with Dundas as the schedule resumes, following a layoff of two weeks for factory holidays. Lou's crew still have a fair chance at cleaning up this group for a trip west on the Minto Cup trail. However, they've got to dig mighty hard from here in to do it. Seniors go to Fergus this Friday.

Thistles Washed Out

Senior lacrosse game here last night was washed out early in the evening. A tough break. The Timbermen trek to Fergus on Friday and we haven't heard yet when the postponed joust will be worked in. Race for top spot is plenty hot now, and Toronto Yorks have released Ralph Gowland and signed Jackie Howse. St. Kitts dropped Joe Corcoran, the big American college guy, and Joe McCaffery. O.L.A. executive meets in Mimico next Tuesday to discuss future C.L.A. relations, we're told. Jerry Fitzgerald of the Petes is still trying out with the Hamilton gridders, and Ike Hildebrand will be shelved another two weeks with an injured ankle.

Cobourg-Young Petes' ball game last eve had to be called off, also, owing to rain. Whitby tackles the local juniors this evening at 6.30 here in a Lakeshore League fixture, moved up from Friday as the seniors have the park that night. This is the last scheduled Lakeshore Loop tilt here, though there are a few postponements to work in. Nor are the Young Petes listed for further scheduled action away now. In other words, they're nearly ready to start rolling in provincial junior "A" playdowns, but no word on the first date has been received from the O.B.A. yet. Probably they go in about two weeks. Anyway, they take on Whitby this gloaming.

Gene Tunney announced his retirement from the ring as undefeated heavyweight champion 24 years ago today. He won the crown from Jack Dempsey but the famous "battle of the long count" still is being debated.

Canada Pinning Cup Hopes On Main, Macken

By MAX MCMAHON

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada likely will pin her Davis Cup singles hopes on Brendan Macken and Lorne Main while Mario Llamas and Manuel Galeana are expected to handle similar chores for Mexico in the North American zone tennis matches starting tomorrow. The unofficial draw will be held today.

The Canadian team is made up of Macken, Main, Henri Rochon and Jack Spencer, and the Mexican team of LLamas, Galeana and playing-captain Pedro Vega. Matches take place at the Mount Royal Tennis Club.

Dr. Georges Leclerc, Canada's non-playing captain, said Macken is a sure starter. This year he captured the Ontario and Quebec provincial championships and his play has sparkled in practice.

RANKED NO. 1

Main is expected to get the nod over Rochon because he is ranked No. 1 in Canada, though Macken has beaten him twice since the ranking, and has showed well here and in U.S. tournaments this season.

Macken and Main might even get the doubles' nod unless the singles play is long and tiring. If so, French-speaking Henri Rochon will go in the double with Macken. Solidly-built Macken is well able to handle the strain of Davis Cup play.

Rochon is expected to be passed up as a starter despite his six years in Davis cup competition, because he hasn't played much this season and is off-form. He was beaten yesterday in two sets of singles by Macken and Main.

Queen Among Crowds At Goodwood Stakes

GOODWOOD, England (Reuters) The Queen was among a vast crowd which yesterday watched French Design win the Goodwood Stakes, Britain's oldest handicap, by a length.

The Queen's visit to "Glorious Goodwood" was the first by a reigning monarch in 25 years. Her grandfather, King George V, made the last.

While the floodlit royal standard flew above the towers of Arundel Castle last night, the Queen attended the annual Goodwood ball.

Wins Gold Medal

HELSINKI (AP)—Australian cyclist Russel Mockridge won the gold medal in the 1,000-metre time trial today in Olympic record time of 1:11.1. The old standard of 1:12.0 was set by Holland's A. Van Vliet in 1936.

GOOD SEASON—Freddy Garvey, hockey-playing second baseman of the Petes, is having a good season in the C.O.B.L. He is a timely hitter and steady infielder. Garvey is also a first-rate puck forward and formerly went in for softball and the grid game. He will be with the Petes in their "booster night" game against Belleville here Friday.

Big Two Battling Gain More Points

By JACK SULLIVAN

HELSINKI (CP)—The Olympic schedule today was a little short of finals interesting to the Big Two still huffing and puffing for points but otherwise offered plenty of championship and intermediate action.

In the four finals on the program the United States had only one point-scoring hope—15-year-old Barbara Stark, a backstroke swimmer from California.

The Russians didn't qualify anybody for this race. And neither the United States nor Russia got anybody as far as the finals of three cycling races which complete the gold medal competitions for the day.

RUSS HOLD LEAD

No matter what Miss Stark does, the United States won't do any appreciable overhauling of Russia, which has 523½ points in the unofficial standing against 463 for the United States.

It would be a spectacular achievement if this young swimmer picked up a couple of points that meant the difference in the final over-all standing.

Twenty-eight finals were left, including 10 in boxing, before this big international sports carnival comes to a close Sunday.

The cycling finals today were the 1,000-metre scratch race, the 1,000-metre time trial and the 2,000-metre tandem, with Australia and Italy battling for top honors.

CANADIAN WINS

Boxing moved into the quarter-finals today in all 10 weight divisions. Canada had only one fighter left—featherweight Len Walters from Vancouver, who won a decision yesterday over Germany's Willi Roth. Clayton Kenny, Ottawa lightweight, lost the decision to Istvan Juhasz of Hungary and Charlie Chase, Montreal middleweight, was knocked out in the second round by Laszlo Papp of Hungary who is trying to retain the Olympic championship he won in 1948.

Italy had 11 men going into today's quarter-finals, in every weight class except flyweight. The United States and Russia had seven each.

Basketball opened its final two round-robin series—one to determine the first four places among the United States, Argentina, Russia and Uruguay; the other to determine the last four places among France, Brazil, Bulgaria and Chile.

BEGIN DIVING EVENTS

In the steam-heated Olympic pool tucked into a wooded hillside, men divers began their series of high dives. Men swimmers ran off heats in the 1,500-metre free-style race and 200-metre breaststroke and semi-finals of 100-metre back stroke. The women began heats in the 400-metre free-style in addition to deciding the champion in the 100-metre backstroke final.

Two championships were decided at the pool yesterday. Jean Boiteux of France won the starry 400-metre free-style, with Ford Konno of Honolulu second. The 17-year-old French lad broke the Olympic record with his winning time of 4:30.7 and the pace was so furious that the next six swimmers were also under the old Olympic mark.

In swimming preliminaries yesterday, Canada's team failed to qualify in the women's 400-metre relay. Teams from the United States, The Netherlands, Hungary, Britain, Denmark, Sweden, France and Germany go into tomorrow's final.

Peter Salmon of Victoria and Lucien Beaumont of Quebec were eliminated in preliminaries of the men's 100-metre backstroke.

The United States picked up 14 points in the women's springboard diving when Mrs. Pat McCormick finished first and Mrs. Zoe Ann Jensen third. Mady Moreau of France was second.

In maintaining its undefeated streak at six, the United States basketball team yesterday had a narrow squeak against Brazil's aggressive quintet and had to come from behind in the second half to win 57-53. Russia came strong toward the end to defeat Chile 78-60, and the other two games produced upsets: Uruguay squeezed out a 66-65 overtime win over Argentina and Bulgaria defeated France 67-58.

The Hungarians won the team sabre competition in fencing to nobody's surprise because they haven't been beaten at it since 1928.

Phillies Trip Cincinnati 7-3 Behind Robin Roberts

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Robin Roberts is proving his right to the title-best pitcher in the National League. While Philadelphia and the rest of the majors are going wild over Bobby Shantz of the Athletics, Roberts quietly piles up wins for the Phillies. He leads the National with 16 wins after last night's 7-3 success against Cincinnati.

Roberts counts on razor-sharp control to put him over, plus a strong, willing arm. First in the majors to pitch 200 innings, Roberts has allowed only 30 walks in 206 innings.

PHILS CONTINUE SURGE

The Phils continued their surge in the National with a sixth straight over the Reds on a wild six-run rally in the eighth. Willie Jones' three-run homer featured the attack. Willie also hit a homer in the seventh.

Brooklyn snapped its five-game losing string, shading Pittsburgh 4-3 in the 10th on Carl Furillo's first hit in 16 times at bat. The victory added one-half game to the Dodger lead, now measuring 4½ games, after the runner-up Giants split a twi-night doubleheader with Chicago. The Giants won the opener, 10-6, taking advantage of three Cub errors to score four in the eight, but Hank Sauer's 25th homer helped Johnny Klippstein take the second, 6-2.

Warren Spahn cooled off the sizzling St. Louis Cards as rookie Ed Mathews hit a two-run homer of Joe Presko for a 2-1 Boston triumph. Stan Musial's 14th homer was one of the Cards' seven hits.

YANKS, INDIANS BEATEN

New York Yankees lost 7-0 to Chicago, but their American League lead remained at three games because Cleveland fell before Boston, 5-4. The Red Sox's triumph over Bobby Feller left them in third place only 3½ games off the pace.

Washington ended a four-game losing streak, whipping St. Louis 6-2 on Bob Porterfield's five-hitter o pull within 5½ games of the Yanks. Allie Clark's two doubles drove in all the runs for Philadelphia in a 4-3 squeaker with Detroit.

Lou Kretlow was the boy who manhandled the Yanks. He held Mickey Mantle, the grand slam hero, without a hit and allowed only two blows—a double by Phil Rizzuto and a single by Joe Collins.

Track Has New Record

PARKHILL (CP)—The Parkhill race track has a new record. Argyle Grattan, great speedster owned and driven by Dunc Campbell of Ailsa Craig, raced a milme in 2.10 2-5— a full second under the old record in the feature race of the meet here yesterday.

Orioles Cool Off Rochester In 10-4 Triumph

A month ago Baltimore Orioles were floundering in the International League cellar. Today somehow, they are in fifth place and scaring the pants off the first-division elite.

Last night Orioles put the skids to Rochester with a rousing nine-run rally in the seventh and eighth innings to win 10-4.

With the score tied at 1-1, Orioles loosed six hits good for five runs and drove starter Fred Hahn from the mound. Rochester came back with three runs in the top of the eighth, but Orioles shelled reliefer Fred Martin for four more tallies. Starter Bob Miller, although replaced by Dick Starr in the eighth, lasted long enough to gain his 10th victory.

Ottawa, trailing Bufalo Bisons 8-2 after 5⅓ innings collected runs in bunches of ones and twos to squeeze out a 10-8 victory. Neal Watlington singled home the winning run in the 10th.

Toronto Maple Leafs beat the Springfield Cubs 7-4. The Leafs put together a 10-hit attack to rout three Cub pitchers.

24 From Newfoundland Take Experimental Course

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—An experimental course at the University of Toronto school of social work has brought 24 Newfoundlanders here to study welfare and incidentally to see life in central Canada.

The 21 men and three women are welfare workers with the eastern province's public welfare department. This advanced course was organized for them at the request of Newfoundland's minister of public welfare, Dr. Herbert L. Pottle, as a natural followup of training they took in St. John's.

"The minister felt it desirable that welfare workers with the department have more continous training," said Prof. John S Morgan of the school of social work, director of the course. "Secondly, Dr. Pottle is anxious that his staff have real contact with the rest of Canada."

Mornings the students attend lectures on such standard topics as case work, interviewing and legislation.

VISIT AGENCIES

Afternoons they frequently visit neighboring welfare agencies. Already they have attended a session of Toronto juvenile family court, visiting the girls training school at Galt, and the boys' training school at Guelph.

Stuart Godfrey, Newfoundland's assistant deputy minister of welfare, is here as a member of the group. He also acts as information officer when discussions turn to welfare problems peculiar tc Newfoundland.

Juvenile delinquency, he explained, is perhaps less of a welfare problem in Newfoundland than it is in other parts of Canada. Communities are close-knit and small. Church and school have woven strong ties.

On the other hand, housing has become a difficulty in St. John's and also in the rapidly growing industrial centre of Corner Brook.

"What to do with the able-bodied unemployed," was another problem in a province where the scattered population largely was dependent on seasonal work such as fishing.

Enthusiasm for welfare work runs high in this new province. Scven hundred persons have applied for the 70 openings in the public welfare department since it was organized two years.

TEACHERS PREFERRED

Workers were given preference if they had been teachers or worked in related fields because they would have had experience in dealing with people.

Women were kept pretty much in St. John's, not through any discrimination but because living could at times be rugged in the outports where many a welfare worker did his visiting by boat or dog-team.

A basic in-training program was set up by the department, but after two years the minister wanted his staff to have further training. As a result the six-week course was opened this summer.

AMERICAN G.I.'S IN KOREA were fooled by straw-stuffed dummy-soldiers left as "rear guards" by fleeing Chinese Communists. Straw-boss of this bunch of dummies had nothing to say when captured.

Swedish Harvest

STOCKHOLM (CP)—A spell of warm weather during July which saw temperatures as high as 90 degrees all over Sweden brought forecasts of a good harvest this year. The heat compensated for cold weather earlier.

Profitable Dog

HONITON, England (CP)—Smokey, the cocker spaniel mascot at the golf club here, is a champion fund raiser. Members pay sixpence each for lost balls retrieved by Smokey, and last year he found 250.

Native Benefits

CAPE TOWN (CP)—Opportunities for native and colored police in the Cape Province outlined here include free uniforms. Such recruits may rise to rank of first class sergeant.

Says Lock-Ups Too Comfortable

GLOUCESTER, England (CP)—Raglan Somerset, a Gloucester magistrate, believes he has discovered the reason why many criminals return to prison time and again.

The British lock-up, he claims, are simply far too comfortable.

Speaking at a conference of law-enforcement officers here, Mr. Somerset said it was almost certain the food and living conditions generally available to prisoners were a considerable improvement on what they got at home.

He agreed prison reforms within reason should be introduced but sentimentality should not be tolerated where crime is concerned.

"It raises a big lump in the throat of a sentimentalist," he said, "but it only makes a large hole in the pockets of the rest of us."

Flying Clock

CAPE TOWN (CP)—A tiny radium clock attached to a homing pigeon's wing to record the bird's flying time was described here by Sir Lawrence Bragg, director of the Cavendish laboratory at Cambridge. The clock functions only when the bird's wing is outstretched.

Plan Memorial

LONDON (CP)—Plans are being made to reconstruct the east end of St. Paul's cathedral as a memorial to the 108,929 members of Commonwealth forces who lost their lives in the Second World War. It is hoped to raise the money entirely in Britain, in small amounts.

Eel King

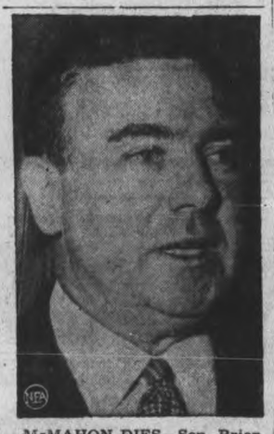
LONDON (CP)—Bob Cooke, known as London's "jellied eel king," left his widow an estate of £40,000 on his death recently at age 60. Most of the money was from sale of the curious delicacy. Cooke believed in a quick turnover with no middle man.



McMAHON DIES—Sen. Brien McMahon, 48, Democratic senator from Connecticut, died in Washington of cancer. McMahon was chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Commission and one of Congress' leading experts in the field of atomic energy.

Huron Opposes Change In Church Name

LONDON — (Special). — The General Synod of the Church of England in Canada will be asked to disregard agitation for a change in name, and continue as is, when it meets here in September.

This is the recommendation of a committee set up three years ago to study the name of the church.

From other sources, General Synod will have to deal with a resolution asking that the name be changed to "The Anglican Church of Canada."

Diocese of Huron will present a resolution asking that no change be made at present.

The special committee, in its report prepared for General Synod, said it felt any interest in a change of name is academic, and that there is little desire by the rank and file to take action.

Referring to arguments that the present name is keeping non-Anglo-Saxons from joining the church, the committee said many persons consulted believed that a change to "Anglican" would not solve the difficulty, and that it was "attitude" not "name" that would widen the church fellowship.

Named Captain

WINNIPEG (CP)—Ed Vaeley last night was named captain of the Manitoba eleven which will compete in the Dominion cricket tournament at St. Catharines, Ont., and London, Ont.

No Change For $5, Gets Clipped For $500

HAMILTON (CP)—Michael Kuylus of Hamilton lost $500 yesterday, all because he couldn't change a five. After withdrawing the $500 from his bank account, Kuylus was approached by two strangers who asked for change for a five dollar bill. Kuylus was suspicious and refused until one of the men got mad and waving a handful of bills at him, shouted that they were no bums. Kuylus then extended his $500 to prove he couldn't make change and one of the pair grabbed the money and ran.

IT WAS A FIRST TIME lucky strike for Albert Parson, when he pulled in these two large green bass while fishing in Chemong Lake at the Causeway. This was the first time the eight-year-old boy had ever fished, but he had no trouble landing either of the fish. One of the fish weighed five pounds and was 21 inches long and the other weighed three pounds and was 17 inches long. The young fisherman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Parson, R.R. 4, Peterborough.

Court Rejects Claim Of Compensation For Bomb

OTTAWA (CP)—The Exchequer Court of Canada has rejected the claim of Gordon C. Wilson of Montreal and Ottawa for compensation for a practice bomb invented during the Second World War.

In a judgment made public yesterday, Mr. Justice C. A. Cameron said Mr. Wilson had no legal basis for a claim against the Crown. He expressed the hope, however, that the government will compensate Mr. Wilson in some way for the helpful suggestions made in development of the bomb.

Mr. Justice Cameron said that if he had had the power he would have awarded Mr. Wilson $25,000.

In his petition, Mr. Wilson asked for a royalty of 10 cents on each of the thousands of practice bombs used by the defence forces.

Mr. Wilson claimed that he invented a cartridge-type practice bomb for use in aircraft and that it was adopted by the R.C.A.F. The Defence Department said that Wilson had invented nothing that what he had suggested had already been published.

Mr. Justice Cameron said there was no doubt that Wilson's suggestions and co-operation had been of "very great importance." They had solved many of the problems with which the R.C.A.F. was concerned in the development of a more satisfactory practice bomb.

Actor's Son Acquitted In Cheque Case

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Tough guy actor Edward G. Robinson's 19-year-old son, Edward Jr., yesterday was acquitted of bad cheque charges by a superior court jury.

After thanking the jury, both the actor and his son shook hands with Superior Judge Robert Gardner, who told the youth, "I hope this will be a lesson to you and that you will be more careful in the future."

The actor took the stand in his son's defence and said:

"Perhaps I was too generous with my son because of my own lack of early advantages. He is still my son—not kicked out, disinherited or disowned. That sort of publicity is a lot of poppycock."

Young Robinson was charged with writing a worthless cheque for $119.48 in purchasing tires.

His actor father told the jury that he was unhappy over the youth's marriage last Feb. 6 to actress Frances Chisholm, "but not enough to cut off his credit."

The son testified he stopped payment of the cheque because he thought he was overcharged for the tires.

SIMCOE — (CP). — An inquest into the death of Mahlon Inksetter, 10, of Hamilton, who drowned in Lake Erie at the Ryerson beach camp near Normandale, July 12, was ordered yesterday by Norfolk county coroner, Dr. E. S. Copeman. The hearing will be conducted August 13, in the courthouse here. It was ordered by Dr. Copeman at the request of the boy's father, Robert Bruce Inksetter of Hamilton, and acting Crown Attorney G. Harold Fort of Simcoe.

Flying Saucers Are Back

WASHINGTON — (NEA). — Shortly after midnight on July 19 Ed Nugent caled me over to the radar scope and laughingly said:

"Here's a fleet of flying saucers for you."

As it turns out now, Ed could very well have been stating an absolute fact.

I am a senior air route traffic controller for the Civil Aeronautics Administration, and was in charge of the air route traffic control centre that particular night at National Airport. Briefly, part of our job is to constantly monitor the skies around the nation's capital with the electronic eye of radar for purposes of controlling air traffic.

Our shift had been on duty about 40 minutes. Eight men were on this particular shift. It was a normal night for both flying and weather. The sky was cloudless, no storms were approaching. Air traffic was light, as usual for that period. I think those facts are important in connection with what came later.

The "things" which caused Ed to call me over to the scope were seven pips clustered together irregularly in one corner. The scope is 24 inches in diameter and the pips show up as pale violet spots. Ordinarily they represent aircraft in the air. The radar we were using scans a 70-mile radius.

The seven pips indicated that the objects, or whatever they were, were in the air over an area about nine miles in diameter, 15 miles south-southwest of Washington. We knew immediately that a very strange situation existed. First, from all the information we had at hand, we knew that the spots were not aircraft—at least not friendly aircraft.

They left three possibilities, enemy aircraft, some unexplained flying objects or something wrong with the radar. We tracked the seven pips for about five minutes and quickly determined that they were moving between 100 and 130 miles per hour while we could observe them.

But their movements were completely radical compared to those of ordinary aircraft. They followed no set course, were not in any formation, and we only seemed to be able to track them for about three miles at a time.

The individual pip would seem to disappear from the scope at intervals. Later I realized that if these objects had made any sudden burst of extremely high speed that would account for them disappearing from the scope temporarily. Our radar is only designed to track known types of aircraft or objects in the air at speeds known to all of us.

CHECK OBSERVATIONS

After five minutes of watching the strange pips, I asked Jim Copeland and Jim Ritchey, two experienced radar controllers, to check our observations. They confirmed our findings. Then I called the airport control tower to see what the radar showed there. The radar operator verified the same thing instantly.

At this time I notified the Air Force of our observation. This is a regular procedure, but some parts of it are secret and I am not at liberty to explain it in detail. But we kept the Air Force informed of subsequent observations which continued for apsolve the difficulty, and that it until after daylight when we could no longer distinguish the objects from other aircraft.

Early Sunday morning is an especially busy time for both private flying and military reserve flying.

Before notifying the Air Force of our findings, our technicians had carefully checked the equipment to make certain that it was operating perfectly.

These are the important events of the next six hours:

During the first hour the objects had moved over all sectors of our scope.

At the first opportunity Ritchey contacted Capital Airline pilot Captain S. C. Pierman, a veteran of 17 years of flying. Shortly after taking off, Ritchey asked Pierman to look for the objects we were watching on the scope. He agreed to do this.

All of a sudden his voice came over the radio, which we could all hear, with the words:

"There's one, and there it goes."

He described it is just bright light, moving faster than a shooting star at times.

His subsequent descriptions of the movements of the objects coincided with the position of our pips at all times while in our range.

During the next 14 minutes he reported that he saw six such lights. He said they had no tail, no recognizable shape and were just bright lights in the dark sky.

Each sighting coincided with a pip we could see near his plane. When he reported that the light streaked off at high speed, it disappeared on our scope, for the apparent reason I cited.

Some of the other pilots we contacted reported that they were unable to see the objects. I had the distinct feeling that some of them were just unwilling to discuss the subject over the radio.

However, one other commercial pilot did flatly confirm seeing a light off his left wing which we saw as a pip on the scope. He was coming in for his landing and the tower scope reported the same radar sighting. The light disappeared on our scope and from his view about four miles before he touched his wheels down.

During the whole period of observation we could detect no pattern to the movement of these objects. However, they did seem to become most active around the planes we saw on the scope. We did not see the pips in any recognizable formation at any time.

The radar we were using does not show altitude and it is faintly possible that the objects could have been in a vertical formation without our recognizing it.

At one time toward daybreak we counted 10 objects over Andrews Field, just outside of Washington. We sighted seven originally. Most of the time we could county eight of them.

The only recognizable behavior pattern which occurred to me from watching the pips was that they acted like a bunch of small kids out playing. It was helter skelter, as if directed by some innate curiosity. At times they moved as a group or cluster. Other times as individuals over widely scattered areas.

Other than some information in connection with our communications with the Air Force, which is classified, the above is a complete factual description of the important events which took place during those six hours. These facts I have set forth in my official report to C.A.A.

Speaking personally, and not officially for C.A.A., I would like to make these additional comments:

Radar is strictly an electronics device. It has no imagination. It reports only what it "sees." The equipment was in perfect operating order during that period.

There is no other conclusion I can reach but that for six hours on the morning of the 20th of July there were at least 10 unidentifiable objects moving above Washington. They were not ordinary aircraft. I could tell that by their movement on the scope.

I can safely deduce that they performed gyrations which no know aircraft could perform. By this I mean that our scope showed that they could make right angle turns and complete reversals of flight.

Nor in my opinion could any natural phenomena such as shooting stars, electrical disturbances or clouds, account for these spots on our radar.

Exactly what they are? I don't know. You now know as much about them as I do. And your guess is as good as mine.

RADAR TRAFFIC CONTROLLER Harry G. Barnes (right) at Washington's National Airpoart tells fellow-controller Richard Thomas how he tracked mysterious objects on radar.

Weird Snowman Reported From Himalayas

BOMBAY (Reuters) — A new report of the "abominable snowman," strange beast or being reputed to inhabit the upper reaches of the snow-clad Himalayas, came yesterday from a French mountaineering expedition just returned from the peak known as Deo Kakni.

The seven-man expedition climbed the 20,000 Deo Dakni, and also the 22,000-foot Chankamba, during a four-week expedition in June.

Louise Plovier, a French alpine nurse who was a member of the expedition, said the climbers had observed the foot-prints of the abominable snowman at a height of 17,000 feet on Deo Dakni, and had taken photographs of the prints.

(A British expedition led by mountaineer Eric Shipton brought back photographs of the snowman's footprints from a climb on the lower slopes of Mount Everest last year. They showed triangular-shaped prints, each more than a foot long.)

Himalayan legend says that the snowmen are huge, hairy creatures. Natives explain that no eyewitness has ever described one because the sight of one causes sudden death.

Higher Charges For Sleeper

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Pullman Company announced yesterday higher minimum charges for sleeping-car accommodations will become effective Friday, Aug. 1.

The increases apply also to Canadian railroads handling passengers across the border. Canadian railroads also have completed the necessary tariff filings and public notices to make the same changes on such travel effective Friday.

The revisions will raise the minimum charge for a lower berth in a standard Pullman car from $4.05 to $5, with proportionate increases in all other sleeping accommodations.

Negro Group Seeks To Oust White Family

OMAHA — AP). — A group of Omaha negroes yesterday sought legal help to keep a white family from moving into their predominantly negro neighborhood. A protest petition was signed by 17 neighborhood residents.

"We don't have anything against them," said Mrs. Luella Blackson, one of the petitioners. "It just wouldn't work out. Everything has been peaceful and quiet and we want it to stay that way. We don't want to live fighting all the time. There are too many children in the neighborhood."

Fewer Strikes Reported During Month Of June

OTTAWA (CP) — There were fewer strikes and lockouts during June than in the previous month and the corresponding month last year but there were more workers involved and more time lost, the Labor Department announced yesterday.

During June there were 40 strikes and lockouts in existence, involving 59,364 workers with a time loss of 708,382 days, compared with 42 work stoppages during May, involving 22,973 workers with a time loss of 247,733 days. In June last year, there were 53 strikes and lockouts with 15,937 workers involved and a time loss of 128,510 days.

LOST 365,000 DAYS

More than 51 per cent of the time lost during the month and 56 per cent of the total number of workers involved was accounted for by the strike of loggers, lumber and wood products factory workers in the coastal regions of British Columbia. This one dispute involved 33,500 workers and accounted for a time loss of 365,000 days.

Of the 40 strikes and lockouts in existence during June, 13 were in effect prior to the first of the month. Of these 13, five were terminated by the end of the month and of the 27 work stoppages which started in June, 12 were terminated by June 30, leaving 23 strikes and lockouts still in effect at the beginning of July.

For the first six months of this year, there were 119 strikes and lockouts, involving 88,522 workers with a loss of 1,323,045 days. During the corresponding months last year there were 147 strikes and lockouts with 41,800 workers and a loss of 227,927 days.

Cut Milk Price 2 Cents Ottawa Dairy Broke

OTTAWA — (CP). — Stinson's Dairy Limited, which several months ago initiated a two-cent reduction in the price of milk purchased on a cash-and-carry basis, went into bankruptcy yesterday.

Victor Moore, president and general manager of the company, filed an "authorized assignment" in the Supreme Court office declaring Stinson's "insolvent." He listed his liabilities at approximately $70,000.

Last November, the dairy sliced milk prices in Ottawa to 17 cents from 19 cents on a cash-and-carry experiment. Early this year, when other dairies increased the price to 22 cents a quart, Stinson's began selling at 20 cents on a cash-and-carry basis. Other dairies eventually followed suit.

British Carrier In Australia

FREMANTLE, Australia (Reuters)—The aircraft carrier Campania, believed to be carrying the first British-designed atomic weapon, arrived here today on the last lap of its journey to secret tests.

The ship, its decks lined with naval men and civilians, was placed immediately under strict guard.

It flew the flag of Rear Admiral A.D. Torlesse, who will be in command of the atom-test fleet when Britain's new weapons are exploded at the lonely Monte Bello islands later this year. The 12,450-ton carrier sailed from Portsmouth, England, June 10.

This port is about 900 miles due south of the three bleak islands chosen for the test blasts.

Press reports here said there were 200 British scientists aboard. They are believed to included Dr. W.G. Penny, who will be in charge of the test.

The carrier was accompanied by the frigate Plym. As the ships reached their berths, R.A.A.F. bombers roared overhead.

THE YOUNG DUKE OF KENT (left) listens attentively while the Duke of Edinburgh (centre) chats with Finnish President J. K. Paasikivi in the Presidential Palace at Helsinki during the Olympic games. Both Dukes followed the Games with keen interest.

Flying Saucers Find A Friend

WASHINGTON (AP)—The flying saucers have found a friend.

The air force received this telegram yesterday from Cincinnati:

"Urgently request reconsideration of your order to destroy flying saucers.

"Remarkably advanced aerodynamics indicate probably intercelestial origin. Interference without more cause than saucers' friendly curiosity could cause unbelievable suffering and death.

"People much aroused and worried. Respectfully..." Name withheld.

Air force spokesmen said that nobody is going around shooting at strange objects in the sky but that air defence command planes would attempt to destroy any aircraft or objects definitely identified as hostile and dangerous.

Valuable Relics

BRIGHTON, England (CP)—Exhibits valued at more than £250,000 were shown at the second Brighton antique dealers fair, opened this year by Princess Marie Louise.

Police Receive SOS To Help Father Home

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Covington police yesterday received a request to help a son get his father out of a tavern—not a particularly unusual request except that the son was 65 years old.

Capt. Edward Beebe sent two patrolmen to the tavern and there they found the 65-year-old son and his 95-year-old father.

Beebe said the officers quieted the father as saying: "I'll go home with you fellows but no snot-nosed kid is going to tell me what to do."

Padded Payroll

BRAMPTON (CP) — Frank Houghton, of Toronto, yesterday was sentenced to six months for theft by conversion of more than $1,400 from Universal Plumbing Supply, Limited. An employee of the Malton field office near Toronto, he pleaded guilty to charges of padding the pay roll and adding the names of two fictitious workmen to the employed list. Brampton is about 15 miles northwest of Toronto.

Heavily-Financed Campaign Opposing Seaway In U.S.

SHEDIAC, N.B. (AP) — Transport Minister Chevrier said last night a heavily-financed "pressure campaign" in the United States Congress has been blocking American participation in the St. Lawrence seaway project.

He said the campaign was probably backed by railways, seaports and private corporations.

The impromptu remark was made at a question-and-answer session following his address to a public meeting here.

A listener asked if private lobbying wasn't the reason for failure of the United States to join with Canada in the $800,000,000 project.

RIGHT ANSWER.

"You have hit it right," he replied and added that a pressure group of railways, corporations and seaports, including New York and Baltimore, had blocked full participation for many years.

This has been obviated recently, he said by a plan whereby canals necessary for navigation purposes would be built on the Canadian side of the international boundary while the State of New York would handle the power development and in conjunction with Ontario.

Mr. Chevrier said the 100-year-old dream of a deep sea waterway linking the head of the Great Lakes with the Atlantic Ocean was closer to reality now than it has ever been.

Norwegian King To Celebrate 80th Birthday

OSLO — (CP). — Norwegians celebrating the 80th birthday anniversary of King Haakon VII. on August 3 will recall a lifetime of devoted service by the beloved monarch, including a heroic chapter in the Second World War.

Celebrations actually are being held on Sunday and Monday to honor the King who has been on the throne 47 years, ever since Norway again became an independent state in 1905. It was a snowy day in November, 1905, when he came ashore in Norway with Queen Maud, the youngest daughter of Edward VII. of Britain, and their son Prince Olaf, born in 1903.

Norway has been united with Denmark for centuries before she joined Sweden in 1814. With the decision to separate herself from Sweden in 1905, Norway offered the crown to the then Prince Charles of Denmark, and on accepting it he took the title of Haakon VII.

SPEARHEADS GROWTH

Haakon has been the spearhead of Norway's progressive growth as an independent nation since 1905. Friendly and tactful, he showed grim determination when Norway was attacked by the Germans in 1940. He refused to sanction the Quisling Cabinet put up by the Germans, and under bombing attacks made his way to south Norway where he embarked on a British cruiser with high Norwegian officials and parliamentary leaders.

The five war years he spent in London were the busiest of his reign, despite his age. He worked hard as head of the "Free Norway" regime and constantly developed and encouraged the world-wide fight of Norwegians against the Germans. He set foot on Norwegian soil again on June 7, 1945, and received an unparalleled demonstration of pride and enthusiasm.

Decapitated Body Found In Creek Bed

YUKON, Okla. (AP)—The nude, decapitated body of a girl, believed by police to be that of a brunette about 13 or 14 years old, was found lying in a dry creek bed west of here yesterday with the letters R-A-T carved crudely into her chest.

An immediate search was launched for the savage killer, but no clews were uncovered. Claude Seymour, state crime bureau agent, said Oklahoma police are searching for a blood-stained vehicle which could lead to the murderer.

A physician who examined the body said he was unable to determine if sex was the motive.

Diver Examines Lake Bottom

COBOURG (ENS)—To ease the minds of captains bringing in gasoline cargo boats to unload here at the various oil company depots, the town hired Department of Transport diver Fred James, of Peterborough, to examine the lake bottom, with particular attention to where the oil boats tie up. It was feared that part of the pier cement work might have slipped into the course of the tankers. The diver looked over the situation and reported that everything was satisfactory.

"You can't blame the captains of these boats from wanting to be sure. A tanker full of gas could be a dangerous thing if something on the lake bottom punched a hole in it," commented Mayor Jack Burnet yesterday.

U.S. Makes Big Strides Stockpiling A-Weapon

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said yesterday the United States has made immense strides in stockpiling powerful atomic weapons with improved range and accuracy.

He added in a speech to the House of Commons that Britain herself had made remarkable progress in developing guided missiles.

"On the other hand," he warned, development of the atomic weapon by Russia is a factor which, although unknowable, we must increasingly bear in mind."

Hold Orchestra Leader For Murder

NEW WATERFORD, N.S. (CP)—Police laid a charge of murder against Ralh Gregor, 50-year-old orchestra leader, today following the beating to death of his wife, Olive, 46.

Gregor was arrested last night shortly after Dr. A. MacGregor was called by Gregor and found the woman dead.

Later, when police arrived, Gregor embraced and kissed the body and then went quietly with the officers.

Dr. MacGregor found Mrs. Gregor stretched on the bed, bruised and beaten and naked except for a pair of stockings. Her face was swollen twice the normal size, her nose was broken and her skull fractured.

No motive was established.

An inquest, opened last night, was adjourned until Aug. 18.

Waterton Wins George Medal

LONDON (Reuters)—Sqdn. Ld William Waterton, a native of Edmonton, was awarded the George Medal today for saving vital information by crash-landing a top-secret British jet fighter instead of baling out.

Waterton, a Battle of Britain veteran, recently was testing a flying-triangle GA-5, Britain's latest jet fighter, when trouble developed in the controls. He made a belly-landing and the plane skidded along the ground and burst into flames.

Before leaping clear Waterton grabbed special movie film records of the plane's performance.

The citation accompanying the medal said his conduct was "beyond the call of duty, his courage outstanding."

Waterton, 36, came to England to join the R.A.F. in 1939.

The other children are Diane, born three years ago, and Yvonne, born a year ago.

Don't Believe In War But Get Army Training

GRAND LEDGE, Mich. (AP)—A two-week military training course for young men who do not believe in fighting will open here next Wednesday.

Attending will be 300 draft-age men from 48 states. Instead of learning how to fire guns they will train for the U.S. army medical corps.

The training program has been set up by the Seventh-Day Adventist Church with army approval and assistance.

English Cadet Wins All Top Honors

CLARESHOLM, Alta. (CP)—A 23-year-old English cadet, Clifford E Allen of Wood Green, North London, won a signal distinction in gaining all top honors at a pilots' graduation ceremony yesterday at Claresholm training station.

H.C. Stevenson, Kirkland Lake, was among others graduating.

Claim Falsified Diary

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army charged last night that Soviet propagandists completely falsified and twisted excerpts from Maj.-Gen. Robert W. Grow's famous diary for which the general was court-martialled. The spokesman said the Russian version of what Grow allegedly wrote in his diary "twisted" the general's statements in such a way as to make the United States instead of Russia appear as the potential aggressor.

6,000 Men Work Along 360-Mile Ungava Railroad

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Seven Islands, at the wide mouth of the St. Lawrence River, is "city lights" for some 6,000 men who work along the 360-mile railway being built into Labrador-Ungava and on associated projects.

There is not much night life, and the honky-tonk features of older construction days has been discouraged, but there are some taverns, bars and lounges and a few places of recreation.

There a man may forget the wilderness for a while or join in a sing-song when someone brings out a guitar.

Sometimes, however, a man in from the bush may be lonely. He may meet a "friendly stranger" who will talk with him, sympathize with him, flatter him—and live off him in the manner to which the "friendly stranger" has become accustomed. In a week, a man may spend the stake he has saved in the wilds.

BANKER NURSEMAIDS

W. D. Ross, manager for Imperial Bank who has served in such other frontier communities as Pickle Crow, Ont., and Yellowknife, N.W.T., says:

"We act as nursemaids for men up and down the line, doing virtually everything for them except their shopping.

"Our ledgerkeeper speaks six languages, our teller four, and the rest of our staff speak French and English. Nearly every race seems to drop in."

Ross says the history of frontier towns is something like this:

"First you can trust everyone—you are dealing with the prospectors, trappers, engineers.

"Then the drifters appear, hoping to take a few dollars while the boom is at the height. You see the same types; sometimes, even, the same individuals. When the tinsel of the construction period fades, they move on. Now they are talking of Kitimat (B.C.) and the aluminum development there."

Seven Islands, before iron-ore development hit it in the '40s, was a village of 800, mostly fishermen depressed through loss in storms of their fishing gear and a band of Indians who eked out a precarious living from the fur trade.

It is located where the St Lawrence River, about 100 miles wide, flows into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and it shelters itself behind the seven islands which form a bay and give the town its name.

Today, it is something of a boom town of 3,000 people, with two new luxury hotels, new supermarket, other new construction.

The old section mostly still shows the signs of the hard days and is still without modern sewage, though it hopes to have it soon. A few Indians cling to their ramshackle homes on the outskirts, though modern houses and a large schoolhouse have been built for them a few miles away.

WILL PLANNED

Fortunately, the town as originally laid out has wide streets, parallel to the waterfront, which seem to lend themselves to development along sound lines. It is a self-governing municipally — not a "company" town.

Today, it embraces a lot of territory, about 10,000 acres, with a 13-mile waterfront.

Within it, about three miles from the old town, are the modern buildings and services of the base camps of both Iron Ore Company of Canada and the contractors on the railway and associated projects

Within it will be the giant iron-ore terminals and loading docks, and a townsite for the people who will be employed on them and the railway.

It is even suggested that it may become a grain port, with ore-carrying ships returning from the Great Lakes with grain cargoes which would be transferred there.

Early optimistic reports envisioning a city of up to 50,000 population have tamed down.

Mayor Jack Layden, native of Paris, Ont., who came to Seven Islands in wartime as a radio operator with the R.C.A.F. and now is personnel manager of Iron Ore Company, predicts a population of about 5,000 when construction ends and the town settles into an ore-handling port.

However, Labrador-Ungava probably is only at the start of its development. Some of the more optimistic forecasts may yet come true.

IRON-ORE CAPITAL — Seven Islands, Que., at the mouth of the wide St. Lawrence River, is changing from a quiet fishing village to the capital of the huge iron-ore project in Labrador-Ungava. It is the jump-off point into the Ungava wilderness where the ore is found. It will be the railway and docks terminal where the ore is ted States mills.

The award includes an additional paid holiday, bringing the total to seven, and pay for work on a holiday will be at the rate of 2½ times regular pay.

British Officials Work On Rocket Engines

LONDON (AP)—Britain is working on rocket engines "so powerful that they will leave the jet engine behind in a standing start," the Society of British Aircraft Constructors said yesterday.

The society said in a statement it is testing new, powerful rocket devices to drive guided missiles.

"A secondary task for the rocket motors," it added, "is to give an auxiliary boost to jet-powered aircraft for short periods, on take-off, climb or in combat."

FLYING SAUCER? — This night photo, taken by a plane spotter in Jersey City, N.J., is reported to show a "flying saucer" hurtling through the sky over New York City. The "saucer" is picked out by an arrow. Fixed circle at lower right is the light on the Metropolitan Life Insurance Building. Air Force officials began investigations as a new rash of "saucer" sightings were reported.

Gushers No Longer Running Wild In Alberta Under New Methods

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Alberta has frowned upon the fast-living oil well. Gone is the day of the gusher which ran wild and uncontrolled as it came in marking the birth of a new well.

There was a time not so long ago when whole oil fields died prematurely because they literally lived too fast, when wells were allowed to produce at maximum rate, with gas pressure caps dissipating their tremendous oil-lifting energy into the open air and leaving enormous oil pools trapped in the ground forever.

STOPPED BY BOARD

The Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board, set up in 1938 to guard the province's underground treasurehouse by conserving energy and avoiding excesses, put a stop to this.

One major problem faced by the board was the situation at the Turner Valley oil field southwest of Calgary. Tremendous withdrawals of gas, then incidental to the recovery of oil, had been made there during the previous 15 years.

Wastage reached as high as 500,000,000 cubic feet daily in 1929 alone reducing the gas pressure needed to bring the oil to the surface. Gas was burned off in big flares, causing a continuous red glow in the sky for miles around and earning the valley the nickname of Hell's Half Acre.

RESENTED AT FIRST

The board stepped in. Each well was assigned monthly production quotas based on its productivity, formation, pressure and gas and oil ratio.

At first, many operators resented this but by the time the great Leduc oil discovery was made in 1947 conservation was accepted as a blessing to the oil industry along with the spacing of wells to one producer in each 40 acres.

To ensure maximum ultimate recovery of oil from a field, it is necessary to make the most efficient use of gas pressure that drives oil through the rock pores to the well. This pressure is principally due to natural gas which is dissolved in liquid petroleum or is in the form of a gas cap above the fluid level in the formation.

If the oil flow is uncontrolled, gas pressure soon is dissipated. Water rises, blocking off the oil.

OIL LEFT BEHIND

The importance of pressure maintenance is obvious when it is considered that under ideal conditions, seldom encountered, only about 80 per cent of any oil deposit can be recovered from the earth. Under modern control methods, the usual recovery ranges from 25 to-75 per cent.

Dissolved gas driven by itself is a very inefficient carrying medium. In oil fields that relied on this process alone, a mere 10 to 30 per cent of the oil was recovered.

Thus, in a field that produced 100,000,000 barrels of oil, as much as 900,000,000 barrels might be left unrecoverable.

Today, natural gas related to oil recovery is collected at the surface as it escapes and forces back into the ground to maintain pressure or it is separated from the liquid in gas processing plants and marketed.

Under modern conservation practices, new oil wells flow freely only for a brief time just as they are coming in, to flush drilling mud up out of the formation. Then they are "choked" off.

Accidents Dog New Liner, Towed

NEW YORK — (CP). — The French liner Flandre Wednesday ended its maiden voyage here at the end of a towline.

Twenty-four hours late, it delayed a whistling, tooting harbor greeting set for yesterday and an official welcoming luncheon had to be called off.

The 20,500-ton vessel — largest built in France since the end of the war—left Le Havre July 23. Two days out the fuel line clogged. Repairs were made at sea and the ship finally dropped anchor off Staten Island at dawn on Wednesday.

A short circuit in the electrical system then made it impossible to raise the anchor. Four tugs had to pull the ill-fated ship in with only one of its two propellors working.

Belatedly, the harbor broke out its welcome for the 594-foot liner.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

FLURRY OVER OIL TRUCK

The fire department was ordered out in strength Wednesday afternoon when an oil truck was reported on fire at Aylmer and Perry Sts. However the precaution wasn't necessary because it was only some smoke coming from overheated brakes.

ACCOMPANIES AIR CADETS

Flt. Lt. Allan Marshall of Peterborough, now attached to the Canadian joint staff in London, is accompanying a group of eight R.C.A.F air cadets on a tour of Western Europe. The cadets who arrived in England Wednesday will take off for the continent Friday in an R.C.A.F. Dakota.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

Minor damage to both vehicles resulted when two cars collided at Simcoe and Bethune Sts., Wednesday morning. City Engineer A. E. Chalmers, 4 Conger St., was travelling south on Bethune St., and Thomas Ephgrave, 148 Park Hill Rd., was driving east on Simcoe St., when the two cars collided in the intersection.

ANNEXATION HEARING

Annexation of an expansive part of Smith township by the city will be considered by the Ontario Municipal Board at the City Hall Sept. 29 at 10.30 a.m. Both councils of Smith and Peterborough have passed approving by-laws. The area includes Queen Elizabeth subdivision and the farms which have been bought for the Land Assembly plan of housing.

TIMBERS BEAT STEEL STRIKE

Timber beams, turned out by Timber Structures of Canada Ltd., permitted construction on the new Bank of Commerce building in North Bay to go ahead, in spite of the steel shortage caused by the U.S. steel strike. Laminated beams of British Columbia fir, nine by 16 inches and 20 feet long were used to support the floor and longer beams of similar construction were used for the roof.

BOARD BUYS SAFETY CONES

Toronto Board of Control decided Wednesday to purchase a number of traffic safety cones for use at intersections near public schools in the city. Last week, constable Don Mackay, who is in charge of organizing school safety patrols here, pointed out how valuable the cones are in controlling traffic at busy intersections. Constable Mackay estimates 75 of the rubber cones are needed and hopes some organization interested in promoting traffic safety will purchase them before school opens.

Driver Cleared Of Blame In Sims' Death

A coroner's jury Wednesday afternoon brought in a verdict that William Sims, 58, died as a result of shock and loss of blood after being struck by a car on King St., the night of May 24.

Sims, a music teacher, and former Montreal sportscaster, was crossing King St., near Louis St., in a heavy rain about 9.30 p.m. May 24, when he was hit by a car travelling west on King St., driven by William Alexander, Park St. North.

The jury's verdict stated that Sim's death was caused by accidental means and therefore we conclude that no responsibility should be attached to the driver of the car alleged to have struck Sims.

Alexander said he had just started up from a parking lot on the north side of King St., west of George St., and the first thing he saw was an object in front of his windshield. He said he heard a tinkling of glass seconds before, but did not see anyone before he heard the sound of broken glass falling. He said he was travelling about 15 or 20 miles an hour and stopped within less than a car length. Sims was found lying 14 feet ahead of the car.

Constable William G. Scott said the brakes on Alexander's car were very good and that the rain made visibility so poor that night that car headlights were of little use. He added that the shadows from trees along the street made it even harder for a motorist to see at the spot where Sims was hit.

Dr. C. B. Waite, provincial pathologist, said an autopsy revealed Sims had received a compound fracture of the right leg, and another fracture higher up on the same leg, a number of facial cuts of which the most significant was a large triangular cut on the right side of his head and other internal injuries. Dr. Waite said Sims died from loss of blood and shock. He died in an ambulance on the way to Civic Hospital.

Samples of Sims' blood and urine sent to the attorney general's department for analysis revealed an alcoholic content of two parts per thousand in the blood and 2.9 parts per thousand in the urine, Dr. Waite said.

Questioned by crown attorney John A. Bradshaw as to what percentage would indicate intoxication, Dr. Waite said that "anything over 1.8 parts per thousand would indicate intoxication." Dr. Waite agreed with Mr. Bradshaw that the amount of alcohol said to be in Sims' blood and urine would indicate "extreme intoxication."

One of Sims' pupils, Phillip Chevalier, 18, said he chatted with Sims in his studio for about 20 minutes and when he left him at 8.30 that evening, he noticed no signs of intoxication.

Kenneth Colemer, 19, a passenger in Alexander's car, confirmed Alexander's story and said "The first thing I noticed was a crash, then I saw something in front of the windshield."

Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton presided at the inquest.

The five man jury of Fred Goodfellow, 477 Aylmer St.; James Sharp, 786 George St.; William Cuppy, 602 Stewart St.; Richard Miller, 783 Lock St., and David Andrews, 983 Western Ave., selected Mr. Miller as foreman.

T.B. Group Aims At 35,000 X-Rays

Target of 35,000 chest X-rays is being set up for the Ontario Health Department's travelling clinic in Peterborough county and city this fall.

Carmen Bray of the department discussed the rural plan with a group of women at the agricultural office on Wednesday night.

James F. Heffernan, chairman of the local society combatting tuberculosis, complimented the women on their interest in the campaign that opens for the county September 16 and continues to October 3. He reminded them that financial aid for this public health work comes largely from the sale of Christmas Seals, the importance of which should be generally recognized when the appeal for Seals sale is being made to the community.

Junior Chamber of Commerce is undertaking promotional details of the city clinic from November 3 to December 5.

In the 1951 X-rays of the industrial groups of the city, the total number of persons examined was 5,666.

No evidence of T.B. or abnormalities was shown for 5,558 persons.

Power Boat Races Feature Annual Regatta At Bewdley

Motor and power boat races, swimming and canoeing highlighted the annual Bewdley regatta Wednesday afternoon as more than 2,000 people watched from the highway waterfront. It was sponsored by the Bewdley Community Association. Oshawa, Bowmanville and Marmora boats, driven by Hap Palmer, Glen Caverly and Ed Gresik, topped the motor and hydroplane events which took most of the afternoon. Palmer's Karlie-Ann II copped the free-for-all, the afternoon's fastest race in a little more than three minutes for a distance of two-and-a-quarter miles.

Although swimming and canoeing events lacked entrants (it was late in the afternoon when these were held), the competition was keen. Montreal girls, Marg and Carolyn Ruth, won the girls' swim while Peterborough's Ross Dobbin won the boys'. Older swim group firsts went to Terry Evans, of Port Hope, and Lois Jones, of Bewdley.

Herb Caldwell dominated first place in the canoe evpents, singles and doubles, while Phyllis Jones copped the women's singles.

A feature attraction was waterskiing by internationally-known skiers . Displays were presented by Norma Gordon, Gus MacIntosh, Sally Smith, of Rochester, Bob

Keown Said Still On Critical List

Clare Keown, 23, Woodville, severely injured in the fatal crash on Highway 28 south of Springville Friday night which claimed two lives and injured four others is still on the critical list at Civic Hospital. He has never regained consciousness. The other three accident victims are said to be making favorable progress.

Two other patients critically injured in recent accidents are improving. Condition of Wendy Buchanan, 2½ of Toron , who was run over by a car in a farm laneway a week ago Sunday, is described as good today.

Mrs. Mary Buck, 78, Asphodel township, who was critically injured July 15 when struck by a car on Highway 7 west of Norwood is also improving.

Swims For Red Cross

They will see Nancy and the other three girls demonstrate the various swimming strokes in the Hart House pool, Sunday at 3 p.m. Nancy is a member of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club and is considered one of their crack aquatic stars.*

Contractor, 21, New Graduate From High School

Practically everyone would like to own their own business and a 21-year-old P.C.V.S. graduate has attained that position since school closed in June. William Hamblin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hamblin, 89 Lansdowne St. is the city's newest and youngest painting contractor.

With the idea that he would like to have a painting business when school was completed, Hamblin two years ago began painting houses and farms during his summer holidays. Besides enjoying the work, he found it profitable.

During those few months, Hamblin solicited home owners and farmers throughout the Peterborough district for paint jobs. Contracting the jobs, he did most of the work alone.

A year ago, finishing his Grade 12 year, Hamblin started the summer contracting paint jobs with the intention of starting a full-time job. With another, more experienced painter, Hamblin painted houses, barns and general stores. But when school began, he decided to go back and work for his senior matriculation.

"I just decided that the senior matric' would be something I'll always have, so I went back," said Hamblin.

STARTED AFTER EXAMS

As soon as departmental exams were over in June, Hamblin started painting, this time with a small contracting business of his own in mind. He began contracting for jobs.

Assisted by a painter with 20 years experience, Hamblin undertook a large terrace on Water St. and has followed up since with several house jobs.

Still drumming up business Hamblin recently went after his largest job, painting the large of George and Brock Sts., known building on the northeast corner as the Horsfield building. He won the contract and started work this week.

THREE-WEEK JOB

For a job that large Hamblin had to add to his working staff, hiring two more experienced painters. The four, including Hamblin, will paint the building exterior, repair cornices and strip off fancy woodwork not needed on the building. The job will take three weeks.

Hamblin believes his most difficult task is to make people realize that although he is young and not fully experienced, his firm can do jobs as well as more established contractors.

Show Royal Tour Film In Oval Sunday Night

The National Defence film of the Royal Tour will be given a special showing Sunday night in Nicholls Oval.

This film gives special emphasis to the inspection by the royal couple of Canada's military units from coast to coast.

A record concert of light, semi-classical and classical music will also be included in the program.

FIRE WAS APRIL 4

That Charlotte St. queue this morning had its remote inception in the fire of April 4. Little was left of the interior of the Buehler store and adjoining restaurant. Twenty people were temporarily homeless from the extensive damage to the second storey apartments.

Two P.U.C. Employees Hurt As Car Sandwiched Between Two Gravel Trucks

Electrical Superintendent, Lineman Driving To Oshawa On Business; Condition of Both Said To Be "Improved"

Two Utilities Commission employees were injured Wednesday afternoon when their car was sandwiched between two gravel trucks on an Ontario county road, seven miles north of Oshawa. Harry Beatty, 59, electrical superintendent of the P.U.C., is in Oshawa General Hospital with a broken right leg, chest injuries, including several broken ribs, and internal injuries. Dr. C. H. Vipond of Oshawa said his condition Wednesday was serious, but today he is "much improved." He lives at 749 Curtis Drive.

Ross Hopkins, 42, of 34 Ephgrave Boulevard, a P.U.C. lineman, was given medical treatment by Dr. Hopkins and he was taken home Wednesday by ambulance. He has a broken rib, cuts on one leg and body bruises.

The accident occurred on the Port Perry-Oshawa road, shortly before 2 p.m. Beatty was driving Hopkins to Oshawa from Peterborough on a business trip. About seven miles from their destination they came up to two gravel trucks, parked on the road and facing in the opposite directions, while the drivers chatted.

Beatty decided there was not enough room to go between the two trucks so he slowed down behind the truck in front of him. As he did so his car was struck from behind by another gravel truck and wedged underneath the platform of the vehicle ahead.

The 1950 coupe, owned by the P.U.C., was wrecked. The front end was stove in, both windshields were shattered, the steering column was broken, and the rear end was also crushed in.

James Turnbull of the P.U.C., who later saw the wrecked car, said: "It's a wonder that either of them got out of it alive."

O.P.P. Constable Wilbur Smith of Whitby is investigating the accident.

BASEBALL HANDOUT

Several of the baseball boosters, especially for Friday night's game with Belleville, had a story this morning that Charles Tanner, president of the Toronto-Peterborough Transport, was buying a lot of baseballs to distribute among the youngsters at the game. He is the father of Ray Tanner. One of their interests in common is the small boy and his enthusiasms. Mr. Tanner said he came in from Toronto "to see whether Ray was having a dream" in his eagerness to get the fans behind the Petes.

Richard Walsh Ex-Sourdough Buried In Douro

Richard Walsh, 85-year-old ex-sourdough, was buried Wednesday in St. Joseph's cemetery in his native township of Douro. He died Monday in Toronto after a short illness, though he had been in failing health for five years.

Mr. Walsh was one of about 10 surviving sourdoughs from the "Trail of '98" days in the Yukon Territories. He was personally acquainted with Robert W. Service who later chronicled those gold-rush days in his poetry.

OFTEN MET SERVICE

While prospecting in the Yukon he often came into the bank in Dawson where Service worked as a teller. He recalled that all the time Service was working he was catching the idiom and compiling the tall adventure tales of the miners and trappers.

One of the most famous of Service's characters was the "Lady That's Known As Lou"—the ballad based on the experiences of a barroom girl who actually worked in Dawson. She was well known to the trappers and miners who came to Dawson, including Mr. Walsh.

10 YEARS IN YUKON

Mr. Walsh was about 10 years in the Yukon and came out with about $10,000 in gold nuggets.

Later he went into the contracting business in Northern Ontario

Make Fabulous Playground Ultra-Modern Food Farm

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

GODALMING, Surrey, England (Reuters)—Whitaker's Folly is now Huggett's reality.

Witley Park, the fabulous Edwardian playground built here by the financier, Whitaker Wright, at the turn of the century and since known as Whitaker's Folly, is soon to be converted into an ultra-modern food producing farm by its new owner, Ronald J. Huggett.

Huggett, 39, a leader of Britain's canned meat industry, paid £150,000 in cash for Witley Park when it was put up for sale recently. The transaction secured him a massive 50-bedroom mansion, 1,360 acres of woodland, a 500-acre deer park, a chain of artificial lakes, a palm court with glass dome, a theatre, a full-size organ—and an underwater ballroom.

The ballroom, built under one of the lakes, was just a millionaire's whim. But to Huggett, who started with one meat pie shop and made a fortune in 10 years, it is just a waste of space.

But for the rest of Whitaker's Folly, Huggett has a long-term plan. He wants to turn the estate into an extensive farm.

TAKES OVER CATTLE

Already, he has taken over a herd of beef cattle left behind by the last owner of Witley Park, cotton-millionaire Sir John Leigh. Now he intends to bring in several hundred head of dairy cattle and to plant wheat, barley and oats on a large scale.

As for the house—"I shall get rid of the monstrosities even if it means pulling down one third of the whole structure," he says.

The circular glass roof of the costly winter garden where Whitaker Wright once sat and contemplated his home-grown palm trees and imported tropical plants, will come down.

On the east wing, a half-timbered Elizabethan-style structure will be torn down and modernized. Out will go the Roman marble and Moorish arches which were built by 2,000 workmen, many of them craftsmen brought specially from Italy.

Huggett and his 24-year-old wife, Mary, have decided to retain the 120-foot long bridal suite with its 30 windows.

They will also keep the 50-foot square oak-floored dining room, a 15-car garage and a long bank of cookers designed to feed 400 guests at one sitting.

"We shall need only 10 or 12 bedrooms," Huggett said. So at least 38 of them will probably be used only for storage. So will some of the 17 cloakrooms, containing toilets and washbasins, and the underground rooms with sliding steel doors in which Wright hid his art treasures.

Big Clean-Up

FRANK, Alta. (CP) — Town council ordered a clean-up in preparation for the tourist rush, and a clean-up here is something. It involves removal of huge piles of rubbish from the east entrance of the Frank slide, where a village was buried with loss of about 80 lives in 1903.

Calves Trapped

DONALDA, Alta (CP)—Two calves owned by Palmer Hagen were drowned in a shot hole dug by an oil survey crew some years ago. The hole undermined a strip of land so that when the calves ran over it recently they broke through the crust into 12 feet of water.

Cannery Built Into Business $1,000,000 Yearly

BLOOMFIELD.—What makes a canning factory? In the case of one small Prince Edward County factory it was the mutual confidence of farmer and owned that built up working capital of $50,000 at the beginning of the depression in the 1930's into the present $1,000,000-a-year business.

The first year—1930—gave indications of being the last. After buildings were erected there was no more working capital. The end of the season showed 75,000 cases of canned peas and tomatoes which sold for $175,000 and registered a net loss of $8,000. The banks were hesitant about loans, but the eager confidence of the general manager, chief organizer of the company, turned the trick then and later in the depression years.

The Baxter Canning Company was built at Bloomfield, long known as a centre of the canning industry. The second canning factory in Canada had been built there. At the turn of the century the county was putting up two-fifths of the canned products in Canada.

RIGHTS OF FARMERS FIRST

J. Edwin Baxter, founder of the company and still its vice-president and general manager, put the rights and needs of the farmers first. Regardless of profit or loss the farmers must be paid according to contract.

Money was not the only problem. During the canning season the company employed 75 people, all from the village with its population of 650. After the season employment ceased except for Mr. Baxter, his son Donald, now production manager, and the one office employee, Sylvia Stark. That first winter they spent long hours labelling cans of peas and tomatoes.

Wages became increasingly difficult during the depression. At one point it was necessary to cut women's wages below minimum levels or shut down. The women requested the cut. They depended upon factory income to help balance skimpy budgets in the community where a large percentage of employment was seasonal. When the action was explained to the Minimum Wage Board, no further questions were raised.

FIELD ENLARGED

At first only peas and tomatoes were preserved. Then pumpkin was added and later pork and beans.

A number of firsts in advertising and production is claimed by the firm. The county's tri-weekly train was always a disadvantage when bulk products must be delivered by rail. So the company became the first to bring empty cans from a Simcoe can company by truck.

A more important innovation was the small laboratory set up for mold counting, the system used to measure the cleanliness of operation. Government inspection standards for tomato juice allow a count of up to 25 per cent in the microscopic field. An effort is made at Baxter's to keep it down to 2 or 3 per cent.

Although much of the produce is handled by wholesale grocery brokers from Halifax to Vancouver, an important percentage of business is done directly with large hospitals and restaurants. Instead of the 20 and 28-ounce tins for home consumption, gallon tins are used for these quantity consumers. A new closing machine has been installed for gallon cans, closing 150 of them a minute.

EVERYTHING EXPANDED

As business has expanded to $1,000,000 annually, everything else about the factory has expanded, too. There are 175 employees at peak seasons and 50 full-time. Instead of operating two months, packing takes place six or seven months of the year, with peak employment during six weeks of tomato and juice production.

The 1930 factory covered an area of 15,000 square feet, the present one 63,000, mostly two storey.

With the exception of dry beans for pork and beans, all produce is grown locally. There are approximately 200 growers of the different products, some growing one, others as many as three. This year, as a future product, the factory planted its own asparagus fields. Since it takes three years for these to produce, the first crop of asparagus will be canned in 1955.

Another sideline for the cannery is the growing up to 2,000,000 tomato plants annually. As an added aid to the farmer, the cannery has its own apparatus for dusting and spraying tomato plants. This was found essential after late blight destroyed a large portion of the local crop four years ago.

Most of the work in the canning process is done at the one factory. However, there are three auxiliary viners about the country. The viner is the machine which threshes the peas when the farmer has harvested the vines and brought them in by the truckload. In 1930 most peas were brought in by horse and wagon. There are four viners at the main factory. The extras are at East Lake, between Wellington and Hillier, and at the village of Hillier.

Add 45 Names To U.N. POW List

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The United Nations command today added 45 names to the list of U.N. personnel it says were captured by the Communists and asked for an accounting.

The names were not made public. They were given to the Reds at a 35-minute staff officers' session at Panmunjom.

The staff officers are considering final wording of a Korean armistice agreement draft while full-scale negotiations, deadlocked over prisoner exchange, are in recess until Sunday.

A spokesman said the staff officers made "no appreciable progress" today.

The group of 45 brings to 1,926 the number of persons for whom the U.N.. has asked an accounting since original prisoner-of-war lists were exchanged last Dec. 18.

Air Force Has Copy Of Saucer Picture

DAYTONA, O., (AP)—The air force has a copy of a Coast Guard picture—taken in daylight—which shows four unidentified aerial objects, Capt. E.J. Ruppelt disclosed yesterday.

He would make no estimate of the picture's value until he gets the negative. He did say the picture was of the type which easily could have been faked. He did not say it was.

The picture was taken through a screened window July 16 at Salem, Mass.

Ruppelt described the objects as irregularly egg-shaped and white, three of them in stair-step position with the fourth object below the centre one in the trio.

Flier Fractures Spine

HALIFAX (CP)—Lieut. Robert Shimmin, of Vancouver, injured when he crash-landed his disabled naval plane yesterday, suffered a fractured spine, the navy said. BACK IN BUSINESS—Sparks fly for the first time in 55 days as a hearth furnace is tapped at the South Chicago, Ill., plant of the U.S. Steel Corp. Although more than 650,000 workers returned to their jobs, it was estimated that the nation's economy would need fully eight months to recover from the crippling effects of the steel strike.

Canada's Mineral Wealth May Decide 1st Atomic War

NEW YORK (CP)—Canada's mineral wealth could decide the "first atomic war," Collier's magazine says today.

The magazine notes in a major article that many of the United States' natural resources are being drained away while Canada has iron ore and uranium in immense amounts.

Defence of the U.S. would be impossible if Canada were overcome by a Russian invasion the article adds.

"In the light of these beliefs, it is dangerous for us, the citizens of the United States, to remain as ignorant of Canada, its people, their hopes and fears, as we are today."

The 17-page article, written by Associate Editor John Lear and illustrated with a score of colored photographs and maps, is dedicated to the dissipation of this "danger."

Americans should recognize that while Canada's destiny is tightly entwined with that of the U.S., "there is such a thing as a Canadian point of view," Lear writes.

"We should consider it seriously in all acts concerning us both. Otherwise we can expect that in any of the delicate twilight states short of war, Canadians will react in resentful self-defence and do what they think right independently. . ."

Lear, who travelled all over the Dominion to report on its economic and political life, writes that Canada is beginning to awaken "from an inferiority complex that has stunted its growth for generations. . ."

He urged that U.S. companies with big investments in Canada should give Canadians a chance to buy equity shares of American holding companies or of Canadian operating subsidiaries.

"If that were done, those Canadians who still look upon us as a bogey might be able to forget how much bigger we are than they. They might dissipate the unconscious resentment they exhibit to Yankee visitors. . ."

But Lear finds one "sad truth" —"that few Canadians are risking really big money on Canada's future as a great power."

Another of Canada's difficulties was lack of people. To keep ambitious Canadians at home, particularly engineers who are tempted to migrate to the U.S., they should be paid "the going price."

The magazine finds Canada has "four conflicting personalities—each represented by a top politico" —the governor-general, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Prime Minister St. Laurent, External Affairs Minister Pearson and Trade Minister Howe.

It describes each of them in this way:

Massey: "Canada's first native-born governor-general — fears American influence on his country's thinking and traditions and urges subsidies to support cultural institutions."

St. Laurent: "Resents any implication of subservience to England. He has eliminated the word 'Dominion' from laws and 'royal' from the mail trucks."

Howe: "Was born in the U.S., became a Canadian. He believes in private enterprise 'enough to give it a kick in the pants when necessary.'"

Pearson: "Believes the only way to defeat Communism in the long run is to make the Common man more aware of the advantages of democracy in daily life."

U.S. Steel Boost To Cost Average Family $100 Year

By WILLIAM O. VARN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall predicts that the new steel price boost will cost the average family in the United States about $100 a year in higher prices.

Arnall said in a television interview that the $5.20-a-ton price boost he signed reluctantly yesterday would touch off a new round of inflation.

He made it clear that the increase was not his own choice, but was ordered by the acting defence mobilizer, John R. Steelman. Arnall said it was "a very, very bitter pill for me."

Earlier, price-control officials had said the cost of living, already at a record high, is almost certain to climb because of "inevitable increases" in some major industries.

A top official said the higher steel ceilings probably will force the government to drop its hold-the-line price policy and centre efforts on keeping apparently inevitable increases small as possible.

ARNALL MAY QUIT

Reluctant to discuss the new policies being considered, they said, however, the situation may call for a complete revision of stabilization standards.

This decision probably will await President Truman's return to Washington Aug. 5. Arnall is expected to seek a conference with the president sometime next week.

Some of his close associates, however, said the former Georgia governor may decide to quit as price chief because he considers some of his main weapons for controlling prices have been broken.

Arnall and his aides fought bitterly to hold the steel price hike to $2.84 a ton permitted under the law and existing price standards. Arnall has said that anything above that figure would break the price line.

O.P.S. officials feel the $5.20 increase granted to settle the 54-day strike will lead to a series of price rises and force up the cost of living, many of these increases undoubtedly being felt at retail levels before long.

Jury's Verdict Assault In Man's Death

SARNIA (CP)—Herbert Rogers, of the St. Clair Indian reserve, was charged with assault occasioning bodily harm last night in connection with the death, July 15, of Wallace Washington, 49, a fellow reserve member.

Rogers was charged immediately following a coroner's inquest in which a five-man jury returned a verdict as follows:

"That Wallace Washington died from lesions to the brain due to an injury, the cause of which injury is undetermined."

Washington died in Sarnia General hospital after undergoing surgery for cerebral hemorrhage.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

He was first taken to hospital June 30 after being beaten by unknown assailants during an auto ride home from Port Huron. He was released from hospital after being detained for 24 hours observation.

He was later admitted to hospital on July 13 after neighbors found him unconscious at his home on the reserve.

Milford Cottrell, 38, also of the St. Clair reserve, said at last night's inquest that Herbert Rogers hit Washington once during a roadside argument en route home from Port Huron June 30.

Charles Farrell Finds New Career In TV

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Fame has come to Charles Farrell for the second time in his lengthy acting career, and he's not too sure he likes it.

Farrell was the heartbeat of the late '20s and early '30s, when he co-starred with Janet Gaynor. Now he is co-starring with another winsome lass, Gale Storm, in a television series called "My Little Margie." He plays Miss Storm's father in the episodes, but he's a romantic figure, too.

What started as a lark for Farrell may end up as a whole new career. As summer substitute for the Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz show, "My Little Margie" started out none too promisingly. But the quality has vastly improved and the show has landed the number-three spot in audience ratings.

SHOW MAY BE SOLD

"There's a good chance that the show will be sold after the summer is over," said Farrell. "It looks as though I'm going to be a busy boy."

Farrell found it wasn't easy to return to the cameras after a 15-year absence.

"Brother, was I nervous," he recalled. "My knees were shaking noticeably, and I was so tense my voice got into the higher registers."

He managed to conquer his nerves and has settled down to the hard work of turning out the series.

"Television on film is a lot different from the movies in the old days," he observed. "We might have sat around for two days doing nothing back then. In TV, we shoot a half-hour's show in three days. That's about a third of a feature movie."

Polio Centre At Sudbury

SUDBURY (CP)—Northern Ontario's first centre for polio treatment will be set up at Sudbury General Hospital within a month, it was disclosed today.

Dr. J.B. Cook, medical officer of health, said the provincial department of health is co-operating with the city and the hospital in the plan.

The hospital's advisory board now is working out details of daily costs. The government offer is to meet isolation expenses with a $7 a day grant. Hospital costs are expected to be slightly above that figure, and will be met either by the patient, or in the case of indigents, by the city.

The new centre will use two iron lungs when necessary, one on loan from the provincial health department and one presented to the local health department last year by Local 598 of the International Union of Mine Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.)

DON'T LET YOUR HUSBAND, brother, or son throw away that old shirt. It has tremendous fashion possibilities for you. A little ingenuity plus scissors, needle and thread can transform any number of shirts into a variety of accessories. This news will be especially valuable to the tall girl who can never keep her shirt tails where they belong. Imagine, for instance, the versatile uses of a tuck-in blouse like the one pictured at the left. It's easy to make, too, and looks so chic with a full skirt and wide belt. And if you are a short night-gown enthusiast, a made-over man's shirt will make an attractive addition to your collection (centre). All you have to do is remove the sleeves and collar, leaving the collar-band, and add a raw edge of eyelet edging. Dye the shirt any color you like. If you happen to be dealing with a shirt that is too worn to be of much value as a blouse, it still has possibilities. Cut it down to the size of a serving apron (right). For color and design sew contrasting rick-rack along the bottom. Your guests will never imagine its natural origin unless you chance to tell them. Of course, there is no limit to the different shirt styles available for the making.

Men's Shirts Now Fit Your Wardrobe

Never underestimate the possibilities of a man's shirt. With very little effort and cost it can be transformed into a blouse, nightgown, serving apron, and a variety of other fashionables.

Even if you're not an experienced hand with a needle and thread, you will find the make-over magic easy and fun to do.

Gather together a bundle of discarded shirts, and go to work.

Start with a tuck-in blouse. Cut off the sleeves, and cut across the shirt three and one-half inches up from the underarm. Try the shirt on over a slip, and pin it in place at the upper armhole edges. Pin three pleats in each shirt front; eight in back. Mark the natural waistline. Then remove the shirt, and baste the pleats, pressing away from centres.

The next step is to measure down one and one-half inches from the top edge at the centre front and centre back. Shape the neckline in a smooth curve between marked centre points and top armhole edges.

Should you be in the mood to make a short nightgown, all the preparation that is necessary is for you to remove the sleeves and collar of the shirt, leaving the collar band. Pink raw edge of eyelet edging.

The apron may appear to be more complicated to make, but actually, if you follow directions, it will present no problem.

The first thing to do is cut across the shirt between the underarm points. Remove the buttons, pockets and buttonhole band. Now you are ready to sew.

In order that you may have complete directions, if you will drop a line to Make-Over Shirts, Room 1448, New York 17, N. Y., you will receive, free of charge, an illustrated leaflet that gives the whole story.

The leaflet also contains directions for other make-over fashions, and will probably provide you with ideas for many variations. It itemizes, in addition, everything you will need to efficiently complete the make-overs.

Once you have the shirts playing their new role in a feminine wardrobe, dye them to whatever colors please you most. Of course, leaving them white allows you all sorts of color combination possibilities.

Making over dad's shirt into a youngster's dress or playsuit might also warrant your consideration. These usually discarded shirts can actually take the burden off your clothes budget, and at the same time be attractive.

You could use the old shirts to teach your young daughter how to sew. It will give you both a wonderful opportunity to work together, and yet not waste any valuable materials.

Only one last thing to remember as you start the project. It will be much wiser if you do not mention it to the men in your family. For if you do, you will surely face a sudden shortage of discarded shirts that will ruin your plans before you even get started.

MAKE GOOD SELECTION

When giving your friend in the hospital a gift of toilet water or cologne, do select a scent which is suitable to the sick-room. Heavy, overly sweet, strong fragrances are sickening when you are ill, but a light, refreshing cologne is a delightful change from the usual rubbing alcohol used in hospitals.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Cream Turned Sour? Use It For Tea Biscuits

The motor on my refrigerator had a wheezing sound. I listened all day with fingers crossed and breath bated. Finally at 4:55 p.m. with the outside thermometer at 92 deg. Fahr. it conked out. Before I could decide that it had conked out and had not switched off normally—the refrigeration service office was closed for the day.

Besides a human one, is there any worse tragedy in a household than to have a refrigerator full of hot air? (If my brother read that he would pipe up and say "yes—a basement full of water.") The neighbors came to the rescue. For two days the contents from mine were in four different neighbors' refrigerators. Good neighbors are a special brand of friends aren't they? I love mine.

Anyway in the mix-up I had cream and milk go sour. So you know old Scotch Mary—I didn't throw them out. I monkeyed with that super-duper biscuit recipe so I could use sour milk instead of sweet, and they turned out tender and delicious—softer though then "biscuits supreme" as you know them.

Sour Milk Tea Biscuits: Two and one-quarter cups sifted cake flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 2 teaspoons sugar, ¾ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon each salt and cream of tartar, ½ cup margarine (room temperature), ½ cup sour milk. Sift the cake flour to measure, then sift it with all other dry ingredients. Cut in the margarine with pastry blender or work in with finger tips. Quickly stir in the sour milk. Pat out on floured board, cut with floured cutter and bake on ungreased sheet or pan at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 12 minutes. If you would like a very tender biscuit and are in a very great hurry, use 2/3 cup sour milk, and do not roll dough out,—drop it from spoon onto unbuttered pan and bake as cut out biscuits.

Cherry or Berry Sour Cream Open Pie: You will need 2½ cups fruit for this; blackberries, raspberries, elderberries, blueberries with a little lemon rind, cherries are all very good. Wash and drain the berries, wash and seed the cherries of used; arrange in pastry-lined pie plate of 9-inch diameter. Mix together 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour and stir into them 1 cup sour cream and ½ teaspoon nutmeg. Pour this evenly over the fruit in crust. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 375 deg. Fahr. and bake for 25 or 30 minutes longer. If you keep some well-wrapped pie pastry in the refrigerator, this pie is very quickly made and is a treat.

York Spice Cake: (buttermilk or sour milk) Three-quarters cup shortening or margarine at room temperature, 1¼ cups brown sugar and 1 cup white sugar, 3 eggs, 3 cup sifted cake flour, 1½ teaspoons each baking soda and cinnamon, ¾ teaspoon each nutmeg and cloves (latter is optional), 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ cups buttermilk or sour milk. If you have an electric beater it makes short work of this cake. Cream the shortening or margarine until airy then beat in th sugars, then the eggs. Sift together all of the dry ingredients, then sift them over the creamed mixture, one-third of them at a time, alternately with the buttermilk or sour milk. Pour into greased and floured 9-inch layer pans or 1 13 x 8-inch oblong pan. Bake at 350 deg Fahr.; layers take 35 to 40 min.; square or oblong cakes 50 to 55 minutes. Good frosted with white butter or orange rind icing when cool.

Sour Cream Salad Dressing: In top of double boiler mix ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon mustard, ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Beat in 1 egg, then slowly add 1 cup sour cream, stirring over heat. Stir until it thickens and immediately remove from heat. When cool, add 1 teaspoon either vinegar or lemon juice. Delicious with shredded garden lettuce.

COLLEGE GIRLS, returning to the campus, will find life simpler and easier if they pack a wardrobe of easy-to-care-for fashions like these. Trimly cut Bermuda shorts (left) in clan plaid are all-spun nylon. They are washable, wrinkle-resistant and lightweight. Worn with them is a nylon-and-orlon blouse cut like a man's shirt. All-spun nylon appears again (centre) in this two-piece plaid dress with collarless top and unpressed skirt pleats to lend fullness. On the train going back to school, a coed might wear this two-piece costume (right) in orlon-and-wool. The tailored top has batwing sleeves, the peg-top pockets increase the slimming effect of the wrap-around skirt.

Fabrics Get Top Rating In College Dress

The interest that college girls display in fabrics for campus wear is not a high fashion at all. It's along strictly practical lines. Boiled down, it means: what fabrics will aid me in easier wardrobe upkeep and, at the same time, keep me looking neatly dressed?

The answer, of course, lies in the same fabrics that eliminate fuss and ironing in the lingerie, pyjamas and robes, blouses and evening gowns that college girls put into their campus-bound trunks. There are the nylons, nylon-and-orlon or orlon-and-wool combinations.

Just as the girls have taken to nylon net in evening gowns because it won't wrinkle or tear and doesn't need delicate care, so do they like the permanently pleated skirts in orlon-and-wool combinations, the simple, crush-resistant orlon-and-wool dresses, the separates (backbone of any college girl's wardrobe) in soft all-spun nylon that's washable and therefore extremely practical.

An important part of the college girl's attitude toward fabric is her increased desire to look neat and well groomed. Gone are the sloppy clothes, the look of shapeless bulk, the droopy ankle socks and the scuffed shoes.

In replacing them, college girls are chosing neat, trim lines, fabrics with warmth but no bulk, and a new look of femininity combined with practicality in all fashions.

Prune Muffins Make A Hit

"Upside Down Prune Muffins" will make an instant hit with each and every person who is favored with a chance to sample them. Hot muffins are a perfect accompaniment for fresh fruit salads.

Why not serve this twosome for supper tonight?? Here's how:

Two tablespoons brown sugar (packed), 12 cooked prunes, ¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ cup granulated sugar, ¾ cup fine dry breadcrumbs, 1 egg, ¾ cup milk, 2 tablespoons melted shortening.

Grease muffin pans and put ½ teaspoon brown sugar and 1 pitted prune in bottom of each muffin cup. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, spice and granulated sugar. Stir in crumbs. Beat egg lightly, blend in milk and shortening and add to dry mixture, stirring only enough to moisten dry ingredients. Spoon batter over prunes, filling muffin cups about two-thirds full.

Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees Fahr., about 25 minutes. Allow to stand a minute, then invert pan to remove muffins.

Makes 12 medium-sized muffins.

Dior Emphasizes "More Hat" Look

NEW YORK. — Architectural designs and construction decided Christian Dior of New York on the "shape of things to come." In his collection, oval pillboxes, worn both straight-on and slanted in soft velour and gleaming soleil, look smart with tailored clothes. He emphasizes the "more hat" look by using berets with the contour of draped pillboxes.

MISS MARY T. SULLIVAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sullivan, 468 Gilmour St., was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing from St. Louis University, St. Louis, Missouri, last week. She was a graduate of St. Michale's Hospital, Toronto, in 1949.

Give Clothes Daily Care

There's no better time than during your teens to learn the technique of keeping your clothes nicely groomed.

A large wardrobe does not automatically mean you will be well dressed. Just be sure your clothes fit you properly, are always neat and pressed, and give a general appearance of freshness.

Never, never drop a dress on the floor or leave it hanging over a chair. Sloppy handling of your clothes will only brand you a careless child. Get into the unshakable habit of hanging everything on suitably shaped hangers the minute you undress.

You'll save cleaning bills, too, if you brush the dust and lint from the surface of the garments as often as possible. Remove spots right away.

When you do remove spots, however, remember to pat, not rub, the areas. Use a clean cloth or sponge danpened in cold water. If this does not work, try a household cleaning fluid or lukewarm soapsuds. Be certain not to iron over the spot. Heat tends to set stains, and makes them impossible to remove.

Small rips and tears should also be mended before they have a chance to become larger. And it doesn't take but a minute to replace a missing button or close an open seam.

Protect your clothes against perspiration, don't apply perfume or cologne directly to a fabric, and occasionally treat your entire wardrobe to an outdoor airing.

Logan-Tandy

MARMORA (ENS).—The marriage took place at Sacred Heart Rectory Saturday morning of Elsie Tandy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cyril Tandy of Marmora, and Michael Logan, son of Mrs. George Logan of Marmora nd the late Mr. Logan. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. A. O'Neill.

The bride wore a dress of pale blue nylon, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Miss Ella Tandy was her sister's bridesmaid, wearing mauve nylon, white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Arthur Logan was groomsman.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Redmond Logan.

The couple left on a trip to Prescott and points in the U.S.A. They will live in Marmora.

Drying Greens

There's an old saying to the effect that "oil and water don't mix" . . . and it certainly holds true when it comes to tossed salads. You'll need to wash your greens, of course, whether you've snatched them budding fresh from the garden, or got them at your market, but watery leaves will shed the dressing, so dry them well, and crisp them.

Drying greens is a very easy process if you shake them dry in a wire basket . . . some are designed especially for that purpose. When greens are dry and crisp, French dressing will cling to every leaf, just as it's supposed to, and the salad will be all you desire it.

Aviarylike Hats In Unusual Color

LONDON, Eng.—The hollow-topped crown of one flat pillbox shown at an autumn collection was filled with a whole nestful of yellow-colored birds surmounted by a thin, curled plume.

Others, less aviarylike, content themselves with a single bird perched on top of a couple of smaller ones set one at each side.

A new pastel shade of blue-grey boasts the name of "lazy mule," although no one can explain why, especially as mules, lazy or otherwise, are generally brown.

Pimpernel, as its name suggests, is a shade of red, while bronze-green, honey, citron, mimosa ll speak truly for themselves.

Bride Vanishes Off Ocean Liner

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters) —Mrs. Beita King, a bride of two two weeks from Edmonton, disappeared during the crossing of the Cunard liner Ascania from Canada to Britain, it was disclosed today.

Her disappearance was reported when the liner docked.

FANCY FOOTWEAR FOR Fall—Fall's bareback shoes — close at the toe and completely nude in back — are set off by stockings which have neither seam nor heel patches.

FLARE TOO EASILY

Campers should never start fires with kerosene or gasoline. They flare up too easily. If these fuels must be kept in a camping area, store them in galvanized steel fuel cans. These have air-tight covers to prevent explosive fumes from circulating near camp fires.

Hip Interest Seen In U.K. Fashions

LONDON—(Reuters).—A slender tube-like silhouette, broken by huge sashes swathed around the hips and dropping from large knots in loose panels, was featured at recent fashion shows.

This interest in hips instead of shoulders contrasted with the "la-de-da" look—wide shouldered and top-heavy.

Almost every after-six dress, as well as many daytime dresses, shown by Mattli had his hip-draped effect, ending either in a large knot or a floppy bow suggesting the Victorian bustle.

A black velvet day dress with appliqued lace motifs had tie ends which swept round the hips to form a flying panel at the side. A long bare-top black velvet evening dress was swathed in violet gauze, which poked out in front and formed a real bustle at the centre back.

Hardy Amies, who made many of the suits and day dresses which the Queen, as Princess Elizabeth, wore during her Canadian tour last year, also concentrated interest on the hips in the suits for which he is famous.

To an otherwise slim silhouette —even pleated skirts fell flat and straight—he gave a rounded hip line by means of stiffened jacket basques and large stand-away pockets.

He also took original action with the waistline, introducing a new high effect.

PRICE OF MOLASSES

DOROTHY DIX

Inhuman Mother Seeks To Have Child Adopted

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Our marriage was very happy and untroubled until the birth of my third child. From the beginning he was a problem. He caught practically all ailments, had constant colds and was entirely different from his healthy, robust sisters.

David is a homely child, backward and shy. I am ashamed to bring him into the room when my friends call. My husband and I are seriously thinking of putting him into a home for adoption. Do you think I am right?

KAY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You make me absolutely ashamed of my sex. What kind of a mother are you to reject a child simply because he isn't up to your standard of perfection? You would like a Utopian existence in which all children are handsome, healthy, brilliant and no trouble whatsoever. Other mothers occasionally might have the same ideas, but thank heaven they don't put all the little plain Janes into orphanages.

NOTHING BASICALLY WRONG

Apparently there is nothing fundamentally wrong with David, either physically or mentally. He just isn't beautiful or bright. Don't you realize that by having two paragons of health and beauty you have come up with a better than average percentage? What apparently irks you is the fact that David's many ailments have necessitated more care than you like to render, and he is a source of annoyance because of his lack of exhibitionary qualities. Probably your friends find him more appealing in his shyness than his sisters in their glamor.

Putting a child out for adoption simply because he fails to meet your high standards of childhood is a poor excuse, and one for which you will find scant sympathy. The boy is yours, and it is your responsibility to give him physical care, love and understanding to help him develop into a fine, healthy boy. A physical or mental handicap would call for special resources, but David's case apparently is not of so serious a nature.

Put the boy under the care of a thoroughly competent doctor—a pediatrician, if necessary—and follow his advice and instructions implicitly. Look upon the child as the one of your flock requiring the most, rather than the least, attention. He will most assuredly reward you amply for the trouble he is giving you now—if you look upon his care as a labor of love rather than an irksome burden to be shoved off to the nearest adoption agency.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am almost 15, and very fond of a certain boy at school. My parents are very strict, and they have a trivial objection to this boy. When mother found out that I have his signet ring she told me to return it at once. I don't want to because he'll think I don't like him, and I do.

B. E.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your mother is right in wanting you to return the ring, whether or not she is justified in her objections to the young man. You are too young to accept tokens of this type and, if you explain the situation nicely, the boy cannot feel that you don't like him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My girl friend and I live in a small town where people like to talk. We have never done anything that nice girls wouldn't do, but people still find things to talk about.

MILLIE and BELLE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you are thoroughly convinced in your own hearts that your actions are all above reproach, idle gossip can't touch you. We are all acquainted with neighbors whose chief delight is discussing the shortcomings of fellow citizens but, if their talk becomes libelous, you have the law for protection.

Young girls are often heedless of improprieties without realizing the position into which they put themselves. If a particular situation offers a serious problem, talk the matter over with your mothers.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

Viscount Has His Revenge

LONDON (Reuters)—Scottish nobleman Henry James Scrymgeour-Wedderburn avenged his ancestors yesterday when he won his claim to the titles of Viscount Dudhope and Lord Scrymgeour, dormant for 300 years.

Lord Normand, chairman of the House of Lords committee of privileges, handed down the decision.

It seems that in 1670 the second Earl of Lauderdale, through "most unscrupulous covetousness," got hold of the Scrymgeour-Wedderburn estates and destroyed records proving the family's claim for the titles.

The family has worked for almost three centuries to establish its claim. The claimant still isn't satisfied. He's after the title of Earl of Dundee, which he said also belonged to his ancestor.

6—In Memoriam

MANLEY—In loving memory of Mrs. Harry Manley, who passed away July 31, 1951.
We loved her, yes we loved her;
But God, He loved her more
And took her home with Him to dwell.
In our hearts her memory lingers
Sweet and tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear Minnie,
That we do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by sister, Mrs. Wm. Mathews, and niece, Mrs. Gordon Lee.

MANLEY—In fond and loving memory of a dear wife, Minnie Manley, who passed away July 31, 1951.
Yes, she sleeps but not forever
In a lone and silent grave.
Blessed promise, she shall waken,
Jesus died — the lost to save.
In the dawning of the morning
When the troubled night is o'er,
All the buds and beauty blooming
Will rejoice forever more.
—Lovingly remembered by her Husband.

PRICE—In loving memory of a dear husband, Albert E. Price, who passed away two years ago today, July 31, 1950.
Calm and peaceful he is sleeping
Sweetest rest that follows pain;
I who loved him sadly miss him
But trust in God to meet again.
—Ever remembered by his wife, Alice.

U.S. Campaigns To Be Costliest Ever Staged

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States political campaigns this year will be the costliest and best-financed ever staged.

Total expenses probably will run well into the millions of dollars, because the price of campaigning, like everything else, has soared, and the campaigns themselves will be elaborate.

Technically, federal laws fix a limit of $3,000,000 upon the spending of a major political party, But the laws are full of loopholes. For example, there is no limit on the number of national committees that may support a presidential candidate, and each is entitled to collect and spend $3,000,000.

Arthur E. Summerfield, chairman of the Republican national committee, told reporters yesterday his strategy is to first shape a winning plan and organization—and then figure the costs.

Chairman Frank E. McKinney of the Democratic national committee said at Chicago recently the democrats already have $226,000 available in their general fund and another $130,000 in a special radio-television fund he hopes to build up to $2,000,000.

Vancouver Girl 5th In Free-Style Swim

HELSINKI (AP)—Kay McNamee of Vancouver today placed fifth in her heat of the Olympic women's 400-metre free-style swimming event, posting a time of 5:50.5.

Gladys Priestley of Verdun, Que., was timed in 5:52.7 for sixth place in her heat.

Neither Canadian was among the 16 qualifiers who contest the semi-finals tomorrow.

Evelyn Kawamoto of Hawaii set an Olympic record when she touched the pool's edge in 5:16.6 to lead the pack. Daphne Wilkinson of Britain was caught in the same time but lost out because Miss Kawamoto touched the rim first.

Both girls bettered the women's record of 5:17.8.

Kingston Pair Win Opening Boat Race

TORONTO — (CP). — Harry Jammett and Hendrey Connell of the Kingston Yacht Club yesterday sailed their Firefly class craft over Toronto harbor's 1½-mile course to finish first in both opening day races of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club's international junior regatta. The host club's Billy Wilson and Al Rae took second spot.

Many of the young sailors had trouble with the rough water. A Henderson Harbor, N.Y., twosome even dropped out of the race because of high waves.

Japanese Swimmer Wins First Heat

HELSINKI (AP)—Shiro Hashizume, Japan's wonder swimmer, today won the first of six trial heats in the men's 1,500-metre free-style Olympic swim and set an Olympic record. His time was 18:34 beating the previous record of 19:12.4 set in 1934 by fellow countryman K. Kitamura.

Gerry McNamee of Vancouver was timed in 20:02.5 in the same heat, placing sixth.

Jimmy McLane of the United States won the second heat almost as easily as the Japanese had taken his. His time of 19:17.9 also cracked Kitamura's old record.

Bethany Triumphs

BETHANY (ENS) — Bethany baseball team are still leading in the North Durham series, Tuesday night's game at Janetville adding another victory, with the score 2. Cameron Rowan hurled good ball all the way, Art Stewart and Ginn sharing the receiving. A double by Edmunds with bases loaded brought in two runs to start off the game, the third added when Burns for Janetville walked a run in. Cam Rowan's double accounted for three runs in the third inning and Rae Stewart's triple added two in the fifth.

Burns and Appleby were on the mound for Janetville with Tait on the receiving end they got poor support from their mates in the field. Brown and Appleby were the only hitters and scored their two runs. Game was called for darkness at the end of the sixth. Teams:

Bethany—Cam. Rowan p, Stewart c, Edmunds 1b, R. Stewart 2b, Ryley 3b, Ginn ss and c, W. Rowan lf, Smith cf, H. Rowan and Driver rf.

Janetville—Burns p, Tait c, Pew 1b, Walker 2b, Brown 3b, Appleby ss and p, Brown lf, Smith cf, Shea rf.

Umpires, Jackett and Wright.

To wind up the series a rained-out game will be played in Millbrook on Wednesday night and Janetville have a return game here on Friday night. Play-off schedule will be announced later.

Arrange OLA Replay

Official word on the replay of the postponed Fergus-Petes' senior lacrosse game — rained out here Wednesday night—will not be received until Manager Bob Curtin has discussed the matter with Fergus officials after the Petes' game there Friday. The replay will be another "father and son night" game as had been planned for Wednesday.

MAY AVENUE IN BUENOS AIRES is jammed with thousands of people who came to mourn the first lady of Argentina, Eva Peron, who died July 26 after a long illness. In the background, hanging from the wall of Government House is a huge picture of Senora Peron, draped in black. Hundreds of thousands of Argentines jammed the streets to pay final tribute to the wife and political helper of President Juan D. Peron. Date of the funeral has not yet been decided.

Order Dam Gates Opened At Sault

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Fifteen of the 16 gates in the compensating dam across St. Mary's river at the Sault ship canal were ordered opened today by the International Joint Commission.

All but two of the gates were closed shortly after the start of the United States steel strike. The dam holds back the flow from Lake Superior.

Cross-river ferries already are experiencing difficulty because of high water and expect more now. Ferry company officials said it would raise the river level by 18 inches.

There was no official estimate of what difference opening the gates would make in levels in the lower lakes. However, it is expected to mean some increase.

Wheat Rust Small In Manitoba Area

WINNIPEG (CP)—Wheat rust has not spread across southern Manitoba to the extent originally feared, Dr. T. Johnson of the Dominion laboratory of plant diseases, University of Manitoba, said yesterday.

Recent checks disclosed infestation on wheat stems still was only about five per cent.

Cut Bush Workers 50 Per Cent In Fall

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Numbers of bush workers with timber and pulp and paper companies in the Thunder Bay district this fall and winter will be reduced by almost 50 per cent, M.K. Morrison, manager of the national employment service office here said today.

Reduction is due to attempts by the employing companies to spread their operations over the entire year. Some 1,500 men are expected to work in the area compared with 2,500 last year.

Warn Soviets Bridge Over Elbe Unsafe

BERLIN (AP) — The Western Allies have asked the Russians what they intend to do about the shaky Elbe River bridge, lifeline to West Berlin, it was learned today.

The high commissioners declared in a note the bridge is nearing the end of its usefulness and traffic to Berlin is in considerable jeopardy. The wooden structure was thrown up by U.S. army engineers in 1945.

It is the only bridge across the Elbe on the allied route from West Germany to Berlin. Under allied agreements of 1944, Soviet authorities are responsible for maintenance.

where his business venture was less successful. He transported food and supplies from Matheson to where the old Grand Trunk Railway (since taken over by the C.N.R.) was being built in the Cochrane district.

From this line of business he switched to road contracting and helped construct many roads in Northern Ontario. He was also a sub-contractor on the road that runs through Maynooth.

IN POOR HEALTH

He retired 10 years ago and had been in poor health for the last five years. A year ago, when there was a re-union of '98-ers in Vancouver, Mr. Walsh was unable to attend, a big disappointment for him.

After a short illness, he died Monday in Toronto.

The funeral was Wednesday from the Anglesey funeral home to St. Joseph's Church, Douro, for requiem mass. The Rev. Joseph Walsh, a nephew, officiated; the Rt. Rev. J. V. McAuley, the Rev. R. Sheehan and the Rev. J. Lynch were in the sanctuary.

Editor Hopeful Of Future For Europeans

By E.S. JOHNSON

LONDON (CP)—Doubts about the future of Europe have changed to optimism, Arthur R. Ford, editor-in-chief of the London Free Press said here after a tour of the continent.

The Canadian newspaper man said in an interview he had been particularly struck by Germany's phenomenal post-war recovery, the improved political stability of France and Britain's heroic struggle against economic adversity. He was returning to Canada far more optimistic than when he left.

"What impressed me more than anything else," he said, "was the resurgence of Germany. The Germans have no defeatist spirit and with their typical industry are rebuilding their broken cities and factories."

ASTONISHING PLACE

West Berlin, an isolated island surrounded by Communist-controlled territory, was the most astonishing place of all.

"No one can predict what the future may bring, but I am convinced the present German leaders are anxious to march with the west and to build up a democratic nation."

Accompanied by his wife, he paid a brief visit to the Soviet-occupied zone and during his stop-over in West Berlin met his son, Robert, who is attached to the Canadian Embassy in Moscow as charge d'affaires.

200 Form Line For Re-opening Of Buehler Store

Among Peterborough's thrifty housewives news of any downtown shopping bargains spreads rapidly. So long before 10 a.m. today a crowd of 200 was lined up along Charlotte St. to get into Buehler's super-market which is holding its "grand re-opening" after the damaging fire of April 3.

The queue snaked east along Charlotte St. to LeBarr's sporting goods store, sometimes three and four deep.

As a special inducement to shop at their completely remodelled super-market, Buehler's were today offering each customer a shopping bag, each lady a rose, and candy to all children who were accompanied by parents. And the first 300 customers were given a pound of margarine.

Friday the first 300 customers will receive a package of soap flakes; and Saturday the first 300 will each receive a pound of pork sausage.

It is now nearly four months since a $130,860 fire swept the Braund block on Charlotte St., heavily damaging the Hollywood Cafe, Buehler's store, destroying eight apartments and making 20 people temporarily homeless.

Official estimates put Buehler's loss at $35,000 and workmen have been busy since then completely rebuilding the interior of the store.

The walls and ceiling were both replaced and the interior remodelled for the convenience of the store's customers. All the equipment is brand new. The old stock, whether damage or not from smoke, was sold to a salvager shortly after the fire.

"Our customers will appreciate the layout of our new store—it's been arranged for their convenience," said Elgin Cowling, food manager. "Everything is new and modern. Two more self-serve meat counters have been installed and we've doubled the length of our produce counter where we sell fruit and vegetables."

After the fire the interior was stripped back to the walls. Deep new shelves were built to hold more merchandise. Two nev islands run lengthways down the store, and they were built lower than the ones before so even the shortest woman can reach produce displayed on top.

The aisles are now more spacious so there is more room for people to pass each other while pushing their shopping buggies or carrying their baskets. Three rows of "soft light" fluorescent lights, running lengthwise down the store, give ample illumination.

Walls are painted primrose yellow and the ceiling is white. The islands with the groceries displayed on them are done in black trim.

Mr. Cowling said that for the remainder of this week there will be a special offering of bargain prices to induce the housewife to come in and shop.

Installing the new counters, islands and other equipment cost the firm at least $10,000, said Mr. Cowling. It makes the Peterborough store—one of 11 in the Buehler chain—the largest and most modern, he said.

Meanwhile work is proceeding at the Hollywood Cafe, erasing all signs of the fire. The plastering stage is finished and kitchen equipment and restaurant furnishings are likely to be moved in any time.

Shung Yee, proprietor of the Hollywood, said he hopes to have his new restaurant open by the end of August.

PRINCESS MARGARET rides in a jeep as she inspects cadets of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, of which she is Commandant, on the racecourse at Worcester, England. The Princess also presented gallantry awards and before the inspection she conducted an enrollment of new cadets in Worcester's Shirehall.

Windsor Cottager Finds Old Indian Burial Ground

POINT PELEE (CP).—A Windsor man, Robert Clark, has uncovered here what he believes is an Indian burial ground. There are 10 skeletons in graves containing pottery fragments and a shell necklace.

As he was digging a trench near his cottage yesterday, he felt his shovel grate on something "not quite hard enough to be a stone." He unearthed a human skull and other skeleton bones. The skull was crushed by the blow of the shovel.

He dug exploratory holes in the vicinity of his trench and soon uncovered nine other skeletons.

One grave contained three skeletons, two adult frames and that of a child. The adults had been buried with the heads to the west, the child with the head to the east.

"I have heard that Indian superstition had it that the spirits of adults rose facing the west and those of children facing the east," Mr. Clark said.

Around the neck of the child was a necklace of pierced shells. Some of the graves contained pottery fragments. Several dozen skeletons which have been authenticated as Indian remains have been found in the vicinity.

Lindsay Issues Secession Threat

LINDSAY—A threat of secession of Lindsay from Victoria County was given by two representatives of Lindsay on the County Council at a meeting Tuesday.

Reeve Richard Butler and Deputy-Reeve A. E. Hick asked council members to lower the figure of $700,000 in the equalized assessment added to the town. They explained that this figure plus an additional $264,616 in new assessment in the town will mean a total increase of nearly one million dollars or one mill on the tax rate for 1953.

They both warned that there had been talk in the town of seceding from the county, but their arguments failed to convince the County Council. The increase was not altered.

Should Lindsay decide to go ahead with secession, it will have to be done through an act of parliament passed by the Ontario government.

After a day-long debate Tuesday, only one decrease was granted from the revised scale submitted by the assessment committee Monday night. Sturgeon Point was left with no change other than the increase of new assessment totalling $4,000. A proposed increased assessment of $4,000 was dropped.

Shot In Mishap Youth Improves

LINDSAY.—Donald Fair, 19, of Toronto, who accidentally shot himself Monday, is reported to be improving steadily in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay.

Fair along with three other youths, Ken Hutchison, 16; William McGregor, 19, and Norman Lowe, 16, all of Toronto were driving along the road near Romany Ranch Monday afternoon when Fair saw a crow in the field. His companions report that he asked the driver to stop so he could take a shot at the bird.

He climbed out of the car taking the rifle with him. He loaded the gun, walked to the fence, then he grasped the rifle by the muzzle to poke it butt first through the fence.

The gun discharged and the bullet pierced Fair's left chest, passed through the lung and lodged in his shoulder.

He was rushed to Dr. Gratton Graham of Fenelon Falls for treatment and was then taken to Lindsay hospital.

It was believed at first that he would not live, but his condition is reported as much improved.

Take Over 40 Planes After Council Ruling

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Officials of Civil Air Transport Incorporated of Delaware today took formal possession of 40 airplanes awarded them Monday by a privy council decision which disallowed a rival claim by Communist China.

The planes will be shipped out of Hong Kong within the next two months. The American company headed by Maj.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault, is still contesting ownership of 31 other aircraft on Kai Tak airfield.

Defence Plan Changes Slowly

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is not likely to follow Britain in altering the broad original pattern of her three-year defence program by deliberate cabinet decision.

But circumstances obviously are working changes in it.

What was originally conceived as a three-year $5,000,000,000 program now is expected to extend into a fourth year in some respects and to cost closer to $6,000,000,000.

These changes are due to production delays, to rising costs and to new decisions reached after the program was announced in February 1951.

In the first fiscal year defence expenditures ran to roughly $1,500,000,000. This fiscal year they are estimated at $2,125,000,000. Next year they are likely to be of the same size roughly as this year.

Wade, lifeguards Shirley Green, Beverley Pidgeon, Bill Jones, Lorraine Derry and Charles Stoddard, Alex Sinclair, Ivan Clements, Herb Mullins and Lowe Bros. Paints.

Police Force Congress Doors

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters)—Police today forced the door of the Transvaal Indian Congress headquarters, completing country-wide raids on the offices of non-white organizations.

Today's raid was delayed by a law which requires that a man with a key must be found and given 10 minutes to open the door. This law must be complied with before police are permitted to force a door.

However, when no one with a key appeared after police had maintained a 26-hour vigil, they removed a panel and entered the headquarters.

As in other raids yesterday, they seized documents and reports which they will examine for possible use against the leaders of South Africa's passive-resistance campaign against racial-segregation laws.

Lawrence D. Dinsdale Dies In Brockville

He was in partnership with his brother, Spencer, in the Sign Writing Co., and Brockville Photo Specialties.

Besides his mother, he leaves his wife, the former Mamie M. Deachman; one daughter, Mrs. Eric Bishop (Effie); one sister, Mrs. Ambert Grue (Lila); and two brothers, Spencer E. and William J. Dinsdale, all of Brockville.

The funeral service was conducted by Mr. J. F. Mitchell, of Ottawa.

Medical Check-up

Transfer Pensions Of Drs. Worton, Kelly

Transfer of the pensions of Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H. and Dr. Harold Worton, dairy inspector of the local department was arranged this week by the city council.

Their terms of service with the city end today, although Dr. Kelly told the Examiner at a chest X-ray clinic meeting that he was remaining here more or less on hand for another week or so.

The motion by Aldermen Miller and Black was: "That the pension of Dr. R. A. Kelly be transferred to the city of Kingston, when Dr. Kelly has begun his employment with that corporation."

The phrasing was the same in the provision for transfer of Dr. Worton's pension to the province of Ontario. Another motion was: "that the transfer include only that portion of the pension which has been paid by the employee, since this is in accordance with the pension bylaw . . . and that each of the above employees be granted salary in lieu of regular holidays."

The city's pension plan invests in Canadian government annuities which are bought by the city and are paid for by the arrangement between the city and the employee. On change of employment the pension can continue as indicated in these two motions.

Budgie Refuses To Come Down

HAMILTON (CP)—They're still trying to get Pat down. Pat a three month-old budgie, perched near the ceiling in Christ's Church Cathedral here three days ago. Gas-filled balloons, a bird with clipped wings, and a pealing organ, so far have failed to lure him.

The bird is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ashcroft. His mate, Rick, died from what is believed a heart attack during one of the tries to draw her companion from the heights.

Balloons attached to strings were floated to within 20 feet of the ceiling. They failed to budge Pat.

A pealing organ had no effect. A bird with slightly clipped wings was sent aloft but couldn't even come near him.

Twelve budgies in a cage failed to give him the right sweet talk.

Firemen said their largest indoor ladder, only 55 feet long, wouldn't come near him.

Hint British Newsprint May Be Cut In 1953

LONDON (Reuters)—Viscount Swinton, minister of materials, announced in the House of Lords today that British imports of newsprint from sources other than Canada may have to be reduced next year.

Despite proposed import cuts, existing stocks and current supplies will permit some small increases in the consumption of newsprint in the current half year, he added.

Swinton also announced that in the current half year all newsprint produced in Britain will be priced at £56 a ton.

Shadow Box Made At Home

"One picture is worth ten thousand words", says a Chinese proverb. The same holds true for a picture box helps brighten up a dull wall in the kitchen and also looks interesting at the landing of a stairway. For a month or two, the shelves might display the school handicrafts of Ann or the manual training projects of eight-grader John. For a change mother can display some of the knick-knacks that came from grandma's house, or the rare dishes collected from here and there.

The picture box illustrated is receded into the wall and a couple of hours work with hammer and saw will do the job. It can be made by removing the plaster between two or more wall studs. The box can also be made as a separate hanging piece.

For the back of the picture box use a sheet of one-eighth masonite presdwood, cut to size. The hard smooth surface can be painted any color. Install shelves of one-inch finished lumber between the studs.

Shelves and box alone, even though the displayed items are interesting, are not enough to give the area a finished appearance. An essential to this, is an all-round decorative border which serves as a frame.

Recommended for this border is one-eighth inch temperad masonite. Edges of the hardboard may be cut into a pattern of scallops, dips or points. Masonite is readily worked with ordinary tools and the grainless, splinter-free presdwood will not chip, split or crack. After applying a prime coat, the surface may be covered with paint, enamel or lacquer. Some homemakers may like to cover the border with wallpaper or decorate it with decalcomanias.

Another of the varied uses of this little picture box is in the nursery, as a place to put baby's toys when they're not in use.

And when winter comes, spring is already here, if you adorn its shelves with potted plants, trailing ivy or bright red geraniums.
